IS THERE NO MERCY?

Gasped Mrs. Sternaman as the Judge Sentenced Her.

THE JURY'S VERDICT OF GUILTY.

The Execution to Take Place on January 20, 1898—The Judge Will, However, Forward to Ottawa the Jury's Recommendation of Mercy—Prisoner Declares Her Incence.

Cayuga, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—After a three days' trial, in which an immense amount of important evidence was submitted, Mrs. Olive Adele Sternaman has been found guilty of causing the death of her husband, George H. Sternaman, by administering poison. The case has occupied the attention of the public for over a year, and most of that time has been occupied in the fight by the counsel for the prisoner over the extradition proceedings. It was a case which demanded more than ordinarily industrious work on the part of the officers of the Crown in piecing together the evidence against the prisoner, and Mr. Murray, the Government Inspector, deserves the highest credit for the work he has done. The first witness of the day was Prof. Ellis, the provincial analyst, of Toronto, gave evidence as to his analysis of the organs of the deceased submitted to him. He found in all seven grains of arsenic in the different parts, and gave it as his opinion that this was more than sufficient to cause death.

Asked if it were possible that the arsenic which he found in the liver could have been deposited there in the process of embalming, he replied that it was unlikely.

Dr. Thompson, coroner, was then recalled and identified the seals found on the bottles, and also the box containing them. This concluded the evidence for the prosecution.

The Defence.

Mr. German, for the defence, called Mrs. Eliza Chipman, mother of the first husband of the prisoner. She said that her son and the prisoner had been married nine or ten years, and seemed to live happily together. Prisoner always objected to life insurance, and only on the suggestion of witness was Chipman's life insured.

Dora Bostead, sister of Chipman, testified that during Chipman's illness she noticed that the color of his skin was very white and he was much bloated and swollen, and could not help himself.

Lizzie Sevenpiper, sister of the prisoner, sworn, thought that Sternaman was jealous of his wife, but they seemed to live happy together. When prisoner paid Mr. Snider he handed her a receipt, and upon being asked if that included everything, he replied yes, that included everything, embalming and all.

Wallace Thayer, attorney, of Buffalo, testified that the law in New York State regulating sale of poison requires that a witness must accompany the purchaser unless his identity is known. No record of sale of poison is kept, except in drug stores.

Dr. James McFadden of Buffalo next gave evidence. He had treated Sternaman during his first illness, and his patient improved. He described Addison's disease, but to Mr. Osler he admitted that since Addison's had been excluded, and considering all the conditions shown at the inquest, he would conclude that death was due to arsenical poisoning.

The evidence for the defence was admittedly weak.

Mr. German's Address.

At 11.45 Mr. German began his address to the jury for the prisoner. He said that he had a feeling of great responsibility in defending a woman in this trial, and said he thought that every person in the country, themselves being included, had read the newspapers, and had formed some sort of an opinion; but, no matter what they had read, he thought that would not bias their minds either for or against the prisoner. He said that, although the evidence is consistent with guilt, they had to go a step further than that, and say that it was inconsistent with any other cases from similar symptoms. The cause of death was given as multiple neuritis, and this is not a disease at all, but a result of many diseases. He said he wanted them to pay particular attention to this, because he knew this was where the Crown would make their strongest appeal.

He said that the Crown puts forward as the motive for the prisoner to poison her first husband, Mr. Chipman, an insurance, and he shows by Mrs. Chipman, mother of the deceased, evidence that the prisoner always objected to him putting an insurance on his life, and he said that if this was her motive, he asked them would she not wait until she could collect the full amount of the policy, and as it was at the time of his death, she only drew something over $300 out of a policy of something over $700. He asked, was this motive consistent?

Mr. German said that the only reason why Mr. Chipman's death was introduced here was to prejudice the jury's mind against her. He asked if it would not look more probable for Mr. G. H. Sternaman to have administered the dose of poison to Mr. Chipman, than it would be for his wife, considering that Sternaman was very jealous, and subject to these peculiar spells. He said, considering that the $1000 insurance which Sternaman had on his life was, according to the evidence, taken at home when she was out, and that the agent, pressing for more insurance, and then for her to let the policy lapse for reason of non-payment of premiums, would it not seem as though there was no motive at all?,

Mr. German spoke for two hours, and made a masterly fight for the prisoner, with what little material he had to work on.

The court adjourned at 1.30.

As to the medical evidence, Mr. German urged the contradictory opinions of the doctors as to the cause of death. One said atrophy of the liver, another Addison's disease, a third arsenical poisoning. Arsenic was found in the body on exhumation. It might have been embalming fluid, it might have been a natural poisonous deposit, contracted from the soil where the body lay. No detective could bring even the most innocent prisoner into a court without adducing suspicious circumstances. It must be remembered that in all the evidence offered by the Crown there was not a jot which traced the purchase of arsenic or any arsenical preparation to Mrs. Sternaman.

MRS. STERNAMAN.

Mr. Osler's Address.

Mr. Osler attempted no oratory. He allowed the eloquent facts to speak for themselves in logical sequence. As to embalming, the issue was not what Snider said, but what he did. He did not embalm the body. He did not charge for embalming in his bill. The condition of the body on being exhumed showed no traces of embalming fluid. Arsenic was found in the body. The prisoner only attended to the man's wants. The prisoner alone put up the lunch which produced the acute vomiting. The death by poisoning, no embalming, arsenic in the body, the irresistible conclusion is guilt.

The insurance on the dead man was $1970. The $1000 policy in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was applied for by the prisoner. Sternaman had reluctantly consented because he felt he could not afford premiums. She had said that she did not intend to be left in the lurch with the second husband. She had before her the temptation of a large sum of money, as much as her husband would receive in four years' salary. Was that a motive? Was she honest in her statements as to this insurance? Why did she say at Rainham to her mother-in-law and the doctors that George had only $770 on his life. In her proofs of loss why had she not mentioned that Dr. Frost and Dr. Phelps had attended her husband? Does this concealment help to indicate guilt?

Mr. Osler followed Sternaman's sickness day by day, and suggested that he had improved under Dr. Saltsman's treatment, because Mrs. Sternaman had discontinued the poison because of Dr. Frost's warning. From June 10 to June 12 no doctor had seen Sternaman. Dr. Saltsman had left him better; when he was removed to Canada, two days later, he was paralyzed and helpless. Had poison been administered in the interval? About this letter; why was it written while writing, but not mentioning the spells, to the insurance companies? When Dr. Frost suggested poison she at once mentioned the letter. It was her insurance, her credential of innocence.

Coming to his sickness at Rainham, and the symptoms Dr. Park and Dr. Harrison had discovered, had she his life in her hands? Was she letting him progress toward life or death, as it pleased her? Was it consistent with honesty toward her husband's life that she concealed from the Canadian doctors what the Buffalo physicians had said about poison? She had said: "Let the other doctors find it out themselves." She had consented to a post mortem because she couldn't well prevent it. She had persistently refused to let her husband go to the hospital because she could not attend to him, but she was willing to abandon him when she dumped him in Canada.

Mr. Osler said that the Chipman evidence was admissable because it was an equivocal act which threw light on the present affair. "It was arsenic and not Addison that Sternaman died of," concluded Mr. Osler, "and the defence wants you to say that the undertaker put arsenic in the body, and that he died of Addison." With this reductio ad absurdum, Mr. Osler ended his address to the jury.

The Judge's Charge.

His Lordship charged strongly against the prisoner. His argument was almost identical with Mr. Osler's, and he emphasized the same points—the letter, the concealment of the poison symptoms, of which she was cognizant from the Canadian doctors, the suspicious death of her former husband, the arsenical symptoms and the arsenic in the body after death. The judge characterized the prisoner's conduct as heartless and flippant. The question of insurance was touched lightly. It was better, he said, if a motive was proved, but it was not necessary for a conviction.

The Jury Out Four Hours.

The jury retired at twenty minutes to 5, and exactly four hours later came back with a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation for mercy.

In response to the usual question, Mrs. Sternaman said in a clear, calm voice: "I am not guilty in the eyes of God. I will have a new trial, and I will be acquitted."

The Dread Sentence.

The judge said that he thoroughly concurred with the verdict, and then pronounced the sentence of the Court. His voice quivered as he recited the solemn formula, which ended "and that you be be taken thence on Thursday, Jan. 20, 1898, to the place of execution, and there be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul."

"Oh, Judge," said Mrs. Sternaman, with a gasp, "is there no mercy in this country?"

The prisoner, in spite of her words, showed no deep emotion. Her countenance did not change, and her agitation did not ring true. In her cell she repeated her asseverations of a new trial, and complained of the injustice of Canadian courts.

His Lordship told the jury that he would forward their recommendation to Ottawa.

Mr. German has applid for a reserve case for the prisoner on the ground of the irrelevance of the Chipman evidence.

THE ORR MURDER.

Allison's Defence is Said to Have Been Greatly Strengthened—8 o'Clock is the Important Hour.

Galt, Nov. 20.—Allison's trial opens on the 29th, and rumors of all kinds are floating around. One thing is sure, and that is that the boy has not confessed. It is said, however, that the defence has been greatly strengthened of late. The most important hour in connection with the case is that between 7 and 8 o'clock on Mondy morning, Aug. 9.

No doubt Allison's defence will try to prove that he was at George Barrie's at 8 o'clock, and that he could not have committed the crime. It is stated that they are in a position to bring weighty evidence in support of the contention that he was at Barrie's at 8 o'clock. It will be remembered that a gun shot was heard at eight o'clock, and it seems to be conceded that this bears a close relation to the tragedy. The sequence that follows is that if Allison was a mile or so from the place where the sound came from, he cannot be responsible for it. There are sidelines along which the defence may work, and if they can establish this as a fact a great deal will be done.

SUICIDE AT WINNIPEG.

A Bank Messenger's Sad Farewell to His Mother.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 20.—Thomas Davidson, messenger in the Banque d'Hochelaga, committed suicide yesterday in a room in rear of the bank by shooting himself through the forehead with a revolver. He left a letter lying near, which read: "Farewell, dear mother, brothers and dear ones forgive me. May God have mercy on my soul." He was unmarried and had a slight trouble with his accounts.

Delays in trains will prevent Hon. C. Sifton reaching Winnipeg until to-morrow morning.

A warm local bye-election is being fought in Turtle Mountain. The chances are in favor of the Government candidate.

Hugh John Macdonald held two Conservative organization meetings this week. He is devoting a great deal of time to political matters.

TO THE RESCUE.

An Overland Expedition to the Ice-Bound Whalers—It will Be a Perilous Journey.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Lieut. Ellsworth Price Berthoif of the United States revenue cutter service who will command the overland expedition for the relief of the whalers imprisoned in the mountains of ice in the Arctic seas, arrived in Chicago last night.

Lieut. Berthoif said: "I shall hurry to Seattle, where Captain Tuttle and the revenue cutter Bear have been ordered to make ready to take the relief party to the farthest point along the Alaskan coast. We shall probably leave that port on Nov. 23.

"Our overland journey will begin at Canalaska. With dogs and sledges and all the food we can carry, we shall set out for Fort Clarence. A reindeer colony at the Government station at that place is to furnish six hundred reindeer. We will herd them and drive them with us to our prospective destination."

The Great Blood Purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because other medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have derived so much benefit from it that I would advise any one troubled with impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. PROOFS OF PROGRESS.

In spite of the sneers of its opposition the Dominion Government has well earned a title as a "business" government—that is one one that deals with public affairs on business principles, as contrasted with the former reign when party exigencies very largely directed the course of the administration of several important departments. In the last year of the late government the postoffice department deficit had amounted to the large figure of $792,153.17. With a comparatively short term of office Hon. Mr. Mulock, Postmaster General, has done good work. He has corrected abuses, gives a more effective service and added about 65,000 miles to the postal service and at a cost of about $125,000 ($124,549.11) less than the late government conducted a less efficient service, shorter in the matter of mail routes by 65,000 miles. Besides the expense of departmental administration has been greatly reduced, with the result that in one short year of work, from Jan. 30th, 1896, to Jan. 30th, 1897, the deficit of over $780,000 has been reduced to $580,000, a clear saving of $200,000 in one department alone. It has been pointed out by the Globe that last year the Post Office revenue increased over the preceeding year by a quarter of a million dollars, and the postmaster general estimates that the return of prosperity and increased business activity will produce an increase of postal revenue this year of over three quarters of a million over the year 1896, so that the revenue of the post office will have increased over a million of dollars in two years, an increase of 30 per cent. in two years. The increase of revenue for the year ending June '94, was 1.04, for the year ending June 30th, '97, the increase was 6.13 per cent, and it is estimated that the increase this year will be 20 per cent.

In comment on this the Globe says:—"We doubt if any country to-day can exhibit so satisfactory a proof of its progress. That we are to have a great addition to our population next year is evident on all sides, and now with reasonable tariff stability we may confidently anticipate in the immediate future such a growth in population and such progress in our industries as will surprise all of us who remember the condition of this country two short years ago."

THE past year seems to have been a good one for the fire insurance companies doing business in Canada. They received a total $7,075,850 in premiums and paid losses amounting to $4,173,501. At that rate there should be no talk of increasing the rates.

MR. O. A. HOWLAND, of Toronto, who was at one time spoken of as the leader of the Ontario Opposition, has evidently lost his desire to succeed Mr. Whitney and meet the defeat that awaits that gentleman at the next provincial elections, though he is not averse, it seems, to sacrificing himself on the altar of the party in Centre Toronto. He will to-day, it is pretty certain, receive the party nomination for Centre Toronto in the bye-election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Lount. The official nomination takes place next Tuesday, and Mr. Howland then enters the field against Mr. Bertram. The fight will be one in earnest.

JOLLY OLD UNCLE JOSH.

His Great Generosity Towards His Newly Married Niece.

A Realistic Romance of Peterborough in Which a Number of Prominent Business Men Take a Very Conspicuous Part.

(Entered according to Act of "The Parliament of Canada, in the year 1897, by W. S. Guthrie," at the Department of Agriculture.)

"Miss Summers—Polly—I—I—ec—dare I—" But the speaker took a header over bashfulness, only to hear a sweet—

"Yes Charley."

"Can I aspire to—er—to—that—is"

Again a lapse into silence, followed by an encouraging—

"Yes, Charley"

"Oh, if I might only hope to er—to Another failure of language. It was seemingly a hopeless case, and might have been, only for a demure—

"Charley, I have said 'yes' twice, and if you mean it, I mean it, too, and—"

and to this day that young man will insist that he popped the question.

All this happened away "down east," and it wasn't long before there was a wedding. Not much longer before there came a letter from Polly's Uncle Josh, out here in the County of Peterborough, who wrote effusively of his delight at her exhibition of what he called "grit," and he proposed that if the young people would locate at Peterborough, he would start them up in life, as a wedding gift and a Christmas present combined. Of course they accepted, and were soon bidding their friends adieu.

A few days subsequent to the above conversation, a travel-stained party arrived in Peterborough. Our friend, Uncle Josh, was in charge, and he led the party straightway to a hotel. "The Oriental," said he, "is a typical Canadian hotel of the best class. I have known George Graham, the proprietor, for years, and he is mine host after mine own heart, being endowed with that delightful intuition that makes a guest feel at home, comfortable, contented and in mighty good luck. The house is one of convenience; the apartments are well furnished and the cuisine all that a superior chef and unlimited orders on the market can make it. I have engaged rooms here until your own house is in readiness."

"After breakfast," said the old man, "I'm ready to go buy your outfit. To expedite matters I have ordered a carriage from R. H. Leary, our enterprising livery man." When the handsome carriage, with elaborate trappings and prancing horses, drew up in front of the hotel, Polly decared it "the finest turnout she had ever seen." "Yes Sir-ee," replied Uncle Josh, "the three 'S's, 'Speed, Safety and Style,' is Leary's coat of arms. So, young folks, when you want to take a drive, either for business or pleasure, go to him for a rig every time." His wedding, party and driving equipments are unsurpassed. It was in this stylish turnout that the rounds of the city were made.

"Where to?" asked the polite driver as the trio entered the conveyance. Uncle Josh looked askance at his wards. "Oh, goodness knows there's lots to buy," remarked Polly. "Then suppose we buy 'lots' first," quoth Charley without turning a hair. "Oh you've got a great head for business," laughed Uncle Josh, "and the firm to see for 'lots' is Lindsay & Might. I can always depend upon them for bargains in real estate, as they never hold out false lights to induce people to buy. What they tell you about property, may be set down as solid facts. They control a large list of desirable residences as well as farm properties, and their judgment on the 'good things' is par excellence." The party was not long in making a dicker for a nice house on a pleasant street with Lindsay & Might, and a farm, which Charley considered a splendid investment.

"Having provided you with a cage for the bird," said Uncle Josh, "now the first thing we'll look after will be the furnishings for it." Hereupon Polly energetically declared that she had heard so much about Clegg's furniture that she had decided to go there. The result was that they were ushered into such a bewildering display that the girl was at first at a loss how to select. But she soon yielded to the seductiveness of a magnificent parlour suite, a bedroom set in oak, antique finish, that would do credit to old Antiquity himself. To this she added an easy rocker for Uncle Josh, and didn't forget a most convenient and ornamental writing desk for "Hubby" Charley, saying that she thought Clegg's figures below even the whisper of competion.

"A pretty good start," said the old man, "and now we'll go to Adam Hall's big tinware and stove store. Here Polly's housewifely instincts had full play in marvels of kitchen apparatus. "There is not an establishment in the country that carries a more comprehensive stock of household furnishings," remarked Uncle Josh. "Every possible piece of kitchen furniture, from a tin dipper to a cooking range, is here in all styles and variety." If Polly fails to accomplish wonders in the culinary art, it will not be for want of superior cooking utensils, for she purchased a Souvenir cook stove with all equipments needed in a well-regulated kitchen, besides an Art Souvenir base burner for the parlour. All of which were just paid for with delight, 'cause He knew Mr. Hall had treated him right.

Womanlike, Polly was discussing the matter of how she would arrange her new house, and was interrupted by Uncle Josh. "And these house fixins' remind me," said he, "that you haven't got your dishes yet." The most famous stock in extent, quality and completeness is at China Hall. But the average reader need not be told what an array of table ware Polly had to select from. There isn't, positively, a thing in the line of china, crockery, glass or porcelain needed for use or ornament in any part of the house that cannot be found at China Hall in indefinite variety and at wonderfully low prices. They also have a splendid stock of silverware and lamps of every description in abundance.

Polly's big order suggested her thorough appreciation. As a compliment Mr. Wilson made her a present of a nice can filled with first-class coal oil.

"Oh, say, Uncle," exclaimed Polly, "where can I go for dry goods? This dress is hardly suitable, I must admit." "Well, my girl, if you want to select from the most popular establishment in the city, I will direct you to Richard Hall & Son, who carry a stock of dress goods that for variety and real value is seldom seen outside the largest metropolitan cities. They send a buyer direct to the European factories, who selects the very latest weaves in fashionable dress goods. You will find Hall & Son pleasant to deal with, and their employees polite and expert, while the prices cannot be duplicated."

It did not take Polly long to tell a bargain when she saw one. After getting a handsome dress or two, she turned her attention to kid gloves, veils and a dozen other articles in ladies' furnishings of which this store is noted for giving extra choice values.

Polly also visited the mantle and millinery department, and when she returned to Uncle Josh she said, "I do declare, uncle, you have not said a word about carpets yet." "Jes so, jes so," laughed the old man, "it does take you wimmin folks to think of things, but I tell you it won't take me long to settle that carpet business. House furnishings are one of Richard Hall & Son's leading departments and the beauty of it is they don't charge any fancy prices either." Polly was soon revelling in a perfect elysium of handsomely designed floor coverings; she selected something suitable for the parlour, living and sleeping rooms, as well as linoleum for the kitchen, and then turned her attention to lace curtains, blankets, table linens and towels, of which this store shows an unsurpassed stock marked down to the lowest possible prices.

"Let's see—I promised you a gold watch, didn't I," queried Uncle Josh of Polly, "and Schneider, the jeweller's, is the place to get one cheap." Entering the popular jewelry store the old man gallantly acquitted himself of the promise and then directed Polly's attention to the superior stock of silverware carried by the house. "There is no other such house in town," said the old man, "and I will guarantee the quality to be the very best. Pick out your family clock while here," he added. "Schneider carries a magnificent line. Don't forget another fact," he continued, addressing Charles in an off-hand manner. "If ever that old turnip of your'n breaks down remember that Mr. Schneider is also an expert doctor on sick watches and can fix 'em up good as new."

At this point, somewhat to the confusion of Charley, the old man indulged in a half serious criticism of his personal appearance. "You are decidedly off style for a townsman," said he, "and we'd better go and see LeBrun & Co., the fashionable merchant tailors, about some new duds. They employ an expert cutter who understands the changing styles, and for fits and high-class workmanship is especially noted, and besides you'll find a big stock of imported suitings from which to make a selection. I'll guarantee that you'll look more like a newly-married man when you get togged out in a LeBrun & Co. suit." Charley found prices so tempting that he left his measure and also got an overcoat. When a few days later he was fully togged ont, Polly declared she would have fallen in love with him sooner had he been a patron of LeBrun & Co.

"By the way, young man, I suppose you would not object to a little more personal decoration," sententiously remarked Uncle Josh, after Charley's measure had been taken. "What you next need is a supply of gents' furnishings, and I know of no firm that keeps a bigger and better stock than this one, and their prices are right, too. This store is recognised as being strickly in line with the times. If a man can't get suited here I tell you he must be right down cranky."

Upon their visit to LeBrun & Co.'s men's furnishings department, Charley saw goods and prices so irresistible that he purchased a complete outfit, which included half a dozen shirts, collars and cuffs to match, together with a couple of suits of perfect-fitting warm winter underwear. Uncle Josh himself indulged in four pairs of sox and a pair of mittens for farm wear. "No, sir-ee, there ain't no place in town where I'd rather trade than at LeBrun & Co.'s," he remarked as he started to go.

"But about my winter wrap?" asked Polly. "You said I might have one, you know."

"Oh, I see the way the wind blows, and I do believe I did say I'd get you a 'seal-skin skack,'" laughed the old man. "Excuse the pun, but I tell you it ain't 'fur' to the most elegant assortment of furs in Peterborough, and I 'otter' know. Right down the street a little way and we find Fairweather & Co., the manufacturing furriers and hatters, and they have the just reputation of being in a position to furnish the ladies of this section with capes, cloaks and jackets in more satisfactory styles and prices than can be found anywhere else in Canada." Polly soon saw that Uncle Josh knew just what he was talking about, and a handsome Persian lamb jacket took her eye in a minute, as did also a lovely Jubilee sable ruff and five-o'clock tea muff.

Charley's fancy turned to a fur-lined overcoat. "Well, I reckon you are in this, too," observed Uncle Josh, who thereupon produced the "toad-skins" from his pocket-book and graciously handed them over to Fairweather & Co.

Before leaving Fairweather' Uncle Josh was so agreeably taken with a very fine lot of Mattawani buffalo and musk ox robes that he could not resist the temptation of investing in a set. The last words as he went out of the door were:—"We'll 'bear' you in mind for all future fur necessaries."

"Oh me! Oh my!" ejaculated Polly as they halted before a show window, "what a perfectly lovely slipper." "Yes," said Uncle Josh. "Gough Bros.' stock can't be equalled in style and extent in this section. Go in, look it over and get acquainted with Peterborough's wonderful Cheap Man." "It might have been policy not to have extended that invitation, had not Uncle Josh known what wise economy it is to trade at Gough Bros. Polly found everything so seductive that she purchased an outfit from a satin slipper to a handsome walking boot. Charley invested in gents' fine shoes, while Uncle Josh indulged in a ready-made suit for himself, a stout pair of farm boots and rubbers for the crowd. No one needing footwear can resist the styles and prices offered by Gough Bros.—the live hustlers of the continent.

"By the way," remarked Uncle Josh as they reached the street, "I must run over to the Bank of Toronto and get another check book. Come along with me and get acquainted with the manager and staff, for of course you will do business with them, for it is always more pleasant to be personally acquainted with the people you do business with. This bank is as solid as the base of the universe, and has a working capital and reserve of $3,800,000. You will find them ever ready to extend any accommodation compatible with business principles. At the Bank of Toronto Uncle Josh had the pleasure of meeting several of his former friends, and Charles was surprised to see the clerks all as busy as bees issuing drafts payable from Vancouver to Halifax, and in fact all parts of the world.

While Uncle Josh was pondering where to go next, Polly suddenly asked: "Uncle, where can I find the leading millinery establishment?" "Just a few doors further on," remarked Uncle Josh, "and we will visit Miss Delaney, who, by the way, has on hand one of the completest stocks of millinery to be found in the city. You can get what you want there, the latest styles and lowest prices being her motto. Miss Delaney's experience guarantees that when you have purchased of her you have the thing according to fashion, and a satisfaction that your work has been done by a competent artist." In a few hours there never was a happier girl than Polly, for she ordered a perfect dream of a bonnet and a magnificent cloth mantle as well.

"I would like to make you acquainted with Dr. M. A. Morrison, my dentist friend, too," said the old man. "If you ever have to supplement your natural teeth." "Ugh! Don't you mention false teeth to me," cried Polly. "I'll never carry 'pearly-lies' in my mouth if I go toothless." "Oh as for that," laughed Uncle Josh, "if you only consult a good dentist in time you can save the catastrophe. Dr. Morrison, for instance, is wonderfully expert in saving natural teeth, and he has the skill and every mechanical appliance to do his work with the least discomfort to his patrons."

"Halt!" commanded Uncle Josh, as the party came in front of Wm. Madill's handsome drug store. "Walk right in." "Why uncle, we're not sick, and —" "Guess I know that, but I suspect it won't be long before this young man begins to take an interest in matters of paregoric and —" "Uncle!"

"Well, go in anyway; Polly may find something good for her cough." Sure enough we found Madill's Cough Syrup, which is so highly commended as a cough cure. Before leaving she was loaded down with combs, brushes, face powder and ounces of choicest imported perfumes. We each had our eyes carefully tested by Mr. Madill, the optician. "Don't forget," added Uncle Josh, "to come here with your prescriptions, as Wm. Madill and his clerks are competent pharmacists and use only reliable drugs.

After this visit Uncle Josh suggested a resort to some place of refreshment. At the table the old man waxed philosophical. "Never neglect your larder," said he. "That important adjunct to house-keeping controls masculine temper. To that end you must patronize a grocer on whom you can depend for honest goods. Through a long term of years I have found E. Brown & Co. perfectly reliable. You will find them careful dealers, always fully stocked with every possible thing in the line of staple and fancy groceries and liquors, fresh and first-class, no shelf-worn goods there, while the prices are down to brass tacks. To keep peace in this family get all your groceries of E. Brown & Co.

"Land sakes!" suddenly exclaimed Uncle Josh. "All this tradin' and shoppin' around town has caused me to foorget one of the greatest essentials to future existence. I've heard it said that newly-married folks can live on love and scenery, but an old man of my experience knows better. Your table would look slim without pastry and such things now and then, so Polly you must get acquainted with Long Bros., the caterers and confectioners. Their cakes, pies and nick-nacks are conceded by all to be the finest on earth. They made that elegant cake I brought to your wedding." "Yes, and everybody said it was just lovely," replied Polly. "Then there is no use of you bothering your head about your Christmas cake, either. Just see Long Bros., the caterers, and there will be no trouble."

"Yes, and while we are on this important topic of gastronomics, we must not forget meat. It goes hand in hand with bread. Now to locate a meat market where you can get fresh wholesome meats, and sausages guaranteed to be of the very purest quality, Winch Bros. is the firm to supply you. Their sausages have a local fame, because they are made from the best cuts of meat, and are not stuffed with stale bread or rice. They are spiced to a nicety, easily digested and always fresh. This is the old reliable meat market of the town and is popular with everybody who is particular to have the best. Winch Bros. are very careful in the selection of stock and get the freshest of everything. Farmers tell me that Winches' is the place where they can get satisfactory prices for their turkeys—that being one of Winch Bros. special features. Housekeepers, I hear, are leaving their orders with Winch Bros. for Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys, because they have confidence that this firm will select young well-fed birds."

"By the way," carefully remarked Polly as they reached the street, "Do you know that all those beautiful artifical flowers at Miss Delaney's millinery store made me think I wanted some real for sure pot plants and flowers with which to decorate our house and also a bouquet for our Sunday dinner table." "Happy thought," laughed Uncle Josh, "come right around the corner here to Mason's Seed and Plant House, and we can fix that floral business in a minute. Besides palms, chrysanthemums and potted plants Mason makes a specialty of cut flowers for wedding parties and other social functions as well as floral designs of all descriptions for concerts and the like. Their prices are mighty reasonable, too." For plants, bulbs and seeds I tell you there aint no place like Frank Masons. After selecting a big order of "nature's" beauties the trio again started out.

"And in the matter of insurance, Uncle Josh continued, "that is of importance. You will want a risk on your new furniture, house and household goods; then you can't do a more sensible or satisfactory thing than to provide for your wife a paid up policy of life insurance. My friends, Cox & Davis, not only have lines of the solidest and best companies, but they are expert and trustworthy underwriters, they have a large number of companies, all of which belong to the old reliable category, being well known for their prompt and satisfactory adjustment of losses. It's better to be safe than sorry and you'll surely be safe in this agency." Not only did Charley place the fire insurance with Cox & Davis, but also took out a $5,000 life policy in that sterling company, the "Canada Life."

"Yes, and I must have an album, Uncle Josh," quoth Polly, "and—" "Yes, and a Bible with a reasonably big family Register," interrupted the old man, "so we'll go up to the Peterborough Book-store. You'll find many articles indispensible for the parlour as well as the library there, and as for variety they have an unequalled stock." So here, Polly's purchases included miscellaneous books, fancy stationery, all the latest agonies, bric-a-brac of all manner for the centre table, and finding an immense assortment of articles suitable for Xmas presents, she remembered all her kinfolk down to her "forty-eleventh" cousins. Polly remarked to the generous old uncle, "Why, I don't know when to quit buying, Stratton sells such nice goods and so cheap, too."

"Holy smoke, Charley, where in the name of creation did you get that snipe? That's about the worst weed that ever came in contact with my olfactory nerve," laughingly remarked Uncle Josh. "Step in here to W. B. Rickey's cigar store and get a Cabinet, then you'll have a gentleman's smoke. That cigar is a cracker-Jack, contains all the qualities of a delicious puff. Rickey takes great pride to keep his stock up to the highest standard and consequently it grows more popular every day." Charley was so well pleased with the Cabinet that Uncle Josh treated him to that he bought a whole box and advised his friends to do the same, not forgetting to also make note of the fine display of other tobaccoes, pipes, etc.

"Oh, Uncle Josh," exclaimed Polly, "I surely will be lonely without a piano." Uncle Josh was noticed to examine his bank book rather lugubriously. "Well, I guess I can stand it," he said, "but by the way, what piano would you prefer?" "I think I'd like to have a Dominion, which I understand is sold by the Peterboro' Music Co. Several people have recommended it to me for its purity of tone, sympathy of touch, beauty of finish and a whole lot of other good points." "You couldn't choose a better instrument," replied the old man, "and sure enough the Peterborough Music Co is the very firm to see about it." Polly selected the coveted piano and a lot of late music, while Uncle Josh wrote out a check, pleasantly too—cause he knew the price was extremely reasonable.

"And another place I wish to take you, children, is to C. N. Brown's flour and feed store," remarked the old man. "Your introduction to town would not be half complete without. Talk about flour, why bless you there ain't no flour that can come up to the kind he sells. Mr. Brown makes it a particular point to keep the choicest flour, cornmeal, oatmeal and buckwheat, and all good housewives make it another point to trade there. Then as to feed, this store is headquarters for that. He handles everything from golden oats down to corn meal, and serves customers with promptness and dispatch. I've been trading with C. N. Brown for a long time, and I tell you he is a good man to tie to."

"By the way," exclaimed Uncle Josh, with a paternal air, "the next thing to look after is the lumber for those improvements which are absolutely necessary. Come with me down to the Peterborough Canoe Co., who are the principal contractors and builders for this town, and they have a well equipped planing mill in connection. They carry the most complete line of building material in the county—everything, from the sills for the foundation to the rafters for the roof, including doors and windows, mouldings, etc. It is pleasant to deal with this firm for their greatest aim is to give satisfaction to every customer; and say, wouldn't you like to have one of their famous Peterborough canoes to sail down the sea of life in?" In a few minutes the building improvements were all arranged for.

"I declare, Uncle Josh," exclaimed Charley, "this snow reminds me that we ought to get a cutter for the girl this winter and—" "'Nuff said," quickly rejoined the old man. "We can get the cutter of my friends, J. Stanger & Co., over here on the other street. They conduct a factory over there and make cutters, sleds and buggies in any style desired. The beauty of it is, they are satisfied with a moderate profit, too."

When the trio called upon Stanger & Co. Polly was permitted to personally give the order just how she desired the cutter made. "Yes, and I believe you are party particular about your horseshoeing, ain't you," asked Uncle Josh of Charles. "That's right, and I shan't have no botcher about my mare 'Kitty,' either," he replied. "Well, you can trust Stanger & Co. to do a scientific job, either in horseshoeing or any other line of blacksmithing," sententiously answered Uncle Josh.

"And as you are going to keep a horse," continued the old man, "of course you'll need harness. The boss horse milliner of this section, to my notion, is Benj. Shortly. He uses only first-class material, and gives personal supervision to the minutest detail of manufacture. There is nothing in harness that cannot be had of him—heavy and light, single and double, plain and fancy, work and buggy harness. He has all of them in stock, or can make 'em, besides every other kind of turf goods imaginable, and the finest lot of Saskatchewan buffalo lap robes, blankets, trunks or valises you ever laid your eyes upon." After a visit to the harness shop Charley said he thought "if a man couldn't get satisfied it would be his own fault," and he expressed himself pleased with Mr. Shortly's candour and fairness.

"But look here, uncle," interrupted the young man as they reached the street, "What about coal? We've got the stoves, but I reckon they won't be of much service without fuel. We can't keep fire on love alone, can we?" Glad you mentioned it," replied Uncle Josh. "Buying so much in one day kinder befuddles a fellow. Fortunately, however, it is only a little distance to the People's Coal Co's office. They are my favourite dealers—mine their own coal, and it has no superiors and few equals; it makes a hot fire, burns up clear, and don't leave any clinkers. Come right along and I'll introduce you to the genial manager, Mr. A. J. McClellan. Fair measure, fair treatment and fair prices are what you'll receive at the hands of the People's Coal Co." A big order was placed.

"And now, young man, let me give you a pointer," remarked the generous old uncle, "Do not understand me to say that clothes make the man, but I do affirm that clean and spotless linen make the nice-appearing man. Now in this connection I am happy to inform you that Parker's Steam Dye Works and Laundry is the best institution of its kind in Ontario. Polly will want her lace curtains washed and carpets cleaned sometimes—it's a ticklish job, you know—but Parker is so very careful that the most delicate fabrics are washed without the slightest injury, and at a nominal cost, too. The proprietor will see that your collars, cuffs and shirts are made white as snow, unless they happen to be coloured, but then you needn't be afraid of a fade, for Parker prides himself on doing coloured goods satisfactorily."

"Now," cried the old gentleman, "now for a picture of this crowd. In good old country fashion, we'll go to the photograph gallery and A. E. Ford has a good one at 170 Charlotte street, the only ground floor gallery in town. His pictures are wonderful in fidelity and finish. I want one full size photo for my study and some small ones for my friends. Ford has the soul of a true artist; all his work is a labour of love, in which he will not stop short of perfection, and as he is famous for successful enlarging, I want to give you a life size representation of 'yours truly' for a Christmas present." (Uncle Josh's picture may be seen at Ford's studio any time the reader desirerees to call.)

En route for their home the party called at THE EXAMINER office. "You'll want the news every day," remarked Uncle Josh, "and as this is the favourite paper here I'll subscribe."

When the party reached home they were all jest about tuckered out, but a bottle of choice wine which Uncle Josh had ordered up from M. L. Henry soon revived their drooping spirits. While enjoying the mellow beverage Uncle Josh warned the young folks against the evils of over-indulgence in drink of any kind, but vouchful the information, however, that on certain occasions wines would doubtless be necessary, and to also have something strictly pure about the house for medicinal purposes and Christmas festivities—that M. L. Henry was the proper person to apply to for these extras. Any one could have seen that from the way Uncle Josh imparted this information that he had a mighty friendly feeling for Mr. Henry.

Upon summing up the wonderful events of the day Polly began to volubly express thanks. "You have bought us everything," she exclaimed.

"Only one thing," replied Uncle Josh, reflectively, "but I can remedy that. Clegg, the furniture man, always has a nice line of them and you can get one whenever you want it; I'll pay for the best."

"W-h-y," exclaimed Polly with great surprise, "Uncle, what can it it be?"

"Well, its a cradle, and—"

But Polly had fainted.

Ontario's Own Klondike.

Wabigoon, Nov. 20.—There is a new mining district, which lies some few miles west of this place, which glories in the name of New Klondike. The officials there in connection with the Ontario Government have written to the Bureau of Mines stating that this spot is the most promising for gold, iron and copper ever seen in the province.

Farmers Swindled.

Ruscomb, Nov. 20.—Several farmers around Ruscomb station were swindled out of small sums of money last week by a smooth-tongued individual who claimed to represent a syndicate who were bringing English farmers to this country. All the Ruscomb rustics had to do was to deposit $5 to $20 with the swindler and get big prices for their farms.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattrass; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

LUCKY SPECULATION

The Richest Scoop of the Year!

Another Mighty Montreal Purchase.

$22,588 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING BOUGHT AT UNHEARD OF PRICES.

"Better to be born Lucky than Rich"—so the old aphorism goes. Just when we were running short of Heavy Winter Suits and Overcoats, and on the look-out for a big purchase for the Grand Opening of our New Toronto Store, along comes a lucky offer from the stalwart McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY—the Staunch and Trusty Clothing Manufacturers of Montreal.

WAS IT LUCK OR FATE? or WAS IT A COINCIDENCE? No matter—"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." The McKENNA-THOMPSON COMPANY were looking for an outlet for the balance of their Winter Stocks, in order to start on their work for next spring's business. GOUGH BROS. had the pull, and the Private offer was reserved for them to "clean them out at 33⅓ PER CENT. LESS THAN THE COST OF MANUFACTURE!" Here was the golden opportunity of the year, and the WIDE-AWAKE GOUGH'S promptly staked their claim on the spot, and cleaned them out! Was that buying goods right or not? Well-posted merchants know that Gough Bros. invariably buy their goods right. We have been pre-eminently successful in distributing DRIVES in Clothing, because we are known to every manufacturer in the land as having an outlet for dependable goods AT LESS THAN THEIR REGULAR PRICES. FIRE IN OLD LONDON

Huge Blocks of Buildings Laid in Ruins.

ALL NIGHT BATTLE WITH FLAMES

The Fire Started in the Heart of the City and Swept With Resistless Fury Among the Immense Warehouses—The Loss Will be $25,000,000—No Casualties.

London, Nov. 20.—One of the most disastrous fires in London's history since the great fire of 1666, broke out in a large block of buildings lying eastward of Aldersgate street, and between that thoroughfare and Red Cross street, just after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The flames were fanned by a strong wind and were fed by highly inflammable stocks of fancy goods and flimsy dress materials of all descriptions, crowding every floor of six-storey buildings in the old streets, in view of coming Christmas trade. Consequently, the conflagration gained headway with surprising rapidity, and was soon far beyond any possibility of being checked by the few engines early on the spot.

For fours hours and a half the flames had their own way, and it was only after more than a hundred engines had worked an hour that the chief of fire brigade sent out the signal that the fire was under control. This was at 5.45 p.m. When the good news became generally known nearly 30 warehouses and a dozen or more structures had either vanished or remained only in blackened walls, a chaos of fallen girders and smoking piles of brick and stone.

Hamsell street was the scene of the outbreak of the fire, which was due to an explosion in connection with a gas engine on the premises of Waller, Brown & Co., mantle manufacturers, at No. 30 on that thoroughfare. Their large factory was crowded with girls when the fire broke out, and instantly became the scene of a panic, the frightened operatives, with many screams, rushing to the roof of the building, then crossing to other buildings, and so effecting their escape, while the flames were pouring out of the basement. In less than a quarter of an hour the flames had enveloped the adjoining warehouses, and thence they leaped across the street to an enormous paper warehouse, which was fully alight in less than 10 minutes.

At this time it was evident to the firemen that they were face to face with a great disaster, and a general alarm was sent out. Then from all the fire stations, even from those quite five miles from the scene of disaster, engines were hurried to the spot, and the police gathered about the neighborhood in great force. This display of strength on the part of the police was required, as the crowd, swelling in size every moment, soon numbered tens of thousands, the firemen required every possible freedom of action, as their fight was one of the greatest difficulty, owing to the narrowness of the old crooked streets, which are the feature of that part of London, combined with the height of the warehouses, which cut off the firemen from all fair chance of confining the outbreak. Firemen had repeatedly to be rescued by their comrades by the aid of the fire escapes, from buildings which had caught fire after the firemen had mounted to their roofs to fight the flames in adjoining structures.

Suddenly there was an explosion of gas meters, sounding like the reports of field guns, followed by a momentary hush. After that the wild rushing here and there was resumed with increased energy. Men risked their lives in desperate efforts to save valuables.

By dusk, four streets were blazing on both sides. There was no abatement of the furious blaze before 5.30. Then the check came in Jewin street, by a tremendous use of water, and in Well street, where the collapse of a wall on the right hand side of that thoroughfare was the means of saving the last building in the street. The width of Red Cross street, a comparatively broad thoroughfare, also formed a barrier there. Two acres of buildings had been ruined.

In spite of the numberless narrow escapes, no casualties have thus been reported.

The historic Church of St. Giles has been much damaged, the principal damage being to the roof, the old windows, the baptismal font and Milton's statue.

Engines Working All Night.

London, Nov. 20.—4 a.m.: A very large force of firemen and about 20 engines have been working at high pressure all night. The district ravaged by the fire is bounded by Aldersgate street, Red Cross street, Maidenhead court and Bradford avenue, and includes the intermediate streets, Jewin, Hansell, Well and Edmund and Jewin crescent.

The Life-giving Pines.

The breath of the pines is the breath of life to the consumptive. Norway Pine Syrup contains the pine virtue, and cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, hoarseness and all throat and lung troubles.

Weyler Exculpated.

Madrid, Nov. 20.—The Captain-General of Galicia has telegraphed to the Government here, saying that in the interview which he had yesterday with General Weyler, the former Captain-General of Cuba, the latter completely exculpated himself from the statements attributed to him upon the occasion of his leaving Havana, and affirmed his devotion and adhesion to the Government.

Torpedo Boats in Collision.

Algiers, Nov. 20.—The French torpedo boats, No. 133 and Doudart de Lagree, while manœuvring yesterday evening, came into collision, with the result that No. 133 sank four minutes later. The crew of the latter was saved. The Doudart de Lagree was badly damaged.

Buenos Ayres' Bountiful Harvest.

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 20.—Several cargoes of American cereals, which recently arrived here, could not be sold and will be taken to Europe. The steamship Sardinian Prince, which arrived here last week with a cargo of wheat, will sail without unloading it. This refusal of American cereals is due to the fact that Argentine's crop is more than sufficient for home use. Millers refuse to receive foreign grain.

Germans Evacuate Crete.

Canea, Island of Crete, Nov. 20.—Germany's contingent of the international army of occupation, consisting of an officer and 12 marines, embarked on the Kaisarin Augusta this morning. The German flag had previously been hauled down from the international redoubt.

Russian Cereal Crop.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—The Minister of Agriculture yesterday published a report of the crop of the Russian Empire for 1897 as follows: Rye, 946,047,000 poods; winter wheat, 156,680,000 poods; spring wheat, 891,814,000 poods; oats, 515,522,000 poods; barley, 288,977,000 poods; buckwheat, 469,377,000 poods; millet, maize and peas (together), 155,992,000 poods. A pood is equivalent to 36 pounds in weight.

Snap and Vigor Wanted.

Modern Life demands snap and vigor from all. The race for existence is hotter than ever. Keep your blood pure by using Burdock Blood Bitters, and you will be healthy, vigorous and strong. Miss Jennie A. Gleason, Centreton, Ont., says: "For two years I suffered from poor, thin blood. I grew weaker every day until I tried B. B. B. It completely cured me by enriching my blood, and making me strong and vigorous again."

One Laxa-Liver Pills every night for thirty days marked a complete cure of biliousness and constipation. That is—just 25 cents to be cured.

Karl's Clover Root.

The great Blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the Complexion and cures constipation, 25 cts., 50 cts., $1.00. Sold by Jno. Nugent, 339 George street.

CATARRH!

Foreyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR CATARRH AND COLD IN THE HEAD.

This effective remedy for Catarrh and Cold in the head is a fume inhalent—it goes direct to the seat of disease and gives relief in a marvellously quick time. It will cure the slightest cold in the head almost instantly, and if faithfully and persistently used it will cure the most stubborn and long standing cases of chronic catarrh of the head—it never fails to do its work—it is easily applied—it is harmless to use—you simply take a small portion of the remedy in the palm of the hands, rub the hands together, then partly open them and inhale the fumes from the remedy into the throat a , and rub a little of the remedy on sides of the nose and temples.

Dear Sir,—I have been using catarrh remedy of different kinds for the last fifteen years, but find "Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure" the best I have used, and have no hesitation in recommending it to any one troubled with catarrh or cold in the head.
Yours sincerely,
W. HARPER,
Hardware Merchant.
Lakefield, Ont., Feb. 7, 1896.

JOHN FORSYTH, Berlin:
Dear Sir,—I take much pleasure in certifying to the great benefit I have derived from the use of your cure for catarrh. It has done me more real benefit than all the medicine I have taken, and I am completely cured now.
Yours faithfully,
ROBERT FOWLER,
Orillia, Sept. 12, 1896.

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in giving my testimonial to the efficacy and value of Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure. I was induced through a friend to give it a trial for catarrhal cold in the head; the result was marvellous. I cannot speak too highly of its merits. I can faithfully recommend it to anyone troubled with chronic catarrh or cold in the head.
Yours truly,
T. J. HUMPHREY,
Carriage Maker,
Woodville, Ont.

Rebellion Strong as Ever.

Madrid, Nov. 19.—The Havana correspondent of The Heraldo of this city has cabled his paper saying that in spite of the concessions made to the Cuban autonomists there does not exist a single sign of the approaching submission of the insurgents.

Troops Leaving Crete.

Canea, Island of Crete, Nov. 19.—The Kaiserin Augusta, it is announced, will arrive here to-day and embark the German detachment of the international troops which have been on duty here since March last.

A Farmer Holds Up a Thief.

Rocklyn, Nov. 19.—Bently Falls, a farmer near here, noticed a stranger coming out of his gate loaded with articles which looked familiar. He ran to the house and found that his silverware, jewelry and money were missing. Gun in hand, he pursued the thief, catching him in a clump of bush not far away, where he forced him to disgorge. The stranger handed over to Falls articles which did not belong to him, and which no doubt are the products of another robbery.

The Jingle of the Sleigh Bells.

The merry jingle of the sleigh bells have been heard this year at a very early date. Though a couple of inches of snow covered the ground during Christmas week last year, there was no sleighing until Jan. 3rd. From that date until the middle of February it could be called good. It continued, however, in an indifferent condition until March 20th, when a heavy rain removed the little snow that remained at that date. There was no heavier snowfall on any one day last winter than yesterday.

Bridal Gifts.

The Peterborough Bookstore is offering special inducements in wedding and birthday gifts during our ante-Christmas reduction sale. We show some of the brightest, rarest novelties suitable for those interesting occasions. Being short of room for displaying our immense Christmas stock, we have marked all our art and fancy goods at less than they cost us, purchases can be put aside if desired and delivered when wanted. One lady picked out 12 gift-books, another selected a very elegant dressing case, and another a writing portfolio and a fancy work basket.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

THE LOCK WORKS COMPANY.

Meeting of the Directors—Resolution of Condolence With the Widow and Family of the Late Manager, Mr. Brooks.

A meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company was held last night at the offices of the Company. There were present Hon. Senator Cox, President, and Messrs. John Burnham, Q. C., John Carnegie and J. H. Stratton, directors.

A resolution of condolence with the family of the late Managing Director, Mr. Brooks, was passed and the business of the company under the circumstances was discussed, but no decision was arrived at at this meeting as to the appointment of a manager. However, the active prosecution of the company's work will receive the close attention of the directors in the direction of expanding the field of operations.

WORK OF INCENDIARIES.

An Unoccupied Dwelling Gutted by Fire Early This Morning.

The small story and a half rough cast dwelling on Brock street, in the rear of Mason's conservatory, was completely gutted by fire at 3.30 this morning.

The property is owned by Mr. John Craig, of Lakefield, and as it was unoccupied at the time of the fire, its destruction is undoubtedly the work of incendiaries. The building was insured in the Lancashire, through Messrs. Cox and Davis, for $600.

CHRISTMAS OPENING at Miss Melville's on Tuesday evening, 23rd. All are invited.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late little Fergus O'Brien, son of Mr. J. L. O'Brien took place this morning, at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, Arch-Deacon Casey officiated at the funeral services, and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick accompanied the funeral to the cemetery. The funeral was well attended, and six of the school-mates of deceased acted as pallbearers. The floral tributes were numerous, including a wreath from the employees of the Lock Works, where Mr. O'Brien is employed, and one from the school boys of the Murray street school, and also one from two of his favourite comrades. Mr. and Mrs. John Hanna, of Toronto; Mr. Dwyer and Mrs. Curtin of Lindsay, Mrs. O'Brien of Kingston, Mrs. and Miss Corkery of Lindsay and relatives of the family of deceased were in town and attended the funeral.

The Young Reporter.

This is how the reporter of a country newspaper described a recent fire: "The water seemed to spar the fire to wilder deeds. The flames and the smoke rolled higher and higher, and the scene became luridly, awfully magnificent beyond tottering words' power to paint. It was a canto of Dante's "Inferno" acted in all its fiery pomp and splendor. Banners of flame would now be waved out by dark smoke hands, then ten millions little curling pennons of the fire would hiss and flutter, then vanish, and a great reeling tower of smoke, whose darkness was stabbed and spangled with flames and sparks, would fill the scene, while all around the surroundings buildings grimly shot back from reflecting surfaces a crimson greeting, and up in the far-off sky the outglistened stars turned pale for shame, and the moon through the drifted smoke glowed like a bowl of blood."

To Cure Catarrh

Do not depend upon snuffs, inhalants or other local applications. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and can be successfully treated only by means of a constitutionrl remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood and removes the scrofulous taints which cause catarrh. The great number of testimonials from those who have been cured of catarrh by Hood's Sarsaparilla prove the unequalled power of this medicine to conquer the disease. If troubled with Catarrh give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial at once.

After dinner-coffee.

Nothing in the world is so necessary as a fitting termination to a perfectly served dinner.

At no time does the true merit of coffee become so manifest. To produce that delicious, aromatic beverage that delights the hearts of epicures and acts as a delightful conclusion to a well-enjoyed meal, only the finest material should be used. They are represented by

SEWERAGE DEBENTURES WILL BE ISSUED

TO DEFRAY THE COST OF SECTIONS NOS. 3 AND 4.

The Bylaws Authorising Them Were Passed by the Town Council—Four Per Cent. Interest Asked.

A special meeting of the town council was held last evening for the purpose of putting through the bylaws authorising the issue of debentures to cover the cost of constructing sections No. 3 and 4 of the sewerage system.

The members present were the Mayor and Councillors Best, Leplante, Robinson, Davis, Dawson, Cobb and White.

Section No. 3 of the system includes that portion on George street from Townsend to King street, constructed by Robert Grant and section 4 embraces George and Water streets from King to McDonel and portions of King, Charlotte, Simcoe, Hunter, Brock and McDonel constructed by Jas. Bogue.

There were three bylaws passed.

The first provided for the issue of thirty year debentures for the payment of the town's proportion of the cost of constructing the aforesaid sewers, being $7,468 61, being one-third of the total cost including the salaries of the officials and the interest and the sinking fund, which is the amount to be levied on the general taxpayer. The debentures are to bear interest at 4 per cent. and to meet them at the expiration of the thirty years $403.77 will have to be paid into a sinking fund annually.

The other two bylaws provided for the issue of debentures covering the cost as affecting the property-holders on either side of the streets on which the sewers are constructed and who have to pay two thirds of the cost, the town, as provided by the first by-law, meeting the other third of the amount required.

Bylaw No. 2 provided for the borrowing of money by the issue of debentures to the amount of $2,915.90 to defray the cost on section No. 3, from the creek on George street to King street as falling on the property holders. On both sides of the street there are 2,768 ft. 9 inches, and as $168.72 has to be raised annually the cost per foot per annum to the property holders for the next 30 years will be 6 1 10th cents.

Owners may commute the assessment by paying $1.0335 per foot before the first of January next and a proportionately reduced rate for the years collected if paid before the first day of January in any following year.

The third bylaw was for the purpose of authoring the issue of debentures defraying the cost of section No. 4, as falling on the property holders on the streets directly effected, viz:

Div. No. 1, George street, from King to Brock, 3,616 ft 2 in.
Div. No. 2, George street, from Brock to McDonel, 1,183 ft 10 in.
Div. No. 3, Charlotte street, from George to Louis, 244 ft 1 in.
Div. No. 4, Simcoe street, from George to creek, 648 ft 9 in.
Div. No. 5, Hunter street, from George to creek, 1,016 ft 6 in.
Div. No. 6, Brock street, from George, 410 ft. west, 661 ft. 5 in.
Div. No. 7, King street, from George to Water, 4071 ft 9 in.
Div. No. 7, Water street, from King to McDonel, 4,021 ft 9 in.

The amount charged to frontage and to be paid by the property holders affected is $8,726 75, divided as follows:

Division.	Tl cost.	Paid by Town.	Chg'd to Frontage.
1	$6,121 90	$2,888 86	$3,260 04
2	1,266 16	456 53	811 64
3	836 46	63 66	744 80
4	428 22	41 17	388 05
5	669 79	59 93	609 78
6	530 06	67 26	462 80
7	3,485 51	1,076 57	2,408 94
Gulleys, etc.	486 25	486 25
Totals	$13,842 25	$5,115 50	$8,726 75

The amount to be raised annually as a frontage tax is, therefore, as follows:

Division.	Ann Am't to be raised.	Ann rate per foot frontage.
1	$188 63	0.0627
2	46 94	0.0407
3	44 82	0 0455
4	22 44	0.0387
5	35 84	0.0350
6	24 77	0.0393
7	129 30	0.0346
Total annual levy	$504 66

Owners may commute the assessment by paying the following sums per foot in the said divisions respectively as follows:

Division No 1	$1. 063
" " 2	0. 704
" " 3	0. 786
" " 4	0.6662
" " 5	0.6032
" " 6	0.6793

payable before the first day of January next, and proportionately reduced ratio for the year collected, if paid before the first first day of January in any following year.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT IN THE OPERA HOUSE.

The Diamond Jubilee Tableaux Magnificently Presented—A Fine Entertainment Programme—Successful in all Respects—The Grand Tableaux—Toilettes of the Ladies—Full Report of the Finely Successful Affair.

ONE of the most gallant and graceful entertainments ever presented in the history of the town was presented last night in the Opera House under the auspices of the King's Daughters of St. John's, and it is a pleasure to know that the cause of sweet charity, represented by this organization, was most substantially served by the financial results of the occasion.

The affair was in every sense a most decisive success, and Mrs. J. E. Hammond, the promoter and moving spirit, is entitled to the heartiest congratulation and warm praise for the success that attended her self sacrificing and arduous exertions in the arrangement and guidance of the entire affair.

The Opera House was crowded with an assemblage representing the best elements of our citizenship irrespective of denominational divisions, and the large number present was in every sense well rewarded for their attendance. For last night's entertainment, in the beauty of its spectacular features, and in the fidelity of its representation of the events it assumed to reproduce has been seldom, if indeed ever, equalled in Peterborough.

The central idea of the entertainment was to portray by tableaux vivants, the three most important crises in the life of her most gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, whose Diamond Jubilee has been celebrated with unexampled enthusiasm this year in every region of the globe where the "meteor flag" spreads its folds. The several scenes presented were a revelation of the beauty and gracefulness of the girls of the town, for it would be difficult in a place of similar size to gather together a bevy of maidens fair who would outshine, or indeed equal that gathered on the stage of the opera house last night. And the dignified and faithful manner in which they sustained their high characters, was of a piece with the grace of person and movement that distinguished the several tableaux.

The first tableau presented was that where the Archbishop of Canterbury, faithfully represented, even to his gartered legs, by Mr. John E. Belcher, and the Lord Chamberlain, the Marquis of Coynghan, Mr. A. P. Poussette waited upon the Princess Victoria (Mrs. Rufus Stevenson) to inform her of the death of her uncle, William IV., and of her consequent accession to the throne. As the Princess in her robe de nuit, with her nut brown hair streaming over its sowny surface, entered modestly and was saluted by Lord Chamberlain and received the Archiepiscopal blessing, the simple dignity and solemnity with which the scene was invested made it one of the most striking and effective of the tableaux presented.

The next tableau presented was the more striking and gorgeous one of the coronation, in which the Queen was represented by Mrs. A. E. Sherwood and "well and truly" did she sustain the character of the fair and youthful sovereign she represented. The gorgeously dressed page, Master Douglas Hammond, on bended knee presented the crown flashing with brilliants and resting on a crimson cushion, to the Archbishop, who placed it on the royal head and as the "round and top" of sovereignty rested on the royal head, and the brilliant court of lords and ladies of high degree, clad in sumptuous attire flashing with brilliants and rich with crimson and gold, paid their homage to the newly crowned Queen, the scene was a brilliant and effective one.

The third and last tableau was that of a royal wedding and the curtain rose upon a most brilliant scene, the full court surrounding the altar at which were placed the archbishop and attendant ecclesiastics, while the bridegroom, represented by Lieut. Cockburn, of Lakefield, attired in a field marshall's uniform of the period (being a uniform of the late General Macdonald, father of Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Belcher) stood in front of the altar. A fanfare of trumpets and the stately notes of the wedding march ushered in the royal bride (Miss Hamilton), in magnificent bridal robes, conducted by the Duke of Sussex (Col. Harry Rogers), who also gave the bride to be married, and attended by eight bridesmaids, attired in white satin, with bouquets of bridal roses; and when, at the conclusion of the ceremony, the courtly assemblage bowed before the royal pair and the band played "God Save the Queen," the audience testified their delight and, as it were, tendered their congratulation by enthusiastic applause. The bridesmaids were Miss and Miss Eleanor Rackham, Miss Lilian Hall, Miss Poussette, Miss Edith Barlee, Miss Lilian Pearse, Miss May Boucher and Miss Mabel Roy.

An incidental pageant and well worthy of the Occasion of the Royal Wedding was the exceedingly pretty Court Dance. In this scene the Queen, enthroned and the royal bridegroom, attended by the sedater members of the court, witnessed the dance, which was performed by the bridesmaid and the younger members of the court entourage, and consisted of Les Lanciers, adapted in rythm and tempo to the measure of the stately movement. This was a scene that aroused the enthusiasm of the audience, and like all the other tableau was demanded again and again, and it was apparently only consideration for the characters in all the tableaux that restrained the spectators from redemanding them indefinitely.

A most beautiful feature of the entertainment was the novel spectacle the Butterfly Dance, performed by the following young ladies: Miss Rackham, Miss Boucher, Miss Lilian Pearse, Miss Nan Hall, Miss Marion Sherwood and Miss Mabel Roy.

The graceful movements of these charming young ladies, in themselves a very pretty picture, gave to this beautiful dance a charm which so delighted the spectators that they would listen to no refusal of a repetition.

Interspersed among the tableaux was a very excellent musical and elocutionary programme. The Fire Brigade Band was present and opened the entertainment by a delightful performance of exceedingly appropriate medley of national and patriotic airs.

Miss Alma McCollum, Peterborough's gifted poetess and elocutionist, opened the programme with an excellent and appropriate recitation entitled "Vanished Years," arranged by herself, in which the chief incidents of the Queen's reign were happily summarised. Mrs. Seward's vocal solo, "Come in and Shut the Door," was well sung and well received. Miss Clarke's and Miss Carnegie's vocal solo, and Miss Roger's pianoforte solo were capital numbers. Miss Noble, at present visiting in town, gave great delight with her three comic songs, of which two were coster songs, including "Mrs. Enery 'Awkins." Her comic cradle song and the "Alabama Coon" were delightfully done. As a comic character vocalist she is simply delightful and was given an enthusiastic reception. Last mentioned but by no means least in merit, was the spirited recitation of Miss Lolo Ostrom, the little elocutionary phenomenon whose clever work was enthusiastically applauded.

THE TOILETTES OF THE LADIES.

The dresses worn by the court ladies were exceedingly rich and effective, and a brief mention of them will be of interest to especially the fair reader.

Mrs. A. E. Sherwood, the Queen at the Coronation, white satin and lace gown, crimson and ermine coronation robe, and the royal regalia and jewels.

Miss Hamilton, the royal bride, white brocaded silk and lace, bridal train and bridal roses in her hair and jewels befitting the occasion.

The attire of the court ladies was superb and added greatly to the brilliancy of the several tableaux.

Mrs. Peter Campbell, Duchess of Cambridge, blue satin brocaded, train of lavinder, plumes and diamonds.

Miss Mabel Bradburn, Princess May of Cambridge, yellow silk and lace.

Mrs. A. E. Finnemore, Lady Hastings, yellow satin, white lace, court vail, plumes and sapphires.

Mrs. Hewson, Marchioness of Lansdowne, cream satin, pearls and plumes.

Miss Lundy, Duchess of Buccleugh, yellow satin, black lace, count veil, plumes and diamonds.

Miss Hatton, Marchioness of Normandy, white satin, seeded with pearls, green plush court train, court veil and court plumes.

Miss Belcher, Duchess of Sutherland, pink silk, brocaded satin train, plumes and diamonds.

Miss Flo. Belcher, Queen Adelaide, yellow silk, court train, ermine trimmed, plumes and diamonds.

Miss Alma Frances McCollum, Lady Anna Frances Leigh, green silk gauze over white satin, garniture of pink roses, diamonds and pearls.

Miss Halliday, Marchioness Coyngham, royal blue silk, white lace, pearls and plumes.

Miss Marion Sherwood, Duchess of Ormond, blue silk, drapery of white lace, pearls, plumes and diamonds.

Miss Maud Perry, Duchess of Devonshire, cream silk crepe, pearl-trimmed, court train of lace, court veil and diamonds.

Miss Hugel, Countess of Londonderry, blue brocaded silk, black lace court veil, plumes and diamonds.

Miss Archer, Duchess of Norfolk, black satin and lace, tiara of diamonds, court plumes and diamonds.

The gentlemen representing the several characters were:

Lieut. Cockburn, Prince Albert.
Col. H. C. Rogers, Duke of Sussex.
Mr. A. P. Poussette, Bishop of London and Marquis Coyngham.
Mr. Ritchie, Bishop of Bangor.
Mr. Peter Campbell, Viscount Melbourne.
Mr. A. E. Finnemore, Earl of Erroll.
Mr. Sheriff Hall, Lord High Chancellor.
Mr. F. D. Kerr, Duke of Norfolk.
Mr. H. T. Nelles, Duke of Wellington.
Mr. Vernon McGill, Viscount Melbourne.
Mr. Harold Cluxton, Lord Paget.
Mr. George Hatton, Duke of Leinster.

Messrs. Jack Belcher and Fred. Sawers were the picturesque Beefeaters, and the pages were represented by Masters Douglas Hammond and Harold Dean.

Altogether the Jubilee Tableaux and their attendant features were a splendid success, and the success is due not only to the energy and persistence of Mrs. Hammond, but also to those who so heartily co-operated with her, both in the royal pageants and otherwise. Thanks are specially rendered to all those who assisted in the incidental programme—to Mr. Roy, who performed the duties of manager, to Mrs. A. E. Sherwood, who drilled the participants in the court dance, and to Miss Dorothy Hall, who drilled the fairies of the butterfly dance. Mention should not be omitted of the valuable services of Mr. Hampden Burnham, who officiated last night as herald extraordinary.

To conclude, the audience was delighted with the tableaux, but were not satisfied—they could not see enough of them.

Cold, damp, winter winds are hard on weak lungs. Madill's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil will be found very efficacious. Put up by W. Madill, druggist, Hunter street. dw

His cries attracted the attention of his mate, William Watling, and of Conductor Finlay, who was in the van. He died during the afternoon. He leaves a widow and one child 3 months old.

Dr. Hutchinson Bailed.

Woodstock, Nov. 19.—Dr. Duncan H. Hutchinson of Ingersoll, who was committed to Woodstock jail on a charge of procuring an abortion on Lizzie Duhan of London, has been released on bail furnished by his father and uncle. The girl is reported to be out of danger.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men in common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

Catarrh Cured for 25 cents

I suffered from Catarrh for years, and have found Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure the best that I have used, and gladly recommend it to suffers. Yours truly,

WHITEWAY HAS RESIGNED.

The Old Newfoundland Ministry Formally Lays Down the Seals of Office—Question of Appointments.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 17.—The Ministry, headed by Sir William Whiteway, formally resigned office last evening. Before resigning, Sir William Whiteway wished to fill vacancies in the civil service with his defeated supporters and their followers, but Sir Herbert Murray, the Governor, refused to sanction any permanent appointments, and consented to authorize only acting appointees.

The Governor was impelled to this determination by the pledge of the incoming Winter Cabinet to reduce the number of office-holders. He refused, therefore, to create any vested rights by agreeing to make permanent appointments.

The Cabinet of Sir James Winter will assume office at noon to-day, and following the precedent created by the controversy between Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada, and Sir Charles Tupper, while Premier last year, will insist upon the cancellation of all these appointments immediately.

HAMILTON DIOCESE.

Bishop DuMoulin of Niagara Will Make a Request to the Legislature.

Hamilton, Nov. 18.—Bishop DuMoulin will apply to the Ontario Government at its next session for legislation to empower the synod to acquire and hold lands for a see house, acquire and dispose of real estate and church property, and vest in the synod all property now held by the incorporated synod of the Toronto Diocese or the Bishop of Toronto, in trust for the Niagara Synod, under Vic. 39, chap. 107, sec. 3. There is also a clause to regulate the privileges of superannuated clergy.

Serious Charge Against a Doctor.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 18.—Dr. D. H. Hutchinson, a popular young physician of Ingersoll, has been arrested charged with procuring an abortion. Augustus Frezell, an attendant in the London Asylum, is also under arrest as a party to it. Lizzie Duhan, the girl, is a London Asylum attendant and lies at the point of death. The arrests have been made upon her ante mortem statement. Dr. Hutchison is now in Woodstock jail.

TIVERTON FIRE SWEPT.

An Early Morning Conflagration Devastates a Bruce County Village.

Tiverton, Ont., Nov. 19.—At 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in John Walker's drug store, and through the fact of there being no means of fighting the flames except by water pails, the whole block, a wooden one, was entirely consumed, together with a livery stable, one private residence and dressmaking rooms, and a frame barn. The business block was composed of six stores, occupied as follows: John McKellar, groceries, boots and shoes; John Walker & Co., drugs; James Gord, merchant tailor; one double store, unoccupied; Geo. Manners, harness maker; A. J. Campbell, general merchant.

The fire had gained good headway when discovered, and most of the work from the first consisted of saving goods and adjacent buildings. The Town Hall and the Masonic Hall were saved.

Heavy Loss of Life in the Chilkoot Pass.

San Francisco, Nov. 19.—George Pope of Chicago has written to a friend here from Sheep Camp, on the Chilkoot trail. The letter is dated Oct. 28, and gives the latest news of the condition of the men who are stranded on the way to the Klondike. "The other day a man told me that at least 20 men had perished on the trail within the last few weeks, I have not been able to verify this statement. At every town and every settlement, where prospectors are compelled to stop, the men have stories to tell of the danger of the journey. Their advice is to avoid the trip now at any cost."

J. G. Adams the Patron Candidate.

Newington, Ont., Nov. 19.—At the convention for Stormont of Independent Patrons, held here yesterday, two candidates were nominated, Mr. John Bennett, M.P.P., and J. G. Adams, the defeated Patron candidate at the last Dominion election. A ballot was taken and resulted in Mr. Adams being chosen over Mr. Bennett.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 58, St. Henri, Que.

Weyler's Quick Passage Home.

Corunna, Spain, Nov. 19.—The Spanish steamer Montserrat, which left Havana on Sunday, October 31, with General Weyler, the former Captain-General of Cuba, on board, and which subsequently touched at Gibara and Port Rico arrived here unexpectedly yesterday. She was not due to arrive here, according to the announcements, until Friday evening.

Gold for Chili.

London, Nov. 19.—Financial circles are agitated over statements that either £800,000 or £400,000 in gold coin have been purchased in the open market for Chili. The discount market is very sensitive. There have been fresh enquiries for gold on American accounts.

Verdi is Very Ill.

London, Nov. 19.—A special despatch from Rome says that Signor Guiseppe Verdi, the celebrated composer of music, who has been suffering greatly since the death of his wife, whose demise was announced on Sunday last, is so prostrated that serious results are feared.

Dying Man Grasps at a Straw.

"Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart has done so much for me that I feel I owe it to suffering humanity to give testimony. For years I had smothering spells, pains in my left side, and swelled ankles. When I took the first dose of Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure, my friends thought I was dying, it gave me almost instant relief, and six bottles entirely cured me."—Mrs. F. L. Lumsden, Scranton, Pa. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A Cool Head.

A clear, bright brain, a cool head free from pain, and strong, vigorous nerves are requisite to success in modern life. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills invigorate and brighten the brain, strengthen the nerves, and remove all heart, nerve and brain trouble.

NO PEACE AT MAIDAN.

The British Forces Continually Attacked—Bravery of Individual Soldiers—French Force Cut to Pieces.

Simla, Nov. 19.—According to the official despatches received here from the British camp in the Maidan Valley to-day, fighting in one form or another between the British and insurgent tribesmen continues hourly, and is characterized by conspicuous bravery. During Tuesday night last Major Les Voeux and one company of the 56th Sikhs rushed a village of the enemy and began firing at the tribesmen through the apertures of their blockhouses.

A Conspicuously Brave Private.

Private Vicary, of the Dorsetshire Regiment, of Dargai ridge fame, with four men, became separated in the darkness from the main body, and the little party was attacked by the enemy. Vicary had his rifle wrested from him, but he recovered it, bayonetted one of the tribesmen and clubbed another, who half cut off Vicary's foot. The soldier, however, succeeded in reaching camp with two men and a Pathan prisoner. Blood was oozing out of the magazine of Vicary's rifle.

DR CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

OBSTINATE COUGHS.

"My daughter being afflicted with an obstinate cough which resisted the curative effects of almost all the advertised cough remedies, and having placed an order for 8 doz. of Chase's Linseed and Turpentine in W. W. Carter's Drug Store, of which I am manager, I was induced to try a bottle. A few doses gave relief and the one bottle effected a cure. I can highly recommend it as being pleasant to take and efficacious."

DIZZY AND WEAK.

Sinking Sensations. Strong Evidence from Belleville that there is a Cure.

Mrs. Jas. A. Ross, Geddes St., Belleville, Ont., says, "To me life has been made a misery for the last six or seven years because of heart trouble and nervousness, from which I have suffered all this time.

"My heart throbbed, and seemed to rise into my throat, causing a sensation of suffocation. At times I had to walk the floor, and often then would have a sensation of falling down from a high place such as falling down stairs.

"This would be followed by dizziness, my eyesight would become blurred and dim, so that many a time I knew not what to do. Gradually I grew weak, my blood became poor, and my entire system run down. My nerves were so unstrung that I could not sleep.

"All the medicine I used and all the doctoring I did was without effect, when providentially I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and started using them. The results were so wonderful that I cannot refrain from speaking about them.

"I got stronger from the first dose, and am now like another person. The action of my heart is all right, my blood is enriched, and my whole system toned up to its normal condition of strength and vigor.

"To my mind there is no medicine in the world so good as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for all who suffer as I did." 219

THE JOURNEY.

I think of death as some delightful journey
That I shall take when all my tasks are done,
Though life has given me a heaping measure
Of all best gifts, and many a cup of pleasure,
Still better things await me further on.

This little earth is such a merry planet,
The distances beyond it so supreme,
I have no doubt that all the mighty spaces
Between us and the stars are filled with faces
More beautiful than any artist's dream.

I like to think that I shall yet behold them,
When from this waiting room my soul has soared-
Earth is a wayside station, where we wander,
Until from out the silent darkness yonder
Death swings his lantern and cries, "All aboard!"

I think death's train sweeps through the solar system
And passes suns and moons that dwarf our own,
And close beside us we shall find our dearest,
The spirit friends on earth, we held the nearest,
And in the shining distance God's great throne.

Whatever disappointment may befall me
In plans or pleasures in this world of doubt,
I know that life at worst can but delay me,
But no malicious fate has power to stay me
From that grand journey on the Great Death Route.

—ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

Would any Sane Housekeeper Use Oleomargarine?

DANGER IN ANOTHER DIRECTION.

Would any sane housekeeper in Canada buy oleomargarine or imitation butter instead of the finest production of the creamery or dairy? We think our Canadian women are too wise to be deceived in this important matter. Lard coloured to resemble good butter will never be acceptable to our people.

There are, however, other deceptive agents that sometimes find their way into our homes; we refer to imitation and adulterated package dyes for home dyeing. Some people sell imitations of the celebrated Diamond Dyes. The contents of these imitation packages carry ruin and disappointment to every user.

A few dealers, for the sake of long profits, are now selling soap dyes composed of a very large amount of common grease, and an infinitesimal quantity of colouring matter. Such dyes after trials have been found weak and uncleanly, giving dull and muddy colours, fading quickly in washing and sunlight.

As millions of thrifty and experienced women already know, the Diamond Dyes are the only reliable package dyes, having stood the test of long years. Diamond Dyes are easy to use, and give brilliant and lasting colours that cannot be equalled by any other make.

Fred Elliott Released on Bail.

Goderich, Nov. 18.—Fred Elliott, the principal in the Bayfield tragedy, was released from jail yesterday and left for home in the afternoon, accompanied by his mother and brother-in-law. Bail was furnished by his mother for $750, Mr. Fowlie, his brother-in-law, for $750 and himself for $1500. Elliott elected to be tried by jury, his case to come up at the sessions on Dec. 14, before His Honor Judge Masson.

A LITTLE BOY'S LAMENT.

I'm goin' back down to grandpa's;
I won't come back no more
To hear the remarks about my feet
A-muddyin' up the floor,
They's too much said about my clothes,
The scoldin's never done—
I'm goin' back down to grandpa's
Where a boy kin hev some fun.

I dug up half his garden
A-gettin' worms fer bait;
He said he used to like it
When I laid abed so late;
He said that pie was good fer boys,
An' candy made 'em grow,
Ef I can't go to grandpa's
I'll turn pirate first you know.

He let me take his shotgun
An' loaded it fer me;
The cats they hid out in the barn,
The hens flew up a tree.
I had a circus in the yard
With twenty other boys—
I'm goin' back to grandpa's
Where they ain't afraid of noise.

He didn't make me comb my hair,
But once or twice a week;
He wasn't watchin' out fer words
I didn't orter speak;
He told me stories 'bout the war
And Injuns shot out west,
Oh, I'm goin' down to grandpa's,
For he knows wot boys like best.

He even run a race with me,
But had to stop and cough;
He rode my bicycle and laughed
Bec'us' he tumbled off;
He knew the early apple trees
Around within a mile,
Oh, grandpa was a dandy,
An' was "in it" all the while.

I bet you grandpa's lonesome,
I don't care what you say;
I seen him kinder cryin'
When you took me away,
When you talk to me of heaven,
Where all the good folks go,
I guess I'll go to grandpa's,
An' we'll have good times, I know.

Mrs. Benham—Oh, you darling creature.—Modern Society.

Wife—John, what's the matter with you to-night? Here I've been talking to you for half an hour and all you've done was grunt and occasionally nod your head.

Husband—Well, I've found it possible to do that without interrupting you.

She—Have you always lived up to your income?

He—No; I've got a nice little sum laid by. But why do you ask? Surely you have no sordid motives in——

She (interrupting)—Oh, no. It's all right. I merely wished to let you know that I do not care to be the wife of a man who marries to save money.

Mistakes About Mountains.

Ninety-nine people out of a hundred appear to be under the impression that Mount Blanc is in Switzerland, whereas it is wholly within the French frontier Province of Haute Savoie. Next, Mount St. Elias is not the highest mountain in North America, but the peak, which is 1511 feet higher, named after Sir William "Logan," founder of the Canadian Geological Survey. And what is more, although so patriotically scouted by some, the assertion that both mountains are in British territory has been confirmed since 1887 by the Canadian-Alaska boundary survey. And of another mountain—Ararat: The usual statement that this was the place on which Noah's Ark rested has no foundation in the Hebrew text, which reads: "On the mountains of Ararat." Ararat was the ancient name of a district in Eastern Armenia, and has been used for all Armenia.

NON-SECTARIAN.

Divines all Meet on a Common Level and are of one Accord in Proclaiming the Healing Powers of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder—It Relieves in Thirty Minutes.

"When I know anything is worthy of a recommendation I consider it my duty to tell it." Rev. Jas. Murdock, of Harrisburg, Pa., says this of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder after having been cured of a very malignant form of catarrh. He is not the only great divine on this continent who could, and who has preached little sermonettes on the wonderful cures effected by this famed remedy. What names are more familiar to Canadians than the Rt. Rev. A. Sweetman, Lord Bishop of Toronto, and Dr. Langtry, of the Church of England, the Rev. Mungo Fraser, of Knox Presbyterian church, Hamilton, or the noted Methodist preacher-traveller, Dr. W. H. Withrow, of Toronto. All these men have proven what is claimed for Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and have given their testimony to it.—Sold by H. S. McDonald.

Another Flight.

If I should die to-night,
And you should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die to-night,
And you should come in deepest grief and woe,
And say, "Here's that $10 that I owe,"
I might arise, in my white cravat,
And say, "What's that?"

If I should die to-night,
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel—
I say, if I should die to-night,
And you should come to me, and then and there
Just hint 'bout payin' me that ten,
I might arise the while—
But I'd drop dead gain.

—Somerville Citizen.

Unequalled.

Mr. Thos. Brunt, Tyendinaga, Ont., writes:—"I have to thank you for recommending Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for bleeding piles. I was troubled with them for nearly fifteen years, and tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Some of them would give me temporary relief, but none would effect a cure. I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

Russia's Future.

All that Russia requires is a farsighted, heroic czar who, comprehending the needs of today, as Peter the Great did those of 200 years ago, shall complete the work begun by him, commit Russia irrevocably to occidentalism and liberalism and thus earn for her the sympathy and respect instead of the jealousy and dread of other nations. Should such a czar arise it would be wisdom on the part of Europe to allow Russia to gratify her two legitimate ambitions, in the pursuit of which she has hitherto been thwarted, especially by Great Britain. These ambitions are: (1) To complete the subjugation of the barbarous Tartars by annexing Turkey to her dominions, and (2) to possess ice free ports for the development of a navy and of merchant shipping. While as despotic, she ought to be thwarted in every way, as liberal, she ought to enjoy all the rights of liberal nations and be permitted to have her own way in Turkey and China, just as England has had hers in Egypt and India. A liberal Russia, with her long cherished ambitions once satisfied, would be not only the peace keeper of Europe, but also one of its most potent civilizing influences, equalling, perhaps surpassing—so gifted is her people—the other nations in culture, humanity and righteousness. But whether Russia is to be blessed with a liberal czar or not there is no reason to fear her supremacy. If she remain coarsely despotic, it cannot last; if she become liberal, it can be only a blessing.—Forum.

MEN and WOMEN

Should Remember that Paine's Celery Compound Makes People Well.

Prompt and Grand Results When the Wonderful Medicine is Used.

A Marvellous Cure After the Doctors Failed in the Case.

It should not be necessary to daily remind men and women who realize that they are broken down in health the urgent need of using Paine's Celery Compound to restore lost nerve force and to purify the blood.

Some of the first and most cheering results noticed after Paine's Celery Compound has been used for a short time is a regularity of the bowels, a better appetite, sound sleep and excellent digestion. The nerves and tissues are richly fed by new, fresh blood, and all forms of mental depression, lassitude, dizzy spells and ringing sounds in the ears are banished.

Paine's Celery Compound cannot be judged by the standard of any ordinary medicine, sarsaparilla, bitters, nerve tonic or pills. Paine's Celery Compound is a great modern scientific discovery, and stands far ahead of all other medical preparations. Paine's Celery Compound succeeds and triumphs when all other medicines fail; its grand mission is "making people well."

Mr. J. Irvine, Heckstone, Ont., says:

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of very debilitated condition. The next autumn I had another attack which left me in a very bad state. My health was nearly wrecked; I had no strength, and felt tired all the time. I was so weak that my legs would not support my body, and I have often fallen to the ground when trying to attend to my work both in the field and in my barn, and would be compelled to lie wherever I had fallen until I could muster sufficient strength to rise.

"My appetite was all gone, and when I would try to eat in order to gain strength I would suffer untold misery for hours. It seemed to me that I was slowly starving to death.

"I tried different doctors, but did not derive any benefit from their treatment. My friends thought I was going to die, and I verily believe I would have died had I not tried your Paine's Celery Compound. I bought six bottles and conscientiously say I received more benefit from it than I ever dreamed of; it was worth more to me than one hundred dollars worth of medicines from the doctors. I began to improve in health before I had finished the first bottle, and to-day I am completely restored to health. I can do as good a day's work as I ever could, and can now eat any kind of food without experiencing trouble afterward, and can sleep as well as when I was a boy.

"I have not had to use any of the Compound for months, which convinces me that the cure is permanent. I feel it my duty to let every sufferer know what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me, and it seems impossible for me to say all I should in its favour. My wife, who has been a sufferer for years with rheumatism, was greatly benefitted by the use of your medicine. I send you this testimony unsolicited."

Hot water bottles, pure rubber and guaranteed, for sale by W. Madill, druggist, Hunter street. dw

People Talk Back.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Wesse, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

DIVINE HEALING.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you please give space in your paper for a little comment on an article by Dr. Henry Wilson, which appeared in the columns of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, published in New York on August 11th, 1897, under the above title. The writer of the address starts out by asserting the truth of Divine Healing rests on two foundations. First, the word of God, and second, on the testimony of human experience. In reference to the scriptural texts which he makes use of, he refers to Eph. 5, 23, also verse 30, which are quite foreign to the subject, and have no such meaning as the Dr. wishes to convey. In the first instance the Apostle is impressing on the minds of the Ephesian brethren the close relationship existing between the husband and wife. For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is head of the church. That is as Christ rules over the church, and has a right to direct and control it, so in like manner the husband has a right (in love and tenderness) to rule the wife. And he is the saviour of the body, that is of the church, represented as his body. The comparison of the church, with a person or body, of which the Lord Jesus is the head, is not uncommon in the New Testament. How then can any Christian man with sane mind, so contort or miscontrue the Divine Word, making it teach a dogma or heresy unknown to the Christian world, is beyond my comprehension. Verse 30. The interpretation which the writer puts upon this is still more fanatical. For we are members of His body. The teaching of the Apostle here is that there is a close and intimate union between the Christian and the Saviour, a union so intimate that they may be spoken of as one. It is language which is employed to denote the closeness of the marriage relation, and which Paul applies to the connection between Christ and His people. Of course, it cannot be understood literally. It is not true literally that our bones are a part of the bones of Christ, or our flesh of His flesh. Nor should language ever be used that would imply a miraculous union, but a union of attachment of feelings of love. No reference to this frail body of ours, of which the apostle speaks when he says, "O, wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death." See Romans, 7—24, verse 25. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God, but with the flesh, the law of sin. In fact the inconstant perfection of saints is frequently referred to in the Scriptures. See Job 9, 20—If I justify myself, my own mouth shall condemn me; Psalms 12, 12—Who can understand his errors, cleanse thou me from secret faults. See the Lord's Prayer—Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors. Would to God we had more of the spirit of meekness and humility in the present day, set forth by the early followers of Christ. The Apostle Paul was conscious that He carried about with him not a perfect body. Thus he exclaims,—I am the least of the Apostles than am not meet to be called an Apostle, but by the grace of God am what I am. In regard to the testimony of human experience in Divine Healing, I am afraid many go to the extreme by accepting the shadow for the substance. God, I believe, is pleased to use means to heal the body as well as that of the soul. For it pleased God, through the foolishness of preaching, to save them that believe. Moreover, our Lord used means to open the eyes of the blind man by annointing the eyes of the blind man with clay ointment, which He made Himself. Let us not be presumptious by thinking the Lord is going to do His own work and ours too.

I have written the above in no controversial or unkind spirit, but merely to emphasise the danger that exists of misinterpreting the words of Holy Writ, and to excess of zeal on certain lines, give literal and, therefore, misleading meanings to words, that are to be spiritually discerned. The words of the sixteenth verse of the third chapter of the second epistle general of Peter, there he says, referring to the Epistle of St. Paul—"in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do, the other Scriptures, unto their own destruction," and to the unsettling of the simple faith of those who is singleness of heart are trying to please God.

Thanking you for space, I am,

Yours, etc.,

W. GRANT.

A MUNICIPAL DUTY.

Minister of Agriculture Says Enforcement of Quarantine Laws Belongs to the Municipalities.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The Department of the Secretary of State has just issued the last report of the deep waterways commission, which is dated June 17 last.

The Minister of Agriculture stated today that he did not intend to enforce the examination of cattle to see if they were infected with tuberculosis, as he thought that was the duty of the municipalities.

The C. P. R. and Canada Atlantic Railway Companies have come to an agreement, and it is now settled as a result of yesterday's conference that the former will enter the city over the latter's tracks.

THOROUGHLY GRATEFUL.

MR. STEPHEN BELISLE GLADLY TELLS HOW HE WAS CURED.

After Other Remedies Failed to Help Him, Dr. William's Pink Pills Made Him a Healthy Man.

From the Montreal Herald.

Down on William street the bulk of the butter and cheese trade is done, and it is there that the Montreal cold storage and freezing company's mammoth building is located. In the summer time, when extensive shipments are being made, the big block is a veritable beehive. Several well known exporting firms have their warehouses in this building and one of them is Wm. T. Ware & Co. Their head warehouse man is Mr. Stephen Belisle, who, as his name indicates, is a French Canadian and in the prime of life. If ever there was a grateful man on the face of the earth to-day that man is Stephen Belisle. After suffering indescribable agony for several months, he is now the picture of health and feels that it is his duty to tell all the world how he was restored to health and happiness. Mr. Belisle explained his troubles, now fortunately a thing of the past, to a reporter of the Herald recently. "My work called me to all parts of the warehouse," said he, "and sometimes I went into the freezing room without my coat or cap on and then back to the other parts of the warehouse to the warmer atmosphere. About a year ago I became very ill with a complication of diseases. I was suffering with indigestion, biliousness and the resulting nervous disorders such as sick headache and loss of appetite. I began doctoring, but I seemed to grow worse every day. I slept very little, and as time went on I was not able to do any work, and even the exertion of moving about would tire me out. I had a very poor appetite and what food I ate did not agree with me. I also suffered from a severe pain in the back and side. During that time I had tried many medicines but they gave me no relief. I had become so weak and my system was so run down that life was a burden to me. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I did with extremely beneficial results. I commenced taking the pills about Christmas time and now I am feeling so good that I thought it my duty to write the proprietors of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and let them know how extremely grateful I am for the cure their medicine has effected in me. I had taken only six boxes when my condition of health was a paradise to what it had been for some months previous. Mr. Belisle is a quiet, unassuming man, and and evidently not given to over enthusiasm, but there was no mistaking his earnestness when recounting his experiences to the reporter. He will always be a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

ITCHING ECZEMA

An Editor's Little Son Suffers Terribly. Itching Intense, Face Raw and Bleeding from Constant Scratching. Cured by Cuticura.

My little boy was afflicted with Eczema in acute form for nearly a year, during which time we tried without success every known remedy. The disorder appeared on the right cheek and was of a blistery and bloody form. His pillow, mornings, would bear the bloody imprint of the side of his face, while it was impossible to prevent the little fellow from scratching his face, owing to the intensity of the itching. I was advised to try CUTICURA. The first application was made before puting the child to bed, and the appearance of the affected parts showed a noticeable improvement the next morning. As a result of the continued use of CUTICURA my child has as fair and smooth skin as can be found anywhere.

LONDON'S DISASTER.

Losses Estimated at Ten to Forty Millions.

THE EFFECT OF THE GREAT FIRE.

The Firemen Worked All Day Saturday—The Imperial Parliament to Meet in February—Serious Revolt in Zanzibar—Hon. Mr. Fielding on the Washington Conference.

London, Nov. 20.—A number of fire engines this morning are still playing on the smouldering ruins marking the scene of the great conflagration. It is impossible to accurately estimate the amount of damage done, but the direct damage, exclusive of the immense direct loss to trade, will probably be about $10,000,000, Consols and India 3 p. c. have fallen heavily on the belief that the losses will necessitate heavy sales by insurance companies, and most of the insurance companies' shares have dropped 10 to 30 shillings. The Evening Standard, in its financial article this afternoon, says it is believed that the bulk of the fire losses will fall upon American insurance companies.

The last flames disappeared by 11 o'clock this morning, but as this message is forwarded water is still being poured on the red hot masses of ruins. The burned district is surrounded by enormous crowds of people, and the railroads are running excursion trains from the country.

About 300 firms are engaged in seeking for new offices.

The official report says the cause of the fire is unknown. A large number of warehouses of from five to six storeys high have been burned, and have partly fallen, the whole covering an area of 200 by 150 yards, bounded by Nicholl square, Edmunds place, Jewin crescent, Australian avenue, Paul's alley and Red Cross street.

The insurance agents take an optimist view of the losses, their estimates ranging from £300,000 to £800,000. It is a fact that dozens of the burned out firms were not insured, in some cases because the locality has long been considered dangerous by the insurance companies. All the historic treasures of Cripplegate Church were removed, including the records of Oliver Cromwell's marriage, Milton's burial and of the deaths from the plague in 1665.

Two Acres Burned Over.

London, Nov. 22.—The official figures show that 171 buildings were destroyed. The area burned is over two acres.

It is still impossible, and will be for some time to come, to accurately estimate the loss by the fire. The estimates, which have up to this time been given by different authorities, vary from $10,000,000 to $40,000,000. The firemen were busy all day Saturday pouring tons of water upon the ruins, which were still full of fire.

Great Fire at Melbourne.

Melbourne, Nov. 21.—A great fire broke out here at 2 o'clock this morning and in a very short space of time did enormous damage. It started at the warehouse of Mr. Craig Williamson, in Elizabeth street, in the very heart of the city. The burned section included many of the largest business houses in Melbourne. The buildings are completely gutted. It is estimated that the loss will reach £1,000,000, while the trade involved has received a serious set-back. Hundreds of employes of all sorts have been suddenly thrown out of employment.

Mr. Fielding's Opinion.

London, Nov. 21.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, the Canadian Minister of Finance, who is about to return to Canada, reiterates that Canada strongly desires friendly relations with the United States. He expressed the belief that the visit of Sir W. Laurier and Sir L. Davies to Washington had afforded a desirable opportunity of cultivating such relations, and he expected a good outcome from the discussions.

In the interview he said, among other things: "Neither Premier Laurier's nor any future Government of Canada will agree to any policy involving discrimination against Great Britain. I believe this is well understood in America, and I hope that Canada's desire for improved relations is reciprocated in the United States, as both countries would reap much advantage from greater freedom of trade."

War Bound to Come.

London, Nov. 20.—The diplomats are asking what the United States, whose interests in the East are advancing by leaps and bounds, says of the seizure of Kiaochou Bay. The further proceedings promise to be interesting, for, according to the accepted version of the Cassini Treaty, concluded in 1896, Russia secured the reversion of Kiaochou Bay for a naval station. Looking below the surface, the coup may be Germany's retort to the Franco-Russian alliance. The newspapers of Great Britain say that "war will be the outcome of all this harbor grabbing," adding: "Owing to our sovereignty of the seas, we are able to pick and choose any port in China which strikes our fancy. If it is already fortified by our rivals, so much the better."

A French Victory in Africa.

Lagos, West Coast of Africa, Nov. 22.—The French have recruited a cavalry force of 1000 men from the Say district. Singalese reinforcements have arrived at Porto Novo.

Foreign Prisoners Set Free.

Havana, Nov. 23.—All the English prisoners held in the island have already been released, and all the American and French prisoners will be set at liberty in a few days.

The Punishment Was Just.

London, Nov. 22.—The Privy Council has rejected the appeal of Gangadahr Tilak, the native member of the Legislative Council of India, for a re-trial of the case against him, which resulted in his being sentenced on September 14 last to eighteen months' rigorous imprisonment, after having been convicted of inciting the natives of Bombay and its vicinity to disaffection.

Britain's Parliament.

London, Nov. 23.—The British Parliament reassembles during the second week of February, three weeks later than originally intended. The principal tasks of the session will be the Irish Local Government Bill and the Reform of the London County Council referred to by the Marquis of Salisbury in his speech on Tuesday last before the National Union of Conservative Associations, when the Premier asked his hearers if they wanted to be governed like New York City. Then Parliament will be called upon to legislate for the army, the question of increasing its strength appealing most urgently to the country generally, and there is a widespread demand that other questions be shelved and that the session be devoted to the army.

British Army Reforms.

London, Nov. 22.—At the Cabinet Council the Minister of War was authorized to prepare a scheme for army reforms in conjunction with the Duke of Devonshire, who, in addition to being a member of the Cabinet, is President of the Committee of National Defence. Army reform is merely euphemism for an increased number of soldiers.

A report current is that the increase will consist of two regiments of cavalry, several batteries and 10,000 infantry, which seems to be a pretty large order. The Tory Government has a way of doing such things on a large scale, and the country is well alarmed in regard to the army situation and is prepared for any proposals which the Government may decide to make.

There is a strong party in favor of forming two armies; one, as now, recruited on the short-service system, and the other on the long-service system for foreign stations exclusively. The commander-in-chief appears to regard this as impracticable, and favors such improvements in food and pay and subsequent employment in the civil service as will attract a class of men to the army who now avoid it. The Saturday Review remarks to-day: "It is not money that is needed at the War Office, but brains. The money voted by Parliament has been wasted in a disgraceful fashion," and The Review promises revelations to prove this contention.

REVOLT IN ZANZIBAR.

Soudanese Troops Mutiny and Kill Major Macdonald's Officers and Men.

Zanzibar, Island of Zanzibar, East Africa, Nov. 21.—Particulars have reached here of a revolt among the Soudanese troops in Major Macdonald's expedition in the lake country south of the equatorial provinces. It appears that the expedition was advancing into the interior from the Uganda country for a point as to which information is wanting. On Oct. 19 last the mutineers, assisted by 150 Mohammedan tribesmen, attacked the camp at Wasoga.

In the fierce fighting which followed Lieut. Fielding, Major Thurston, Launch Engineer Scott, Civil Officer Wilton and 15 soldiers were killed. The wounded numbered 30, including Captain Macpherson and Chief Civil Officer Jackson. The mutineers were finally defeated, after losing 100 killed and wounded.

Major Macdonald has been joined by the Wasoga native army, and it is hoped that he will be able to quell the mutiny in a few weeks. A detachment of Indian troops from Mombasa will start immediately to reinforce Major Macdonald.

The Turk Brought Up Short.

Constantinople, Nov. 20.—Officials of the Russian Embassy yesterday sent a second note to the Turkish Embassy, pointing out that in times of difficulty Russia abstained from urging the payment of the war debt due her by Turkey, but, the note added, now that the Government of Turkey has decided upon fresh armaments, which are not warranted by the present situation, Russia demands a portion of the arrears, on the same grounds that Austria urged the payment of the claims due to the Oriental Railroad, an Austrian corporation for transporting Turkish troops during the recent war with Greece.

In consequence of this communication, the Porte has informed Russian Charge d'Affaires that nothing has been decided upon concerning the Turkish armaments, at the same time bestowing upon that official the grand cordon of the Osmanli Order.

It is believed the Turkish Government will now drop its plans for the reorganization of the navy of Turkey, although the officials of the German Embassy have been instructed to support the offers of the German firms to reconstruct the fleet and supply the Turkish Government with the necessary arms, ammunition and uniforms.

Archbishop Temple to Retire.

London, Nov. 22.—The Right Hon. and Most Rev. Frederick Temple, D.D., Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of All England, will, it is reported, resign the Archbishropic after the 76th anniversary of his birth, which will occur on Nov. 30. Although his sight is failing, the reports that the Archbishop is in danger of becoming totally blind are denied.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, who was enthroned on June 8 last, was born in 1821. He has been successively head master of Rugby, Bishop of Exeter and more recently Bishop of London. He took a double first-class at Oxford, and married a daughter of the Right Hon. W. S. Lascelles.

Complimentary to Canada.

London, Nov. 22.—Sir Tudor Burness, in a paper contributed to the Arts Colonies, just published, pays a high compliment to Canadian artists.

The captain, who at great risk to himself and crew, brought the disabled Lake Winnipeg safely into port last February, was presented at Liverpool yesterday with a gold watch and a cheque for £100. One hundred and seventy pounds was divided among the crew.

General Cable Notes.

The Duchess of Marlborough had her dressing case stolen at the Paddington Station, in London, Saturday afternoon.

A Paris fire, which started in a small shop in the Rue Des Pyrenees, burned down two acres of buildings and caused a loss of 400,000 francs.

Sir Henry Irving is suffering from the effects of a chill with which he was attacked Saturday morning.

Sir Charles Edward Pollock, Baron of the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, died this morning in his 78th year.

GEORGIAN BAY CANAL.

British Capital is Now Behind it to the Extent of $15,000,000 and Work Will go On.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—It now looks as if the canalization of the Ottawa would soon be an accomplished fact. Some time since it was announced that leading British capitalists had interested themselves in the scheme, and this is confirmed by Mr. Stewart, who arrived to-day from London, where he had been promoting the scheme. He says that the great Imperial scheme of the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal has been successfully inaugurated. It appears that one of the most eminent firms of contractors in the United Kingdom has been successfully approached with regard to the construction of the canal, and that Sir Benjamin Baker, engineer to the Forth Bridge, will be consulting engineer of the Canadian enterprise, which is to cost $15,000,000. Other important matters have also been arranged, but what is of paramount importance to Canadians, is the fact that the work of construction is to be vigorously entered upon as soon as the weather permits next spring, and will be completed within three years.

A Mysterious Disappearance.

The Montreal detectives were notified to-day by the family of Mr. Albert F. Lewis, a leading real estate man of this city, that he had mysteriously disappeared and that no trace of him could be found. It is claimed that he has either been abducted or been the victim of foul play. A reward of $1000 has been offered for his recovery.

STEALING THE NEWS FIGHT.

La Presse Sued for $100,000 on Behalf of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Messrs Smith and Markey on Saturday entered action for damages for $100,000 each against La Presse and The Herald, in the name of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company. The Patrie demands an apology from La Presse, which it declares to be the loser in its now famous "fake" report of a landslide in Lotbiniere County. It also declares that it received no communication on the subject from the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, but from its own correspondent, who himself got the news from La Presse man. The Patrie further offers $500 to charities if La Presse can prove a single case in which any of its special despatches were sold to The Patrie or stolen for its benefit under the present administration of that journal. Finally, The Patrie asks whether public interest does not demand that the Attorney-General intervene and hold an investigation into the conduct of the agent of La Presse at Quebec, Mr. Cinq-Mars.

A Traveler Suicides.

Winnipeg, Nov. 22.—A commercial traveler, named Dave White, representing Tooke Bros., Montreal, committed suicide at the General Hospital here Saturday at noon. He was, as a private patient, supplied with a razor, which he used to cut his throat. Deceased was aged about 27 and came from Ingersoll.

Killed Him Instantly.

Collingwood, Nov. 20.—Andrew Kirkpatrick of Draper township attempted to fix a bent skid on one of the roads at Shier's camp. He fixed the skid in place when it flew out again, striking him on the head and killing him instantly.

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. THE DOMINION'S REWARD.

SUCCESS OF THE NEW CANADIAN LOAN.

The Unique Personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier—The Liberal Tariff—A First Step to Federation.

From the London, Eng., Globe.

The Colonial Goldfields Gazette, a journal which has absorbed Westralia, comments on the gratifying success which has attended the Dominion Government's new departure in colonial finance. It says that while there were many, even among the most sanguine friends of Canada, who regarded the issue of a £2,000,000 loan at 2½ per cent. as a dubious experiment in no way calculated to advance the prestige of our greatest colony, the result has shown that Mr. Fielding, the Canadian Minister of Finance, was right, and that his critics were wrong. During the recent jubilee festivities Canada loomed larger in the public eye than any other of the possessions of the Queen. It is no disparagement to the colonial Premiers in general to say that the unique personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier overshadowed in the estimation of the crowd the representatives of the other colonies, conspicuous as many of them were for political ability and knowledge of affairs. The announcement that Canada had determined for the future to foster preferential trade relations with the mother country formed a fitting prelude to the harmonies of an Imperial festival. No political coup of recent years has taken the world so completely by storm. The very significance of Canada's new fiscal policy was quickly appreciated alike within the empire and without. It was the first step, and a long step, towards the realisation of the proud dream of Imperial federation, and the loyalty of other colonies was stimulated to imitate so fair an example. If the conference which took place in London between Mr. Chamberlain and the colonial Premiers had for the moment no tangible result, at least they served to emphasize and accentuate the mutual desire for a closer relationship between the colonies and the mother country. Canada has shown the way in the splendid rivalry of zeal for the commonweal; but South Africa, too, was there with a gift—the unconditional offer of a first-class battleship to swell the naval strength of Great and Greater Britain. It is quite in accordance with the fitness of things that Canada should have reaped the reward of the wide popularity won by Sir Wilfrid Laurier's statesmanship in the triumphant success of the first big financial loan which has followed the stirring events of last summer. While the success of the present Canadian loan is primarily a great achievement for Canada, it has its lessons for the other colonies as well. When the Australias are federated into the Dominion of Australia; when Cape Colony, Natal, Bechuanaland and Rhodesia are welded into the Dominion of British South Africa, their credit may rank as high as that of British America. Assuredly the other colonies may well take a hint from Canada as regards the conduct of their financial operations in this country. It would be difficult to conceive a more marked contrast than that between the success of the Dominion Government's 2½ per cent. £2,000,000 loan and the failure of the Westralian Government's recent issue of £1,000,000 of 3 per cent. bonds, and those responsible for that fiasco might do worse than imitate the methods of the Bank of Montreal.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labour-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, ring up telephone No. 93, or address box 362, and have him send one over to your house.

The Life-giving Pines.

The breath of the pines is the breath of life to the consumptive. Norway Pine Syrup contains the pine virtue, and cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, hoarseness and all throat and lung troubles.

THE CHURN.

Some Timely Advice About Keeping It Sweet and Clean.

We sometimes hear complaints about keeping the churns sweet and clean. They got to smelling strong or "cheesy" and cause considerable trouble, besides injuring the butter made in them.

With proper care, no churn need ever get in this condition. I care not how long in use, writes Mrs. E. R. Wood to The Country Gentleman. Mismanagement somewhere has been the cause every time, and although I am not wise enough to prescribe a cure, I can tell what will restore its sweetness again, I can tell how to care for it so that it will not get into that condition.

In the first place, cream should never be allowed to remain in a wooden churn any longer than is necessary to churn it, and it must be carefully scalded each time before the cream is put in. To let it stand for half a day or longer with cream in is the first step toward tainting it. Scald the churn, cool it with clear, cold water and immediately put in the cream and churn it.

When the butter has been removed, rinse the churn well with cool water at once, and as soon as possible pour in hot water, replace the cover and revolve (if a barrel churn) for a few minutes, then draw off the water, wipe the castings and outside with a clean cloth wrung from hot water, turn the churn bottom side up and hook it in that position, leaving the cover off entirely. It will rarely be necessary to use a brush on the inside, if sufficient hot water is used. Carefully examine the interior under the top rim of the churn to ascertain if any particles of butter have lodged there before washing. This rim is in some churns metal, and if so the butter may adhere to it.

The whole secret of preserving the churn sweet for years lies in its being rinsed free of buttermilk before the boiling water is put in. This water cooks the particles and holds them fast to the wood in the same manner that it does upon milk pails and strainers that are not first washed in water only moderately hot. If any one has noticed a yellowish substance attached to the inside of a milk pail, whether wood or tin, he may know that the cause of it is pouring boiling water upon it before it is freed from every trace of milk. Once on, there is only one way of removing it, and that is by scraping. This can be done with tin, but for wooden ware it is better to throw the utensil away and buy new.

My own way of washing and salting the butter in the churn makes any further rinsing before adding the hot water for washing unnecessary. The churn is thoroughly freed from every trace of buttermilk by the time the washing and salting of the butter is done.

The outside of a barrel churn should never have hot water put on it. To do so is unnecessary, as it does not get at all soiled, and the action of the water soon spoils the varnish, giving the churn anything but a neat appearance. The outer surface needs only to be wiped off with a damp cloth. The standard will need to be thoroughly scrubbed if not kept varnished, as here is where that greenish mold first starts. The cool, moist atmosphere of a creamery or a dairy room makes it difficult to prevent this accumulation.

In selecting a churn it is well to get one with galvanized hoops and castings. Salt soon rusts any other. The cork edge of the cover should be brushed thoroughly each time it is cleansed and all particles of cream carefully removed. If a whitish coating comes upon the galvanized parts, it must be removed by scraping with a thin bladed knife, and more care taken to prevent its formation.

One mistake which many make is in screwing down the cover of the churn too tightly. When it is just tight enough to prevent leakage of cream, stop. To tighten it further injures the cork and necessitates doing the same every time.

Properly cared for, there is no reason why a wooden churn should not be in constant use for an indefinite period without getting rancid. When ice is used in the churn properly to reduce the temperature of the cream, it should be made quite fine, that the inside of the churn may not be made rough by the pieces coming forcibly against it. There is also danger of the sharp corners breaking the glass in the cover.

Poplin to Be Popular.

Poplin is a material that will be greatly used for girls' frocks this season. It is very effective in the bright plaids as well as in the plain colors. The younger girls will wear the plad frocks with cloth jackets, while older girls will wear the entire costume of the plain color. Velvet and silk are both used for trimming, and even white lace and velvet can be combined on the waist. A charming costume of dark brown has the skirt made without trimming, the front breadth gored, the rest of the skirt gathered. The waist is full, and has a bolero of brown velvet and a turned-over collar of white lace over a stock collar of plaid ribbon. A dark green poplin is trimmed with rows of narrow velvet ribbon the same shade put on the waist to form a jacket effect, while a full vest of bright plaid silk gives a youthful look that is most attractive.

Strain is Very Great.

It is generally held by Alpine climbers, says The British Medical Journal, in speaking of age and cycling, that most of the fatal accidents in mountain climbing occur through the failure at the critical moment of some man who has taken to mountaineering too late in life, and who is, perhaps, also out of condition. An old dog cannot be taught tricks, according to the proverb, and, though it is disagreeable to have to realise that we have passed the age when we can excel in a new pastime requiring special skill to avoid accident, and youthful adaptibility and elasticity to avoid overstrain, it is the part of wisdom to accept the inevitable. There is no reason why middle-aged men, and even those who have passed middle-age, should not take to cycling, but it should be with a frank recognition of the limitations which age imposes. Great strain, long distances, and hill climbing put a strain upon the constitution and will find out the weak places, the parts of the system which are going faster perhaps than the rest—the heart, it may be, or the vessels of the brain. So, also, in regard to riding a bicycle in crowded thoroughfares, the strain on the attention is considerable, the risk not small if a man has lost the quickness of youth.

CURING DYSPEPSIA

Is Simplicity Itself When Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are Used.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets don't cause feverish over-stimulation of the digestive organs. Their effect is to strengthen and re-invigorate the stomach, while they are digesting the food.

In effect, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets say to the worn-out, exhausted stomach:—"You take a day off. Let me do your work for a while: you just take it easy, and rest." Then they go to work, and the effect is marvellous.

The food is digested, dyspepsia disappears, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, etc., vanish. The stomach grows strong, healthy, vigorous, able to digest any food supplied to it. The blood becomes pure, the nerves that were shattered by indigestion or dyspepsia become steady and healthy, and the irritable, fault finding man or woman becomes pleasant, genial and sunny-natured. All because he or she used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the smaller tablets that are in every box.

The manner in which these changes are made is simplicity itself. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act in place of the stomach till the stomach regains its strength. At the same time they tone it up and nourish it.

Try the treatment yourself. Give your stomach a holiday. Give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a chance. They'll positively do the work.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, for stomach and bowels, are for sale by all druggists or will be sent on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

BROAD HOMŒPATHY

What People Who Have Been Cured by the Munyon Remedies Have to Say About Them.

Mrs. F. J. Dawson, 67 Augusta avenue, Toronto, Canada, says:—"I have the most implicit confidence in Munyon's treatment for catarrh and grippe. Both my husband and myself were suffering and my experience has been most satisfactory. When I began using Munyon's Grippe Cure I had been confined to bed for several days and suffered all the pangs of that disease. I had taken lots of quinine with the hope of getting better, but did not receive any benefit. Munyon's Remedies quickly cured me. I have used Munyon's Remedies for the catarrh and the results were indeed marvellous. I have not been troubled since. Both Mr. Dawson and myself can certainly recommend Munyon's Remedies."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure never fails to relieve in 1 to 3 hours, and cures in a few days. Price 25c.

Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure positively cures all forms of indigestion and stomach troubles. Price 25c.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price 25c.

BROKE THE CHARM.

Glass of Water in the Nick of Time Prevents a Snake Bite.

"Narrow escape my friend, Major Crackbottle, had," said the Colonel, "when we were hunting big game in India."

"Whiskey give out?" asked the Doctor.

"No, suh," returned the Colonel. "It didn't. We had along two bah'els of the finest kind of liquor. It was a snake that endangered my friend's life, suh. We were in a native village called Rahmaputra, in the mountains near Simla, hoping to get a shot at a snow leopard. The Major and I were sitting at supper in our tent, with a couple of natives waiting upon us, when an enormous cobra di capello crawled in and wound itself round one leg of the table."

"Did you see the snake?" interrupted the Doctor.

"See him, suh; of course we did."

"But was there any snake, Colonel?"

"I scorn your insinuations, suh," said the Colonel. "The snake was about nine feet long and it raised its head on a level with the Major's and fixed its glittering eyes on his. The cobra, like the rattlesnake, has the power to charm its victim, and in a moment there sat my friend, the Major, staring into the monster's eyes, completely fascinated and unable to move a muscle.

"I was sitting across the table from him almost paralyzed with horror and afraid to make any movement to his rescue lest the cobra might strike. It was growing more and more excited every minute, and its bead-like eyes shone like diamonds. The poor Major sat like a man carved in stone, wholly under the influence of the snake's charm.

"I was about to spring to my feet when I felt a light touch on my shoulder, and one of the natives whispered in my ear:

"Sahib, please not move. Snake come in tent for water. No rain; no water in jungle. I will place water upon table. Snake drink it and go away."

"Breathlessly I waited. I heard the soft footfalls of the native as he crossed the tent. I saw him creep noiselessly back and set a glass of water between the cobra and my friend, the Major. This is the way, suh, Major Crackbottle was saved from a terrible death."

"The snake drank the water, did he?" asked the Doctor.

"No, suh," said the Colonel, "he did not. But my friend, Major Crackbottle, when he saw that water set before him gave a jump, suh, and landed thirteen feet outside the tent, suh."—Detroit Free Press.

Fireproof Wood

Another method of rendering wood fireproof has been developed in England. For purpose of test two buildings about 11 feet square and 30 feet in height were set up, similar in all respects, except that one was of "treated" timber, and the other of ordinary timber, each being also furnished with a chimney for the purpose of creating a strong draft and facilitating combustion. Outside of these houses to the windward firewood and shavings were piled, which were set on fire simultaneously; in five minutes the building composed of ordinary timber was completely on fire, and in about half an hour was reduced to ashes, while the other structure remained intact, save for the charring of the woodwork on the side exposed to the direct action of the flames. A further test had meanwhile been applied by lighting a pile of shavings and fagots inside, but again the effect was merely to char the wood, which did not break into flame; a box made of the treated wood, and which had been placed in the midst of the ignited material, was afterward drawn out practically uninjured.

PIN HISTORY.

Their Use in Various Countries in Different Ages.

As a requisite of the toilet pins were first used in Britain in the latter part of the fifteenth century, says The Boston Commercial Bulletin. They were first made of iron wire, but in 1540 brass ones were imported from France by Catherine Howard, Queen of Henry VIII. The prehistoric pin, however, was a thorn or a fishbone, and had no experience with or relation to the dry goods or notion business until Eve improved upon the fig leaf toilet necessities. The natural thorn is still in use in some of the upper Egypt districts, where the Birmingham article is a prime curiosity and an unpopular innovation.

In the ruins of Pompeii Roman pins of bronze and hair pins of bone or ivory have been disinterred, while ancient Egypt has disclosed the indispensable article having heads of gold. Bronze pins were known to the lake dwellers of Europe, some being artistically ornamented and elaborated with exquisite skill. Some that have come to light were on the duplex type, having double stems, and others the same in form as the safety pins in use at the present time. At first pins were made by fitting a point to a proper length of wire, and then twisting a piece of fine wire around the other extremity or fastening it after twisting in order to form a knob or head. Ultimately these operations were so skillfully conducted that a completely round head was made of a very small size and scarcely showing the nature of its construction.

Previous to the introduction of machinery the pin was, of course, entirely hand made and required a passage through no less than fourteen different manipulations before finding its way as a finished product into market. The brass pin which we see to-day in its perfect form and almost needle pointed is turned out at almost incredible speed by special machinery, the daily product of Birmingham alone being placed at about 40,000,000.

The solid-headed pin, as differing from that just described, came into use in 1840. The domestic pin was of sufficient importance in 1543 to warrant an act providing that "no person shall put to sale any pins but such as shall be double-headed and have the heads soldered fast to the pin, well smoothed, the shank well shapen, the point well rounded, filed, canted and sharpened." About 1700 the manufacture of pins became quite a business in Bristol and Birmingham, employing a large number of persons.

The pin industry in the United States was begun by colonists of the Carolinas, but it was not until the year 1830 that it reached any considerable proportions, the pins used coming from England, although the black pins used in black goods came from France.

As an article of domestic use the modern pin is now practically ubiquitous and indispensible. The tonnage of metals annually used in its manufacture would astound any who have had no interest in looking into the subject, while the number of thousands of operatives employed in the manufacture in this special industry is surprising.

Shoes For One-Legged Men.

The one-legged man buys his shoes precisely like the two-legged man. At the big stores they break a pair to sell the single shoe that the one-legged man requires, without the slightest hesitation; and he can get any kind of shoe he wants. The single shoe remaining is sent back to the factory to be mated up, and this is done with perfect accuracy. Every pair of shoes is numbered, and it could easily, if it were desired, be traced back to the stock from which it is made. There is no guesswork about it. The shoe required to mate the shoe remaining may not be made on the identical last upon which the original shoe was made, but it is made upon a last of mathematically the same proportions, and the pair thus restored is as perfectly mated as the original pair.

The one-legged man who buys in this way a single shoe pays slightly more than half the price of a pair. One-legged men are in the very largest shoe stores among the regular customers; and there they are not so unusual as to be remarkable.

One-legged men, however, are not the only men who buy single shoes. There are two-legged men who sometimes buy only one shoe. For example, a man with the gout. He can, if he wishes, and he sometimes does, buy a single shoe. The remaining shoe is mated up in just the same manner as the remaining shoe from the pair broken for the one-legged man.

There are two-legged men who wear shoes of different sizes, their feet not being mates. This may be due to nature, or it may be that an accident has befallen one foot. For such a customer two pairs of shoes are broken and he takes one of each.—New York Sun.

A Queen's Tact.

Of all the qualities once essential to a sovereign, the one most useful now is tact. Queen Margherita of Italy, who belongs to a house trained to kingcraft for more than a thousand years, is said to be wonderfully skilful in dealing with social difficulties. An incident which occurred at one of her drawing rooms illustrates her readiness and delicacy.

The persons who are to be presented at the Roman court are arranged in a large semi-circle in the throne room. The Queen enters and passes around the line, each person adding usually a word or two to give the Queen some idea of their claim to notice. She asks a question or makes a remark to each and passes on.

On this occasion there was in line a young man from South America whose embarrassment showed itself in pale cheeks and terrified glances as the Queen drew nearer. At last she reached him and stopped. He heard his name, saw her smile. There was a roaring in his ears; his knees shook. Every eye was bent upon him with amused interest, his terror was so perceptible.

"From Brazil?" she asked. "And what town in Brazil is your home, signor?"

"I—Your Majesty—I don't know!" he gasped.

The whole circle smiled, but the Queen's face was calm as marble. "You mean that our beautiful Italy has already made you forget your home? Ah, signor, you are a skillful courtier! You flatter us too much!" and playfully shaking her fan at him she passed on, leaving him wondering how he came to make so brilliant a response, while the crowd looked at him, respectfully bewildered, also.—Youth's Companion.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conqueror of kidney and liver disease.

Was He Fooled or Not?

"Boys," asked the cautious man, "what is a refereadum?"

Two fellows who were the ones addressed looked up from a game of poker.

"Oh, give us something hard. Everybody that knows anything knows what a referendum is. And it isn't the only curiosity in the menagerie, either."

"I knew it was a wild animal of some sort," said the older man; "perhaps, since you know so much you can tell me what a stipendium is."

"You tell him, Bill."

"No. You tell him, Dick."

"Hanged if I know!"

"Same with me. However, here goes," and Bill raised his voice and with a look of some surprise said to the cautious man:

"A stipendium is—a stipendium. I am not exactly familiar with the breed, but I take it to be a cross between a unicorn and a zebra. Am I right, Dick?"

"Right as a string! I have never seen a stipendium, but I should know it at once from your description. Four aces and a king are hard to beat. Show your hand."

"Thank you, boys," said the cautious man, with a knowing look, "I only asked you those questions to see if you were up in the topics of the day. Glad to know that you are," and he walked off, leaving the two boys troubled to know whether they had played it on him or not.

A Woman in a Smoking Car.

When the Orange County express on the Erie Railroad stopped at Paterson, one morning last week, a stout, middle-aged Irish woman climbed up the steps of the smoking car and walked in, not heeding the warning "Rear car, ladies; this is the smoking car."

The commuters looked up from their whist, and even the man from Tuxedo was a little bit interested when she seated herself, unmindful of the smoke. As the train moved out from the station the brakeman entered the car, tapped her on the shoulder, and said:

"Madam, this is the smoking car; there are plenty of seats for ladies in the other cars."

That she was not feazed by the information was apparent to all, and the man from Tuxedo allowed himself to forget whether his partner's long suit was hearts or diamonds.

Then the woman winked knowingly, took out of her pocket pipe, tobacco and matches, and answered:

"An' did ye s'spose for wan minit I didn't be after knowin' 'twas the shmoker?"

She lighted her pipe and smoked all the way to Jersey City.—New York Sun.

He Stopped It.

Maccabe, the ventriloquist, was a great practical joker. Several years ago he was on board a river steamboat, and, having made friends with the engineer, was allowed the freedom of the engine-room.

He took a seat in the corner, and, pulling his hat down over his eyes, appeared lost in reverie.

Presently a certain part of the machinery began to creak. The engineer oiled it and went about his duties. In the course of a few minutes the creaking was heard again and the engineer rushed over, oil can in hand, to lubricate the same crank.

Figures, like actions, often speak more eloquently than words They certainly do in this case:—

Increase of all other Canadian Companies Combined, $295.178.

From the above it will be seen that the Sun Life's increase was more than that of all the other Company's combined. These figures are taken from the Official Report of the Government Superintendent of Insurance, and cannot, therefore, be disputed.

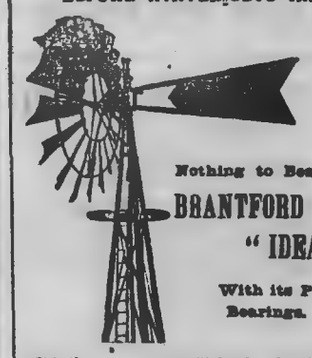
GET A WINDMILL

BEFORE WINTER SETS IN.



Nothing to Beat the BRANTFORD "IDEAL"

With its Patent Bearings.

It is the only power mill having bearings on both sides of every gear wheel. This divides the strain on the bearings, and prevents the prying motion which soon wears out the ordinary single rabbit metal bearing. The wheels and vanes are also galvanized after being put together, which adds greatly to the permanence and to the value of the outfit. These powerful machines are fitted with interchangeable brass or parent roller and ball bearings, enclosed and fully protected from the weather. The band brake of this mill will positively hold the wheel still when turned out of the wind. Those who have had a wheel constantly in movement, when it should not run, will particularly appreciate this feature, because if it continues to run it will keep just little enough water in the pump to allow it to freeze in cold weather. The "Ideal" is safe in a storm and will stop itself. There is no fear of it running wild in a big blow.

It is being rapidly appreciated by wide-awake farmers, and many of them may now be seen on the farms of this and adjoining counties. Mr. Thos. R. Mann, Bridgenorth; Huten Bros., Springville; Geo. Cambell, ex-M. P., Cavan; Geo. Russel, Douro; W. M. Reid, Otonabee; Levi S. Bowell, Springville; W. Leahy, Otonabee; Geo. Webber, North Monaghan, are among the leading farmers who have one of these labour-saving wind-mills. New mills are being erected every week. It will run a cutting box, our grain grinder, root pulper, saw, lathe, etc., and pumps oceans of water.

The Charity Entertainment.

In the EXAMINER'S report of the charity entertainment of Friday night, a couple of important and regrettable omissions occurred. The name of Mr. Coventry who, in the Jubilee tableau, represented the French ambassador, Marshall Soult, was omitted. This is to be the more regretted because Mr. Coventry, in brilliancy of custom and martial bearing, was one of the most admired of the company. Mrs. G. A. Smith furnished the accompaniments for the vocal numbers with the rare and sympathetic delicacy characteristic of her work in this capacity.

A C. P. R. PITCH-IN UP AT BURKTON.

PASSENGER TRAINS UNABLE TO GET PAST THE SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT.

The West Bound Morning Local and the East Bound Express Exchange Passengers at Burkton—The Mails Delayed for Several Hours—Eleven Cars Demolished.

The mid-day express passengers on the C.P.R. were delayed several hours to-day through a pitch-in, which occurred on the track at Burkton early this morning.

A couple of freights were waiting at Burkton to let another pass at about four a.m. One of them was on the siding and the other was just pulling in out of the way when the through freight which was running at a high rate of speed and had gotten beyond control on the down grade, pitched into the rear of that portion of the other train which was just pulling into the siding, and eleven cars were derailed and smashed almost into matchwood, the contents being scattered far and wide.

When the through freight got beyond the control of the air brakes, which were attached to seven of the cars, the conductor and brakeman endeavoured to check the speed of the train by setting the hand brake, but with no avail. The engineer and fireman jumped and saved themselves and fortunately no one was hurt of either crew.

The local from Havelock, which passes here at 7.10 a.m., transferred its Toronto passengers to the train which should have arrived here at noon, and in return brought east the passengers on the other train, which could not pass the wreck.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Philip Minnicola Says his Wife and Son Threaten to Take his Life.

Philip Minnicola had his wife and son Edward summoned before the police magistrate this morning on a charge of threatening to take his life. He asked that they be both bound over to keep the peace.

It seems that dissension has been rife in the family ever since Philip's arrest at the instance of the son on a charge of incest with reference to his daughter. He was acquitted, it will be remembered, and went back to live with the family, but the relationship has been strained ever since, as may be supposed.

Philip now complains of the threats, but says he is willing to live in peace with his family if they will let him. They, however, want none of him, and offer to give him $100 if he will take himself off and promise to remain away. Philip says he won't go for a thousand, and thus the matter stands.

Michael Basso, the Italian interpreter, is down from Toronto, and is trying to effect a settlement of the affair, the case having been enlarged for a week to allow him to see what he can do.

This morning Mr. L. M. Hayes appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun for the defendants.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The Fortnightly Club meets at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow evening. Mr. J. Jeffries will read an interesting paper on "Cymbeline."

—Those who invest all their spare cash in snow shovels, thinking the winter has set in, will be disappointed. We must have our Indian summer yet.

—A gang of men under the direction of Mr. J. G. Hampton, have been engaged this week in placing a telephone at the Belmont mine and stringing the wire to Marmora.

—The farmer has killed his fatted hog and the hired man, who can tell all about the coming winter's weather by the condition of the interior economy of the animal, has been heard from. He predicts that the early part will be severe and the latter part more moderate.

—The other day in Lindsay workmen engaged in digging a drain for a water service, discovered the bones of a human skeleton, which lay about two feet below the surface of the ground. The bones are evidently the remains of an early settler or a member of the dusky tribes, which held full sway before the days of Frontenac.

—Word was received on Wednesday from Mr. W. Baptie, who left for the Klondyke some time ago, stating that he had reached Lake Tagish safely, and he and Poly Strickland were getting ready to build a shack for his winter quarters. His friends will be pleased to learn that he has reached his winter quarters safely.

—The Dominion Government has issued a blue book on the subject of railway traffic in Canada. From the statistics given it appears that from June 30, 1896, to June 30, 1897, the total number of people killed on Canadian railways was 2,026, and the total number injured 7,450. Of the killed 781 were employees, and 1,245 passengers and others, and of the injured 5,699 were employees and 1,761 passengers and others.

—The revival services at the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, have been continued by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Meore, Ph. B., for five weeks. Upwards of forty persons have presented themselves at the altar as seekers of salvation—men, 75 years of age, husbands and their wives, young men and women all classes, are moved along religious lines. On Sunday evenings the church is crowded. The pastor and his officials extend a cordial invitation to all Christian workers to come over and help us.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. John Fawcett Summoned Without Warning.

Last night Mrs. John Fawcett, relict of the late John Fawcett, died suddenly at the residence of her sister, Miss Eliza Livick, with whom she resided at No. 12 Inverlea street.

Mrs. Fawcett has recently been in excellent health and within a very short time of her sudden death appeared to be in excellent health and spirits. She was a regular attendant at the George street Methodist church, and intended last night to go to the service, but on account of the sloppy condition of the streets her niece dissuaded her and she reluctantly consented to remain at home, but at about the time for the niece to come home Mrs. Fawcett went part of the way to meet her on her return. About a quarter to nine o'clock Mrs. Fawcett retired to her room, and could hardly have got into bed when she came down saying that she was ill and was about to die, and indeed she did pass away at ten o'clock in great peace of soul. A physician was summoned and gave his opinion that death resulted from heart disease, of which she had a slight attack about a month ago. Mrs. Fawcett was 65 years of age. She was born in Smith township, and was a daughter of the late John Livick, and has resided in Peterborough about fifteen years. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church, and her last act before retiring last night was to conduct family devotions, in which she prayed with special fervency for her friends and all others. The funeral takes places on Tuesday from the family residence, 12 Inverlea street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

PERSONAL.

Miss Gracie Coughlin, of Hastings, is a guest of Mr. John Coughlin, 10 Waller street.

Miss Nellie Cauley, of Oswego, is a guest at the residence of Mr. P. Simons, Rubidge street.

Mr. Geo. Matthews, sr., of Lindsay, was in town to-day and went on through to Ottawa.

Miss Kate Henderson went on Saturday to Oshawa, where she will be the guest of Mr. John Hyland.

Mr. Harold Cluxton left on Saturday evening for a couple of weeks' visit with relatives in Schnectady, N.Y.

Mr. Geo. Mitchell, of Winnipeg, formerly of Peterborough, is visiting in town the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Jos. Armstrong.

Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, Controller of Inland Revenue, was in town yesterday, the guest of his son-in-law, Mr. H. S. Greenwood, C.E.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman, of the Murray street Baptist church, was in Lindsay yesterday conducting anniversary services. He delivers an address there to-night.

The many friends of Mr. W. H. Baxton, physical director of the Y.M.C.A., will regret to learn that he has been called to the bedside of his mother, who is critically ill. He will be absent for a week during which time his classes will be held as usual under competent leaders.

Mr. Douglas Bird, who appears here in St. Paul's choir concert next month, has been abroad studying for the last year and a half, and since his return a great improvement in his voice is noticeable. Mr. Bird made himself a warm favourite on the occasion of his last appearance in Peterborough, and his many admirers here will be anxious to hear him again and note the improvement which his eighteen months in Europe has effected. Mr. Ussher is to be congratulated on securing a vocalist of such prominence as Mr. Bird for the occasion. His press notices are most complimentary. Miss Jessie Alexander is also contributing to the programme, and the choir is preparing some special choruses

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE

Passed by the Catholic Literary Association on Friday.

At a special meeting of the Catholic Literary Association held on Friday evening last, the following resolution of condolence was passed sympathizing in the bereavement of the Association's second Vice-President, Mr. J. L. O'Brien:

Whereas, the All-wise Providence in His infinite wisdom has removed by the hand of death the beloved son of our esteemed second Vice-President, Mr. J. L. O'Brien.

Be it resolved that we, the members of the Catholic Literary Association, tender to Mr. J. L. O'Brien and family our sincere sympathy for the loss they have sustained by the death of their eldest son, and we pray the All-wise Providence will give them strength to bear their trials with Christian fortitude and resignation.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes this meeting, and one sent to our worthy member, Mr. J. L. O'Brien.

S. A. SELF-DENIAL WEEK.

It began yesterday—Local Collections to be used for Improvements.

The Army's special week of self-denial, now an annual institution wherever the Salvation flag is hoisted, will be held throughout this territory for the ensuing week, beginning yesterday and lasting until November 27th.

The public are by this time well acquainted with the purposes which actuate the effort, its aim being to supply by means of self-denial additional sinews of war. Past years have proved the financial harvests which have been reaped for the week by the concentration of the Army's consecrated workers to this scheme. Indeed results have been realised which would surprise any but those who are informed as to the detailed devotion and hard work of the Salvationists. But the Army is a rapidly developing movement, and such success has been more than swallowed up by its wide-spreading branches of effort. Therefore, Self-Denial Week has again been organised to meet the long standing and additional claims. And from such reports as have reached us, it appears as if additional efforts in almost every direction were put forth to secure an astounding total. It is stated that this year's goal exceeds that of any previous year, and corresponding and strenuous organization is being set on foot at every individual Army station. While the Army's own people are foremost in both the toil and the denial (many of them hard-working people, spending every moment of leisure in pushing the effort, and all uniting in the sacrifice of all luxuries of life and many so-called necessaries) outsiders and friends are not excluded. All who recognise the work which this organisation is doing, both for the spiritual and social well-being of mankind, are asked to co-operate. Special meetings are being held at the Army's local barracks, house to house collection is being systematically carried out, and such a network of well-got up machinery is now in motion by means of daintily-printed collecting cards and appeals, as seems to foretell the achievement of another substantial outcome to this good work. Contributions for the effort are received by the officers, and, as before stated, will be devoted in Peterborough to the renovation of the barracks and the improvements of the officers' quarters.

MR. WHITNEY AND PARTY POLITICS.

The attention of the Nominating Committee appointed at the meeting of Conservatives on Saturday afternoon is called to a declaration of Mr. Whitney, made during his speech at Norwood, on Oct. 15th. He is reported by the Review as follows: Mr. Whitney "then referred to the drawing of party lines, saying that there was no necessity of drawing party lines so closely in the the Provincial as in the Dominion elections." Mr. Whitney is thus far right. In provincial politics where the chief issues are very largely matters of administrative detail, there is not the broadly defined questions of general policy that enter into Dominion politics. What the electors most require as a provincial representative is the man best qualified, best able and best disposed to look after the interests of the constituency. If he is of their own political faith so much the better for them, but the elector, with the interests of the riding and province at heart, will, and may, without sacrifice of the general principles of loyalty to his party, give his preference to the candidate possessing the above qualifications, whether he be Conservative or Liberal.

MISSIONARY ADDRESS.

Messages From India and the Soudan Field in Africa.

The Christian Missionary Alliance is holding a two days convention in the Bethany Mission, and a number of well known speakers and missionaries are here.

The sessions of the convention do not take the form of discussion, but rather of sermons or addresses, the speakers being Pastors Salmon and Fisher, of Toronto; C. A. Mitchell, from the Soudan, and Mrs. M. B. Fuller, of India.

The services yesterday at 10.30 a.m., 2.30 and 7 p.m., were all well attended, that in the evening being especially so, when Pastor Salmon, of Toronto, conducted the opening exercises, a gospel address being afterwards delivered by Pastor Fisher, of the same city. The latter took as his text, Hebrews, ix chap., 23-28 ver. as follows:

> It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifice than these.
> For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us.
> Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others;
> For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world; but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself.
> And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment;
> So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many, and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

Pastor Salmon in the course of his address, stated that once a sinner had confessed he was on the right side of the cross—between it and heaven. When in that position Christ becomes his intercessor and his sins are plunged in the sea of Christ's forgetfulness. The speaker then dwelt on the possibilities of being sunk in the sea of God's wrath in contradistinction to occupying the former enviable position. Many were waiting until Jesus came before confessing their sins and turning to God, but Pastor Salmon urged upon them the thought that they who had confessed earlier in life must necessarily be much farther on the road to grace than they, and besides, as stated in the Scriptures, He would come suddenly in the twinkling of an eye, and those who had not already their vessels filled with oil, would have no time in which to do it. When the last trumpet sounded those who had died previously would be able to rise up from the ground and say: "O grave, where is thy victory?" and those who at the time were living and would be suddenly taken to God would exclaim, "O Death, where is thy sting?"

The speaker closed with an earnest appeal to all not to delay the day of salvation too long and be caught, like the foolish virgins, with no oil in their lamps.

This evening's session of the convention promises to be especially interesting, as addresses will be delivered by Mrs. M. B. Fuller, who for twenty-one years has laboured in India, and also by Mr. C. A. Mitchell, who is home on furlough from the Soudan field in Africa.

Severe Bronchitis Yields Promptly to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

I used your Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a severe attack of Bronchitis. I got better from the time of taking the first dose. Having a family of young children, my doctor's bills have annually come to a considerable sum. I believe a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup occasionally will aid me in reducing them very materially. W. R. WEST PETERBORO' CONSERVATIVES.

MEETING TO APPOINT NOMINATING DELEGATES.

No Results in the Matter of a Candidate—A Fair Attendance—The Question of Selecting a Candidate Deferred—Election of Officers.

There was not a very large attendance at the mass meeting of the Conservative electors, called for the purpose of selecting delegates to nominate a candidate to contest the representation of the West Riding at the coming general provincial elections. The meeting was held in the old council chamber, Opera House block. Mr. W. H. Moore, President of the Association, occupied the chair, and briefly stated the object of the meeting.

The first business taken up was the ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. Moore intimated that he did not desire the presidency for another term, thinking that the honour should be passed around.

Mr. R. A. Morrow then nominated Mr. H. C. Winch, as president, but that gentleman declined the honour.

Mr. L. M. Hayes nominated Mr. R. M. Dennistoun for President, but Mr. Dennistoun declined to accept the position of President at the present time, and he in turn nominated Mr. T. E. Bradburn.

Mr. Moore asked if there were any other nominations and there being none, he declared Mr. Bradburn elected.

Mr. Bradburn, who had just entered the hall, said, "before they declared him elected he should like to know to what office they were electing him."

The chairman informed him and Mr. Bradburn began a protest by saying "No, no"—but his voice was drowned by the hearty applause that followed.

The chairman called for nominations for the position of Vice-President.

Mr. Andrew McNeil nominated Mr. Hampden Burnham as Vice-President. No other names being submitted and Mr. Burnham not being present, he was declared elected.

The other officers were elected and the list stands as follows:

President—T. E. Bradburn.
Vice-President—J. H. Burnham.
Secretary—W. Sailsbury.
Treasurer—R. Fair.

The following vice-presidents for the townships were elected:—

North Monaghan—Joseph Forster and George Webber.
South Monaghan—Jas. Fisher and Jos. Clarke.
Smith—G. E. Reid, Peter Preston, Cornelius Young and Jos. Milburn.
Ennismore—Paul Costello and Cornelius O'Connor.
Lakefield—J. F. Lillicrap and R. C. Strickland.
Harvey—Arch'd Johnston and Robt. Tedford.
Galway—Thomas Peacock.

[It is understood that Mr. Burnham was elected vice-president contrary to his expressed wish, and that he declines positively to accept the office.]

Mr. Wesley Millar moved, seconded by Mr. John D. Baptie, that the West Peterborough Liberal Conservative Association is unanimously in favour of placing a candidate in the field, and pledges itself to support such candidate to the utmost extent of its ability.

Mr. Miller, in support of his resolution, remarked to the effect that he saw the old war horses of the Conservative party around him, and with their united help a candidate could go hopefully into the contest. He admitted that the "Grits" had a strong man, who was already in the field, but that should not discourage the Conservatives. Even a Goliath met his fate, and if the old Conservative fire were left they should buckle to the fight and redeem West Peterborough, no matter who was in the field.

The chairmen remarked that the resolution was hardly in order with the object for which the meeting was called—the selection of delegates—and no further action was taken respecting it.

ANOTHER PROPOSITION.

Mr. J. W. Garvin moved in regard to the selection of a candidate that this meeting stands adjourned till Saturday, November 27th, when a mass meeting will be held at p.m.

Speaking to his motion Mr. Garvin explained that from his experience he did not favour the selection of a candidate by means of delegates. The Liberals of Centre Toronto had selected a candidate at a mass meeting and Mr. Garvin suggested that efforts should be made to get a large attendance at the proposed meeting and to secure the presence of Mr. Whitney, Mr. St. John and others of the Conservative leaders.

Mr. W. S. Robinson pointed out that in the matter of a candidate the Conservatives had been at the mercy of two or three persons in the preliminary convention, and it was time that that method was done away with. (Applause.) He was heartily in favour of Mr. Garvin's resolution.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun said there were two sides to the question, and the meeting would be the best judge in the matter. He was surprised at the resolution moved by Mr. Garvin. He should be the last man to propose such a thing, for it was Mr. Garvin who so strongly berated the Conservatives at the last meeting for selecting a candidate so loosely, and in accordance with his suggestion the system of delegates had been adopted. He agreed with Mr. Robinson that all should have a voice in the matter, though it was difficult to control a mass meeting with doubtful voters present. He wished to hear from the gentlemen from the country, and would accept their opinion.

Mr. Moore, the chairman, pointed out the difficulty of securing the presence of Mr. Whitney or Mr. St. John, who would be so much occupied, the session being so close to the date of the meeting proposed by Mr. Garvin. He also adverted to the difficulty of securing a large attendance of the electors on so short notice. The present meeting had been thoroughly advertised and—the speaker left it to be inferred, that if full notice had resulted in a limited attendance, shorter notice would have corresponding results.

Mr. Wesley Millar thought it would be difficult to get the townships to select delegates to nominate a candidate in time. The Liberal candidate was in the field and the man that opposed him would have his work cut out.

Mr. Andrew McNeill suggested that Mr. Garvin add a clause to his resolution, naming a committee of five to select a candidate whose name would be submitted to the meeting on Saturday night.

Mr. Moore insisted on the lack of time.

Mr. Garvin said there was plenty of time. He defended himself from Mr. Dennistoun's charge of berating the Conservative. He could not accept the suggestion of Mr. McNeil.

Mr. Dennistoun—The Liberal candidate in Centre Toronto was nominated by a committee.—(Applause.)

Mr. Robinson, as seconder of Mr. Garvin's motion, was in favour of a committee. In Centre Toronto the report of the nominating committee was accepted by the mass meeting.

After some remarks about the shortness of time by others, Mr. Wesley Millar made objection to a few persons nominating a candidate. It laid the party open to the charge of presenting a candidate and saying to the electors "You must vote for this man or his opponent."

Mr. Dennistoun—warmly—"When was this done? Give an instance."

After considerable discussion of the several propositions before the meeting, the matter was finally settled by adding Mr. McNeil's rider to Mr. Garvin's resolution, making the number of the committee ten, with the township vice-presidents added and the date of the meeting changed to Wednesday, Dec. 1st, at 7.30 in the evening.

The following were made the nominating committee: Messrs. W. H. Moore, H. C. Winch, R. A. Morrow, J. Wesley Miller, Joseph Jones, C. W. Sawers, J. W. Garvin, R. M. Dennistoun, Harry Phelan, and John Green.

A resolution, moved by Mr. C. W. Sawers, seconded by Mr. Dennistoun, congratulating Mr. Whitney on the success of his campaign tour, and expressing confidence in his policy, was unanimously adopted.

The president was instructed to communicate with Messrs. Whitney, St. John and the other leaders.

Mr. Bradburn took occasion to thank the meeting for the honour of electing him president, though he would have preferred that some one else should have had the honour.

The meeting, which had become much thinned by persons dropping out, after three cheers for Mr. Whitney and the Queen, adjourned.

GIVE THE BOYS A CHANCE.

This is what the boys' department of the Y.M.C.A. aims to do. How it is done is outlined in an announcemet issued some weeks ago bearing the above title:—

Friday night there was a large attendance of boys to witness and assist in the opening of their room, which has just been furnished by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The boys's room is situated on the right side of the Murray street entrance—well-lighted and a place where boys can enjoy themselves without the slightest interference with the other departments. The floor has been carpeted with oilcloth of a handsome design. The windows have been curtained and a fine large reading table has been added to the furniture. The boys' room still lacks a few good pictures and a combined bookcase and writing desk, which the management hope some good friends will donate.

To make the room more complete a social will be held on Friday evening next, and as a price of admission each member has agreed to bring a curio, a picture or a book. The books received will form the foundation for a boys' library.

Mr. A. H. Stratton has donated a "Boys' Own Annual," and a good supply of new games have been purchased.

An enjoyable half-hour story song service was held in the Bible class room at 7.30, a number of the boys contributing incidents suitable to the hymns sung.

Following this was the debate in the boys' room on "City vs. Country Life." The city side was upheld by H. Woods, E. Best and C. Whiten, and A. Fronde, H. Clewes and R. Dobbin supported the country—the latter winning.

A vote of thanks was then moved and carried, amid a storm of applause, to the Ladies' Auxiliary, for their kindness in furnishing the room.

Mr. Sandford Hall performed the duties of chairman in an able manner.

PROVINCIAL S. S. CONVENTION.

The Local Sunday School Union Reorganising in Order to be in a Position to Entertain Delegates.

Since it has been decided to hold the Provincial Sunday School Convention in Peterborough next year, new life has been infused into the local S. S. Union, and a call has been issued for a general meeting this evening in the Y.M.C.A., at which representatives from all schools are requested to be present.

Reorganization will be effected and officers elected, in order that by the time the big convention is due the Peterborough Society will be in good working order and in a position to do the honours.

THE VETERAN'S MEDALS.

The following notice appears in the Canada Gazette of last Saturday:

FENIAN RAID OF 1866.

Notice to intending Applicants for Medals.

Notice is hereby given to applicants who belonged at that time to the Imperial Forces, that all applications for medals for the fenian raid of 1866 should be addressed to the General Officer Commanding the troops in Canada, at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

R. W. SCOTT,
Secretary of State.

Dated at the office of Secretary of State in Canada, this 8th day of November, 1897.

The notice applies only to the Imperial forces. It is presumed that a later notice will be given to members of the Canadian Volunteer Militia. The value of the Veterans' Association will be apparent in applications for medals. It is sufficient that the most feasible way to obtain the medals would be through these Associations.

20 YEARS OF BONDAGE

Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills Loose the Shackles of Constipation and Stomach Disorders.

In summing up the causes of human misery it will be found that by far the greatest sources of disease originate in derangement of the Stomach and Bowels. People will abuse their stomachs and neglect the calls of nature till they bring on themselves her vengeance To get back to nature's paths, to have the Stomach and Bowels once more fulfilling their function properly, to clear the system of all the results and consequences of poisons accumulating and circulating in the Blood is the work of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Thos. Miller, Lucknow, Ont., says that he was afflicted with Stomach Trouble and Constipation for about 20 years, during which time he tried almost everything he heard of, but to no purpose. Mr. H. Day, the popular druggist, sent him a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The first dose he took did him good, and they have proved so effectual in his case that he recommends them to all those afflicted as he was.

These Pills may be had of all Dealers at 25 CENTS A BOX.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Cold Storage For Fruit.

The following extract from The Daily Mail of Glasgow in reference to a recent shipment of fruit has been received at the Department of Agriculture: "A sale of fruit shipped by the Canadian Government in cold storage took place yesterday at the Strand in the bazaar of Mr. Thomas Russell, fruit broker. There was a crowd of eager buyers. The pears sold well at 8s per half box, and up to 15s 6d for full boxes. A few cases of apples went at 12s per case, and some tomatoes also sold well. But the grapes, of exceptionally fine quality, sold at low rates, the reason being that the people here have not yet learned to appreciate the flavor of Canadian grapes. They were certainly far superior to Spanish and had much of the aroma of hothouse grapes. The Canadian Government will not probably ship any more grapes this season, but they will probably send on pears. Mr. W. T. Crandall, agent of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Canada, was present at the sale and took a special interest in the venture."

The above indicates that although the prices realized for Canadian grapes have been exceedingly low, there may yet be a profitable demand created for them. Even if it takes a year or two to educate the British palate to like the flavor and quality of Canadian grapes that may be a profitable undertaking. In addition to the direct trade returns the distribution of Canadian grapes from different markets in Great Britain as an article of commerce will direct the attention to the admirable climatic conditions that prevail in Canada.

Major Walsh, commissioner, writing from Hindeman to the Minister of Interior, on Oct. 29, says that his party was then struggling in a cyclone and up to the neck in snow. They were making very slow progress. On the 27th inst. they were on the summit, where the snow was from five to fifteen feet deep. The ice was not then strong enough to carry.

A Toronto company had some books they imported from England, and of which they hold the Canadian copyright, seized by the Customs department because they had not been printed in Canada. The matter was referred to the Department of Justice, which now orders the books released with the decision that Canadian holders of copyrights can import the books that are printed elsewhere.

A deputation from the town of Brantford, headed by Charles Heyd, M.P., waited on Hon. A. G. Blair this morning to ask a subsidy for the Toronto Hamilton and Buffalo Railway.

Commander Spain of the Fisheries Protection Service confirms the report that the Atlantic coast fishing has this season been exceptionally poor.

Unequalled.

Mr. Thos. Brunt, Tyendinaga, Ont., writes:—"I have to thank you for recommending Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for bleeding piles. I was troubled with them for nearly fifteen years, and tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Some of them would give me temporary relief, but none would effect a cure. I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

Source of Heat In the Body.

An important source of heat in the body is due to the friction of the blood as it circulates in its vessels. All of this resistance, which is overcome by the heart, is transformed directly into heat. We may calculate the amount approximately. It is supposed that .6192 kilogram meters of blood is expelled from the left ventricle at each stroke, and at 72 strokes a minute this would give 44.5124 kilogram meters per minute. If we suppose that the right heart does one-quarter the work of the left, or about 10 kilogram meters per minute, we have for the total work per minute 54.512 kilogram meters, which corresponds to 128 calories per minute.

This is perhaps a rather high estimate for ordinary conditions, but where the heart is forced to pump a much larger quantity of blood in order to maintain the normal temperature this estimate is probably much exceeded at times. Since this friction takes place largely in the most constricted portions of the circulation, it would be natural to expect that the blood which had been driven through the capillary system of a gland would issue much warmer than it entered, and such we find to be the case. Thus the blood of the hepatic vein has been observed to be 40.78, while that in the right heart was 37.7. In the muscles no contraction can take place without an increased flow of blood through them, with a simultaneous constriction of the capillaries, which would naturally give arise to a considerable production of heat, a fact constantly observed.—Sanitarian.

THE U. S. PROPOSALS.

Latest Phase of the Washington Commission Question.

THE POSITION OF GREAT BRITAIN

Canada is to Cease Killing Seals While the Commission Proposed is in Session—A Disposition to be More Definite in Statement Than Heretofore—Our Action Not Final.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The despatches from Ottawa announcing that the Canadian Cabinet has decided to send a commission to Washington to negotiate with a similar commission to be appointed by the United States Government, touching all the questions at issue between the United States and Canada, has had the effect of drawing forth here, for the first time, a statement of the exact proposition that was laid before the Canadian contingent when they were in Washington a few days ago. It can now be stated that the proposal of Mr. Foster, representing the United States Government, which the Canadian delegates took home with them, to submit to their council, was:

First, that both nations agree at once to a suspension of all killing of seals during the next season in the Pacific Ocean and Behring Sea, the modus to go into operation on the first of next month.

Second, that representatives of the Governments of the United States and Great Britain, including Canada, be designated to enter with as little delay as possible upon the consideration of all unsettled questions between Canada and the United States, with the view to a settlement by treaty, this to include the sealing question and any other matter which either Government may choose to bring forward.

So far the State Department has not been advised that the Canadian Council has acted upon the propositions, but an early answer is expected, as is evidenced by the fact that the date set for the beginning of the modus stopping the killing of the seals is no later than the first of next month. One important fact that is not clearly disclosed in the Canadian despatches is that the modus must be agreed upon positively before our Government consents to the commission.

In other words, there must be no more killing of the seals while the commission is at work. The commission might occupy a long time in its deliberations, and if pelagic sealing is to go on meanwhile it is lieved by our experts that there will be no seals left to serve as a basis for negotiations.

A definite feature of the proposed commission is that Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, shall be at the head of the British-Canadian Commissioners. That Sir Wilfrid Laurier shall be associated with the Ambassador is significant as showing the purpose of the Government of the United States to fully recognize the Imperial character of the negotiations, and to conduct them only through the authorized representatives of the British Government. The despatches from Ottawa fail to state this fact, and to that extent are said to be misleading. There can be no Canadian commission and nobody representing Canada can conduct negotiations with the United States Government. This was fully recognized during the recent meetings, and it took form in the propositions submitted. At least one of these propositions distinctly stated that the arrangement for the commission shall be made between the Governments of Her Brittanic Majesty and the United States, and that the British Ambassador should be at the head of the commission representing the British-American side.

Much misapprehension was caused during the recent visit of Canadians by the unofficial character of their discussions, as it was recognized that official negotiations were possible only between the United States and Great Britain, and not through the medium of Canadian officials. The misapprehension cannot arise again, it is said. Any commission determined upon at Ottawa would first have to be submitted to the Colonial Office at London, and if approved in that quarter it would assume an official form, as between the United States and Great Britain. The action of the Canadian Cabinet is not, therefore, final, but is expressive of the wishes of the Dominion authorities as subject to final action in London.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

The Sloan Medicine Co:

DEAR SIRS:—About two years ago I suffered from an attack of Bilious Diarrhœa which became chronic and threatened my existence. I used several kinds of patent medicines and was treated by my family physician but was not cured until I used your Sloan's Indian Tonic. It helped me at once and I continued to improve and now enjoy perfect health. I can heartily recommend it to all troubled as I was, or in need of a general invigorating medicine.

BE WISE.

Try a Proved Medicine on the first DANGER SIGNAL.

On the first hint of heart or nerve trouble try a proved medicine, one that has cured others, and will cure you. Don't wait for the second danger signal, but take the right remedy in time.

Mrs. E. James, 36 Arcade St., Montreal, Que., says, "For several years I have been troubled with my heart and nerves. My heart would palpitate terribly, and when it did so, I could not go up-stairs without resting. I would have severe attacks of despondency, and got so bad at last, that for two weeks I could not go up-stairs to my room. My blood became weak and impoverished, due to an attack of la grippe. I would have a dull heavy pain in my heart, together with terrible headaches, and took remedy after remedy, but without avail.

"Then I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and started taking them. From the very first I gained rapidly, and am now better than I have been for years. My heart and nerves are all right, and my whole system thoroughly toned and invigorated, the distressing symptoms from which I suffered having completely left me. I cannot too highly recommend these wonderful pills as they have made a perfect cure in my case." 220

EXPLODING GLASSWARE.

Why Modern Glassware Explodes of Its Own Accord.

The thin glass tumblers which have recently been put on the American market in such enormous quantities have surprised many a housekeeper by cracking suddenly while standing on the shelves. It has needed ocular demonstration, says Cassier's Magazine, to convince some housekeepers that tumblers could behave in this manner. When one of these tumblers is found cracked, the first thought is that a careless servant must be in fault. Hot water or rough handling was always the cause of the breakage of the old-fashioned flint glass goblets. The difference between the old and the new kinds of tumblers seems to be in the haste with which the latter is prepared, thus necessitating a very short stay in the annealing furnace. The molecules of the glass in this case have no chance to arrange themselves in lines of least strain, so that every new-fashioned tumbler is filled with torsion stresses tending to fracture its substance with any slight external aid—as, for example, the cool air from an open window striking the proximate sides of the tumblers set on a dining-room table. Of course, the advantage of using the new kind of tumblers is that their cost is only one-fifth or one-sixth of the old kind. Looking at the matter more broadly, the tendency of the new glasses to spontaneous fracture is only another illustration of crystalline degeneration. Herbert Spencer, in perhaps the most fascinating chapter on evolution which he has ever written points out that all substances which have been rendered colloid by the application of heat sooner or later radiate this heat, which has been acting as a cement between the molecules, and become crystalline. Mr. Spencer gives as illustrations of this process the igneous rocks in their various stages, from molten lava to granite, and jam, which becomes gritty when kept too long, owing to the crystallization of the contained sugar.

To Preserve Wooden Posts.

As a result of some experiments carried on in Germany to discover some efficient and permanent method of preserving wooden posts that have to be set in the ground, the following deductions have been made: In setting posts for fences or other purposes, care should be taken to turn them upside down, that is, to reverse them from the position which they had while growing as portions of a trunk of a tree. The reason for this is that the capillaries of a tree are so arranged as to promote the ascent of fluids from the root upward. Consequently, a log set in the ground in the same relation as the trunk of a growing tree will draw moisture from the ground to a considerable height; and the wood so moistened will decay; while if the log is set with the other end up the action of the capillaries tend to oppose the ascent of the moisture, and the wood resists decay much longer. Another means for preventing the decay of such posts is to protect them with some waterproof covering just below the surface of the ground, where they are most exposed to soaking from rains. An experiment was made in France by furnishing alternate posts with a protecting ring, made by slipping on a drain pipe, and filling the space between the inner surface of the pipe and the post with tar and sand. The top of the pipe was set just at the level of the ground, and it was found that the posts so protected lasted just five times as long as those which had been set in the ground without protection. The cost of the application was about sixty cents for each post, but it seems probable that a simple wrapping of tarred paper would have answered the purpose, provided no holes had been driven through it and the paper had been sealed with a coating of tar.

Tired, Nervous, Sleepless

Men and women — how gratefully they write about Hood's Sarsaparilla. Once helpless and discouraged, having lost all faith in medicines, now in good health and "able to do my work," because Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to enrich and purify the blood and make weak strong — this is the experience of a host of people.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Sign of Strength.

The sign of strength, a ruddy countenance, depends upon rich, red blood. To make the blood rich and ruddy, the countenance clear and bright, and the step firm and elastic, use Burdock Blood Bitters. J.A. Gillan, B.A., Toronto, Ont., says: "I enjoy good health now to the greatest degree, ever since the day I started to use B.B.B."

How to Cure all Skin Diseases."

Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for Swayne's Ointment. Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal wholesale agents.

THE ONTARIO SURPLUS

Will This Year From Crown Lands Alone Amount to More Than Five Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—The Ontario Opposition may be somewhat surprised to learn that a statement of public accounts will be presented to the Legislature at the coming session, in spite of Mr. Matheson's asservation to the contrary.

Still further surprise will doubtless be manifest when they read the volume in question and discover that the Central Prison has earned more than $25,000 more than it cost, and that from Crown lands alone $600,000 surplus is in hand for the year.

Ball of Victorian Era.

There was an informal gathering of some of the ladies most interested in the Victorian era ball which Their Excellencies propose to give on Dec. 29 yesterday.

Her Excellency explained that as the ball was to take place at the close of the Diamond Jubilee Year, it was thought that it would give character and attraction to the event if the guests could come in costumes illustrative of the Queen's reign. The plan which has been decided upon for the ball is that there should be six successive dances, in which all taking part should assume a different character.

The dances which have been arranged so far are as follows:

I. Group representing various parts of the Empire, such as England, Scotland, Ireland, Canada, India, Australia, South Africa, Egypt, etc. This group will be under Her Excellency's own charge, and will be carried out by the staff at Government House.

II. Early, Middle and Later Victorian Costumes—There will probably be four sets of dances under this group, who will dance at the same time, to the same music. The earliest period will be under the charge of Lady Kirkpatrick, the second under Mrs. Forsyth Grant and the third or middle period under Mrs. Edgar, and the later period has not yet been settled.

III. Victorian Literature—Four sets have also been decided on in this group. Mrs. Nordheimer has undertaken to organize a set representing the characters from Tennyson; Mrs. Welter Barwick another set of characters from Dickens; Mrs. Cockburn and Lady Thompson another from Sir Walter Scott, and Mrs. John Cawthra another from Thackeray.

IV. Inventions—Mrs. Sweny will probably undertake to arrange a dance representing electrical inventions, and Mrs. Osler and Miss Kingsmill will represent the advances made in the department of the postoffice. There will probably be two other sets in this group, representing the changes made during the Victorian era by the introduction of steam and other scientific discoveries.

The other two groups have not been definitely decided on, but will probably be:

V. Arts and Music—Possibly representing various famous pictures produced during the Queen's reign, and

VI. Historical Sports and Amusements.

It has not yet been settled whether the ball should take place at the Pavilion, the Armouries or elsewhere. A further meeting of the ladies taking charge of the arrangements will be held next Friday, the 26th, at Government House at 4 p.m.

How Thin You Look.

Do you like to hear it? If not, take Scott's Emulsion. 'Twill fill out your sunken eyes, hollow cheeks, and thin hands. Why not have a plump figure? Don't let disease steal a march on you.

Dwarfing From Harsh Environment.

In Limousin there is a barren range of low hills which lies along the dividing line between the departments of Dordogne, Correze, and Haute-Vienne, about half way between Perigueux and Limoges. The watercourses show the location of these uplands. They extend over an area about eventy-five miles long and half as wide, wherein average human misery is most profound. Dense ignorance prevails. There is more illiteracy than in any other part of France. The contrast in stature, even with the low average of all the surrounding region, is clearly marked by the dark tint. There are sporadic bits of equal diminutiveness elsewhere to the south and west, but none are so extended or so extreme. Two-thirds of the men are below five feet three inches in height in some of the communes, and the women are three or more inches shorter even than this. One man in ten is below four feet eleven inches in stature. This is not due to race, for several large types are equally stunted in this way within the same area. It is primarily due to generations of subjection to a harsh climate, to a soil which is worthless for agriculture, to a steady diet of boiled chestnuts and stagnant water, and to unsanitary dwellings in the deep, narrow, and damp valleys. Still further proof may be found to show that these people are not stunted by any hereditary influence, for it has been shown that children born here, but who migrate and grow up elsewhere, are normal in height; while those born elsewhere, but who are subject to this environment during the growing period of youth, are proportionately dwarfed.—Popular Science Monthly.

We Make Friends in Youth.

When old men ape young ones they afford a sad, and, in fact rather a gruesome spectacle, like that of a death's but it does not often happen. Their efforts to rival them in ordinary transactions are plucky endeavors to go on with the battle of life; not to throw up the sponge before they are compelled. Their ardor for work is sometimes excessive; indeed, in some cases they are seized with a desire for gain, which under the circumstances looks very like madness, but they are privately conscious of a sad falling off in promptitude; their judgment may be as good as ever, but their intellectual motions are tardy. Those whom with they were wont to consult are often no longer with them; they have become isolated. "Remote, unfriended, melancholy, slow," is a line very appropriate to their condition.

It seems curious that Shakespeare should have mentioned "troops of friends" as accompaniments of old age. This statement is only true as regards those who have the gift of exciting personal attachment, the longer they live the larger is the number of those attracted to them, but with the vast majority of mankind, friendships are made in youth, but afterward by no means easily, and therefore when men come to be old they have only their contemporaries, a small and dwindling "troop," whom they can call their friends.—James Payn, in The Nineteenth Century.

A Fair Trail.

"I was troubled with a very bad headache last winter and decided to give Laxa-Liver Pill a fair trail. One box of them cured me and I have not had a headache once. They are a long way ahead of any other remedy I ever tried."

Miss Janet Munroe,
Westbourne, Man.

Tomato Catsup.

Select nice ripe tomatoes, mash them to a pulp in a clean buttertub with the hand; cover, and let stand to ferment three days, stirring it each day. Then rub the tomatoes through a sieve, place the strained tomatoes over the fire, and boil without a cover to a creamy thickness; then measure them; add to each gallon of catsup half pound sugar, half cupful of salt, half pint vinegar, one teaspoonful extract of cloves, two teaspoonfuls of ground mace and one-half scant even teaspoonful cayenne pepper; boil ten minutes, then bottle.—New York Press.

Purifying the Water.

A subscriber of Hoard's Dairyman says: "Here is something that is worth $5 to every farmer in the land. Sprinkle a little stone lime in the stock tank, and not a particle of green scum will form in the water. When the lime loses its strength and scum begins to form, which may be twice during the season, wash out the tank and repeat the dose. It is cheap, not only harmless, but wholesome, keeps the water sweet and saves work. But do not put in enough to form lime water, that is not good for your cows to drink, but a little lime in water aids them in digesting."

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

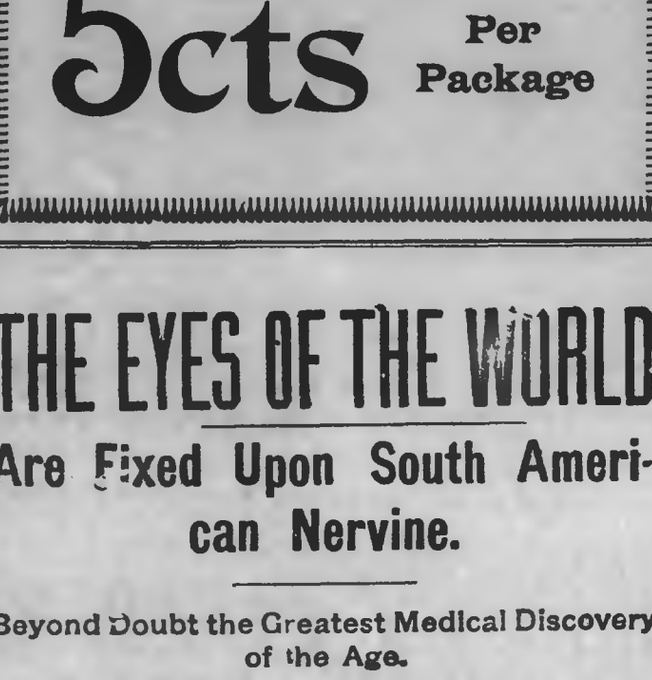
Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.



In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they knew beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why, should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Gathering and Manufacturing Fur stocks that at one time aggregates more than other large stores sell in a year—gathering and manufacturing stock not only for the biggest Retail Fur Store in Peterborough, but for its counterpart in Toronto, helps to make the collection of many fresh and fine goods at prices that are apt to be half the usual.

We have been telling this past week of some of these special transactions—now we have another. Call the goods "Bargains"—that is a good honest word when so worthily used.

FROM THE HUNT.

The Hunting Parties all Returned Home—A Large Number of Deer Shot—Deer Reported Scarce in Some Sections—Some Lakefield Hunters.

The hunt for this season ended on Monday last, and the hunters have all returned to their homes, and for the next few weeks the friends will be entertained with graphic accounts of hairbreadth escapes of the deer. Most of the parties had good success, some of them killing their full number, while others only had enough to give each man a taste of the much coveted venison.

In some sections the hunters report the game very scarce while in others it is the reverse. The runway hunting does not meet with much favour from the majority of the hunters, as quite a number of the wounded deer escape to die in the woods, which would not have been the case if water hunting was lawful. A large number of parties were in the woods, and below is a list of some of them, with the number of deer shot:—

The Turtle Lake hunting party returned home Tuesday evening from the hunting grounds, bringing with them eighteen fine deer, nine bucks, five does and four fawns, one of the bucks being a magnificent animal, weighing 227 pounds and had a fine set of horns. The average weight was about 120 pounds. The following are the officers of the party from Lakefield:

President—Crane Creek Richardson.
Captain—Shoot-at-him Baisdon.
Physician—Moses Muskrat McEwen.
Dispenser of Liquids — Green Woods Macfarlane.
Secretary—Big Buck Strickland.
Treasurer—John Rice Lake Postlethwaite.
Chief Cooks and Bottle Washers—Shoot Straight Macfarlane, Buck Fever C. Young, and Miss-em Richardson.
General Utility—Prospector Young and Shoot Crooked Richardson.

The party started out from the hunting grounds about nine o'clock a. m. on Tuesday and arrived at Young's Point about four o'clock p. m. and found a splendid oyster supper awaiting them at the Carleton House, to which the hungry hunters did ample justice. The party had great luck with their deer. In the first week they secured five deer. The second week they knocked over thirteen, killing ten deer in two days, Melville Strickland bringing down the big buck. They made a jolly party in camp, spending the time when not hunting in playing pedro, telling yarns, getting away with Sandy McEwen's celebrated pain-killer and other amusements. The camping ground is at Turtle Lake and is an ideal spot for it, being in the midst of the principal runways. They are all keen hunters, A. McEwen and T. Macfarlane driving from Ashton, Ont., a distance of 240 miles, to take in the hunt. G. Green, photographer, took a photo of the deer and hunters in front of the Carleton House. The party are looking forward to a hunt next year.

The Payne party camped at Paynesboro, Stony Lake, secured four deer.

The Strickland party, composed of R. C. Strickland, H. Strickland, J. P. Strickland and John Strickland, got one fine deer. Their camp was at Stony Lake.

The Miller party composed of the five Miller boys, Alex. Watts, Geo. Moore, W. Charlton and S. Charlton, who were camped at Crane Lake, had great luck, killing seventeen fine deer.

The party composed of A. J. Kidd, A. Headren, C. Reynolds, D. Baptie and L. Spry, camped at Lovesick, secured six deer.

On Tuesday last Thos. Natrass, of Millbrook, met with a severe accident while going back to bring a Millbrook party out who were camped at Deer Bay. When turning off the Burleigh road the king bolt of the wagon broke and the horses ran away, dragging Mr. Nattrass over the dashboard of the wagon. He hung to the lines and the horses dragged him quite a distance before they stopped. He received a number of severe bruises and cuts.

The Fraser-Crowe party camped at Jack's Lake, consisting of Dr. R. Fraser, W. H. Casement, R. Crowe, J. J. Crowe, E. Wigg and J. Aunley, secured eight fine deer. They report deer very scarce. Mr. J. J. Crowe sprained his ankle very badly while carrying a deer to the wagon, his foot slipping on a root.

The Lytle party of Campbellford, who were camped at Jack Lake, were successful in getting three deer.

The Martin Robinson party who put up at Little Jack's Lake, were successful in getting three deer.

The Hugh Drain-Miller party at Jack's Creek, got five deer.

Two deer fell to the lot of the John Drain party at Jack's Creek.

The Christy Crowe-John Craig, M.P.P. party, camped at Eel's Creek, knocked over seven deer.

The Hull-Jones party at Jack's Creek got three deer.

Jack Stone and party, who were camped at Otter Lake, knocked over five deer.

COL. STRATHY HITS OUT.

A Vigorous Reply to Gen. Gascoigne Concerning the Case of the Royal Scots.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—In an interview on Saturday Lieut.-Col. Strathy, commanding the 5th Battalion, Royal Scots of Canada, stated that the difficulties in the Royal Scots were trifling. "But even trifles require prompt and judicious treatment, or they grow into mountains. To the weakness and indecision of Gen. Gascoigne himself is due the growth of difficulties in the regiment. He gave importance to the trifles instead of settling them, as most gentlemen would have done, when they commenced 18 months ago, and as was recommended to be done by me, officially to headquarters, at that time. He appointed a court of enquiry 12 months afterwards, and this court sat for two months without discovering anything that could form the basis of a charge. Why did he allow an enquiry until he had something defined in the shape of a charge?

"Not being able to discover anything, either before the enquiry commenced or since it has finished its labors, that could be the subject of a court martial in an Imperial regiment—he angrily lectures the two senior officers and then imparts what he has done to the press. How could a general officer commanding expect that such a public onslaught in the press would tend to the restoration of military discipline? Did anyone ever hear of such undignified conduct in a major-general?

"Gen. Gascoigne may be a great soldier—I leave that matter to the record of his service past, and the record he appears to be making now—but when he talks about officers being lacking in tact and consideration, I must tell him that his own conduct shows he has not studied even the primer of diplomacy. It is not Gen. Gascoigne's scolding that can settle this matter.

"Where is the report of the court of enquiry? Where is the charge that the general referred for enquiry? Why did he put the regiment to the worry of an investigation if there was no offence to investigate?

"I repeat—the whole difficulty is due to Gen. Gascoigne's weak and dawdling policy, which he is now trying to conceal in ill-feigned indignation at two officers, who, according to his own admission, have committed no offence.

"I have served 17 years as an officer in the Royal Scots; I have no ill-will against a single officer or man in it; I have tried to make the discipline good because I am proud of the regiment; I love the service, and if need be I am willing to serve in the ranks 'with the colors' at my country's call.

"But I am the commanding officer of the regiment. I owe a duty to the officers and men who have given to me a warm and loyal support, and all of whom respect honest, steady discipline, and I refuse to be browbeaten by a general who confesses he has no charge against me.

"Perfectly conscious of having worked for the best interests of the regiment, I have no fear of the threat of 'drastic measures,' and come what will I shall be found loyal and true to the 5th Royal Scots and the Queen's service.

"It might have been a breach of discipline, were it not for Gen. Gascoigne's example, to reply in the newspaper press, but it must be remembered that I am now speaking in self-defence, in the interest of the regiment, and when no other recourse is left, and if I have carried the war into Africa, I am simply following the example of the major-general himself."

CHURCH CHIMES.

ITEMS CONCERNING SOME OF THE LOCAL CONGREGATIONS.

Paragraphs From Peterborough Pulpits—Rev. Mr. Hughson, of Lindsay, in the Murray Street Church Yesterday.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

Rev. Mr. Hughson, of Lindsay, conducted the services both morning and evening in the Murray street Baptist church yesterday.

In the morning he took as his text I Samuel xvii, 32: "And Daniel said to Saul, let no man's heart fail him because of him. Thy servant will go and fight this Philistine." The subject of the address was "The Working Christian."

The choir, as a morning, anthem, sang "Deus Miserator."

In the evening Mr. Hughson spoke from Acts xxvii ch., 29th verse:—"Then fearing lest we should have fallen upon rocks, they cast four anchors out of the stern and wished for the day." The address was more particularly delivered to young men, the four anchors being represented as the influences which would keep the young men from falling foul of the rocks after leaving home.

In the illustration Christ was spoken of as the ground upon which the anchors would fall, the cable being "faith." The four anchors were the four principal good influences in a young man's life, viz: good home influence, good associates, a good wife and pure religion.

At the evening service Mrs. Hunter sang, as a solo, "When the Mists have Rolled Away."

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The Rev. H. Symonds addressed the congregation of St. Luke's yesterday morning upon the various topics of the recent Archidiaconal meeting at Lindsay, which proved the most successful yet held.

Next Sunday being Advent Sunday, the annual united communion of the church workers of the parish will be celebrated. There will be two services, the first a 8.00 a.m. and the second at mid-day.

There will be no service in St. Luke's on Thanksgiving Day, as a united service of the three local congregations will be held in St. John's church.

A special Thanksgiving service is being held in Norwood next Thursday evening. Mr. Davies, organist of St. Luke's, will be in charge of the choir, which will be assisted by some members of the Ashburnham choir, and Rev. H. Symonds will preach.

Next Sunday evening Rev. H. Symonds will commence a series of three sermons on "The Church of England, and her Schools of Thought." The Evangelical or Low Church will be treated of next Sunday.

MARK STREET METHODIST.

Sunday was a grand day at Mark street church. At seven in the morning a Pentecostal service was held. A large number assembled and spent a very profitable hour in communion and prayer.

At ten o'clock the two classes, led by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., and by Mr. Chas. Noyes, met and were well attended.

At the eleven o'clock service the subject was "Power from on high." The pastor chose as his text, Acts 1, 8: "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth." He gave a very able, earnest and practical discourse on this very important subject.

The Sunday school at 2.30 was well attended. All the teachers and officers were present. The members of the congregation, both young and old, will be welcomed at the Sunday school.

The special services, which have been so successful, will continue all this week. On Thursday evening the meeting will be in the nature of a thanksgiving service. Song service each evening at 7.30, and the evangelistic service at 8. Everyone is welcome.

The Sunday school will have the annual Christmas tree and entertainment on Christmas night, Dec. 25th in the new town hall, Ashburnham.

In the evening Mr. Moore gave a powerful address on "The Unpardonable Sin."

NOTES.

The Tuesday evening cottage meeting of the Christian Alliance will be held at the residence of Mrs. Cooper, Auburn.

The Christian Alliance holds a service Thanksgiving evening.

Interest is increasing in Rev. E. V. Stevenson's Sunday afternoon talks with men. They are held in St. John's at 4.30 p.m. on Sundays, and all are welcome.

At St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday Rev. J. F. O'Sullivan preached his first sermon since ordination. He spoke at both the 8 and 10.30 o'clock services, and gives promise of being a most eloquent preacher.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

A YANKEE ABSURDITY

A Proposed Arbitration Treaty That Won't Arbitrate.

POSSIBLE QUESTIONS SHUT OUT.

A Clause Which Did Not Appear in the First Draft of the Proposed Treaty with Britain—The Real Friends of the Movement See Nothing Binding In It.

New York, Nov. 23.—To the new arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain, which is being drafted by the State Department, there has been added, a correspondent of The World in Washington says, a clause which did not appear in the recent publication of the gist of the document.

This clause provides that "national honor, national integrity and vital political interests are not subjects of arbitration."

By "national integrity" it means questions affecting the territorial rights of either party. Consequently the one question most likely to cause friction between the Governments at Washington and London—the delimitation of the Alaskan boundary—cannot be arbitrated under the treaty.

The phase "vital political interests" is to prevent the Monroe doctrine from being made a subject of arbitration.

The few friends of real arbitration, who have been informed in confidence of the terms of the proposed treaty, see but little that would be binding in it. The arbitrators will be two from each Government and they will agree upon a fifth, who is not to be a reigning sovereign of Europe or selected by such a sovereign. Before a question can be submitted to arbitration the Senate will have to pass upon it. If the Senate votes in the affirmative, the court of arbitration will be created, but if the Senate should be antagonistic to England the proposition even to refer the matter to arbitration would fail.

The present convention is said by many to be an effort to please the advocates of arbitration, while giving to the Senate the control for which it fought at the last session.

THE STICKEEN RIVER ROUTE.

Transportation Men Are Giving It Lots o Attention—Through From London to Dawson.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—The presence in the city of Mr. Maitland Kersey, agent in New York of the White Star Line, and his relations with prominent gentlemen here, confirm the report that is connected with the proposed Stickeen River route to the Klondike. This is the story:

A few days ago Capt. V. M. York registered at the Windsor from Teslin Lake, and began to negotiate with parties here regarding transportation to the Klondike. Later on the captain, who is a brother-in-law of Chief Justice Davie of British Columbia, went to New York, and report says that satisfactory financial arrangements were soon made with Mr. Maitland Kersey. As stated a few days ago by cable the steamers to run from Vancouver to Fort Wrangle at the mouth of the Stickeen are already provided for. Other steamers will be taken to Telegraph Creek, 140 miles up the Stickeen, where the much-talked-of portage of 120 miles in length is reached. Capt. York states that there is no part of the road where the grade will exceed two per cent., and it appears to be understood that a narrow guage road will be built, the construction of which will take but a few months.

It is at the end of this portage that Teslin Lake begins and which is 120 miles in length. Here Capt. York has already built a saw mill, and he will also build a number of steamboats intended to ply on the lake. From thence by the Hootalin and Lewis Rivers the gold seekers will reach Fort Selkirk and in to the Klondike.

LONDON TO DAWSON CITY.

Through Bookings From the Metropolis by the C.P.R. and Stickeen River.

(Star's London Cable.)—"Negotiations are proceeding here, which in a fortnight will enable through bookings from London to Dawson City, via the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Stickeen River route. The negotiations include a fast line of steamers from Vancouver to Fort Wrangle and an entirely new river service to Glenora. Thence the route is by an entirely new trail to Teala, and by water again to the Klondike. Everything points to an enormous rush in the spring.

"Two new Canadian mining ventures are before the British public to-day. One is the Klondike Gold Mining and Trading Company, with which Colonel Tisdale and Mr. McMurrich, ex-Mayor of Toronto, are connected. The capital is £100,000.

"The other is the Rainy River and Ontario Exploration Company, with a capital of £150,000. The Mayor of Port Arthur is the leading figure and has an option on the town site of Wabigoon.

"The Klondike Company is exciting criticism because it has issued with the prospectus a laudatory editorial which it offered the country editors 30 shillings to insert with the prospectus."

Montreal News Notes.

The United States warship Yantic left yesterday at 9 a. m. for Ogdensburg en route to Detroit. She is being towed on six pontoons by tugs. Her entire keel, 19 feet of her bow and all her spars have been removed.

Messrs. Petersen, Tate & Co. have received a wire from St. Jean, Isle of Orleans, stating that the SS. Turret Cape, outward bound from Montreal to Avonmouth, is ashore on Valliere Bank, on the south shore of the island. The consignors are Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co. The vessel is laden with 90,000 bushels of grain. The Lord Stanley has been sent from Quebec to assist her.

There are no new developments to-day with reference to the mysterious disappearance of Mr. A. E. Lewis, real estate agent, Sherbrooke street, who mysteriously disappeared Saturday night while on his way to attend a meeting of the council of St. Louis de Mile End. He had recently arranged to float a $175,000 loan for the council, and had a number of enemies in the council. He had recently received threatening letters. Superintendent Carpenter, of the Detective department, has no theory to offer. He has half a dozen detectives working on the case. The financial affairs of Mr. Lewis are said to be in excellent shape.

TRIAL OF MARTIN THORN.

Seven Jurors for the Second Attempt—A New witness.

New York, Nov. 23.—The trial of Martin Thorn for the murder of William Guldensuppo was resumed yesterday with a great crowd in attendance. Judge Smith was ill and Judge Maddox of Brooklyn was sent for to try the case.

About 125 or 150 of the extra panel of talesmen, drawn for the trial, were in attendance. Many of them were farmers from the backwoods of Long Island, and from their conversation in the corridors it was evident that they had not read or heard much about the Guldensuppo murder. This was regarded as favorable for getting a jury within a reasonable time.

One of the new witnesses is Mrs. Ida Ziegler, of 1671 West Farms road, New York. Since Mrs. Nack confessed that Thorn committed the murder Counsellor Howe has been directing his efforts to try and fasten the actual killing on Mrs. Nack. This is why he has called Mrs. Ziegler as a witness. She will testify that as early as March last Mrs. Nack tried to hire her cottage at West Farms, telling Mrs. Ziegler that Guldensuppe was to live with her in the cottage. Mr. Howe will endeavor to show by this witness that Mrs. Nack was planning to murder Guldensuppe at that time.

When the court adjourned at 5 o'clock seven jurymen had been selected.

A Galt Innocent in Buffalo.

Buffalo, Nov. 23.—John Scott, jr., a young farmer from the neighborhood of Galt, Ont., was in the Municipal Court yesterday, and told in a most frank manner how a casual acquaintance with a Buffalo lady named Lizzie Gormly had cost him $500. He made her acquaintance some months ago in Toronto, and they came and bought furniture. The other day Scott sold the furniture, but when the buyer went for it Miss Gormly claimed it. The knotty question as to who really owns the furniture the Judge promises to settle to-day when the case is resumed.

A Thresher Fell Dead.

Bradford, Nov. 23.—A very sudden death occurred on the farm of Mr. Robert Neilly, West Gwillimbury, about two miles north of this village, yesterday. Mr. Alex. Sutherland, thresher, aged about 26, while threshing grain, fell as in a fit. A messenger was at once sent for Dr. Campbell, but before he reached the place life was extinct.

Disease of the Heart.

Hespeler, Ont., Nov. 23.—Fred Wick Jahncke, a resident of Kossuth, a small country place about four miles north of here, was found lying dead by the roadside about a mile from his home yesterday. Coroner Lockhart found that death was undoubtedly due to disease of the heart. Deceased was in his 73rd year.

Have Not Given Up Their Franchise.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Nov. 23.—A despatch to The Gazette from William B. Rankine, secretary and treasurer of the Canadian Niagara Power Company, denies positively that there is any foundation for the report published that the company has given up its franchise across the river.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION

All Compromise Rejected by the Manitoba Minority.

THE POSITION OF THE CHURCH.

Attorney-General Cameron States That While 35 or 36 of the Separate School Districts Had Come In Under the Act He Doubts Whether 15 Now Remain.

Winnipeg, Nov. 23.—In answer to a question by a Tribune reporter Attorney-General Cameron, who left yesterday to address a meeting in the electoral division of Turtle Mountain, stated that the possibility of the minority accepting the school settlement seemed remoter than ever. Active efforts have been made to induce the French settlements to organize and secure the benefits of the Public Schools system, but without result. At one time no less than 35 or 36 of the Separate School districts had come in under the act, but this number had been diminished until it is doubtful whether fifteen remained. He said there was no doubt that if the parents were left to themselves they would avail themselves of the advantages of National Schools, as they naturally desired their children to be as well educated as the rest of the children in the community, but they were debarred from this by the active interference of the clergy, who had succeeded in one case after another in disbanding the National Schools and substituting schools directly under their own control. There appeared to be indications of a set purpose on their part to fight the present law to the bitter end, at the sacrifice of the best interests of the children. He stated emphatically that there need be no doubt on the part of the public that it was the intention of the Government to resist the attacks of the church and maintain the law as it stands. No concessions except a complete surrender of principles would satisfy the heads of the church, and this is, of course, utterly out of the question.

ALL ARE FOR BERTRAM.

A Successful Rally of Manufacturers, Business Men and Workingmen.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—The candidature of Mr. Bertram was measurably advanced by a meeting in St. George's Hall last night, which was in every respect a success. The attendance was large, the speaking effective and the enthusiasm without limit. On the platform were manufacturers, business men and workingmen, who were united in the belief, which they did not hesitate to express in the most emphatic manner, that the classes they represented, as well as the community at large, had more to gain by sending Mr. Bertram to Parliament than by returning his opponent. The Liberal candidate, in a characteristically forceful address, answered some of the objections to his election which had been raised at the Conservative nominating convention, and that he completely disposed of them was the verdict of the audience, as recorded by round after round of applause.

MINISTERS AT AYLMER.

Speeches by the Premier and Hon. George W. Ross.

Aylmer, Nov. 23.—The enthusastic and large gathering of the Liberals and electors of East Elgin held in the Town Hall here yesterday was chiefly instructive as demonstrating the fact that the Liberals of the riding are a unit, and in the coming general election they will enter into the contest with a solid front, and inspired by a determination to restore historic old East Elgin to her former position in the Liberal ranks. The gathering partook of the nature of a ratification of the nomination as the standard bearer of the Liberal party of Mr. D. McIntyre, Reeve of Yarmouth, and the presence and manly speech upon the platform of the gentleman whose name had, without his knowledge or consent, been placed before the Liberal convention in opposition to Mr. McIntyre gave the best answer to the attempt of the local Conservative press to stir up strife in the party. At the invitation of the East Elgin Liberal Association, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Premier of Ontario, and Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education, were present and addressed the gathering upon the questions of the day in Provincial politics. Mr. Hardy's address, which was punctuated with enthusiastic applause by his auditors, was a most able defence of the general policy of his Administration, while that of Mr. Ross was complete as regards the educational aspect.

Mr. Mack Nominated Again.

Newington, Nov. 23.—The Liberal convention of Cornwall and Stormont, held here to-day, passed resolutions expressing confidence in the Ontario Administration and in the Ottawa Government. The choice of the meeting was Mr. W. Mack, ex-M.P.P. of Cornwall.

Charged With Defiling Mr. Lister's Fence.

Sarnia, Nov. 23.—N. C. Peterson, one of Sarnia's wealthy citizens, is under arrest charged with malicious injury to property. He is accused of having decorated the fence around the home of Mr. J. Lister, M.P., one of his prominent townsmen, with crude petroleum refuse. The fence has several times been smeared a dirty black, and recently Mr. Lister engaged a detective on the case. On Saturday night, while lying in wait, it is alleged he caught Peterson in the act of defacing the fence and placed him under arrest. Peterson is said to hold a grudge against Mr. Lister as the result of a lawsuit in which Lister was counsel for an opponent.

Ballard Willing to Testify.

Shelburne, Nov. 20.—Jim Ballard, the Mohawthon negro who is serving a term in Kingston penitentiary for conspiracy and incendiarism, is anxious to testify in the perjury case against Reeve Hamilton. Ballard promises to make revelations of a sensational character if permitted.

WALLACEBURG, ONT.—The following letter will prove of interest to working men and others who may be in a condition similar to that of the writer:

"For three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. One day I happened to be looking over some testimonial letters and I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before I had taken two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt finely and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I have taken nearly five bottles and now I feel like a man again. I am

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. HOWLAND, it appears, won his spurs as Conservative candidate in Centre Toronto to being a failure as a representative of South Toronto in the Ontario Legislature.

THE nomination of Mr. Oliver A. Howland for Centre Toronto, deprives Mr. Whitney of one of his most talkative urbane lieutenants. If Mr. Howland is defeated, as he stands every chance to be, the moral effect on Mr. Whitney's chances will not be, by any means, salutary. It argues a great dearth of men of merit, in Toronto, or a great deal of caution, that in all that great intellectual centre, a candidate cannot be found without robbing Mr. Whitney of one of his already scant following.

MR. STERN, of the Winnipeg Commercial is quoted as saying that Manitoba and the territories will be pay $16,000,000 this year for wheat alone, and an addition of $8,000,000 for other grains, furs and hides. He adds that the area under wheat cultivation alone was 1,500,000 acres, and that this will be largely increased next year. "The volume of credit amongst the Manitoba farmers," he adds, "is down to a minimum, and the bailiffs and sheriffs are on the look out for other occupations."

THE annual report of the loan companies and building societies of Canada has just been printed. The return covers 94 loan companies and building societies, the same number as in the previous year. These are represented by provinces as follows: Ontario, 83; Quebec, 7; Nova Scotia, 3 and Manitoba 1. The total capital stock subscribed of the companies is $103,795,500, and the capital paid up $42,038,794. The reserve fund, which shows a steady increase, now amounts to $11, 242, 178. The total liabilities are $143,296,284. Of this amount $35,956,068 consists of liabilities to stockholders. The deposits for the year reached a total of $19,404,878, which is half a million less than the previous year, although on the whole the transactions for the year are greater than in any previous twelve months.

KINGSTON is a good old solid steady-going place. It doesn't grow very much, but it is distinguished for having a good many big potatoes to the hill. Not to go back far, the Limestone City has furnished three Lieut.-Governors in a row—Sir Alex. Campbell, Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir Oliver Mowat, all good men and true. Besides it produced Sir John Macdonald, for years the premier and foremost statesman of the Dominion. It produced Sir Oliver Mowat, Ontario's grand old man, who was prime minister of Ontario for a period longer than any other man in Christendom continously held a similar position. Sir Richard Cartwright, a statesman of the first order, is a Kingstonian. And ascending from statesmen to ecclesiastic, Kingston can boast of a Principal Grant and and an Archbishop Cleary. Kingston is a great place; it has produced many great men. The Limestone City has plenty of stamina, plenty of grit, or rather carbonate of lime, and if it would "sort up" its female population with a few of Peterborough's pretty girls, it could boast of her fair women and, in due time, of her handsome, as well as great-headed, men.

THE AGRICULTURAL AND EXPERIMENTAL

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ONTARIO UNION.

The Results of Actual Experiment—What Co-operative Experiment has Accomplished.

The programme is to hand of the next annual meeting of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union, which is to be held at the Agricultural College, Guelph, on the 8th, 9th and 10th of December.

We notice that reports of the summary results of the year's co-operative experimental work in Horticulture, Agriculture, Apiculture and Dairying will be presented and discussed at the meeting. In Agriculture alone co-operative experiments were conducted on 2,835 different farms throughout Ontario in 1897. Those include tests with leguminous crops and mixed grain for green fodder; grasses and clovers for hay; commercial fertilizers for corn and mangolds; and with leading varieties of grain, potatoes, roots and fodder crops. From the Horticultural sections the results of the co-operative tests with leading varieties of strawberries, raspberries, currants, and gooseberries will be given. The committee appointed to look after the dairy work will report on uniform tests made in several cheese factories and creameries during the past summer. The results of all these experiments in the different branches of Agriculture should both interesting and profitable to those in attendance at the meeting. The work throughout impresses us as being of a practical nature, and worthy of careful study by those interested in agriculture.

Addresses are to be delivered by Mr. George McKerrow, Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, Madison, Wisconsin; on "Economical Feeding"; by Dr. James Mills, President Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph; on "Some of the Advantages of the Ontario Fruit Experiment Stations to the Fruit Growers of Ontario"; by a number of the ex-students of the Agricultural College, on "Important features in connection with successful farming under present conditions"; also by C. C. James, M.A., Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Toronto; G. C. Creelman, B.S.A., Cobourg, Ontario; L. G. Jarvis, Agricultural College, Guelph, and others.

The Christmas Fat Stock and Poultry show is to be held in the Victoria Rink, Guelph, on the 9th and 10th of December. An opportunity will be afforded to those in attendance at the Union meeting to visit the Fat Stock show on the evening of Thursday, December the 9th.

Arrangements have been made with the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies for excursion rates from December 6th to 13th inclusive.

All persons desiring to attend the meeting of the Experimental Union should write to C. A. Zavitz, Secretary, Agricultural College Guelph, for a programme of the meeting, which gives full particulars regarding excursion rates on the railways, and other matters in connection with the meeting.

A Doctor's Failure.

When Ordinary Medicines Failed, An Extraordinary Agent Was Recommended.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes a New Man of Mr. H. W. Cryster.

Few men in Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., are better known than Mr. H. W. Cryster, the old and successful merchant.

Some time ago this popular business man suffered agonies from rheumatism, and was so reduced in health that his life was in great peril. After the skilled medical advice failed to cure, when patent medicines and celebrated mineral springs could not restore lost health and vigour, it was then that Paine's Celery Compound proved its ever-conquering power over disease and weakness.

Mr. Cryster, a cured and new man, writes as follows:—

"About four years since, I had a severe attack of grippe followed by rheumatism, for which the local physician prescribed the usual remedies, which helped me at the time, but did not eliminate the disease. Becoming gradually worse, I finally became discouraged and began using 'proprietary' medicines without any benefit. Then I went to Clifton Springs, took the treatment and felt somewhat better; but after coming back I became very much worse, and was confined to bed for a time. I then went to Preston Springs and really improved, but after returning home I got worse.

"I was then induced to try Paine's Celery Compound, and have gained in health and strength up to the present writing. I now walk from my house to the store, a distance of one quarter of a mile, daily, and to church Sundays. Paine's Celery Compound has done all this for me. My friends are surprised and astonished to see me able to attend to business again. Believing that it is my duty to let other sufferers know of the great benefit I have received from Paine's Celery Compound, I cheerfully send this letter."

Come all Who Suffer.

Mrs. E. Brown, Hamilton, Ont., says; "I have used Laxa-Liver Pills and find them perfect as a cure for billousness and sick headache. I strongly recommend them to all who suffer from such troubles as an unrivalled remedy."

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia Liver and Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts.

CURING DYSPEPSIA

In Simplicity Itself When Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are Used.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets don't cause feverish over-stimulation of the digestive organs. Their effect is to strengthen and re-invigorate the stomach, while they are digesting the food.

In effect, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets say to the worn-out, exhausted stomach:—"You take a day off. Let me do your work for a while: you just take it easy, and rest." Then they go to work, and the effect is marvellous.

The food is digested, dyspepsia disappears, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, etc., vanish. The stomach grows strong, healthy, vigorous, able to digest any food supplied to it. The blood becomes pure, the nerves that were shattered by indigestion or dyspepsia become steady and healthy, and the irritable, fault finding man or woman becomes pleasant, genial and sunny-natured. All because he or she used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the smaller tablets that are in every box.

The manner in which these changes are made is simplicity itself. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets set in place of the stomach till the stomach regains its strength. At the same time they tone it up and nourish it.

Try the treatment yourself. Give your stomach a holiday. Give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a chance. They'll positively do the work.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, for stomach and bowels, are for sale by all druggists or will be sent on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Sloan Medicine Co.:

DEAR SIRS:—About two years ago I suffered from an attack of Bilious Diarrhœa which became chronic and threatened my existence. I used several kinds of patent medicines and was treated by my family physician but was not cured until I used your Sloan's Indian Tonic. It helped me at once and I continued to improve and now enjoy perfect health. I can heartily recommend it to all troubled as I was, or in need of a general invigorating medicine.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Soon the M.P.P.'s Will be at Their Desks—Items of Interest From the Parliament Buildings.

Toronto, Nov. 23. — The Parliament Buildings are already being cleaned and renovated against the opening of the Legislature, and the little tin trunks are being packed with stationery for the members. Lord and Lady Aberdeen are, it is announced, to occupy seats on the Speaker's dais at the opening ceremonies on the 30th inst.

Sir George A. and Lady Kirkpatrick expect to move out of the Speaker's quarters in the Parliament Buildings to their new Simcoe street house on Thursday next. They are already packing up.

Hon. J. M. Gibson and Mr. Kirkpatrick of the Crown Lands Department went to Barrie last night to attend the hearing of the case of Caldwell v. Fraser, in which the plaintiff seeks to have rescinded the patent to certain water lots off Sultana Island, in the Lake of the Woods.

An outbreak of diphtheria is reported from Elgin County.

Twenty-five thousand dollars in all has been collected for the Casselman fire sufferers. About 125 houses are being built to shelter them.

MORE WRITS ISSUED.

Four Companies Being Sued in Connection With the John Eaton Fire.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—In connection with the assignment of the insurance policies of the defunct firm of the John Eaton Co., to the Bank of Toronto, four additional suits were entered at Osgoode Hall yesterday by Beatty, Blackstock & Co. on behalf of the bank. They were against the following companies:

Caledonian Insurance Co.	$3500
London Assurance Co.	5000
London Mutual Fire Insurance Co.	3000
Alliance Assurance Co.	5000
Alliance Assurance Co.	2500

These policies are due, and the companies, in accordance with their previously expressed determination, refused to pay.

The Baby Burned to Death.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—Myrtle Brennan, the year-old child of John Brennan, who is employed at D. Conboy's carriage fittings factory, King street west, and lives at 5 Matthias place, was burned to death on Saturday. Mrs. Brennan went out of the house for a few moments, leaving her 5-year-old son, Teddie, and little Myrtle alone. She told the boy to remain seated until she returned, but he disobeyed, and his mother had hardly left the house before he had procured a bit of stick, which he lit at the stove, and then set fire to some curtains. His little sister toddled to the burning mass, and her clothes caught fire. The child was rolling around the floor in dreadful agony when Archie Sneddan, a young brother of Mrs. Brennan's, came into the house. He called for help, and Mrs. Brennan, sr., who lives next door, came in and extinguished the flames, but the poor baby was burned from the waist to the neck, and only lived a few hours. The funeral took place yesterday.

O. A. Howland Resigns.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—It is compulsory that a member of the Provincial Legislature resign his seat before he is eligible for nomination for a seat in the Dominion House. Mr. O. A. Howland has consequently sent in his resignation to Mr. Speaker.

Mrs. Cawthra-Murray's Will.

It was reported around town last night in well-posted circles that the will of the late Mrs. Cawthra-Murray was read at the residence after the funeral, and that the estate, which will probably aggregate five millions or thereabouts, goes, the great bulk of it, to Cawthra Mulock, a lad of 18 years or so, the second son of the Postmaster-General. The money is to come to him when he is of age, and by that time the accumulations will probably make it ten millions.

Mrs. Dr. Ryerson, a niece of Mrs. Cawthra-Murray, it is said, will get $50,000, and so also her husband, Dr. Ryerson, $50,000. The children of James Crowther, a nephew of deceased, are to get $50,000. It is also said that Mrs. William Murray is remembered to the extent of $3000. Some of the servants get small legacies. It is not known that anything is left for charities.

In case young Cawthra Mulock should not attain his majority the fortune left to him is to go to his father and mother. Mrs. Mulock is a sister of Mrs. Ryerson and Mrs. James Crowther is niece of deceased, while Mr. Mulock is a nephew of the late William Cawthra, who was the founder of the fortune.

Stewart Paisley Married.

Mount Albert, Nov. 23.—Stewart Paisley, of whom so much has been said regarding the stabbing and robbing affair at Mount Albert, has been married to Miss Jessie Lapp, who, as Mr. Paisley was unable to leave his bed, went there and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. McFadyen, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Mount Albert. Dr. Forest is indignant at the report attributed to him. He does not think Mr. Paisley inflicted the injuries himself.

CONFIRMS CANADIAN BISHOPS

In Their Stand on the Manitoba School Question—Mgr. Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, Received by the Pope—Ten Canadian Pupils Introduced—Cable News.

Rome, Nov. 23.—The Pope, in receiving the Archbishop of Montreal, Mgr. Bruchesi, to-day, expressed special affection for hte Canadian nation. Later the Archbishop presented to His Holiness ten new pupils of the Canadian College at Rome. The Pope, in addressing the young men, recommended them to study hard in order to second the efforts of their bishops and to always maintain a close union with them, as with the Supreme Pontiff. The Pope then presented Mgr. Bruchesi with a magnificent cameo portrait of himself.

The Archbishop will start for Spain on Wednesday next and will visit the tomb of St. Iago de Compostella, to whose memory the Cathedral of Montreal was dedicated.

The Pope's encyclical on the Manitoba school question will not be published for some days to come, but it is understood hat it confirms the stand taken by the Canadian bishops.

THE AMEER TALKS.

The Afghan Ruler Vehemently Disclaims Connection With the Rebellious Tribes.

London, Nov. 23.—A well-informed correspondent at Cabul, capital of Afghanistan, writing from that city, under date of Sept. 20 last, gives an account of an interview which he had with the Ameer of Afghanistan, in Durbar, in which the Ameer, referring to the rising of the tribes on the frontier of British India, said:

"I cannot imagine how anyone can think that I am responsible for the actions of the Haddah Mullah, who instigated the troubles, for it was he who raised the revolt of the Shinwaris and other tribes against me, shortly after my accession. I inquired into his antecedents and failed to discover his tribe, caste or birthplace. I only know he professes Mohammedanism and has great influence among the Mussulmans of the border tribes.

"When my Governor of Jellallabad recently stopped the Haddah Mullah's followers from leaving Afghanistan, they said they had the right to fight the English, for their leaders had told them I had given permission to do so. My Governor thereupon arrested several of the leaders, who were carrying green Jehad (holy war) flags. He sent them to Cabul, where they are now in prison, and I know how to deal with them."

One of the officials of the Durbar, the letter adds, remarked: "Indeed, these men are rascals."

"Rascals," cried the Ameer, "they are the worst scoundrels I have ever known, for they have not hesitated to use my name to try and bring discredit upon me. I have much to do in ruling, teaching and civilizing my own people, without being troubled by such scoundrels."

Terms for the Tribesmen.

Simla, Nov. 23.—General Sir William Lockhart, the commander of the British forces operating against the insurgent tribesmen, telegraphs from the British camp in the Maidan Valley that he has issued a proclamation stating the terms of submission which he is willing to grant the Afridis. The latter are given a week's grace in which to accept the terms referred to, which include the restoration of the rifles and other Governmental and private property stolen, the surrender of 800 breech-loaders, a fine of 50,000 rupees and the surrender of hostages, as a guarantee of compliance with the will of the Government. The Khyber Pass will be re-opened in the manner the Government deems advisable, and all the Afridi tribal allowances are forfeited by their misconduct.

The Turk Must Surrender.

London, Nov. 23.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily News says: "I am able to assert on the best authority that the powers are discussing the advisability of a naval demonstration in the Dardanelles, or a blockade of Constantinople, if the Sultan does not yield to the demands of the powers with respect to autonomy for the Island of Creto, especially in the matter of withdrawing the Turkish troops."

Warned Against Weyler.

London, Nov. 23.—The Standard warns the Spanish Government that a personage capable of "exacting homage from such diverse elements as the Carlists, advanced Republicans, Conservatives and workers' associations as did General Weyler at Corunna, is capable of developing into a popular hero who may upset the Government, and even the dynasty, unless care is taken."

Dervishes Driven off.

Berber-on-the-Nile, Nov. 23.—Detachments of Dervish horsemen from Metemmah, the stronghold of the Madhi, between this place and Khartoum, recently attempted to raid the villages on the left bank of the Nile, opposite Berber, but they were driven off by the villagers, who were recently armed with rifles issued by the Anglo-Egyptian authorities.

Hopes for Bimetalism.

Paris, Nov. 23.—In the course of his speech Saturday in the Chamber of Deputies, during the debate on the subject of the agricultural crisis, M. Meline, the Premier, expressed the hope that the day would yet come when bimetalism would triumph, as a solution of the agricultural depression.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, home-made, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, W. H. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 58, St. Henri, Que.

Sign of Strength.

The sign of strength, a ruddy countenance, depends upon rich, red blood. To make the blood rich and ruddy, the countenance clear and bright, and the step firm and elastic, use Burdock Blood Bitters. J. A. Gillan, B.A., Toronto, Ont., says: "I enjoy good health now to the greatest degree, ever since the day I started to use B.B.B."

AT THE CAPITAL.

General Gascoigne and Col. Strathy's Criticism—Small Postoffices and the Jubilee Stamps.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—It is not believed here in official circles that Gen. Gascoigne will attempt to discipline Col. Strathy, commanding officer of the 5th Royal Scots, Montreal, for the press interview in which the General is taken severely to task. It is contended that after reprimanding the Colonel and his Major, Gen. Gascoigne used the press to advertise this fact and to comment on it so as to humiliate them before the public, and that the General in so doing violated rule 130, which says:

"Officers and soldiers are not to attempt to prejudice questions under investigation by publication, anonymously or otherwise, of their opinions," and rule 966, which prohibits "the publication through the medium of the press of anything calculated to act injuriously on the service." Col. Strathy violated these regulations only after the General himself had set the example, and for this reason it is thought the matter will not be further stirred up by the General, though the Minister of Militia, who is now at Canning, N.S., may deem it his own duty to take up the matter. Col. Strathy is an honorary A.D.C. to His Excellency the Governor-General, who on a former occasion in regard to these same troubles interested himself with Gen. Gascoigne in behalf of the regiment.

A number of requests have been received from the smaller postoffices throughout the Dominion for partial sets of Jubilee stamps up to and including the $1 denomination. The Postoffice Department, desirous of giving that class of offices an opportunity of purchasing such sets, has, it is understood, arranged to distribute through the city postoffices from which they are respectively accustomed to obtain their stamp supplies. Non-accounting offices, therefore, wishing to secure such sets for their patrons will have a chance of doing so by applying to their city postoffices in the usual way.

Theosophist Interference.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—The Theosophists of San Francisco are taking a very active interest in the fate of Murderer Durrant. Many of them believe that capital punishment is wrong, and they are getting up a petition praying Governor Budd to stay the execution and to commute his sentence to life imprisonment. The petition was prepared by Dr. Jerome Anderson of the San Francisco Theosophical Society, and it has already received a large number of signatures.

Dragged to His Death.

Frankville, Nov. 23.—Rainy Loucks, one of the most progressive farmers in this district, and a township councillor, was killed in a runaway accident Friday night. He was driving a team of spirited horses and had the lines fastened around his wrist. In pulling the horses the bit broke and the horses bolted. Mr. Loucks was pulled out of the wagon and dragged along the road about ten rods when his head struck a stake. He died two hours later.

Found No Trace of Andree.

Tromsoe, Tromsoe Island, Norway, Nov. 23.—The steamer Victoria, which was fitted out by the Government of Tromsoe, under instructions from King Oscar, to search for Prof. Andree, the missing aeronaut, and his party, and which left here on Nov. 5, has returned from Spitzbergen. She brings no news as to the whereabouts or movements of Andree, although exploring parties landed 10 times at various points in Dammands Isles.

British Insurance Companies Lose.

Melbourne, Victoria, Nov. 23.—As a result of the fire which broke out at 2 o'clock yesterday, the insurance companies lost £730,000, of which amount £500,000 will fall on British companies. Australian companies will lose the remaining amount.

BEFORE WINTER SETS IN.

Nothing to Beat the BRANTFORD
"IDEAL"
With its Patent Bearings.

It is the only sewer mill having bearings on both sides of every gear wheel. This divides the strain on the bearings, and prevents the prying motion which soon wears out the ordinary single rabbit metal bearing. The wheels and vanes are also galvanized after being put together, which adds greatly to the permanence and to the value of the outfit. These powerful machines are fitted with interchangeable brass or patent roller and ball bearings, enclosed and fully protected from the weather. The band brake of this mill will positively hold the wheel still when turned out of the wind. Those who have had a wheel constantly in movement, when it should not run, will particulary appreciate this feature, because if it continues to run it will keep just little enough water in the pump to allow it to freeze in cold weather. The "Ideal" is safe in a storm and will stop itself. There is no fear of it running wild in a big blow.

It is being rapidly appreciated by wide-awake farmers, and many of them may now be seen on the farms of this and adjoining counties. Mr. Thos. R. Mann, Bridgenorth; Hutou Bros., Springville; Geo. Cambell, ex-M. P., Cavan; Geo. Russel, Douro; W. M. Reid, Otonabee; Levi S. Sewell, Springville; W. Leahy, Otonabee; Geo. Webber, North Monaghan, are among the leading farmers who have one of these labour-saving wind-mills. New mills are being erected every week. It will run a cutting box, our grain grinder, root pulper, saw, lathe, etc., and pumps oceans of water.

OFFICIOUS OFFICIALISM.

THOSE INLAND REVENUE SEIZURES.

The Officious Zeal of Inspector Floody—The Hardship it Works Upon Innocent Offenders—The Relation of the Inland Revenue Department to the Seizures.

THE EXAMINER, a few days ago, had a few comments upon the action of Inspector Floody, preventive officer for this division, in connection with his seizures of several parcels of tobacco that had been exposed, in shops, separated from the original packages; and it was pointed out that the tobaccos had paid duty and that the tobacco was exposed for the purpose of attracting the attention of buyers and with no desire or intention to commit a breach of law.

It is the duty of the Department of Inland Revenue to see that the spirit of the law is carried out, but there are infractions of the revenue and all other laws so purely technical that it is impracticable to take cognizance of them all. If this were done there would be no end of vexatious litigation, and no little hardship to law-abiding citizens, who are perfectly willing to abide by the really important requirements of the law. And it is the duty of the department in the selection of inspectors to appoint men of reasonable discretion, and not officious meddlers who will pounce upon a plug of tobacco in the stores of widows, who are endeavouring to make an honest living but innocently infringe the strict letter of the law. The law was not made for such cases, and the inspector would have more judiciously performed his duty if he had called the attention of the persons concerned to the breach of the law they were making. There is less to be said in regard to persons exclusively engaged in the tobacco business, who should know the law that applies to their comparatively larger transactions. The seizure of 3 plugs of tobacco of a value amounting to 15 cents, at Bridgenorth, and of one plug of the value of ten cents, in several places in Peterborough, cannot but be regarded as an officious and vexatious exercise of authority, which should be called to the attention of the department. It is difficult to understand why Inspector Floody, of Toronto, should select Peterborough as the scene of his petty officiousness. There is no doubt that if he exercised the same zeal in Toronto, he would find thousands of cases where the foremost citizens, not to speak of lone widows in corner groceries, daily infringe the law in respect to the destruction of cigar boxes, etc., and if a penalty of, at the least $10 00, is to be inflicted, let him begin with those who are able to pay and not with corner groceries kept by poor widows, whose receipts for the month would not, perhaps, equal the amount of the lowest fine. There is such a thing as common sense and common decency, and government inspectors should exercise both and not make mountains out of mole hills, and not pay, in their official zeal, their "tithes of mint, anise and cummin, and neglect the weightiest matters of the law."

Since the article calling attention to the recent seizures, THE EXAMINER communicated with the Minister of Inland Revenue, pointing out the officious zeal of the inspector, and has received the following reply:—

OTTAWA, Nov. 20th, 1897.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

In reply to your letter of the 9th inst., I may say that the renewed activity of the Department in respect of the observance of tobacco regulations, has arisen from the great increase in smuggling of American tobacco since the imposition of additional duties last session. Unless the regulations are strictly complied with, this illicit trading cannot be frustrated.

The persons from whom seizures were made in the Peterborough Division are liable to a penalty of at least $50.00 each, but under the circumstances, and more particularly as the seizing officer has made no charges of fraud, the Department has decided that, if the persons above referred to, will voluntarily deposit with Collector Hall the sum of $5.00 as a penalty, it will in these cases be accepted in lieu of the statutory penalty.

When the deposit is made the parties will be permitted to put up their tobacco in a proper package, and Mr. Hall will attach to such packages the necessary Inland Revenue stamps, without charge therefor, in order that the goods may be placed on the market in a legal condition.

I am,

Yours truly,
H. G. JOLY DE LOTBINIERE,
Minister of Inland Revenue.

From the Minister's point of view, it may seem to him that he has taken a reasonable and, indeed, lenient view of the matter. But if he had the local knowledge of the circumstances that we in Peterborough possess, he would be enlightened as to the exceedingly petty, not to say frivolous infraction of the law that has aroused the officious zeal of Inspector Floddy, and would take a proper view of what, at the worst, is a mere technical and insignificant disregard of the requirements of the law, which is made to punish overt offenders, not those who, through ignorance and innocence, have acted without the least desire to evade or break the law. The cases spoken of in Peterborough certainly indicate that they would not be improper cases for the exercise of executive clemency.

Those engaged in the business of the disposal of tobacco in wooden packages have not much reason to complain but innocent persons who go to the grocer and buy two or three pounds of tobacco for disposal again and are not given it in the original package, are not the ones to punish, but those who supply it to them in an illegal manner. An innocent offender of the law should not be punished with the same severity that is meted out to him who knowingly disregards or breaks it. The Inland Revenue Act was passed in 1892 by the Conservative Government. Inspector Floody was appointed by a Conservative Government. If a Liberal Government amended the law and made a more common-sense and practicable law, and appointed an inspector for this district endowed with reasonable common sense and discretion, they would be doing the community a benefit.

THE RUSSELL COUNTY SUFFERERS.

A New Course of Action—The Benevolent Bonifaces to be Benefactors.

Yesterday Mr. John A. Spafford, of Colborne, was in town on a mission of mercy in the interest of the sufferers by the Carleton and Russell county forest fires, who, though there has been generous relief, are still greatly in need.

Mr. Spafford thinks that churches have heretofore had too much of a monopoly of doing good and he feels that if the hotelkeepers throughout the country were appealed to they would be glad of a chance to assist, as they have done where he has enlisted in the two chief hotels in Trenton.

His plan is to leave at each hotel a subscription list headed as follows:

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 22, 1897.

We, the undersigned, contribute the sums set opposite our respective names for the relief of the 400 families burned out by the recent fires in the counties of Russel and Prescott.

He also gives the following form of notice which is to be placed in the hotel office:

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 27th, 1897.

TAKE NOTICE.

That I am prepared to receive contributions for the relief of the four hundred families burned out by the recent fires in the counties of Russel and Prescott.

Mr. Spafford says he believes this plan has come to him by Divine suggestion and that hotelkeepers will be glad to assist in such a noble work of charity. He believes that they are not the hard-hearted men some narrow-minded persons charge them with being.

WILL KEEP THE TANKARD.

The Colts Decide not to Again Offer their Trophy for Competition.

A largely attended meeting of the local Colts' Curling Association was held in the Palace Restaurant parlours last evening, and after the subject had been thoroughly discussed it was decided not to again put up the Midland Colts' Tankard for competition.

The consensus of opinion appeared to be be that as the local Colts had won every match in which they had played during the last three years, and had been put to a great deal of expense in going away to play outside clubs, that they should be entitled to hold the cup.

The matter is not a question of funds with the Midland Colts Association as there is more than sufficient in the treasury to defray the expense of purchasing a tankard. The boys feel, too, that it would not be exactly the correct thing to ask the Granites and Thistles to give them back the trophy again after it has been donated to them.

The election of skips resulted in the selection of Messrs. Dickson Davidson and Ernie Rutherford. Mr. Davidson wished to retire this year, but the members would not hear of it. Mr. Rutherford replaces Mr. Hopkins.

The fact of a western Colts' Association have been formed was mentioned, and the hope expressed that the winners of that series would play off with the winners of the Midland schedule.

An effort will be made to make such arrangements as will permit two or three Colt rinks to play together all season under their own skips, in order that they may get accustomed to playing in the positions they will occupy in playing off the Colt series.

President Geo. Matthews occupied the chair during the evening.

AN EVENING WITH THE ANCIENT PERUVIANS

SCHOLARLY ADDRESS BY MR. J. HAMPDEN BURNHAM

In the Catholic Association Rooms last Evening—Large Attendance and Excellent Programme Presented.

The second entertainment of the series of fortnightly entertainments was held in the Catholic Association rooms last evening, and was attended by a very large number of the friends of the Society. Mr. T. J. Begley occupied the chair and with him on the platform were the speaker of the evening, Mr. J. H. Burnham, Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Mr. Thos. Cahill.

The programme of the evening was an excellent one in every respect. Miss M. Begley opened with a well rendered piano solo, which was followed by a chorus "My Old Kentucky Home," by the Association Glee Club. This number was a delightful one, and was warmly applauded by the audience. The solos were exceedingly well rendered by Messrs. T. J. Begley, D. J. Costello and L. J. Picard. Miss McCabe is instructor and accompanist.

Mr. J. A. Henderson in his vocal number, "Anchored," showed himself to be the possessor of a beautiful tenor voice and his number was a brilliant one. He responded to an encore with "They all Love Jack."

Mrs. T. Craig sang very sweetly "The Old Refrain," and responded to an encore with a catchy negro ditty. She possesses an excellent voice, and delighted her hearers in the second part of the programme by rendering a beautiful ballad, "Better than Gold."

Mr. J. O'Brien sang a comic song, which pleased the juniors immensely.

Master Rupert Phelan, the popular boy vocalist, sang a vocal solo, a medley—"Far from the Old Folks at Home." This number was a gem, and the clever young singer was obliged to appear again. Master Rupert possesses a wonderful voice of great strength and sweetness.

The Glee Club closed the musical portion of the entertainment by rendering "The Maple Leaf Forever," Mr. J. A. Henderson taking the solo.

The feature of the evening, however, was the scholarly and eloquent address by Mr. J. H. Burnham, on "The Empire of the Incas." This was indeed an intellectual treat.

Mr. J. H. Burnham introduced his address by giving an account of the spirit of discovery pervading the people of Spain and Portugal at the close of the 15th and the beginning of the 16th centuries, which took the form of an ardent desire to reach the Indies, then pictured to every mind as as the El Dorado of the world. The Cape of Good Hope was rounded by one expedition and another started across the Atlantic, discovering the West Indies (hence the name of Indies) and the continent of America. Coming more closely to the subject of the evening Mr. Burnham said that in no quarter of the globe had a more interesting discovery been made than in the land of the Peruvians. What their origin was no scientist had yet been able to find out. Their early days were lost in the remoteness of antiquity. The Peruvians relate that being in a miserable condition their great god, the Sun, took pity on them and sent two of his children, who became the parents of the line of Incas or kings, who continued to rule over them as the divine descendants of a god during centuries of undisputed sway, until at last the ruthless Spaniard invaded and broke up the empire. The Peruvians had neither money nor foreign commerce. All property was under the control of the Inca, who divided it, or caused it be divided, every year according to the requirements of the people. The surplus produce was placed by him in large storehouses from which he took it to relieve distress amongst the people. It was a perfect example of the socialistic state, where neither poverty nor work was wanting, where the people, if not poor, were not rich, the surplus being taken for general distribution. Hence the character of the individual was mild and pleasant, but it was dignified by no great responsibilities assumed and well discharged. Such a people, with their buildings of massive stone, temples, inlaid with gold and precious stones, their mighty systems of irrigation, their system of law and government, their vast and well disciplined forces, their postal service, their matchless cultivation of the land, their knowledge of the way to harden copper which, since they knew nothing of iron, took its place—all these details of life and activity showed that their inherent qualities lacked but the genius of freedom to be great. The contrast of the empire of the Incas with the land of the Aztecs was all the more remarkable from their being ignorant of the existence of each other. A familiar likeness, however, in a variety of ways ran through the history of the Hindoos, the Egyptians and the Peruvians.

At the conclusion of Mr. Burnham's address, Ven. Archdeacon Casey in a few well chosen words moved a vote of thanks to the speaker. Mr. Thos. Cahill seconded the resolution in his well-known happy style. Mr. Burnham responded briefly.

The chairman then announced that the next entertainment would be held Dec. 6th, when Mr. Daniel O'Connell will deliver an address.

Misses L. Hurley and M. McCabe were the accompanistes of the evening.

The Peterborough Branch Re-organizes and Elects Officers—A Series of Meetings to be Arranged.

The local Sunday School Union met last evening in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of reorganizing for the year, electing officers and taking the initiatory steps towards making arrangements for the reception of the delegates to the Provincial convention which is to be held here next October.

The following delegates were present from the town schools:

George street Methodist—Mr. S. R. Armstrong and Miss Stubbs.
Charlotte street Methodist—Messrs. J. Kidd and C. W. Daw.
Grace Methodist—Mr. J. Might and Miss Morrow.
St. Paul's Presbyterian—Sheriff Hall and Mr. A. J. Johnston.
St. Andrew's Presbyterian—Messrs. G. W. Mulligan and C. S. Mallett.
Murray street Baptist—Messrs. George Matthews and E. B. Edwards.
Park street Baptist—Miss Mann and Miss Minors.
Auburn—Mr. J. Simpson.
Salvation Army—Mrs. Comstock and Mrs. Redner.

Mr. George Matthews took the chair.

At the recent Provincial convention in Hamilton it was announced that hereafter Peterborough would be classed amongst the cities and would cut loose from the County Association, but the members in attendance at the meeting last night did not see what advantage could be derived from separating from the county.

The matter was left to the new executive to decide.

The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:

President—Geo. Matthews.
Vice-President—J. Kidd.
Sec.-Treas—A. J. Johnston.

These three officers were empowered to appoint an Executive Committee.

A series of meetings will be arranged to take place during the winter.

—Mr. M. C. Dickson, of Toronto, G. T. R. district passenger agent, held a conference with some of Lindsay's leading citizens relative to a return of the Saturday market fares privilege. Lindsay's claims were clearly outlined by the different speakers, but Mr. Dickson's reply was not very encouraging.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

It has been finally decided that the Rugby team will go to Kingston on Thanksgiving Day to play the Granites, and a meeting will be held in the Oriental to-night to pick the team.

HOCKEY.

The Executive of the Hockey Club met Mr. W. G. Ferguson, representing the Skating Rink Co., last night, and made arrangements to have the rink for practice from seven until eight o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings during the winter. The rental charged will be $100, and the club agrees, after the expenses of each match have been paid to divide the receipts with the Skating Rink Co. The price of players tickets has been fixed at $5.00 and of non-playing members at $3.00.

THE TOWN TEACHERS.

They Will Meet in Annual Conclave on Friday Next—Prof. Reynar's Lecture in the Evening.

The Peterborough Town Teachers' Association will hold its annual convention in the Central School on Friday, Nov. 26th. The following programme has been prepared:

MORNING SESSION.

I—President's address—J Jeffries, B A.
II—History—J McCaig, M A, LL B.
Discussion to be led by Mr Keogh, Misses Mark and Pakenham.
III—Drawing—J C Smith.
Discussion to be led by Mr O'Brien, Misses Perrin and Hall.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

IV—Reading (Lesson with class)—Miss M A Nicholls.
Discussion to be led by H A Yenny, Misses Brown and O'Connell.
V—Composition—M A Sorosteil.
Discussion to be led by Messrs Wm Smith, W Walkey and J McCreary.

A lecture on "Humor" will be delivered by Prof. A. H. Reynar, M. A., of Victoria University, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, at 8 p. m. A short musical programme will precede the lecture. To this meeting the public are cordially invited.

The chair will be taken by Peter Hamilton, Esq., Chairman of the Board of Education.

STEALING WOOD.

Sheds and Wood Piles Will Soon Have to be Watched Closely.

The sudden cold snap has apparently caught a number of the unthrifty poor with no supply of fuel laid in for the winter, and, consequently, a good many wood piles have suffered a mysterious depreciation of value after nightfall.

In Ashburnham, the brewery was visited last night and not only cordwood, but wood that was sawn and split was carried off in such quantities as to create a very noticeable impression on the pile. The Dickson Co.'s lumber yards have also suffered to a considerable extent, but it is understood that some of the wood has been successfully traced and that a repetition of the steal will result in several arrests being made.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Mrs. Lendrum has donated a handsome ivy plant to the boys room of the Y.M.C.A.

—The steamer Alice Ethel, of Lindsay, slipped from the ways yesterday, where she was being hauled up for the winter, and entered the water with such a force as to stave in her stern.

—There will be a field night among the Oddfellows next Thursday night, when a number of Millbrook Lodge will be on hand to see the 3rd degree conferred on some of their members by the Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F. degree team.

President McKinley Will Submit An Arbitration Treaty to the U.S. Senate -Will That Body Pass It?

New York, Nov. 23.—The World, under a Washington date, prints what purports to be an outline of a new treaty of arbitration already drawn up by the McKinley Administration and accepted by Premier Salisbury as follows:

"Compared with the treaty negotiated by Secretary Olney, the new one will be far less binding. The points are brief. First of all the provision in the late treaty providing that when diplomacy failed to adjust differences they should be referred to arbitrators is cut out. No permanent tribunals to be established.

"According to the new treaty, whenever a difference arises between the two Governments which diplomacy fails to adjust, then the Senate and the British Government will first consider whether the dispute is one which shall be referred to arbitration or not. If they agree that it is a suitable arrangement binding the two countries to an agreed-upon course, then the appointment of arbitrators will be carried out. Practically, the actual results of the treaty as now contemplated mean that there shall be arbitration when both Governments are willing to arbitrate and not otherwise.

"President McKinley is not disposed to antagonize the Senate, and his long experience in Congress makes him prudent. He will not attempt the impossible as Cleveland did. He is, therefore, preparing the kind of arbitration treaty not that he wants, but that the Senate wants, and will surely ratify.

"Sir Julian Pauncefote now has full authority to perfect the details of the complete treaty based on the skeleton previously submitted to his Government. It will not be necessary to send the complete treaty to London again for approval."

Horrible Murder in Elmira.

Elmira, N.Y., Nov. 20.—Van Etten, a village 25 miles from here, in the northern end of this county, was horribly shocked at 7 o'clock this evening upon learning of the dastardly murder of a farmer named John Denmark, residing about one and a half miles above that village. Denmark and his little son were sitting in the house at a table when, without any warning, the muzzle of a double-barreled shotgun was poked through a pane of glass in the window, and at short range the murderer blazed away at Denmark, killing him instantly. The boy was but slightly wounded. Hounds are being used to trace the criminal.

A Masked Desperado in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Saturday night a masked desperado, as yet unknown, walked into the Yorkville Laundry, and shot the proprietor, Mr. H. D. Palser. The bullet struck the victim in front of the throat about an inch above the breast bone, and settled in the arm about four inches above the elbow. Its course was 16 inches. The only motive for the deed, possible, was robbery, as so far as known no one holds any grudge against Mr. Palser.

Collapse of a Scaffold.

Preston, Nov. 23.—One of the worst accidents that have occured here for a long while happened Saturday afternoon about 2.50 o'clock, when the scaffolding of William Kribs of Hespeler, on the new rink, fell. Several of the men were rendered unconscious by being struck by fallen timbers. Those injured are:

William Kribs, right ankle fractured and left leg badly bruised; James Eagle, back sprained; Oliver Gingrich, back and ankle sprained; John Gellow, leg badly sprained; John Eagan, cuts about head and other injuries; Gottlieb Walker, compound dislocation of little finger and fracture of forearm; Sam Lovell, shoulder dislocated; Harman Preston, bodily injuries.

With the exception of Lovell, who is a resident of Preston, the remainder of those injured come from Hespeler. Lovell and Gingrich were working on beams 80 feet high, and their escape from being seriously injured is most remarkable.

Ottawa College Defeats McGill.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Ottawa College defeated McGill to-day in the final game in the special McGill-Montreal-Ottawa College series, and are thus champions of the Quebec Rugby Union. College not only defeated McGill but whitewashed them. College scored 11 points, while McGill failed to score.

CENTRE TORONTO.

Mr Bertram Delivers an Inspirting Address.

A MAGNIFICENT PUBLIC RECORD.

What the Laurier Government Has Done for the Dominion of Canada in One Short Year—The Tariff Issue Settled and Broader Questions Take Its Place.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Mr. Bertram, the manly, clean business candidate of a clean business government, delivered a most inspiriting address to Centre Toronto electors on Saturday night. But he spoke in broader lines than merely local issues, nd, after the cheering which greeted him on rising had subsided, he, among other things, said: When I accepted this position I knew what duty I would be called upon to perform, and I made up my mind that no matter who my opponent might be, a big man or a little man—(laughter)—nothing would be left undone by me to secure success for the Liberal party.

The time before us is short, we have a good deal of work to do, and while, if you were Conservatives, I would like to discuss the questions of the day to a considerable extent and convert you to Liberalism, I know you are already all Liberals and do not require conversion. As your standard-bearer I feel it my duty to lead the party in this campaign and to devote every hour between now and the polling day to doing every work I am called upon to do in connection with this election.

It is quite likely that your candidate will be abused and misrepresented before this contest is over. I don't care a penny for abuse or misrepresentation so long as I can maintain my own self-respect. But I shall not return abuse for abuse, misrepresentation for misrepresentation, and I ask my supporters not to do so.

A Magnificent Record.

There is another thing that I would like to call to your attention—two reasons why I think the present Government should be sustained and I should be returned. I should like you just to consider two main questions which I think of some importance. You are aware that the present Government has only been about one year in power. During that year have they been idle? (Loud cries of "no.") No, they have settled some of the most difficult questions any Canadian Parliament has been called upon to deal with.

They have settled what the Conservatives bungled with more than anything else, the school question. The settlement has created a feeling of brotherhood and friendliness throughout the whole length and breadth of this Dominion of ours, and if there had not been a settlement there would have been a feeling of ill-will and bitterness that would not have been well for this country of ours. (Cheers.)

I shall refer also to the tariff issue. We have been contending, the two parties, for a great many years as to what the trade policy of the country should be. The Conservatives contending one thing, we another. The Liberals have placed on the statute book what their opinion is, and their work has been so perfect, so complete and satisfactory that the Tories themselves cannot find any fault with it. So that this great tariff issue has been practically settled.

The very fact of it having been settled for some years to come is a matter of tremendous importance to business men. An unsettled tariff means unsettled business, a settled tariff means that there is an opening for the development of this country that will make times better than ever before. (Cheers. A voice, "They're better now.") They have done more, they have brought the hearts of the Canadian people closer to the hearts of the mother land than ever before.

Our friend here said a few moments ago that the times are better now than ever before. Whom are we to thank for that? Both the times and the outlook are better. The outlook of the Dominion is better than ever before, and I say that is due largely to the Liberal party.

A large number of respectable Conservatives in the city, some of the best men in the city, have not hesitated to say that there should be no contest, that an opportunity should be given a business man to go to Ottawa and see what he can do; but it looks as if their advice would not be taken, and a contest is forced on us by men who put party before country.

The meeting, which closed with cheers for candidate and Government, was practically a unit that Centre Toronto would be held by a magnificent majority.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conqueror of kidney and liver disease.

People Talk Back.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

THE QUALITY OF MERCY.

The Jury Inclined to Leniency in the Case of the Condemned Mrs. Sternaman.

Cayuga, Nov. 22.—An interview was obtained with one of the Sternaman jurors. He said that a couple of the jurors held out for some hours against bringing in a verdict of guilty. They endeavored in every way to give the poor unfortunate the benefit of any doubt, but the overwhelming evidence of the Crown pointing directly to the accused faced them so strongly that it was impossible to do anything else than bring in a verdict of guilty. When the jurymen who held out against bringing in the verdict found that they could couple "a strong recommendation to mercy" they soon became unanimous in their opinion.

Mrs. Sternaman passed a very unhappy night on her first night after condemnation. When she was removed to her cell she was hysterical for a greater part of the night, and protested that she was innocent.

The jury, in assembling Saturday morning, got up a petition, which was signed by all the 12 jurors, that it was their desire that Mrs. Sternaman should not suffer the death penalty.

The sheriff would allow no person outside of the prisoner's own family to see her since the verdict has been given.

WET WEATHER.

The dangers of exposure to cold and damp vividly portrayed by one who has experienced them.

Mr. John Conboy, 250 Sidney Street, St. John, N.B., talked to our reporter about his experience with kidney trouble, and his recent remarkable cure by Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. Conboy's statement reads as follows:—

"For a number of years I have been troubled with kidney weakness, brought on by heavy lifting and exposure to wet and cold; also a heavy strain whereby I wrenched my back. I experienced great pain in the chest, extending through to the small of my back and around the loins.

"Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills my blood became vitiated, and my kidneys were greatly deranged in their action. I suffered also from nervousness and general debility, and I am thankful to say that by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, assisted by Laxa-Liver Pills, I am wonderfully improved. I also suffered from constipation and liver complaint, but found Laxa-Liver Pills an excellent remedy, aiding Doan's Kidney Pills in their splendid work.

"I am glad to testify to the wonderful curative powers of these great remedies, especially when they are used in combination, and feel assured that anyone trying them will not be disappointed in the result.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men a common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

Evidence of Firebugs.

Thamesville, Ont., Nov. 29.—About 4 o'clock yesterday a fire broke out in the Riverview Hotel, occupied by Mr. D. Rapilje and located at Kent Bridge, a village on the bank of the Thames River, six miles west of this place. The fire started on the side of the hotel next the river, and was evidently of incendiary origin. The hotel building, as well as the store on the south, are a total loss. The property belonged to the estate of the late J. A. Langford, and was insured for a small amount.

"Black Quarter" at Campbellford.

Campbellford, Nov. 20.—The dreaded "Black Quarter" has broken out in a herd of cattle belonging to Jas. Culkeen, 8th con. of Seymour, and it is feared that the disease will spread. The disease shows itself in one quarter of the animal, from the knee, or hock, upwards to the body, hence, possibly, its name. The skin cracks, and becomes black, swelling takes place and the animal stiffens up and dies soon afterwards. "Black Quarter" attacks young

THE PACKERS STRUCK

But Major Walsh's Klondike Expedition Went On.

PROGRESS OF THE COMMISSION

How Resolution and Energy in the Initial Difficulty Helped to Overcome Later Ones—Major Walsh Reached Lake Bennett on Oct. 30—Our Butter in Britain.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Major Walsh and party got over the Chilkoot Pass on October 30, and set sail, with open water, in three boats, which Capt. Norwood had in readiness at Lake Lindemann. Mr. J. D. McGregor was left at Skagway, and was to have started for Fort Selkirk on Nov. 18 or 20, with 10 horses and 50 dogs. This delay was made so as to give time for the lakes and rivers to freeze over solid. If the expedition find it impossible to get any farther than Fort Selkirk by boat, the arrival of the dogs will put them in shape to cover the remaining 200 miles to Dawson over the ice.

Major Walsh left Dyea for the interior on Oct. 24, three days after Mr. Sifton sailed south. He was accompanied by Mr. D. Bliss, Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Philip Walsh and the Fort William Indians. They camped at Sheep Camp that night, and on the 25th engaged Mr. Scott to hire sixty packers to take the two and a half tons of supplies and outfit they had with them. It was snowing, and after twenty of the packers had gone over the summit the other forty complained that the trail was not sufficiently broken and they went on strike.

The Commissioner's resolution and energy came to his rescue. He immediately declared that he could do without the packers, and set his Indians to work to take the stuff over. He was so confident and energetic that next day the strikers came to time, and the stuff was soon over, the Major crossing last, in such a storm that he asked Mr. Scott to guide him, and even then the trail was lost several times, although Mr. Scott had been over it a score of times. This year at all events it goes on record that up to November 1 Lakes Lindemann and Bennett were free from ice. Major Walsh reached Lake Bennett on October 30, and it will be some considerable time before he is heard from.

Our Butter in Britain.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Reports are being received of the sales of butter which was forwarded to Great Britain from the creameries in the Northwest Territories under the management of the Department of Agriculture. Messrs. George & John Hickson & Co., Limited, Liverpool, write, under date Nov. 10, as follows:

"Enclosed herewith we have pleasure in handing you account sales for butter ex Labrador. We regret that your shipment to us should have met with such a depressed market as ours has been for the last three months, which is chiefly owing to the very open weather we have experienced during that time. We are pleased to be able to report the quality of butter shipped by you very satisfactory, and with regular shipments we are certain we could build up a demand for your brands."

Similar letters have been received with satisfactory accounts from Messrs. Andrew Clements & Co., Limited, Manchester, and Messrs. Hodgson Bros., Liverpool. The depression in the butter market was made by the unusually large shipments from Denmark, Russia and the United States, at the time when very open and mild weather prevailed in Great Britain. For one week the shipments from these countries amounted to about 1000 tons of butter more than during the same week of last year. The market is now slightly better and Canadian butter is in better demand.

Hon. David Mills, who arrived here yesterday, and who attended the Cabinet meeting in the afternoon, left for London in the evening. He will return to Ottawa about the end of the week. The Ridgetown Liberals want to give Mr. Mills a banquet. The Minister of Justice has also been the recipient of congratulations from all over the Dominion on his appointment.

AVOID DECEPTION.

Ask for the Reliable and Popular Diamond Dyes.

Do not be led away by the false claims of imitators. No other dyes in the world can equal the Diamond Dyes, all of which are fully warranted to colour more goods, package for package, and give more brilliant and durable colours.

The claims of makers of adulterated dyestuff and of colours that are made up of common soap and a very small proportion of poor dye can only lead to disappointment and the utter ruin of valuable and serviceable materials. Many women for the sake of curiosity, have tried some of the imitation makes of dyes, and are now quite satisfied that Diamond Dyes alone are worthy of admittance to the home as true agents of economy. We say again do not be deceived by the statements of any dealer; ask for Diamond Dyes and take no other make. Diamond Dyes delight the users and make the family happy.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporising measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why, should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

GAMES WITH CARDS.

SOURCES OF UNTOLD MERRIMENT AND SORROW, SMILES AND TEARS.

Gambling In the Olden Times—Women Were as Deeply Infatuated as Men—Everything Made Subservient to Play For Stakes—Some of the Old Games.

Possibly no other invention has ever given rise to so much merriment and sorrow, has called forth so many smiles, frowns and tears and has been the agent in so many tragedies as a pack of cards. The actual source of this invention still remains a mystery, the generally accepted story of origin being that in 1393 cards were introduced at the French court as a diversion for King Charles VI during his temporary attacks of insanity. From this date they spread rapidly through every country in Europe and received such a warm welcome from all classes that laws had to be made for the better regulations of dice throwing and card playing.

During the commonwealth card playing shared the banishment of every other amusement, but with the restored monarchy a reaction set in, and heavy play became the fashion. Basset and ombre were the games in favor at court, and in the graphic picture given by Evelyn of the last Sunday spent by King Charles II at Whitehall he speaks of "at least £2,000 in gold" on the baisset table round which "about 20 of the great courtiers" were sitting. Ombre was also a court game. Waller has a poem "on a card torn at ombre by the queen." Pope also, in "The Rape of the Lock," gives such a faithful description of Belinda's game that the Hon. Daines Barrington, writing in The Universal Magazine for December, 1788, says, "When ombre is forgotten (and it is almost so already), it may be revived with posterity from that most admirable poem." In its turn ombre was deposed for quadrille, and for a time no one who aspired to be counted among the beau monde condescended to play any other game. Mr. Urban, in The Gentleman's Magazine for 1736, gives "Cautions Against Quadrille" and warns "the young and unwary of both sexes" against a most growing vice which if not timely prevented will end in their ruin. "I mean," he says, "the great Increase of Play in private Houses, and more particulary that artful and cheating game of Quadrille." Quadrille was equally popular in Paris, and a pamphlet is extant dated 1760 of "The game of Quadrille by Four as it is now played at the French Court," in which it says, "It is allowed by all players that Quadrille is more amusing and entertaining than Ombre or any other game on the cards, either because every Deal is play'd out or that it better suits the genius of the Ladies, to whom complaisance and good manners must Prejudice the Gentlemen in its favor." Such a prejudicial hold had this fascinating game taken on women that a writer of the day declares that "women now spend all their time in gambling. Their husbands, children, the duties of society, are, without Quadrille, wearisome encumbrances. Quadrille is the joy that gives life, spirit and brightness. For this they hurry over their meals and abridge their most agreeable Refreshments. For this alone they visit and are visited."

In the autobiography of Mr. Frederick Reynolds he tells us that one of the most noted card playing places near London was Twickenham, and that there, in Montpelier row, lived four maiden ladies who were known in the neighborhood as Manille, Spadille, Basto and Punto. Mrs. Harris, writing to her son, the first Lord Malmesbury, says: "Mme. de Walderen would fain have tempted me to her loo table, but I needed little fortitude to withstand it, as one stake lost would ruin a whole assembly. I preferred a sober game of quadrille with Miss Chudleigh." The Annual Register for 1766 informs us that "a lady at the West End lost at a sitting one night last week 3,000 guineas at loo." As early as the reign of Henry VII a prohibitory statute forbade any persons save those of noble rank to play at cards except during Christmas, and for generations this custom was strictly adhered to, so that many who objected to touch a card at any other time relaxed their prejudices and played a few games at this festive season. As late as the year 1783 The European Magazine for December says: "This being the season when and when only card playing is permitted in sober families for the recreation of men, women and children," etc., "it may not be out of place to give a few observations on games which at no distant time were the most popular." Among these games brag is spoken of as "peculiarly adapted to the fair and softer sex, and therefore so much in vogue among the ladies of distinction that hereby they acquire a decent assurance and competency of countenance so absolutely necessary in life, and remedy that shamefacedness, which is a defect of nature, by the assistance of her handmaid art."

The passion for gaming which was prevalent in the days of Queen Anne went on steadily increasing during the reigns of the three Georges. The Gentleman's Magazine for 1753 tells us that "his majesty played at St. James' palace on Twelfth Night for the benefit of the groom porter. Fortune favored the royal family—the Duke of Cumberland won £3,000." The spirit of gambling was by this time no longer confined to the court, it had broken loose over the whole land, the taste was universal and alike indulged in by both men and women.—Pall Mall Magazine.

HUGHES MURDER TRIAL.

The Jury Returns a Verdict of "Not Guilty" in Twenty Minutes—History of the Case.

Napanee, Nov. 23.—The trial of John Hughes began at the Assizes yesterday afternoon before Judge Meredith.

Hughes was charged with complicity in the murder of Angus McLeod in Napanee, on September 13th, 1893. McLeod was found in his home that day shot dead, and from the surroundings it was evident that the murder had been committed by burglars. Detectives theorized and worked on the case to no avail, no trace of the murderers could be found. The case was almost forgotten when a Kingston convict, in a state of mind brought about by solitary confinement sent for the warden and confessed that he had committed the crime.

This convict, John F. Troy, stated that he had entered McLeod's house for the purpose of burglarizing it, and while he was at work McLeod awoke. He covered McLeod with a revolver and told him not to stir, but the latter reached for a water pitcher and he fired, severing an artery in his neck and killing him instantly.

Troy was brought to trial on May 11th, when in giving evidence on his own behalf he changed his story materially. He swore that he was accompanied to McLeod's house by two companions, John Hughes and Penn; that they had found some cake and whisky in the house and proceeded to make a meal of it. The meal made Hughes sick and he retched. Troy made a motion to strike him and knocked over the lamp. The noise woke McLeod, who threatened to throw a water pitcher at them. He fired one shot at random and Penn also fired a shot. He believed it was Penn's shot that killed McLeod. Judge Robertson, who tried the case, was very doubtful as to Troy's sanity and he deferred sentence till the matter could be laid before the Attorney-General and the Minister of Justice. Troy has not yet been sentenced. Hughes, who was serving a sentence in Kingston penitentiary, was arrested on the charge of complicity.

The evidence of Troy in almost every respect corroborated with that given at the last trial; also his description of the house and places he was in prior to coming to Napanee.

In charging the jury the judge said: The Crown does not desire to convict anyone of the offence unless sufficient evidence has been produced to convict him beyond a doubt. Hughes should not have been presented as a person in jail. He should be supposed to be an innocent man. He may be guilty, he may be innocent. Troy says the oath has no obligation. Is that the kind of evidence to convict, from such a morally polluted source? An accomplice, the law says, is not safe to believe unless materially corroborated. The fence say it is doubly unsafe with such an accomplice, who is so depraved as Troy was proved to be. I now leave the case in your hands. You must prove him guilty; he has not to prove his innocence. If you believe the story which Troy tells, then you have a right to pronounce him guilty.

After being out for about 20 minutes the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, thus making this one of the shortest murder trials on record.

Bad Story Telling.

If Oscar Wilde's assumption were to be taken seriously, that all fiction is lying, it might account for much that afflicts readers, since the lack of morale affects the intellect, and what is done without conscience is apt to be done badly. Of course all fiction is not lying, as all killing is not murder, but it is a sad fact that many writers of novels and short stories seem to have left their consciences and much of their brains behind when they go forth to work—as if these belongings might safely remain in seclusion, with the dress coat and the white tie, to be brought out only for especial occasions. Artemus Ward once remarked that he had a giant mind, but did not have it with him, and that (or the latter half of it) is apt to be the case with any of us when we are careless. True, even good Homer sometimes nodded, but this affords no example for us who are not Homers. To come to our tasks otherwise than with all our wits about us and invite public attention to the chance "oozings of our brains" is as if one should issue from his apartments unshorn and half clad or enter upon the busy haunts of men without money in his pocket.—Frederic M. Bird in Lippincott's.

Leather and Kerosene.

There is one use of kerosene which is seldom mentioned. It often happens that when a heavy shoe or boot has been wet it hardens and draws so that it hurts the foot. If the shoe is put on and the leather thoroughly wet with kerosene, the stiffness will disappear and the leather become pliable, adapting itself to the foot. If oiled while wet, the leather retains its softness a longer time. The kerosene does not injure the leather at all.

At the beginning of this century a most peculiar cholera remedy was in use in Persia. It consisted in wadding up a leaf from the Koran and forcing it down the patient's throat.

The medical department of the queen's household costs £2,700 yearly and comprises 24 persons.

RAILWAY COLLISION.

Three Freight Trains Were Involved and a Good Deal of Damage Was Done.

Havelock, Ont., Nov. 23.—At Burketon, east of here, yesterday there was a double collision of freight trains, and damage estimated at $50,000 was done. Three trains were bound west, and while the first was standing on the main track, waiting to get in on the side track, the second train smashed into it. The third train then came up and crashed into the second. All the trains were loaded with general merchandise.

C. W. Brooks' Troubles.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Nellie Brooks of Myrtle avenue, this city, and Mrs. Kate Brooks of Toronto called at Police Headquarters and asked for a warrant charging bigamy against Charles W. Brooks. Each claimed him as a husband.

According to the story told by these two women, Nellie was married to him four years ago. Last April, they said, he went with Kittie to Windsor, Ont., where she had friends, and was there married to her. It was only a few days ago that the man's alleged duplicity was discovered.

Kittie, whose maiden name was Woodsworth, came to Buffalo and yesterday the the two women called on Judge King. The judge held that as the alleged second marriage was committed in Canada, the warrant would have to be issued there. Kittie said she would go to Windsor and write Charles to come and take his Christmas dinner with her. When he arrives she will have him arrested.

Brooks, the women say, is now in St. Louis, Mo.

Luetgert's Trial To-day.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—The second trial of the alleged wife murderer, Luetgert, was to have begun yesterday before Judge Horton, but at the request of the defence the case went over until to-day. Luetgert's announced that he would ask for a change of venue from Judge Horton.

Fire at Elora.

Elora, Ont., Nov. 23.—At 2.45 yesterday fire was discovered in the grocery store occupied by Weaver Bros. After half an hour's hard fight the flames were extinguished. The goods were all damaged more or less by water. Total loss $1300, partly covered by insurance.

Strathroy Boy Killed in Michigan.

Durand, Mich., Nov. 23.—Frank T. Watkins of Strathroy, Ont., was run over by a Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw switch engine here Saturday night, and instantly killed. His body was frightfully mangled. Watkins was in the stencil business and left Lansing Friday night.

Canadian Boy Burglars.

Detroit, Nov. 23.—On condition that they return to Canada, Walter Morse and Roy Saunders, alleged boy burglars, were released on their personal recognizance by Judge Chapin this morning.

MURDERED IN SLEEP.

A Shocking Crime in Two Mountains County, Quebec.

AN EPIDEMIC OF CRIME IN QUEBEC

A Man Named Poirier Found With His Throat Cut From Ear to Ear—Lewis, the Missing Real Estate Man, Said to Have Left the Country—Montreal Notes.

Montreal, Nov. 24.—Never, perhaps, have there been so many cases of murder and suicide in this district as during the last four weeks. The latest crime is the murder of one Poirier at St. Canute, in the County of Two Mountains. Mrs. Poirier who resides with her husband a short distance from the village, left early yesterday morning to make some purchases there. On her return she found the door fastened, and becoming alarmed got a neighbor to force an entrance. On the door being opened Isidore Poirier, the husband, was found on the bed with his head almost severed from his body.

The weapon with which the awful deed was committed lay near the door, a huge butcher knife, about a foot and a half long. There was no indication of a struggle, and it was evident that the crime was perpetrated while the man was asleep. Mrs. Poirier was so overcome at the sight that she was unable to give any lucid explanation. It was thought at first that the man had killed himself, but later developments have convinced the authorities that Poirier was done to death.

It is believed that the authorities have a clue to the identity of the murderer, and believe that the crime was the outcome o a drunken frenzy. Poirier was a man well on in years and well thought of in St. Canut. Close to the head of the bed where the body lay was found a flask half filled with whisky. No action will be taken until after the Coroner's inquest, which opened this morning.

General Montreal Notes.

All the energy spent by the press over the Lewis case has apparently been in vain, as it is now stated that the real estate dealer left the country, and that the story of the decoy letter, the marks of a scuffle, and spots of blood, was made out of the whole cloth. Mr. Lewis left Montreal for the States, and is not expected to return for some time.

Some time since Alex. Robillard, Grand Trunk station agent at St. Henri, left his hat and coat on the canal bank and disappeared. The natural conclusion was that he had jumped into the canal. Robillard did not commit suicide, however, but is in Columbus, Ohio, and is, it appears, doing well.

In the St. Liboire murder case yesterday the jury returned a verdict that young Guillimet had killed his uncle, J. B. Laplante, and exonerated Tetrault, whom Guillimet charged with the killing, and the latter was at once discharged.

The United States war vessel, Yantic, has been found in fault by the Trying Committee of the Harbor Board, who have been taking evidence in the case of the Yankee vessel's collision with the Canadian steamer, La Canadienne. The Yantic's pilot has been suspended for six months, and this verdict, of course, opens the way for civil suits against the American ship.

The Montreal Herald seems to be prospering as an evening paper, for it has taken a fine store in the St. Lawrence Hall block for its head business office, in order to do business on the front street like its rivals.

A press despatch reports that at a fire in Laurin's stables this morning, Antidote, a horse valued at $2500, was burned to death, as well as five other horses, carriages, sleighs, etc. The animal quoted at such a high figure came from California and was full brother to the famous racer, Dexter. It had been withdrawn from the turf and was kept for stock purposes. The total loss is placed at $35,000; covered by insurance.

The Intercolonial Railway has purchased one of the mammoth locomotives exhibited by the Baldwin Iron Works at the World's Fair. It is the largest ever used in Canada.

A young lad of 16 years, son of J. A. Denis, hardware merchant, fell from a trapeze at the Mount St. Louis playground, and broke his neck.

A SENSATIONAL SUICIDE.

A Three Rivers Man Shoots Himself in the Quebec Parliamentary Restaurant Dining Room.

Quebec, Nov. 24.—Yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, while the opening of the Parliament was in progress, a fine looking man committed suicide in the restaurant attached to the Parliament House. The man, whose name is Mr. C. L. Spanard, a councillor of Three Rivers, walked into the dining room of the restaurant and took a seat, and as he was in appearance a thorough gentleman, no notice was taken of him until the report of a revolver was heard from the direction in which the man was sitting. Upon the hasty approach of the attendants to the spot Mr. Spanard was found lying on the floor with blood flowing from a ghastly wound just under his right ear, and grasping in his right hand a small 32-calibre revolver. He is supposed to have died instantly. Mr. Spanard accompanied Mr. Normand, member for Three Rivers, to Quebec, and no reason can be advanced by Mr. Normand for the rash deed. He is a man seemingly about 50 years of age and married. He has no family. Mr. Normand states that he has been under the care of the doctors for some two years past. He also states that he is a man of means. When searched a pocket book containing some bank notes and accounts were found, as well as a heavy gold watch and chain. His body was removed to the Morgue shortly before 6 o'clock

BIG FIRE IN STRATFORD.

The City Hall Burned to the Ground—The Public Library a Total Loss—Loss $28,000.

Stratford, Nov. 24.—1.40 a.m.—A most disastrous fire is raging here. The City Hall, right in the centre of the city, is all ablaze. The firemen are unable to stop the progress of the flames and the fire may spread. Loss immense.

Later.—The upper part of the City Hall building was used as an opera house, police court and city offices, while the lower was occupied by the Public Library and reading room, City Treasurer's office, market arcade, the stores of W. R. Marshall & Son, produce dealers; McAuley & Son, butchers; T. B. Johnson, butcher, and the lockup, in which were a couple of tramps, who were gotten out with some difficulty.

The contents of the store were mostly removed in safety, but the rest of the building, including the Public Library, is practically a total loss. A Scotch concert was held last night and a new piano, brought from Toronto for the occasion, together with the one belonging to the hall, were destroyed.

The origin of the fire is not ascertainable at the moment of writing, but it is supposed to have started in the upper part of the building about the stage or dressing rooms. A fresh breeze is blowing, but the building is isolated and the fire will not likely spread.

Loss about $28,000; insurance on city property $9000.

TOM NULTY'S TRIAL.

Father Was the Principal Witness—Little Elicited That is New.

Joliette, Que., Nov. 24.—The preliminary trial in the Nulty murder case was commenced in real earnest yesterday and several witnesses were examined, but nothing new was added to the already well-known story of the tragedy, excepting in that given by the father of the prisoner. Mr. Nulty was the principal witness. His testimony differed from that given by him at the inquest in a couple of particulars. He now thinks that Tom must have been insane when he committed the crime, as he was always fond of his sisters and brother. Another additional piece of evidence was that he (the father) had all along declared that his little son Patrick would fall heir to the farm.

Dr. Hutchison Bailed.

Ingersoll, Nov. 24.—Dr. Duncan H. Hutchison and Augustus Frezell appeared before Police Magistrate Morrison this afternoon, charged with procuring a miscarriage in the case of a woman named Lizzie Deehan. The woman, who is an attendant at the Asylum for the Insane at London, was too unwell to appear, and Chief of Police A. H. Skirving asked for a further remand of one week. The magistrate considered the matter sufficiently grave not to grant bail, but adjourned court for two hours in order to communicate with the London doctors, who stated that the woman was still seriously ill, although they would not go so far as to say dangerously. Ultimately bail was accepted in Dr. Hutchison's case, to appear on the 30th inst., as follows: His father, Donald Hutchison, $3000; William Hoesack, $3000, and himself in $6000. Frezell was unable to procure bail, and was conveyed to Woodstock jail.

CANDIDATES MEET

Nominations for the Commons in Centre Toronto.

ONE-SIDED ORATORICAL BATTLE

Mr. Howland Subjected to a Vigorous Heckling by Electors—Conservative Candidate Flounders Badly—Has Nothing to Say for the N.P. and Has No Acknowledged Leader.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—Two candidates for the honor of representing Centre Toronto in the House of Commons were put in nomination at Victoria Hall yesterday. One was Mr. George H. Bertram, the standard-bearer of the Liberal party, and the other was Mr. Oliver A. Howland, the representative of the Conservatives. It was not in the formalities of the nomination proceedings that the interest lay, but in the subsequent meeting which was held for the purpose of giving the rival candidates an opportunity of presenting their views to the large body of electors present.

Mr. Bertram led off with an effective business argument in favor of his election. He was followed by Mr. Howland, who evidently did not make the speech that he had prepared for the occasion. His effort was extraordinary because of two singular omissions. He had not a word to say about the National Policy, and he avoided even mentioning the name of his leader, Sir Charles Tupper. It is only fair to say, however, that he spoke under difficulties, as he was subjected to a "heckling" that would have disconcerted a more experienced public man than Mr. Howland can pretend to be.

Mr. Howland's speech gave those inclined to see the point where a "heckle" could come in good opportunities, and they took advantage of them. The speech was an insinuation throughout and a virtuous posing that was ludicrous in view of the Tory party's record.

There was a great uproar when Mr. Bertram undertook to reply to Mr. Howland. Mr. Bertram managed to get in a few effective comments on the effort of his opponent. He said, as far as could be heard, that this is the "first time that I ever heard a political speech made by a Conservative candidate who had not a single word to say about the National Policy.

"I would like to ask this audience one question: Who is the leader of the Tory party to-day? (Cries of Tupper.) Mr. Howland took good care never to mention his leader's name. (Cheers.) A man who will not stand by his leader is not fit to be the representative of this constituency. Mr. Foster is not the leader; Sir Charles Tupper is the leader, and his name was not mentioned. I will let the electors judge between Mr. Howland and myself."

At this point the disturbance was so great that Mr. Bertram could not proceed.

Ministers in Toronto.

Sir Louis Davies, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Hon. William Mulock, and Hon. William Paterson, Controller of Customs, will be among the speakers at the great Liberal mass meeting which will be held in Massey Hall on Friday night in the interest of Mr. Bertram's candidature. Mr. Bertram himself speaks nightly.

Reception to Hon. David Mills.

Chatham, Nov. 24.—Hon. David Mills, who was sworn in as Minister of Justice last week, is now receiving the congratulations of his friends in this district. Hon. Mr. Mills is a native of Kent, and has always held a warm place in the hearts of the Liberals of this county, who admire him for his qualities as a citizen and a statesman, and they have arranged to tender a reception to the new Minister. The gathering will take place at Ridgetown to-night. The notice is short, but there will be a splendid turn-out to greet Mr. Mills.

Quebec Legislature Opens.

Quebec, Nov. 24.—The speech from the throne at the opening of the Quebec Legislature yesterday afternoon dealt with various matters. The most important announcement was that a new educational law would be introduced. It contains important changes in the old law, without other innovations, however, than those necessitated by the requirements of the hour. It also provides for the creation of a ministry of public instruction. The new Government, as usual, will start work by floating a loan.

Municipal roads are to be improved and manufacturers encouraged. Legislation will be brought down to extend the area of the province by 65,490,950 acres of land.

Jules Tessier, M.P. for Port Neuf County, was elected Speaker of the House.

Mr. Harvey Chosen by E. Simcoe Liberals.

Orillia, Ont., Nov. 24.—A large and representative gathering of Liberals from all over the riding took place here yesterday. Fourteen names were put in nomination. All retired except Messrs. Harvey, McLean and Ross. Mr. Harvey was chosen on the first ballot, and on motion of Dr. McLean the nomination was made unanimous.

The Cawthra-Murray Will.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—The will of the late Mrs. Cawthra-Murray disposes of an estate of about $4,000,000. As currently reported, the great bulk of it is left to be invested for Cawthra Mulock, a lad about fifteen, the second son of the Postmaster-General. When he becomes of age the money is to be paid over to him, when the aggregate will probably be several millions more. Until he reaches his majority he is to be paid 10 per cent. of the interest it earns each year.

In connection with this will it is of interest to note the share that falls into the Provincial Treasurey under the Succession Duties Act. According to this law 10 per cent. of the total goes to the province where the amount left is over $100,000 and does not go to immediate relatives. On this basis Ontario will receive in the neighborhood of $400,000.

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a Newmarket Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—How Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh." W. H. FURNER.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

It may be doubted if gratitude to order—by act of parliament or order-in-council meets all the conditions of soul necessary to give a genuine service of praise for the countless benefits to the Giver of all good. The Governor-General has set apart tomorrow as a day of thanksgiving, but this formal act leaves every body free to observe it as he lists. While the exhibition of gratitude is a personal duty it is well for the state to set the example, and it rests with us individually whether or not we shall offer acceptable praise.

We have much to be grateful for in this favoured land of Canada. We have been blessed with a bountiful harvest, and with it are all the blessings that peace and prosperity bring in their train. This year we have celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty the Queen, especial reason apart from other blessings for gratitude. This Dominion has been especially honoured through its greatest son at the Jubilee festivities; the bonds that unite us to the mother land have been drawn closer than ever before, and all things have conspired to make our future one of gratifying growth and greatness.

A newspaper column is not the place to write volumes and it would take volumes to tell what Canada has to be thankful for; but one especially demands our gratitude to-morrow, the widespread blessing of a bountiful harvest. We should all recognize the source from which all these blessings come and there is no better place than His own house to offer our tribute of praise and thanksgiving to the bountiful Hand that feeds alike the sparrow on its leafless sprig and Dives in his sumptuous banquetting hall.

We plough the seed and scatter
The good seed on the land,
But it is fed and watered
By God's almighty hand.
He sends the snow in winter,
The warmth to swell the grain,
The breezes and the sunshine,
The soft refreshing rain,
All good gifts around us
Are sent from Heaven above,
Then thank the Lord, O, thank the Lord,
For all His love.

WHERE IT APPLIES.

Our evening contemporary, the Review, yesterday devoted a column to an attempt at explaining a paragraph that appeared in the EXAMINER on Monday, in which was quoted Mr. Whitney's remarks at Norwood, applying them in a general way to Provincial politics. The extract from Mr. Whitney's speech which was commented upon was one of the few utterances of that gentleman which the EXAMINER is able to endorse. It is worth repeating. Mr. Whitney said at Norwood that "there was no necessity of drawing party lines so closely in the Provincial as in the Dominion elections." The application of the remarks by the EXAMINER was purely general, and would apply to any candidate, Conservative or Liberal, that might be brought into the field, and as at present there are no candidates, the application can only be made to such as may in future be brought into the field. What the electors most require as a provincial representative is the man best qualified, best able and best disposed to look after the interests of the constituency. If he is of their own political faith so much the better for them, but the elector, with the interests of the riding and province at heart, will, and may, without sacrifice of the general principles of loyalty to his party, give his preference to the candidate possessing the above qualifications, whether he be Conservative or Liberal. When such a candidate is brought out by either party, he will be well deserving of the hearty support of the electors. Our contemporary must not judge the electors by its own unbending party standard. There are hundreds of electors who will vote for what, to them, seems best for the constituency, independently of party consideration. That principle of exercising the franchise is what will, on Tuesday next, elect the Liberal Mr. Bertram, over the Conservative Mr. Howland, in Conservative Centre Toronto.

THE DISFRANCHISE ACT.

The Toronto Evening News has been for years a zealous apologist, if not advocate, for the iniquitious Dominion Franchise Act, which was passed, against the strongest Liberal protest, by the Conservative government. But the News has now this to say of its features, which entitle it to the name of Disfranchise Act. Speaking of the contest in Centre Toronto the News says:—

The contest cannot be a true verdict of all the citizens resident in Centre Toronto because the lists to be used have not been revised since December, 1894. If any man has come to live in Toronto in the past three years it is hopeless for him to look for a vote. He does not possess that right. Moreover a large number of people on the voter's lists have left the city and the barrel of Liberal money that is being opened in Centre Toronto will tell in the number of outside voters brought into the city on election day. The polling place at which every man will vote will be that which covers his place of residence in the summer of 1894. Every man, Grit or Tory, should go to the central committee rooms and find out where he is to cast his ballot before election day.

The freedom of the franchise is the very base of our liberty and an Act that disfranchises a large proportion of the electorate and imposes the task upon the elector of repeating the battle for political freedom that has been fought in the past, by his frantic endeavours to see that his name is on the list, should be wiped off the statute book, as it doubtless will be at the next session of the Dominion Parliament.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A hot fight is being waged for the honour of representing Centre Toronto. No wonder. It is the hub of the hub of Ontario.

CENTRE TORONTO is asked to choose between work and wind; between a practical statesman and an academic theorizer.

THE Ontario Opposition not only come before the people with a pig policy, but according to Hon. G. W. Ross, with a pig-in-a-poke policy.

IF the Toronto syndicate which proposes acquiring all the smaller electric light and gas companies throughout the province unhappily succeeds, it will be no light affliction, but on the other hand a dark look out. Monopoly prices for bad light will not be a good thing to look forward to.

CURING DYSPEPSIA

In Simplicity Itself When Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are Used.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets don't cause feverish over-stimulation of the digestive organs. Their effect is to strengthen and re-invigorate the stomach, while they are digesting the food.

In effect, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets say to the worn-out, exhausted stomach:—"You take a day off. Let me do your work for a while: you just take it easy, and rest." Then they go to work, and the effect is marvellous.

The food is digested, dyspepsia disappears, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, etc., vanish. The stomach grows strong, healthy, vigorous, able to digest any food supplied to it. The blood becomes pure, the nerves that were shattered by indigestion or dyspepsia become steady and healthy, and the irritable, fault finding man or woman becomes pleasant, genial and sunny-natured. All because he or she used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the smaller tablets that are in every box.

The manner in which these changes are made is simplicity itself. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act in place of the stomach till the stomach regains its strength. At the same time they tone it up and nourish it.

Try the treatment yourself. Give your stomach a holiday. Give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a chance. They'll positively do the work.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, for stomach and bowels, are for sale by all druggists or will be sent on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Blaze at Newcastle.

Newcastle, Nov. 24.—Last evening about 8.40 the frame house belonging to Mr. J. H. Pool, contractor, King street, was discovered to be on fire. It started from some mysterious cause in the upper storey and spread rapidly. The citizens, with the old hand engine, saved the old Foster Hotel, a large frame structure opposite. The bulk of contents, uninsured, were saved. The building was insured in the Royal for $1200.

Toronto Sailor Drowned.

THE OTTAWA CABINET

Discusses the United States Sealing Proposals for Three and One-Half Hours—Other Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—There was a Cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon lasting three and a half hours. The principal subject discussed was the proposal from Washington to suspend pelagic sealing and the killing of seals on Pribyloff Island for one year, beginning January 1 next. Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Sifton and Dr. Borden were the absentees. The matter was not disposed of.

There was a lively fight over the corpse of J. H. Provost, who died suddenly in Water street Hospital, between the Misses Provost of Hull, sisters of the deceased, and the young widow, who wished the funeral to take place from her father's house. The sisters won, as the bereaved Mrs. Provost was taken so severely sick with grief that she was unable to continue the struggle. The Provost family have laid claim to the deceased's personal effects, and, as Mr. Goyotte, Mrs. Provost's father, refuses to give them up, there is more trouble in prospect.

Bread in Ottawa will remain at its present price for some time. A meeting of the bakers was held last night and the above decision was arrived at.

Two young lads, about 11 years of age, sons of Napoleon Clothier and James Kearns of St. Andrew street, were drowned in the Rideau River last evening while attempting to skate on thin ice.

Hon. Sydney Fisher has purchased a number of milch cows in the Huntingdon district for the Nappan farm, and, being tested, all of them were found to be free of tuberculosis.

Killed on the O. A. & P. S. Railway.

Arnprior, Nov. 24.—John Anderson, a resident of Fitzroy Harbor, was struck by the O. A. & P. S. express at Mackey's Crossing, Arnprior, yesterday morning and instantly killed. Anderson was deaf and dumb, and was walking along the track when the train struck him. It is supposed he did not notice the train's approach.

Grey's Big Peat Deposit.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—A series of very interesting experiments have been conducted by the experts under direction of the Bureau of Mines. Samples of a substance resembling peat were sent in from the Blue Hills in Grey County, and upon these the experiments were made. The substance was found to give results as good as peat for fuel purposes.

Methodist Church Burned.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 24.—The Central Methodist Church was gutted by fire yesterday afternoon. The damage to the building amounts to about $6000 and an organ worth $3000 was destroyed. The loss on the building is covered by insurance.

BRUCHESI IN ROME.

His Holiness Writes a Letter to The Archbishop.

POPE AND CANADA'S SCHOOLS.

The Recent Decline in British Exports the Subject of a Serious Warning From the President of the Board of Trade—The Campaign in India—Other Cable News.

Rome, Nov. 24.—Mgr. Paul Napoleon Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, who is residing at the Canadian College during his stay at this city, pending the result of his mission in behalf of the right of Roman Catholics to Separate Schools in Manitoba, received yesterday a letter from His Holiness the Pope, in reply to a report Mgr. Bruchesi has made as to the demonstration of 40 journalists at Montreal, when he started for Rome.

The Pope emphasizes the importance of the demonstration as a new feature, for the journalists took part in it without distinction of language or religion. He points out also how important is the aid a sympathetic press can give the cause of order and tranquility, and he reviews the expression of his "keenest interest in Canada," and of his desire that she may enjoy "all the benefits of concord." The reply of His Holiness concludes by an exhortation to the Catholics of Canada warmly to second the efforts of their bishops.

Bishop Emard at Rome.

Rome, Nov. 24.—The Right Rev. Joseph M. Emard, Bishop of Valleyfield, Province of Quebec, has arrived at the Canadian College here.

(Montreal Star Cable.)—The delay in the publication of the text of the Pope's decision in the Manitoba school question seems to be only explicable on the assumption that the summary cabled to The Star led to suggestions from Canada to Rome for a different method of expressing the Papal will. Mgr. Paul Bruchesi of Montreal has had special conferences with the pope in the last few days. That The Star's statement accurately outlined the Pope's decision seems beyond doubt. I may say it was based on authority so high that it is hardly possible there could be a mistake.

DECLINE IN BRITISH EXPORTS.

Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie, President of the Board of Trade, Utters a Serious Note of Warning.

London, Nov. 24.—The Right Hon. Charles T. Ritchie, President of the Board of Trade, made an important speech before the Chamber of Commerce of Croydon yesterday, taking as his theme "The Decline of British Exports During the Last Ten Months," upon which he hung a grave warning against American competition, now "ousting British trade."

Mr. Ritchie, after declaring that the Dingley tariff and the engineering trade dispute were mainly responsible for the recent decline of exports, and after pointing out that England had no weapons against the tariff, said there was a great deal of talk in commercial circles about the serious competition of Germany, but he thought they were too apt to overlook a much more serious competitor, the United States.

"The facts are serious," he continued, "and call upon us for the exercise of all our powers to enable us to maintain our position in the commercial world. There is no doubt the United States are executing orders which ought to be executed here. As we all know, an American firm obtained the contract for the Central Underground Railway of London, as its bid was lower than those of the English concerns, and it could deliver the supplies three months ahead of the British tenderers. Many important continental orders have gone to America.

"The same is to be said of Egypt and Japan, where the Americans are doing work that Englishmen should have done. In consequence of the engineering dispute many orders are leaving the country, and, unfortunately, these orders seldom return.

"America's successful competition is due to her enterprise in embarking capital, but it is yet more due to the freedom her manufacturers enjoy of employing the best machinery and working it in the most economical manner, untrammeled by the restrictions which have hampered manufacturers here. Everyone having his country's interest at heart must hope that to-morrow's conference will lead to a settlement of the unfortunate engineering dispute."

On a Mud Foundation.

Lisbon, Nov. 24.—A big masonry wharf, having a frontage of 300 meters on the river Tagus, opposite the Custom House, suddenly subsided this morning and completely disappeared in the river bed. An official examination has disclosed the fact that the wharf, which was recently constructed at a cost of £50,000, rested on mud. Soundings to the depth of 26 metres revealed no solid foundation. Fortunately no one was hurt in the collapse.

Cold Day for Weyler.

Barcelona, Nov. 24.—The Spanish steamer Montserrat, with General Weyler on board, arrived here yesterday, and the former Captain-General of Cuba immediately disembarked. The demonstration in his honor, which had been agitated by the friends of the General for some days past, did not assume the proportions anticipated, and as he traversed the streets the public appeared to be indifferent.

Advanced Three Miles and Lost Ten Men.

Simla, Nov. 24.—General Sir William Lockhart, with the Fourth Brigade of the British Punitive Expedition, operating against the insurgent tribesmen, has reached Datoi, after having traversed three miles of dangerous defiles. Luckily, few of the enemy were encountered. The British loss amounted to only 10 men.

Diplomatically, if Possible.

London, Nov. 24.—According to a special depatch from Berlin, received here, the German Government considers the land occupied by the forces of Germany at Kiao Chau Bay, Shan-Tun Peninsula, China, to be insufficient for a naval station, and proposes to enlarge its holdings there, diplomatically, if possible.

THE PRINCE FLED.

Slave Raiding Prince of Idau Taught a Lesson by a British Force.

Brass, Guinea coast, Nov. 24.—The column of troops commanded by Major Arnold, consisting of 180 men, belonging to the Niger constabulary, with field guns and maxim guns, which was sent to subdue the slave raiding Prince of Idau, who was entrenched in a place four days' march from the river, and who for a month previous to the departure of the troops had been raiding the Akpoto tribes for 60 miles around his headquarters, landed at Etobe on Nov. 14, and marched direct to the prince's stronghold. The latter was defended by 400 guns and 100 rifles. There was a hot engagement in front of the town. The Houssas of the British force charged up to the eight foot walls surrounding the place and completely routed the defenders. The prince fled to the bush and the town was burned and evacuated on Nov. 18. The enemy lost heavily. The British force had two men killed and twelve men wounded.

Lieut. Jones Was Killed.

London, Nov. 24.—According to a despatch to The Times from Bagh, a town of Beloochistan, Province of Cutch-Gundava, at the south entrance of the Bolan Pass, Lieut. Jones of the Yorkshire Regiment was killed, and Lieut. Watson of the same regiment was severely wounded during the operation near Datoi under Sir William Lockhart.

The British Artillery Team.

Two Men Lost Their Lives.

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 23.—A terrible accident occurred shortly before 3 p.m. yesterday by which two men lost their lives and a number more received slight injuries. Two 250 horse power boilers exploded in a one-storey brick building at the corner of Jones and Centre streets, from which power is furnished to operate three big commercial blocks. Robert Henry, a fireman, and Robert Starr, a boiler inspector, were killed.

A Traitor Hanged.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 23.—Passengers on the steamer Mascotte, which arrived in Tampa yesterday afternoon report that Angel Paz, who betrayed General Castillo to the Spaniards for $5000, was captured by the insurgents on his way to Cienfuegos, court martialled on a drum-head and hung.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 23—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conquerer of kidney and liver disease.

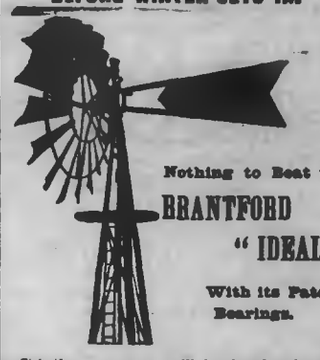
BEFORE WINTER SETS IN.



Nothing to Beat the

BRANTFORD "IDEAL"

With its Patent Bearings.

It is the only power mill having bearings on both sides of every gear wheel. This divides the strain on the bearings, and prevents the prying motion which soon wears out the ordinary single rabbit metal bearing. The wheels and vanes are also galvanized after being put together, which adds greatly to the permanence and to the value of the outfit. These powerful machines are fitted with interchangeable brass or patent roller and ball-bearings, enclosed and fully protected from the weather. The band brake of this mill will positively hold the wheel still when turned out of the wind. Those who have had a wheel constantly in movement, when it should not run, will particulary appreciate this feature, because if it continues to run it will keep just little enough water in the pump to allow it to freeze in cold weather. The "Ideal" is safe in a storm and will stop itself. There is no fear of it running wild in a big blow.

It is being rapidly appreciated by wide-awake farmers, and many of them may now be seen on the farms of this and adjoining counties. Mr. Thos. R. Mann, Bridgenorth; Huton Bros., Springville; Geo. Cambell, ex-M. P., Cavan; Geo Russel, Douro; W. M. Reid, Otonabee; Levi S. Bowels, Springville; W. Leahy, Otonabee; Geo. Webber, North Monaghan, are among the leading farmers who have one of these labour-saving wind-mills. New mills are being erected every week. It will run a cutting box, our grain grinder, root pulper, saw, lathe, etc., and pumps oceans of water.

C. C. Leavens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to bess much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

THAT ILLICIT STILT.

The Case Again Enlarged for Another Week—Two More Charges.

Although the case against Michael Conway was dismissed as concerning the information which charged him with allowing an illicit still to be operated on his premises, yet Mr. E. B. Edwards had a couple of more informations charging him with complicity in other ways, and the defendant appeared before the magistrate again yesterday afternoon in consequence.

Acting under instructions from the Department, Mr. Edwards has appealed against the first decision and yesterday he asked the magistrate to have the case, as regards the two later informations, enlarged for four weeks, until after the sessions on Dec. 14th, in order that the result of the appeal might be known. He also stated that it had been impossible to learn the whereabouts of the defendant, Fobert.

Mr. D. O'Connel, counsel for the prisoner, objected strenuously to this, characterizing it as persecution and not prosecution, to hold these charges over the defendant's head, in order that if the appeal fell to the ground, they might be proceeded with. He pointed out that his client was being put to great expense in bringing in his witnesses time and again, only to find the case enlarged until another date.

The magistrate decided to grant an enlargement for one week, deciding not to allow the two informations to lay over until after the appeal had been decided.

Over an hour was spent in argument before this conclusion was reached.

MARTIN COSTELLO ARRIVES

To Spend the Winter in With his Trainer in Peterborough.

There was a flutter of excitement in sporting circles yesterday when "Buffalo" Costello and his trainer, J. J. O'Connor, arrived in town to take up their quarters here for the winter and prepare for the former's match against "Shadow" Maber.

Whilst engaged in training for the match the two will conduct a sparring academy and it is expected that a large class will be formed in Peterborough.

Quarters have been taken up at the Oriental Hotel and as both men are well known by reputation they will doubtless be well received by the citizens, when they appear at the lacrosse club smoker in the opera house a week from Monday. On that occasion Costello is to spar a well-known local heavy-weight and O'Connor is to go up against Jame White, of Detroit, in a punching bag contest on a side bet of fifty dollars, the forfeit money having been already placed in the hands of the lacrosse club.

Saturday's issue of the Montreal Herald says:

J. J. O'Connor asks the Herald to challenge on his behalf anyone in Canada for any amount up to five hundred dollars. The time and place will be decided upon when articles are signed; there to be three judges. Answers to this challenge can be forwarded to the sporting editor of the Herald, and Mr. O'Connor is ready to deposit his money and sign articles in this office at any time. He is anxious for an immediate reply, as he leaves the city on Tuesday and will be away for a week. He is ready to go into the contest at any time.

There are several expert bag-punchers in the city, and O'Connor should have no difficulty in arranging a match.

Tuesday next O'Connor and "Buffalo" Costello leave for Peterborough, where on the following Monday they take part in a smoking concert. The former will give an exhibition of punching the bag, and the latter will have a boxing bout with a Peterborough expert.

On Monday O'Connor's challenge was accepted, and the forfeit money sent to the secretary of the Lacrosse club, so that the Peterborough public will have a chance of seeing the best punching bag contest which has been brought off in Canada for many years.

LAST NIGHTS ASSEMBLY.

It Passed off Most Successfully and was well Attended.

A very pleasant social hop was held last evening in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street. The committee in charge was composed of Messrs. Will H. Armstrong, Fred McFadden and Reg. H. Turner, and great credit is due them, as the affair was one of the most successful of its nature ever held in Peterborough. There were probably over a hundred guests present, and the pretty toilettes of the ladies made the scene an attractive one.

The music was above criticism, and as the floor was waxed to a polish, the evening passed very pleasantly to those who participated in the dancing. The lodge room, as well as the large adjunct, was thrown open to the guests, and around the former were scattered a number of card tables, which were well patronized.

Caterer Welsh served an excellent supper during the evening.

THE WADDELL—VAIR NUPTIALS.

The Marriage of Miss Elizabeth Vair and Mr. Robt. W. Waddell.

"Happy is the bride the sun shines on."

One of the most notable social events of the decade in Peterborough was the wedding that took place in St. Paul's church this afternoon, when Robert W. Waddell, C.E., second son of Mr. Sheriff Waddell, of Cobourg, was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Vair, daughter of the late George Vair, of Belleville, and niece of Mrs. R. E. Wood. The ceremony took place at 1.30. It was a chrysanthemum wedding, and, of course, the floral decorations of the church were in keeping with this character. St. Paul's was beautifully decorated for the event. The front of the pulpit was banked and concealed by beautiful masses of chrysanthemums, ferns and palms, and the space allotted to the guests, as well as each side of the central aisle, were screened off by white silk ribbon. The ushers were Mr. G. M. Roger and Mr. W. W. Johnston.

The full choir, of which Miss Vair had been the leading member for several years and the most accomplished soloist, was present and the young ladies were attired in white, presenting a very pretty background to the wedding ceremony. The decoration of the church was done under the supervision of Mrs. R. D. Hamilton and Miss Brown.

The beautiful floral folding gates, thrown across the central aisle to separate the space devoted to the invited guests from the main auditorium, were guarded by two pretty little girls, dressed in white, Miss Lilian Dean and Miss Gertrude McClellan, who, as each guest arrived, swung ajar the floral portals and admitted them to their places. While the guests were taking their seats the organ played the wedding march from Lohengrin and the notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march pealing forth were the signal of the bride, who had passed up the crimson carpet leading from the carriage to the church doors, entering the church. Preceded by her maid of honour Miss Roper, and escorted by Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, the bride advanced to the altar and as she passed down the aisle she was the centre of interest and the cynosure of the eyes of the occupants of the crowded church, which her popularity and the very high esteem in which she is held, had attracted. She was attired in ivory duchesse satin, the skirt perfectly plain. The waist was trimmed with white chiffon. She wore the bridal veil, orange blossoms and white heather, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses with tiny sprays of white carnations and lily of the valley. Her only ornament was a magnificent bracelet set with diamonds and opals, the gift of the groom. The maid of honour, Miss Roper, wore a dress of buttercup silk veiled, with white chiffon and picture hat of white chiffon. Mrs. Wood (au lieu de mere), who was escorted by Judge Weller, was gowned in black satin, veiled in chiffon and hat mode de Paris of amethyst amazone silk, with chiffon and wings. At the altar the bride was met by the bridegroom, who was attended by Mr. W. J. White of Montreal, son of Mr. Richard White of the Gazette. Previous to the ceremony the choir sang two stanzas of the wedding hymn:

The voice that breathed o'er Eden,
That earliest wedding day,
The primal marriage blessing,
It hath not passed away.

The solemn ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, Mr. Wood, in loco parentis, giving the bride away, and at its conclusion, as the bridal party retired to the vestry, the remaining stanzas of the hymn were sung, and as they retired and passed up the aisle to the carriages, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was again heard. Flowers were showered on the bride, and, while the bright sunshine streamed through the stained glass of the windows, the one thought, united to the one wish, of all was, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on."

The party then repaired to the residence of Mr. Wood, which had been beautifully decorated for the event. The door arches were swathed in evergreen entwined with smilax and starred with the snowy bloom of the chrysanthemum, and the stair balustrades were treated in a similar manner. The fireplaces were banked with chrysanthemums, palms and ferns, and everywhere the multiform chrysanthemum was tastefully and profusely in evidence. The windows were darkened and the electric light shone over a delightful scene of seemly festivity. After the wedding breakfast, for which Harry Webb, of Toronto, was caterer, the guests being seated at small tables, the reception took place, Mr. and Mrs. Waddell receiving in front of a bank of flowers in the drawing room. There were present between forty and fifty guests amongst whom were: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hatton, Judge and Mrs. Weller and Mrs. Dean, the Misses Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. Fortye, Mr. H. M. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Smith, Port Hope; Dr. and Mrs. Fairbanks, Cobourg; Dr. and Mrs. Norman Walker, Niagara-on-the-Lake; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Edwards, Toronto; Mrs. Mack, Mrs. Perks, Mr. and Miss Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Lowndes, Mrs. Hatton, the Misses Roger, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, Miss Brown, Mr. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. Ranney, Mrs. Charles Ranney, Mr. Clurton, Mr. and Miss Lundy, Mr. and Mrs. Graham, Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carlon, Toronto; Miss Burnett and Mrs. Fairbairn, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Chicago; Miss Gilmour, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Waddell, Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Howes, New York; Mr. Mrs. and the Misses Waddell, San Diego, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Hawkes, San Diego, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Elias Vair, Waterloo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Delong, Kingsville, Ont.

The bridal pair left directly for Kansas City, where Mr. Waddell is professionally engaged and where they will reside. The bride's going away dress was cadet blue covert cloth, handsomely trimmed with black braid and braid ornaments, hat to match of velvet chenille and jet wings, and Russian coat of same material.

In the marriage and consequent departure of Miss Vair the town loses one of its most estimable ladies, whose modest and unassuming demeanour, covered the most commendable qualities of heart and character, which have placed her high in the estimation of not only her own social set, but of all who have come in contact with her. Her loss will be especially felt in musical circles. She is a vocalist of unusual merit, with a well-cultured voice, which has been long used, not only in the service of praise in St. Paul's choir, of which she has been a member, but in social circles and in concerts, in the interest of worthy objects, where it has seldom been equalled by visiting professionals. She will be a decided acquisition to the musical circles of the city, which will hereafter be favoured with her as a resident.

Mr. Waddell is a gentleman who also possesses, to a very high degree, all the qualities of character desirable in a model husband; he occupies a foremost place in his profession, and there is every reason for expecting a literal realization of the cordial good wishes for a life of wedded happiness that follow Mr. and Mrs. Waddell to their home in Kansas City, Missouri.

BIGAMY CASE DISMISSED.

Henry Truesdale Was Not Guilty of Having Two Wives at the Same Time.

The charge of bigamy which was preferred against Henry Truesdale, of Ashburnham, through his stating at an assault case trial recently that Anna Thurston was his wife, was dismissed yesterday, and the prisoner discharged.

The Crown was represented by Mr. R.E. Wood, and Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the prisoner.

The preliminary hearing was conducted in the county police court before Magistrate Edmison.

Jas. N. Terrill, of the township of Crahme, formerly of Belmont, stated that he had known the prisoner for about fourteen years. He first met him in Campbellford. Prisoner was married in witness' house at Blairton. The marriage certificate was here produced, and the witness identified his signature on it as having been signed on March 12th, 1884. The certificate was also signed by witness' wife, and Rev. Charles Mearing. The other contracting party in the wedding was Margaret Thompson, a sister of the witness' wife. She was present in the court. After the marriage they went to Campbellford to reside. He afterwards was at their home several times in different years. Afterwards the two moved to Blairton, and from there went to Havelock. Witness also visited them in Havelock. The Truesdales then moved to near Campbellford, later on taking up their residence in that village. When he visited them again in Campbellford the prisoner's wife was living alone with her three children, the prisoner having left her.

Cross examined by Mr. Stratton, the witness stated that Truesdale had told him that he intended leaving his wife. He declined to go into the matter of whether Mrs. Truesdale had been delivered of a daughter out of wedlock. Prisoner had not told him that he was leaving on account of the misconduct of this daughter.

The Crown here objected to the nature of the cross-examination, which the counsel for the prisoner stated he was conducting in this wise in order that the court might understand that Truesdale had been driven from his home by the people who were now endeavouring to prosecute him.

The evidence of the last witness was coroborated by his wife. Truesdale and his wife had lived together since their marriage until two or three years ago when the prisoner had left his wife at Campbellford.

Anna Thurston, who was alleged to be the second wife of the prisoner, was then called. She stated she lived in Ashburnham with the prisoner. She first had met him in Chandos a couple of years ago. She was present at the hearing in the assault case, before the magistrate, of Truesdale vs. Hubble recently. Henry Truesdale had given evidence at the trial. He had sworn that witness was his wife. She also was a witness in that trial. She had also said she was prisoner's wife. She had never been married to him. No marriage ceremony was ever performed between them. She was married to J. L. Thurston and lived with him for seventeen years, until his death about ten years ago. She had never gone through any ceremony with Truesdale before a clergyman, magistrate or any other person. She had called herself his wife on account of living with him so long.

In consequence of the testimony of the last witness the Crown withdrew the case and Truesdale was discharged.

MAKING ROOM FOR CHRISTMAS THINGS.

Just a month from to-day will be Christmas Day—a day strong in the hearts of the people of the country as well as of the town. What splendid shape we soon will be in for Christmas shoppers, when our marvellous display of Holiday Goods is placed on exhibition!

But for another week we must keep on contriving to make more room for Santa Claus' stocks. What a time we have had, selling at any price to clear off the counters and shelves for the new things to come. For another week we must keep it up—this selling at any price—and the money saving chances we have to offer ought to bring the farmers in from the cross-roads and back concessions of the whole country. LOOK AT YOUNG'S POINT.

A Fine New Pier and Breakwater has Just Been Erected.

YOUNG'S POINT, Nov. 24th.—It is with great promptness the Ontario Government looks after our locks here when repairs are needed. Mr. Thos. Walters, superintendent, Lindsay, has had a number of men employed, under the foremanship of Mr. Geo. Delury, building a new pier and breakwater on the east side of the entrance below the locks. The new pier, which is completed, is 150 feet long and 12 feet wide, built of 10 x 12 timber placed close together and filled with stone and covered with fine gravel on top, making an excellent wharf and greatly improving the accommodation for boats and steamers landing passengers and freight as well as improving the appearance of the locks.

The old pier that stood where the new one is built was built of round logs and the timbers were very much decayed, being there since the lock was built in 1870. Mr. Delury, the foreman in charge, is a practical and competent man, and he and his employees have completed the work in a very satisfactory manner. We hope that in the near future the cribbing will be done on the canal above the lock, as it is very much needed to prevent the banks from caving in.

REASONS GIVEN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I see there is an exciting election on in Centre Toronto. While I am a supporter of the present Dominion Government, I feel it will be for the best interests of the Dominion that Mr. Howland succeed in beating Mr. Bertram. I know Mr. Bertram; he is a worker, and his motto is Toronto first, last and all the time. Toronto has no end of wants, and has never been backward in asking all kinds of favours. If Mr. Howland is elected the city will have less claim on the Government, and outside towns will be able to get favours which they deserve. Let us hope Toronto will for once place herself outside, and remain there for the next five years.

The Government's majority is large enough, and it will be a relief not to have deputation after deputation waiting on them from Toronto.

Yours truly,
"GRIT."

Peterborough, Nov. 23rd.

MORA AT THE GRAND.

Greeted by an Immense Audience, and Makes a Great Impression.

Mora made a great hit at the Grand Opera House last night. If she fails to hold throughout the week, the fault will hardly exist in her or in her repertoire of comedies. In "Pretty Pell" she took a six-fold character, representing each with truenese. The was supported by a strong company.

The Mora company is composed of clever players. Between acts their specialties are a great attraction. Good singing, clever dancing, and, before the last act, several amusing scenes are thrown on the canvas by Edison's latest invention, the projectoscope. Mora brings her own excellent orchestra.—Kingston Whig. Bradburn's Opera House, week, Nov. 29th.

Thanksgiving Dinner.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street church will give their annual thanksgiving Day dinner on Thursday evening, Nov. 25th. Dinner served from 6 to 8, to be followed by an excellent programme, to which Rev. Mr. Crossley, the evangelist, and Miss Lola Ostrom will contribute. Chair to be taken by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P. Admission 25c.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

An Evening with some of the Poets and Dramatists—Mr. J. Jeffries, B. A., Reads a Paper on "Cymbeline."

That the Fortnightly Club has grown into a flourishing institution and is awakening wide-spread interest amongst the citizens, was evidenced by the large and cultured audience which assembled in the Y.M.C.A. Hall last evening, there being fully two hundred present.

The evening's programme was opened by the recitation of Tennyson's "Song of the Brook," by Miss Alma McCollum, whose elocutionary powers invested the selection with additional beauty. Miss Helen Denistoun then gave a rendition of the same number set to music, which was also fully appreciated.

Mr. J. Jeffries, B. A., was then called upon for his paper on Shakspere's "Cymbeline," which gave a clear concise synopsis of the play and unfolded the complications of the plot in a very perfect manner. The characters were carefully analyzed, compared and contrasted and the whole subject was so treated as to merit the warm approval of the audience and of the special speakers appointed to discuss the subject.

Mr. F. D. Kerr in a neat speech gave an account of the drama of the middle ages, referring to the Mysteries and Moralities which preceded the dramas of Shakspere and others, and pointed to the Oberammergau as a survial of the latter. He then compared several of the female characters which Shakspere has drawn, paying particular attention to Imogen, the heroine of the evening and awarding the palm to Cordelia.

Mr. McCaig followed in an address which sparkled with epigram and humour. His comparisons were very apt and he pointed out that Shakspere drew characters of men and women so that in our experience we find the counterpart of every character delineated by his master hand.

The last speaker was Sheriff Hall, who gave a short but incisive and humourous address, supported by quotations from the play, from Ruskin and Tennyson. He humourously referred to the opinion that Shakspere's women are heroines, while his men are not heroes, because Shakspere knew men thoroughly, but was unacquainted with woman.

At the conclusion of the meeting a large number of new members were enrolled, and there are now 122 members for the season.

The next meeting is called for Tuesday, December 14th, when Miss Spence will read a paper on "Victor Hugo."

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Refuge Home Contributions—Generous Donations Towards the Fund.

The secretary of the Children's Aid Society to-day received the following letter from Mr. J. J. McBain, of the Advisory Board:

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 19th, 1897.

Miss Clarke, Secretary of the Children's Aid and Protective Society, Peterborough:

DEAR MADAM:—I am personally aware of the fact that our Children's Aid Society is need of funds to carry on the work and to furnish and equip the home which we are about to open up for the care and protection of children and other unfortunate ones requiring the aid and protection of our society. This home we are anxious to put in working order as soon as possible. We have been badly in need of it for some time. In view of the above facts I enclose you my cheque for $10 to assist the management of the society in the noble work of God and humanity. I have also appealed to a few of my friends on behalf of the society and Mr. George Webber has kindly handed me a cheque for $10; Mr. John Nugent, druggist, for $5; also Mr. J. R. Stratton, for $5. All of these gentlemen are in sympathy with the work and management of our society and I am sure there are many others who, without doubt, would give us their support if they were made acquainted with the object and work of the Society.

Yours respectfully,
J. J. MCBAIN.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. J. R. Burgis, of Lakefield, a Victim of Heart Disease.

Mr. J. Reginald Burgis, son of Councillor C. J. Burgis, was at work at Reeve Lillicrap's on Tuesday morning, about 8 o'clock, when without any warning he fell forward into a corner, as if in a faint, and severely bruised his temples.

Mrs. Lillicrap, who was present, brought restoratives and sent in next door for Dr. J. R. Fraser, but when he arrived death had already claimed its victim, heart disease being the cause.

The deceased was an unmarried young man, 27 years of age, and lived with his parents.

He always took an active part in church work in connection with the Baptist congregation, of which he was a member, and was also an active worker in the Young People's Union, by which he will be greatly missed.

The funeral will take place from the family residence at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon to the Baptist church, where service will be held, and afterward proceed to the Hillside Cemetery for interment.

The family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their sad and sudden bereavement.

SHANTYMAN HURT.

Wm. Chynoweth, of Kinmount, Has His Leg Broken Near Dorset.

(Huntsville Forester.)

A somewhat distressing accident occurred last Wednesday at the Longford camps near Dorset, whereby Wm. Chynoweth, of Kinmount, had his leg broken.

The particulars, as obtained from his brother, Richard, are to the effect that while engaged in logging, a sapling, which had been bent by the falling of a tree, became released, and in flying back struck the unfortunate man, with the above result.

He was brought to Huntsville on Thursday by boat, and placed in Dr. Hart's hospital for treatment.

His brother left on the following day for his home in Kinmount.

AN ELECTRIC LINE NORTH.

Connection to be had With Bobcaygeon by Rail.

Every citizen of Bobcaygeon, says the Lindsay Post, is all agog over a scheme to secure electric railway communication with Peterborough.

The proposal is to build a line to Scott's mills, some twelve miles east, thence south to Buckhorn and on to Peterborough. By taking the above route expensive bridges would be avoided, and the high falls at the Gull river outlet and at Burleigh could be utilized to generate power.

The promoters feel confident that they can secure Provincial and Dominion aid, as well as bonuses from the benefitted municipalities—including a large sum from Peterboroughh. It has been figured out that the line can be built for less than $200,000. Mr. W. J. Read is secretary of the provisional committee, and is hard at work on the details.

I was buying a parlor car seat for the Atlantic City express when I observed a lady just ahead of me at the window regarding her ticket with a troubled expression. "I won't take that," she said, passing it back to the ticket seller. "I won't have a chair numbered 13." The man smiled affably, and, taking the ticket, rubbed off the one, making it number 3. "No, that won't do," said the woman. "You must give me a new ticket." "But the chair is number 3," explained the man. "That makes no difference," she replied firmly, "I won't take a ticket that is numbered 13, or that has been number 13." And she wouldn't. What would Mr. Lang say to such superstition as this?—Critic.

THE BOY DETECTIVE.

"The case is hopeless."

So spoke the great criminal lawyer, and as he did so he sighed deeply.

"Tell me the facts again," said his companion, a bright appearing youth of 9, as he took a notebook from his pocket.

"I will," said the other dejectedly, "but I fear it can avail nothing. We can prove that Mrs. Goodlot has been missing since Aug. 2. We know that she had quarreled with her husband and that he had threatened her life. We can show that on the night of Aug. 2 the defendant generated ozonotic gas in his chemical laboratory, and we have every reason to believe that he put his wife into the gas tank, but to prove it—ah, that is the difficulty!"

"What is the effect of ozonotic gas on human tissue?" asked the youth, with a thoughtful expression on his face.

"It converts all animal matter into gaseous vapor. Within ten minutes after the body had been put into the tank there was not a trace of solid substance left."

"I will examine that tank."

"You?"

"Yes."

"It is guarded constantly. They will kill you."

"We shall see."

He arose and, after shaking hands with the great criminal lawyer, passed rapidly to a carriage in waiting. The reader may have suspected ere this that he was none other than Eddie Parks, the newsboy detective.

"Halt!"

As this word was spoken a revolver gleamed in the moonlight.

The watchman standing at the great doorway of the Goodlot chemical laboratory strained his eyes to see what the object might be that was approaching.

"All right. Don't be afraid," came a gruff voice from the gloom, and a policeman stepped into view.

"I am glad it was you," said the watchman in a relieved tone of voice. "We have instructions to shoot and kill any strangers found near the laboratory."

The next instant the watchman felt his throat clasped as if in a vise. He heard a voice at his ear, "Maintain quiet, or I will throttle you."

In a few seconds he was bound and gagged. The policeman took the keys from the prostrate form.

"Now, my good man, stay here until I return," he said gleefully. With that he threw off his disguise.

It was the newsboy detective.

Before starting on his perilous night trip to the chemical laboratory our hero had studied a plan of the interior of the vast structure, so that, even in the pitch darkness, it required but a few moments for him to find the tank in which the ozonotic gas had been generated.

Taking a can opener from his pocket, he cut a circular opening in the tank and crawled in.

After a few minutes he emerged with a satisfied smile on his face.

As he approached the doorway at which he had entered he saw four men standing in the moonlight. The other men on guard had discovered the bound and gagged watchman.

They were waiting for our hero to return.

"I will not be captured," he said, drawing his trusty revolver.

At that moment his foot struck a bottle, which fell and broke with a crash.

The four men came through the doorway. Our hero turned and ran.

He knew that all the doorways were locked. His only hope was the stairway.

The pursuers were close behind. He fled up one flight of stairs after another. Below he could hear the curses and ejaculations of the enraged watchman.

Suddenly he emerged into an open tower. He had reached the topmost point of the great building. Over 100 feet below him was the placid river.

The pursuers came panting at his heels.

There was no time to be lost.

With a defiant shout he leaped far out from the tower and dived for the river.

At 10 o'clock the next morning James H. Webster, the great criminal lawyer, was seated in his office.

There was a knock at the door, and Ralph Dumont, counsel for the defendant, entered the room.

"I came to tell you that the foolhardy youth who dared to visit the laboratory last night is no more," said he, a smile of triumph lighting up his malignant features.

"Dead!" exclaimed the great lawyer, blanching perceptibly.

"Yes—dead. He was pursued to the tower and leaped into the river. He did not come to the surface. So you see, Mr. Webster, that your trump card has failed. You can never convict Anthony Goodlot."

"Don't be too sure of that!" came a quiet voice from behind.

"Perdition!" exclaimed Ralph Dumont.

Eddie Parks, the boy detective, was standing in the doorway!

As soon as James H. Webster saw our hero alive and well he rushed toward him with open arms.

Ralph Dumont hurried from the room, muttering curses.

"He seemed surprised to see me," said our hero, laughing merrily.

"You are indeed a brave youth," said the great lawyer, gazing at our hero in admiration. "But, tell me, have you secured any evidence?"

"I have," replied our hero modestly, and taking a small paper from his pocket he unrolled it and showed a false tooth.

"This is a porcelain tooth and was not affected by the gas," said he. "After finding this tooth I inquired the name of Mrs. Goodlot's dentist."

"Aha!" said the great lawyer.

"I looked up the address in the directory, and upon going to the address I learned that the dentist died three years ago."

"Curse the luck!" said James H. Webster. "The fates are against us. Is there no way to identify this tooth?"

"There is a way," said our hero. "Leave it to me. Now let us deposit the tooth in a place of safety."

As they passed out of the building there was a terrific explosion, and James H. Webster's office was completely wrecked.

The Goodlot murder trial was in progress.

The prosecution was about to close its side of the case.

There had been no direct testimony to show that Anthony Goodlot had murdered his wife.

The attorneys for the defense were jubilant.

Ralph Dumont smiled sneeringly at James H. Webster.

"Edward Parks!"

At the call of this name there was a sensation, for the fame of the newsboy detective had spread far and wide.

Our hero modestly stepped to the witness chair and faced the hushed assemblage.

After the usual preliminaries James H. Webster handed him a small box containing the porcelain tooth.

"Do you recognise the article in that box?" was asked.

"I do," replied our hero.

"What is it?"

"It is a false tooth made of porcelain."

"State whether or not you ever saw this tooth before."

"I found that tooth in the gas tank in the Goodlot factory on the night of Sept. 23."

Our hero briefly related the circumstances under which he had found the tooth.

"Do you know what person, if any, had ever used that tooth?" asked the lawyer.

"I know that the person who used that tooth and the person who chewed the gum contained in this box are one and the same." With these words our hero drew a paper box from his pocket.

"What does the box contain?" asked James H. Wesbter.

"It contains 423 pieces of chewed gum, each showing the imprint of human teeth."

"You may state where you found that gum."

"At the residence of Anthony Goodlot, stuck along the outer edges of chairs, tables, shelves, piano, piano stool, mantels, banisters, sofas and bookcases. I found 23 portions of chewed gum stuck on the columns of the front veranda and I found 14 on various chandeliers and brackets. I found 3 on one closet door and 2 on the caster in the pantry."

"Have you attempted to fit the porcelain tooth which you found in the gas tank into any of the imprints or indentations on or in these 423 pieces of chewed gum?"

"I have."

"Tell the court what if anything you have learned."

"The porcelain tooth fits into the deepest mark on every one of the 423 pieces."

Ralph Dumont arose to cross examine the witness.

He trembled violently and his face was purple with rage.

When he attempted to speak, he gave vent to incoherent sounds and fell to the floor in an apoplectic fit.

As soon as our hero had finished his testimony the prosecution called other witnesses to prove that Mrs. Goodlot had a false tooth and that she was the only one around the house who chewed gum.

Little remains to be told.

Our hero was again recognised as the greatest detective of the age.

The defense could not shatter his testimony in regard to the tooth.

Without leaving their seats the jurors brought in a verdict of "justifiable homicide."—Chicago Record.

AMERICAN TOOLS ABROAD.

Purchasers Found For Them Nowadays Throughout the World.

American tools are sold all over the world. The New York representative of an American tool manufacturing establishment when asked where American tools were sent ran over the export orders received that day. They included orders from Hungary, Austria, Germany, France, England, South Africa and South America. There were altogether about 20 orders, and from some of the countries named there were two or three orders. The export orders of the previous day included orders from Russia, Australia and New Zealand, and these were not unusual orders, but such as are constantly received. In the shipping room at that moment stood cases marked for Java, for Ecuador and for Australia.

Many of these orders are small. In some cases there were orders for a single tool, or for two or three; for some orders of half a dozen or two or three dozen to supply orders or to keep lines filled. These small orders are mostly from European countries, with which communication is nowadays quick and convenient. European merchants order these things just about as merchants in other cities in this country would. It costs no more to send to London than it does to Chicago, and it is as easy to send to Berlin as it is to Paterson.

The characteristics that commend these American tools to their foreign purchasers are the same that mark American machines and implements generally — lightness, fine finish and perfect adaptability to their several uses. The exports of American tools to all parts of the world are steadily increasing.—New York Sun.

Had to Stop and Rest Because of Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Ellen Cook, 109 Palmerston Ave., Toronto, says: "Seven years ago I had the grip, followed by inflammation of the lungs. I have been afflicted ever since with heart trouble. To walk anyway fast would make me gasp for breath, and many a time I have had to stop on the street to rest and regain my breath.

I had bad smothering spells at night, and my nerves were much unstrung. Anything annoying or worrying me produced extreme weakness, and would set my heart beating so fast that I thought I was dying. Sometimes I would become so nervous as to tremble like a leaf.

I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills early last February, and have been getting better ever since. My nerves are much stronger. I can walk without difficulty, and the palpitation, fluttering of the heart, shortness of breath and nervousness trouble me no more.

I gladly recommend these pills as the best medicine I know of for heart and nerve troubles on account of the great good they have done in my case." 221

A VIRTUE OF OLIVE OIL.

Men-of-war's Men Say That It Will Prevent Intoxication.

The glasses were going round when the man who had been in the navy spoke: "Wait a minute, boys. We've had several. Let me give you a tip that I learned when I was on the China station. You are pretty good drinkers, you Kentucky boys, and you can hold your own with anybody, east, west or north, who tries to put you under the table. But unless you carry out my plan don't you ever stack yourself up against an Englishman, and especially an army or a naval officer. You could knock him out on whisky, but he doesn't drink it, except in the shape of smoky Scotch and Irish abominations. But champagne, burgundy, claret, ale, sherry, madeira, port, pulque in Mexico, saki in China, palm liquor in Africa, bamboos and shandygaff in India, steer clear of them—that is, unless you have the good luck to meet a certain little, yellow faced, wizened creole from Louisiana whose recipe is passed around the mess table of United States men-of-war to this day.

"It started in the old days when the British officers always had the pleasure of outstaying their American guests or hosts whenever two ships met on foreign stations. Then that little yellow devil came along with his trick, and the Englishman has never since come out better than second in any drinking bout. The secret? Olive oil. One wineglassful before the fun begins, and, if possible, another later on, and you can keep your wit and legs throughout the dampest evening. I suppose one of two things happens. Either the oil coats the stomach and keeps the alcohol from being absorbed by the system, or else it floats on top and keeps the fumes from rising to the brain. But you'll have to ask the medicine men about that. All I know is its practical result, and that has enabled us Yankee Doodles to go home cheerful and clear headed many an evening when our foreign cousins were speechless."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Former Dahlia Craze.

The dahlia, named after the famous Swedish botanist Dahl, appeared early in this century, and was as popular in the flower garden as were the camellias and fuchsias in the greenhouse, and still holds its own. This plant, which is a native of Mexico, was practically introduced into England by Lady Holland in 1804, as it had been lost since its first appearance some 15 years previously, when Lady Bute imported it from Spain. During the first 40 years of its popularity double dahlias were all the fashion, and since then the single varieties have had their day, while at the present time the new cactus kinds hold the foremost place. A florist, writing about 1830, compared the fashion for dahlias, which was then at its height, to the tulip mania two centuries earlier, and, although the comparison is hardly correct, it shows the dahlia craze must have been very marked to have even suggested it.—Longman's Magazine.

A BEE'S RESTLESS LIFE.

It Begins Work When Three Days Old and Dies at Forty-five.

G. W. Reynolds of Los Angeles, one of the oldest traveling men in the United States, has a ranch of which he enjoys telling even more than he does of the experiences through which he has passed during his half century upon the road. The ranch is near San Diego, Cal. The chief product is honey. This product is gained from two apiaries, which Mr. Reynolds visits every time his business permits him to go to southern California.

"In my apiaries, which are cared for by my son," said he, "there are 140 stand of bees. The honey season lasts from April to July. Last season my bees yielded 40,000 pounds of honey, which sells in that country in bulk lots at 4 cents a pound. Two of the hives gave over 500 pounds each. For ten years I have been interested in bees in a small way, and I take greater interest in them every year. A hive or stand of bees is worth $2.50. In it are the queen, the drones and the workers, a total population of from 20,000 to 25,000 bees.

"This very good sized colony," he continued, "resides in a hive or wooden box. In the hive are a dozen frames 13 by 7 inches. In these the bees make or deposit the honey, a foundation of wax having been first placed in each frame by the beekeeper, so that the bees may have something to build upon. The honey is taken out of the frames every other week during the honey season. While doing so there is little need of protecting the hands. The bees seem to be most inclined to sting one in the face. So, as a precaution, the man who is removing the honey from the hives wears a straw hat, from the brim of which is hung a silk veil, like they have to do up in the Klondike country to ward off the summer mosquitoes.

"The queen is an absolute monarch within her dominions. She is the undisputed boss of the job. An ordinary bee lives during the working season only 45 days. Young ones are being hatched out all the time. A bee goes to work at the tender age of 3 days and hustles like a veteran for 42 days. Then it is just naturally all tired out, I suppose, for it dies. The queen lives longer, and when a young queen comes into existence in the hive she drives the old queen out. Her loyal subjects follow her in her banishment, and that is what makes the swarm.

"In southern California the bees make water white honey when the black sage is in blossom. When the white sage is flowering, the honey has an amber tinge. In winter the bees make no honey. Seventy-five carloads of the article are shipped out of San Diego county in good years."—Denver Republican.

GREATEST OF COLONIZERS.

Much of the Earth Owes Its Settlement to the Finding of Gold.

It has been well said that gold is the greatest of colonizers, and this has proved especially true in the last half of the present century. To what lone regions the footsteps of man were attracted in the earliest times by the discovery of gold we may not know, but within the memory of living men great regions of the earth's surface have owed their settlement and occupation solely to the finding by search or accident of a few shining particles in the earth.

California was a remote and outlying province of Mexico, inhabited by Indians, gathered in missions or scattered abroad, and cattle barons and their dependents, visited by a few ships each year in search of a freight of hides, when the picking up of a few grains of gold in the banks of a mill race called the gold seekers from the four quarters of the earth and transformed a wilderness into a populous empire.

Australia was a corner of the earth selected on account of its remoteness from their former home as a place of banishment for British criminals when the gleam of gold illuminated it and filled the distant harbors with sails and their shores with cities.

South Africa might have remained forever a grassy waste, the home of savages contending with the Boers and the British for the possession of illimitable pastures, had not gold called the miner and those who follow him to build Johannesburg.—Kansas City Times.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men n common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

THE CHARM.

Slight is the thing it needs to wake
The embers that have slumbered long
Within the poet's heart and make Them burn again with song.

A rose, a star, a voice, a glance,
Echo or glimpse—it is the same;
Some mystery of time or chance
That finds the hidden flame.

Embers of song and song's desire,
Hushed in the singer's heart they lie
And softly kindle into fire
If but a dream go by.

And none may say, since none can know,
Whence comes the vivifying spark
That sends a transitory glow
Of song across the dark.

It is a secret summons, such
As comes unto the spray when spring
Wakens the blossoms with a touch
That bids the poet sing!

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow. Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why, should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

THE DOG SHOW.

Mr. H. B. Hungerford, of Belleville, was in town and, promises at least twenty collies from Montreal for the exhibition. He thinks that it will be a big success, and suggests that Belleville and Port Hope drop into line, and hold bench shows immediately afterwards in order to create a circuit in the district and make it worth while for the best dogs to be brought out for the occasion.

HOCKEY.

Mr. Will Crossley received a letter from Mr. Ernie Clarry, of Millbrook, stating that the skating there was prime, and asking that a team be made up in Peterborough for the purpose of going to the village on Thanksgiving afternoon, and having a game of hockey with the boys there. Mr. Crossley is hustling around to-day, making arrangements with a view to accepting the invitation.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

The following team has been picked to go to Kingston to-morrow to represent Peterborough:—Back, Andy Scott; halves, A. Letellier (capt.), A. S. Lefevre, L. King; quarter, Garnet Bell; scrimmage, E. Rutherford, Hal. Burnham and A. Stetham; right wing, Austin, B. Rickey, A. Hollingshead and A. McClelland; left wing, Wilgar, Picard and Bradburn. The team will leave on a special car, decorated for the occasion, at 8 20 a.m. to-morrow.

The Lakefield News speaks as follows concerning the game of Rugby football recently played here:—

"On Saturday last the Grove Rugby team drove down to Peterborough to play a return match with the P.C.I. team of that place. The day was very cold and a high wind was blowing. The game was played in the P.A.A.A. grounds, Ashburnham.

"The game started about half past two o'clock, and when the teams lined up to play it was easily seen that the P.C.I.'s had a decided advantage with regard to size and weight. In a short time Hutchins had made four points for the Grove, and the P.C.I.'s evened things up by making a rouge. The Grove scored three more points and the P.C.I.'s four more, the first ending in favour of Peterborough by 8 points to 7.

Shortly after the start of the second half the Grove met with a serious drawback by B. Patterson, who played full back, getting laid up, one of the P. C. I.'s striking him deliberately in the face with his fist and nearly knocking him senseless, having to go off the field; shortly after J. McDonald had his leg badly wrenched; which, though it did not cause him to go off the field, rendered him incapable of playing the game he had been doing. This left the team in bad shape and the P. C. I.'s succeeded in getting three more rouges, the game ending in their favour by 10 points to 7. In the two matches the Grove is six points ahead of the P. C. I.'s.

An effort is being made to arrange a match with a junior team from Peterborough and one from here on Thanksgiving Day.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

Mr. Drope's boys at his Grimsby Preparatory School played a game of football against the Grimsby High School and were only defeated by the score of one goal to nil, although it was their first game of Association football, the Preparatory School boys being devotees of Rugby. On the team were sons of Mr. Harry Rush and Mr. D. J. Lundy of Peterborough.

WESTWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Messrs. Israel and Robert Humphrey have returned to the parental roof from the prairie regions.

Mr. William Sharp, jr., has come home for the winter. During the summer he has made cheese at Dairyville, Brock township. We are glad to see his pleasant face again.

The Misses Warner were visiting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Reid on Friday last.

Mr. Thos. Cardwell and family have journeyed to South Dummer. They will recruit there.

Mr. Archie and Miss Edith Stewart were in the village on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harris have gone to to visit friends in Michigan.

Mr. John Breckenridge, jr., and Mr. Michael Lynch have relieved Mr. John Baskin, Norwood, of finishing his contract on the new bridge. It is known as Steele's bridge, on the Ouse river, in Asphodel township. The approaches and railings will be completed by the two former men.

At a business meeting of the Y.P.S.C.E. last week, Mrs. A. W. Wright handed in her resignation as president of the society as she was removing to Norwood. The society sincerely regrets the loss, and shewed their gratitude by giving her an address and a well-filled purse. Mrs. (Dr.) McNaughton has been elected president, and Mr. A. Cameron, vice-president.

We noticed a number at the Norwood sale. Some returned in sap kettles, others in cat bins, while others sat on their elbows (stove pipes) or peeped through the window curtains.

Messrs. John Powell, Hilliard Neilson, E. Hopkins and J. German, have returned from their hunt. Each secured one deer. We intend to call on them at an early date.

A special Thanksgiving service was held in the Methodist church on Sunday last. The sermon was one which impressed the mind of the importance of thanks-livingas a means of thanksgiving.

Cupid has been visiting several of our early birds. Gently, boys.

The executive of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute announces that our meetings are to be held on January 12th, 1898. In the afternoon J. Hugo Reed, V. S., will take the subjects, "How to prevent parturient apoplexy (commonly called milk fever) in the cow," and "Breeding horses for profit." A. McNeil, of Walkerville, "Every farmer his own mason—or how to use concrete in farm structures," illustrated with plans; and "Apple culture. A. P. Kitchen, "Breeding, feeding and handling beef cattle." We would advise the programme committee to put on their mits and make this a success like last year.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

We are pleased to see Mr. C. Young, who has been confined to his room with a severe cold, is able to be around again.

Mrs. Richard Reid is dangerously ill, also Mr. D. White.

Mrs. Walter Young is at present in Toronto, the guest of her sister.

Mr. H. J. Kearney is visiting this week with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Thos. McFarlane, of Ottawa, has returned home after an extended visit with his brother here.

Mrs. J. Carl spent a few days last week with friends in Peterborough.

Miss Emma Scollard is visiting with friends in Selwyn.

Mr. Frank McPherson, of Peterborough, spent a couple of days this week the guest of his aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are spending the winter months in Lakefield.

"Hope" are becoming quite common now around our little village. Quite a number have taken place within the last couple of weeks.

The Lakeview House has been shingled over again, making quite an improvement in appearance.

Mr. James Johnston, who has been in Bobcaygeon during the summer, employed on a steamer there, has returned home.

People Praise It.

THE RETURN OF THE ARGONAUTS

A MEDLEY BY JASON.

The following poem, composed by a professor of Brown University, Rhode Island, was read at a concert, on the steamer Nebraska on her voyage in August last from Glasgow to New York, in aid of the Sailors' Home, Glasgow. The lines were sent to Mr. R. Fair of the Golden Lion, who was a fellow passenger of the writer of the poem:

I.

Out of a bull's eye misty and dim,
I gaze afar on the ocean's rim,
And watch the billows pitch and toss,
Much to my own internal loss
For in the face of all creation,
To Neptune I have poured oblation;
An offering vain, I must conclude,
Since he is in no better mood.

II.

If I might once more behold the face of her
Who in the rigging of a pictured ship upon a paper sea,
Offered to all travellers, especially to me,
That sovereign remedy for the mal de mer,
I'd hitch a bowsline round her neck,
And drag her to the lower deck,
And say, "I can't recall your name
Since you have made me half insane
With your chloral and cocaine;
I wander in my mind,
And do not know my kind;
I sleep like a log,
And as cold as a frog—
O give me some grog.
Anything to bring back my senses and other defenses
If you please.
From this abominable cure, which, I am sure,
Is worse than the disease.
Faintly and far as from the depths of the ocean,
Arises a voice half choked with emotion—
"One dose is enough
Of the horrible stuff:
Give the fishes a potion."

III.

Down a passage dusky, dark, uncertain,
Through many a door and many a curtain
Comes the ringing and the dinging of a bell.
O, Tophet, Sheol, Tartarus, it is the knell
Of some tourist going to the British Museum,
To the Rhine, to Paris, or Napoleon's mausoleum.
By Lethe flowing sluggishly,
O noisy steward, let me lie;
By poppy and mandragora
And all the drowsy drinks that are Concocted at a public bar,
Break the constellation
Of thy tintinnabulation,
And get thee to that Plutonian shore,
Where Edgar Poe his raven fed,
For I have been awake an hour or more,
And now would turn me in my bed;
Begone, I said, but the steward answered
"Nevermore."

IV.

In vain I turn, for in that ringer's wake,
Sliding, gliding like a snake,
Or most, like a mermaid's fishy ghost,
Comes an odor vile, not from Ceylon's isle,
Nor best, from Araby the blest.
Out of my bunk I sally,
(On board I'm always dressed,)
Past the cooking galley,
Up the stairway, wide, unsteady,
Out upon the slippery plank,
For some dread of rashness rank.
After me with dread insistence
Follows the fiend with close persistence;
Around my hat, about my clothes,
But chiefly round about my nose,
Growing ever bold and bolder,
She waved and wafted the dismal odor.
Then I called "pernicious sprite,
If I have guessed aright
Thou art a daughter of the night,
Or perhaps
Thou art a lapse
From the traps
Set to catch unwary wights
Out late o'nights,
In gutter or in doorway taking naps."
With lofty disdain and towering pride
To me the spirit thus replied:
"No child am I of city slum,
From fields and gardens fair I come.
If better treatment had been my doom
You would have called me sweet perfume;
But sadder fate has been my lot,
And therefore I have gone to pot,
Still in my veins, or rather spirit,
Run ancestral strains of merit."
"O maiden sage,
Tell me thy lineage
Of high or low degree,
Belongs it to the peerage?
Belongs it to the beerage?
O tell it to me,
For I am a tracer of pedigree.
Mixed is my origin the odor said,
"My blood is blue though my face is red,
My father was a cabbage, my mother a beet):
The lines of my hand run clear and straight,
But upon me fell the hard lines of fate,
(For cooks have always boiled me with meat.)
Cauliflower is my aunt and spinach my cousin,
Onions I recognise when used by the dozen,
Garlic me with pungency invested,
The squash with ambition till its growth was arrested;
But if you would my presence feel,
Give me plenty of orange peel."
"O Spirit, no marvel is it
That thy line is so composite.
"That, said my partner, with sad repartee,
"Is due to the things they have mingled with me—
The flavour of coffee and also of tea;
'Tis worse than the mixing of Mocha and Boker,
To say nothing of eggs, bacon and ham,
Or mutton boiled to resemble a lamb,
And roasting beef to imitate fillet
When it would be far better to grill it."
"Alas! the ghost exclaimed, wringing its hands most wofully,
"To me it has happened as to many a noble family,
I have too vast a pedigree.
I am everywhere,
In the air,
On land, on sea,
No name to declare,
And no individuality.
I am simply a composition,
Without name or habitation,
I am only a wild diffusion,
On shipboard a vile obtrusion."
"Old girl," I answered, let me name you
The ghost of the galley,
But, by all that is sweet, dwell no more in our gallery,—
For much thou movest me against the sea,
And with longing for home and my ain countree."
Then to the stewards I called who in the ship abide,
O men, when home you ride,
Shout to the shipwrights on the Clyde,
Shout in a riperous manner
Above the din of rivet and hammer,
Louder than an Amsterdamer,—
O master-builders make your galley
Wide and long, where cooks may rally
Round the ranges,
And make changes
In the bill of fare.
Place it far from companionway,
Put it on the stern, we say,
Over the smokestack,
Or by Union Jack,
In the cro'-tree,
Anywhere you please,—
If only through it blow a breeze."
Then I hied me to my berth again
To catch a troubled slumber;
For across my agitated brain
Trooped visions without number.
I dreamed of the land I had left behind,
Of landlords and cooks of every kind,
Of every host and a hotel bill,
Of charges exorbitant and attendance nil.
Of chambermaids three, all standing in a row,
And waiting for their fees, three stalwart boots below,
I struggled with porters four for a single trunk,
I gave a cabman tips enough to make him very drunk,
Upon an officer I called to settle a disputation,
He twirled his billy in the air and said, "I ham not of your nation."
Then slowly and sadly in the dusk of the morning
I rolled in my bunk with agonised moan,
Give me, O give me one chance of reforming
And I'll never, no never, abandon my home.

VI.

Postscript.

A week has passed, and with it almost, not quite,
The memory of that stormy day and dismal night,
And the distressful toil and moil
I had with sardines and with salad oil.
Now, unmoved and unmindful of her presence
I walk with mermaid ghost, the cause of my earlier woe,
The bill is no longer the knell of Sinbad on his way
To the bourne whence no traveller returns.
In little—ease, my berth, I roll careless and free from apprehensive dread,
And dream I see my appetite awaiting me on Manhattan's shore.
I laugh at the collector's customs when I think of bivalves on Narragansett beach,
And sweet corn growing rank and ripe in my neighbour's garden all unheed by me.
I even plan to go to sea once more in the riot of my late dreams,
But in no craft of steam and oil;
Me some ship of air shall wing high above the broil of ocean,
To climes where no tip nor fee is asked.
And returning home on eastern trades, I'll drop in some far inland wood
Where no inspector waits to tithe and tax
The treasures I have gathered in lands remote.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

AUSTRIA'S BUSINESS SUSPENDED

Disgraceful Scenes Day After Day—Unparalleled Violence of Language by People's Representatives — Austro-Hungarian Parliament Making a Spectacle of Itself—Other Cable News.

London, Nov. 26.—The correspondent of a London paper, describing the scene in the Austrian Reichsrath, says: "Herr Wolff received the worst treatment. He was struck on the head a dozen times. Blows rained upon his face; the bell was thrown at him; his clothes were torn. As often as he got up he was knocked off his feet.

"Suddenly during the melee a fierce shriek was heard, and a knife was seen flying towards the Leftists. It fell upon Dr. Geessoann, whose hand was wounded. It was wrested from Herr Pfersche by Herr Lemisch, who threw it across the heads of the Deputies.

"Another scream rang through the house. Herr Pfersche had been seized by the throat. Count von Der Lilie emptied glasses of water over the combatants, with a view to separating them. The Police Commissioner, with 15 men, summoned by the President, appeared just as the President was closing the sitting."

Austria's Rowdy Legislators.

Vienna, Nov. 26.—When the Lower House of the Reichsrath re-assembled after adjourning from the scene of unprecedented disorder, all the Ministers were present and approaches to the Presidential tribune were blocked, doors having been erected since the disgraceful fighting of yesterday in and about the tribune and throughout the House. The entrance of the President of the Chamber, Dr. Abrahamovics, was the signal for loud and ironical salutations. As the uproar which followed showed every sign of increasing, Dr. Abrahamovics adjourned the House until 3 o'clock this afternoon, amidst a storm of "Hurrahs" and "Bravos."

Parliamentary Riot Resumed.

The sitting was resumed at 3.30. Immediately the Leftists commenced a tremendous din, in the middle of which the German Centrist, Herr Falkenhyn, conceived as a happy idea a proposal to cow obstructionists by threatening their pockets. He moved that for the future disorderly members might be suspended for three days by the President or for 30 days by the House, during which time their allowance should be stopped; while members refusing to leave the Chamber when requested might be forcibly expelled.

The speech was interrupted with continuous uproar, Herr Wolff shouting "Let's pitch the blackguards out." The President vainly called for order. Finally Herr Wolff stationed himself directly in front of the Presidential tribune and began a shrill whistle. A number of deputies tried to force open the doors at the front of the platform, while a party of Czechs endeavored to prevent them.

When the tumult was at its height Herr Abrahamovics declared that he regarded the motion of Herr Falkenhyn as a necessary measure of self-defence and called for a voting. The whole Right at once arose and the President declared the motion carried. A number of deputies then began climbing upon the President's platform, whereupon he seized his bell and left the House.

After a short interval he returned and began to address the Chamber, but his voice was drowned in a torrent of Leftist yells and shouts of "Get out" and "Shame." Finally the sitting was suspended for an hour, at the close of which President Abrahamovics returned and announced that, in accordance with wishes expressed in many quarters, he had decided to close the sitting, to open again to-day.

Mail Service to New Zealand.

Wellington, N.Z., Nov. 26.—The Premier, Sir John Seddon, proposes to subsidize an alternate fortnightly mail service between Wellington and San Francisco and Vancouver, B.C., passage between Wellington and San Francisco not to exceed 19 days, and passage between Wellington and Vancouver not to exceed 21 days.

A British Admiral Dead.

London, Nov. 26.—Admiral Sir Augustus Phillimore, K.C.B., retired, is dead. He was born in 1822, entered the Royal Naval College in 1835, was made a rear admiral in 1874, a vice-admiral in 1879, and an admiral in 1884. He retired from the service in 1887.

Powers May Blockade Constantinople.

London, Nov. 26.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: The report is confirmed that the powers have decided to blockade Constantinople in case Turkey refuses to withdraw the troops from Crete and to accept a European Governor for the island.

Ridiculous Story Denied.

London, Nov. 26.—Enquiries made in official circles regarding the report published in The Daily Graphic to the effect that Great Britain contemplated ceding the Channel Islands to France, brought forth an emphatic denial of the whole story.

Steerage Rates Advanced.

Berlin, Nov. 26.—The North German Lloyd Steamship Company and the Hamburg American Packet Company announce that from Saturday, November 28, and thenceforth the rate for steerage passengers on their lines will be 150 marks.

The Strike Conference.

London, Nov. 26.—The conference between the delegates of the striking engineers and the representatives of the employers was continued yesterday. The subject of discussion was freedom of management and, although the matter was argued for and against, all day long, no agreement was reached when the conference adjourned. This was the same subject discussed the day before, the representatives of the employers maintaining that the latter had the right to conduct their affairs without the interference of trades unions.

CUBAN AUTONOMY.

A Tariff Fixing Commission Composed of Cubans and Spaniards a Part of the Plan.

Madrid, Nov. 26.—The clause in relation to the tariffs in the Government's proposed scheme of autonomy for Cuba provides for the creation of a mixed commission to be composed of Cubans and Spaniards, which is to fix the tariffs. The rates fixed by the commission are to be adopted by the Cuban Chamber of Deputies and then approved by the Spanish Cortes before they become effective. Should the mixed commission come to a deadlock the Cortes is to be the arbiter of the question at issue.

Prime Minister Sagasta has received over 100 despatches from persons and organizations in Catalonia, Biscay and other provinces, asking that the autonomy scheme be suspended. A member of the Cabinet said to-day, however, that the opposition to the scheme must soon cease. "Naturally," he added, "the proposed reforms were opposed by a number of persons who, by the past system, had amassed great riches, but the Government has determined to carry out what it considered a patriotic work and its decisions must be respected."

It is expected that the Ministry of the Colonies will be abolished after the application of the reforms, and that colonial affairs will be conducted by the Prime Minister.

Cubans Will Control Customs.

Madrid, Nov. 26.—The Cabinet in Council has approved the article in the autonomy scheme giving the Cubans the control of the customs. Its terms will not be published until it has received the sanction of the Queen-Regent.

Revolt Against Turkey.

Vienna, Nov. 26.—A despatch received here yesterday from Belgrade, Servia, announces that 5000 Albanians, belonging to the districts of Ipek and Diakova, are in full revolt against Turkey. A fight occurred between the Ottoman troops despatched to Usub from Salonica and Monastir and the Albanians. The engagement took place near Diakova and both sides lost heavily.

Death of Mr. Thomas Lawry.

Hamilton, Nov. 26.—Mr. Thos. Lawry, head of the famous pork packing establishment of this city, died at noon yesterday after an illness of only a few days. The wife of the deceased passed away some three months ago, and Mr. Lawry never recovered from the blow. The deceased, who was 55 years of age, was born in Bristol, England, and came out one year later to Canada. The family settled in Hamilton. After passing through the city schools Mr. Lawry embarked in the business which has proved so successful. Two sons and two daughters are left to mourn his loss.

THANKSGIVING PEACE AND AMITY

Cordial Words Spoken in London at the American Thanksgiving Celebration Dinner at Hotel Cecil—Wars and Rumors of War From Elsewhere—An Albanian Revolt—Other Cable News.

London, Nov. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gladstone started from London for Cannes yesterday. The general health of the great English statesman is good and his neuralgia is diminishing. The travelers were loudly cheered when recognized on their arrival at the railroad station, and there was another outburst of cheering when the train drew out of the station.

YANKEES AND ENGLISHMEN

Join Hands in Praise of the Toothsome Thanksgiving Turkey and the Succulent Pumpkin Pie.

London, Nov. 26.—Over 300 American men and women and a few English people celebrated Thanksgiving Day at the Hotel Cecil here last night. The party included Mr. John Hay, United States Ambassador, and his wife and daughter; Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal of Canada, and Archdeacon Sinclair.

The menu, which had been specially designed for the occasion, was ornamented with American and British flags, and over the seat of the chairman was an enormous eagle. The list of toasts was long.

A Message From the Queen.

The health of Queen Victoria was proposed by the chairman, who read a letter, dated Windsor Castle, from Sir Arthur John Bigge, private secretary to Her Majesty, saying: "The Queen desires me to beg that the American Ambassador will be so good as to convey to the members of the American Society in London the expression of Her Majesty's sincere thanks for the beautifully illumined address of congratulation she received from that body. I have further to assure Your Excellency how deeply the Queen was touched by the sentiments of sympathy with the enthusiasm of her own subjects on the 60th anniversary of her accession to the throne which was contained in this address from citizens of the United States."

Tribute to Pumpkin Pie.

When the health of Ambassador Hay was proposed, he responded with a bright speech. He paid an eloquent tribute to "the unknown nameless artist who, in the days of early New England, first brought to perfection the pumpkin pie."

He endorsed Benjamin Franklin's suggestion that the turkey should be the national emblem instead of the eagle, "who with aristocratic profile, loud voice and predatory disposition hardly commends himself as the emblem of modest, industrious and conscientious democracy, while the turkey, like a true altruist, exists only for the good of others and perishes by thousands yearly for the public welfare."

Mr. Hay, in closing his reply to the toast of his health, said: "The great body of the people of the two countries are friends. We are the fortunate heirs to English law and liberty, which both nations respect."

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, responding to "Our Next-door Neighbors," said that "Canada, while loyal to the Queen and to Great Britain, had the fullest feeling of friendship for the United States, and he was satisfied that if either country should get into difficulties the other would help its neighbor."

Archdeacon Sinclair proposed the toast, "The Ladies," which was responded to by Miss Genevieve Ward, the actress.

The Imperial Parliament and Ireland.

London, Nov. 26.—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, in the course of an important speech at Birmingham, said he expected that the greater part of the coming session of Parliament would be given over to the Government measure granting local government to Ireland.

Mr. Chamberlain also announced that the Government would introduce a comprehensive measure of army reform, based upon a careful consideration of England's military needs, though without attempting to rival Continental armies or to alter the system of recruiting. He said he considered the army ought to be "strong enough to meet the possible, though improbable, emergency of a break-down in the navy."

Gen. Lockhart Narrowly Escaped.

London, Nov. 26.—A despatch to The Times from Bagh, Province of Dutch Gundava, Baluchistan, says that during the operations near Datoi, which have been conducted during the last few days by General Sir William Lockhart, with the Fourth Brigade of the British punitive expedition, operating against the insurgent tribesmen on the northwest frontier of India, Sir William Lockhart, the commander-in-chief, had a narrow escape from being shot.

A Swindling Captain Sentenced.

London, Nov. 26.—At the Central Court here to-day "Captain" James Henry Irving Cruikshank, who, on Oct. 26 last, was committed for trial on the charge of obtaining about $50,000 from a number of ladies, including Lady Randolph Churchill and her sisters, by false pretences, pleaded guilty of the charges brought against him, and was sentenced to eight years' penal servitude.

The Eastern International.

Port Huron, Nov. 26.—The International Baseball Association was organized here yesterday with the following towns as members: London, Guelph, Hamilton, Port Huron, Bay City and Saginaw. Four of the towns were represented in person, and the other two by proxy. Those attending were enthusiastic as to the project and the success of the venture was thought to be a certainty. The salary limit was placed at $700.

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Robert Hall, district agent of the Confederation Life Insurance Company, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. Baker has a splendid display of chrysanthemums this year. Our town's people should not fail to call and inspect.

Mrs. A. Greenbanks is in Keene at present under the care of Dr. Harrison. We hope she may have a speedy recovery.

Mr. Chas. Gallagher has been re-engaged as S. S. No. 6, and has had an addition to his salary of $25.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jewison of Poplar Point, Manitoba, are visiting at Mr. T. J. Dealn's.

We are pleased to hear that Prof. Alfred Davies, who sprained his ankle badly, is recovering.

Mr. A. Emery shot a wild goose in Mr. P. W. Stevenson's hop yard the other day.

Owing to an oyster supper in the Methodist church on Friday night, the Model Literary Society did not hold their regular meeting.

The annual free-will missionary offering will be taken up in the Methodist church on Sunday. The Rev. D. M. McCamus, of Port Perry, brother of the pastor here, will preach two special sermons on the subject of missions.

The Women's Mission Circle of the Baptist church intend holding their annual thank offering services on Friday evening, when Miss Marchin, of Big Springs, will deliver an address. A silver collection will be taken up at the door.

The Rev. J. A. McCamus is preaching a series of special sermons on "The Sermon on the Mount."

Don't forget the Thanksgiving dinner in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening.

The Presbyterians have decided to hold their Christmas entertainment on Christmas evening as usual.

The Rev. H. Symonds, of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, will deliver an address on Thanksgiving evening in the English church here. A very enjoyable time may be expected.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Bible Society was held in the Public Library on Monday evening, when it was decided that the secretary should write and ask to have the Bibles which are now on hand exchanged for new ones.

The following collectors were then appointed:

South Dummer—Misses Spence and Webster.

8th line of Dummer—Misses E Nicol and E Andrews.

9th line of Dummer—Misses McMillan and Kirk.

10th line of Dummer—Miss Howson and Mrs Graham.

Asphodel, 3rd line—Misses Powell and Webster.

Norwood—Misses. B. Pearce, V. Butterfield, A C Moore, F N Pettigrew, W Bailey, Jotcham.

Belmont Road—Miss M Best and Mrs Wood.

It was also moved that the collectors books be put in their hands as soon as possible.

As announced last week the committees for the arranging of the programmes for the Farmers' Institute meetings would be announced latter on. They have since been arranged and are as follows:

Norwood—Misses A. Reddon and A. Squire, and Messrs. H. G. Buck, F. H. Birt, Chas. O'Reilley, J. G. Keefer and John E. Roxburgh.

Keene—Misses Londerville and Bryce, Mrs. Dr. Harrison, Messrs. Robt. English, M. Keanealey, R. McCamus, Dr. Shaw.

Warsaw—Misses. J. Gow and C. Anderson, and Messrs. Geo. Payne, jr., R. P. Payne.

Westwood—Misses M. Brackenridge, B. Sharp and J. Eason, and Messrs. W. Sharp, jr., and Geo. Eason.

The oyster social in the Methodist church was very successful and the programme was an exceedingly good one. As quite a quantity of oysters was left another social was held on Monday evening, which was very successful.

Mr. J. B. Pearce has a lady artist at work on his new stores.

The Modelites are busy practising for their closing concert. They say it is to be the best yet held. We hope so.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss McEwen is visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Maud Cox, who has been visiting friends in Lindsay, returned home last week.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, of Peterborough, was in the village on Monday in connection with the suit of Brown vs. Lakefield.

Miss Rose Cox, who has been visiting friends in Lakefield, returned home on Saturday.

On Thursday evening of next week, Court Lakefield, No. 43, will hold its regular meeting. An initiation is expected.

CURING DYSPEPSIA

In Simplicity Itself When Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are Used.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets don't cause feverish over-stimulation of the digestive organs. Their effect is to strengthen and re-invigorate the stomach, while they are digesting the food.

In effect, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets say to the worn-out, exhausted stomach:—"You take a day off. Let me do your work for a while: you just take it easy, and rest." Then they go to work, and the effect is marvellous.

The food is digested, dyspepsia disappears, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, etc., vanish. The stomach grows strong, healthy, vigorous, able to digest any food supplied to it. The blood becomes pure, the nerves that were shattered by indigestion or dyspepsia become steady and healthy, and the irritable, fault finding man or woman becomes pleasant, genial and sunny-natured. All because he or she used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the smaller tablets that are in every box.

The manner in which these changes are made is simplicity itself. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act in place of the stomach till the stomach regains its strength. At the same time they tone it up and nourish it.

Try the treatment yourself. Give your stomach a holiday. Give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a chance. They'll positively do the work.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, for stomach and bowels, are for sale by all druggists or will be sent on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Port spent a few days last week in Norwood as the guests of Miss Nicholl and other friends. Mr. Post addressed the Epworth League in the Methodist church there on Sunday last.

Mr. W. Ritchie has purchased a handsome Gerrard-Heintzman piano.

We are pleased to see Mr. Patten around again.

The vitascope views in the basement of St. John's church on Tuesday evening were well attended, and a handsome sum realized. The views of the Jubilee procession were excellent and well chosen. The moving pictures were admirable and caused roars of laughter. Additional pictures were presented Wednesday night, a graphophone also adding to the evening's enjoyment. The congregation of St. John's church are having several pleasant and profitable entertainments.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conquerer of kidney and liver disease.

HOWLAND IN A HOLE.

The Centre Toronto Liberal Candidate Puts the Conservative in an Awkward Fix—An Effective Rally.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—The Liberal campaign knew no cessation because of Thanksgiving Day. As a matter of fact the rally of last evening was among the most spirited and effective of the series, and the speeches were decidedly appropriate to the occasion. The audience was large and enthusiastic, and that confidence in a successful issue of the campaign manifested at the outset was greatly increased.

The gathering was at Association Hall, and there Mr. Bertram very neatly put the Conservative candidate in a decidedly awkward position in regard to canal deepening and the policy of dependence on American aid in the work advocated by Mr. Howland. Mr. Bertram said:

"The Liberal Government did not talk canal deepening; they went to work to deepen them, and to deepen them with Canadian money. Mr. Howland, according to his statements, is in favor of the spending of American money in the deepening of our Canadian canals and waterways. If this were done it would give the American people a vested interest in this country. (Cries of 'That won't do.') I say this must not be in any shape or form. We must build our own canals. If the American people put money in our canals they would share the control. (Cries of 'Never.') The canals will be deepened with our own money, and if we have not enough to do it we will get English money. (Applause.) We must not let Mr. Howland persuade us to use American money in that connection at all."

The applause that followed showed how completely the audience grasped the danger of the proposal that the American people as a nation should be allowed to put money into Canadian national works built upon Canadian soil.

VICTORIA JUBILEE BRIDGE.

Chief Engineer Hobson Expects It to be Ready for Traffic Next August—Montreal News.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—"We are working to have it completely finished by August," was the information given out by Chief Engineer Hobson of the Grand Trunk system, when asked about the progress of the new Victoria Jubilee bridge. Thirteen of the 24 piers have been completed, and work is proceeding on the fourteenth. All this has been done, Mr. Hobson said, without an accident, not as much as a finger being jammed since the beginning of the work.

"Will you continue the stonework during the winter?" he was asked.

"No, I do not suppose much more will be done on the piers this fall, although Mr. Gibson, the contractor, would like to complete two or three more, and the superstructure, that is about all made, and we have as much of the 20,000 tons of steel on the ground as we can find room for. We are putting up one span this fall, and getting everything ready for rushing the great work to completion as soon as the spring opens. We are calculating on having a completed bridge by August next."

Mr. Hobson also stated that the contractor was doing excellent work, and being then asked as to the amount of accommodation the immense structure would offer, he replied that there would be a double track for the railway and a foot and carriage road on each side.

"Will it be a free bridge?" Mr. Hobson was then asked.

"Oh, I know nothing about the financial part of it," was his reply, "but it seems to be understood that the Victoria Jubilee Bridge will have no accommodation for an electric tramway unless the cars use the railway track, and this is not probable."

Widow Poirier Arrested.

As a result of the coroner's inquest in the case of Isidore Poirier, a carpenter living at St. Canut, about six miles from St. Scholastique, who was found lying on his bed Monday with his throat cut, his widow, Madame Poirier, and her lover, Samuel Parsulon, have been arrested.

Mr. Harcourt's Rosy View.

Hon. Richard Harcourt, who was in the city yesterday, expressed himself as quite confident of the result of the arbitration between the provinces of Old Canada and the Dominion. As to business, he said that the feeling was in the air that a vast improvement had taken place throughout Ontario. The farmers were paying their interest with less difficulty and those who have mortgages on their farms are reducing their indebtedness.

"I believe," he added, "that the next census will show Ontario in a far better light than ever before. The Government of Ontario are doing all they can to encourage development of the mining resources, and the capitalists who have invested in Northern Ontario are perfectly satisfied with the outlook and glad they were induced to come.

THE THANKSGIVING BATTLE.

Despite the Bad Weather the Citizen Soldiers Had a Useful Day.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—The Thanksgiving Day sham battle here yesterday was participated in by all of the city regiments and the 13th Battalion, Hamilton. Only partially was the programme laid down carried out, but that was done right nobly through the mud and slush. The western force was the defender of the city, and the easterners made it hot for the enemy. Gen. Gascoigne will give his decision later, but has said that the manœuvres were very useful under the circumstances. About 3000 troops were engaged in the exercises.

NEW ZEALAND TRADE.

Commissioner Larke Writes Cheeringly — Gone to Look Over New Zealand.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Mr. J. S. Larke, the Canadian Commissioner in Australia, has gone to New Zealand to look over the field there. In New South Wales, Mr. Larke writes, the crops promise well, and the prospects of the continent as a whole are brighter than since 1891. "The steamers Warrimo and Aorangi both arrived this month," he reports. "Although they left Vancouver within five days of each other both left cargo on the wharf, being unable to take all that was offered." The Canadian shipments consisted of wheat, flour, cottons, tweeds, bicycles, wallpapers, patent medicines, hops, canned salmon, agricultural implements, musical instruments and woodware. Mr. Larke, believes, however, that shipments of wheat and flour to any extent will soon cease.

AGRICULTURE!

Normal Schools Paying Attention to the Subject.

VALUABLE COURSE OF LECTURES

Visits by Students to the Agricultural College and the Experimental Farm—Experiments Studied Under the Dominion Farm Staff—Good Work by Model Schools Also.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—A substantial measure of progress in the direction of the teaching of agriculture in the Public Schools of Ontario has been made during this session of the Provincial Normal Schools. The subject of agriculture has always received a good deal of attention from the Education Department from the early days when three acres of the ground on St. James' Sq are were set apart for experimental purposes, when Lord Elgin offered prizes to encourage the study of agriculture, and when Dr. Ryerson prepared a text book for the use of teachers on the subject. In 1895 Hon. Geo. W. Ross made a step forward when he caused the Principal of the Toronto Normal School to prepare a syllabus for a course of lectures in agriculture suitable for Normal School students, and when President Mills of the Agricultural College and Prof. Shaw were employed to prepare a text book, which is now in use in many schools of the province. Further steps have been the arranging of courses of study in chemistry, botany and physics in High Schools which give considerable aid to an understanding of the scientific basis of agriculture. Agricultural chemistry, in point of fact, may be authorized by trustees as a special part of High School work, and the trustees of rural Public Schools can require agriculture to be a part of the Public School course of study. It is to be feared, however, that trustees have not exercised their powers in this respect with great freedom.

This year a further step has been made, this time in the direction of so equipping the teachers of the Normal School by a thorough course of instruction in the elements of chemistry and botany necessary to a better knowledge of agriculture as to make the early introduction of the subject into the Public Schools practicable. By way of increasing the interest of the teachers in the work, the Minister of Education arranged a month ago for a visit of the Normal School students to the Agricultural College at Guelph, and the visit, with its accompanying inspection of the appliances used by the faculty and the experiments carried on at the college, has, it is understood, been productive of much good.

In addition lectures have been delivered by Profs. Day and Harrison of the Agricultural College at the Toronto Normal School, with the result of greatly quickening the interest of the students in the study. Similar work has been done at the Ottawa Normal School, where weekly visits have been made to the Experimental Farm for about ten weeks of the session, in order to study the experiments carried on under the direction of the Dominion Government and to receive instruction from members of the staff. Moreover, in the County Model Schools this year about 1800 students received instruction in the elements of agriculture.

CANADA'S CHAMPIONS.

The Ottawa College Football Team Defeats Hamilton Tigers at Montreal —A Game in Sleet.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving Day 3500 people witnessed, through rain and slush, the football match which made Ottawa College the champions of Canada for this year. The game throughout demonstrated the strength of the wings of the Tigers, and likewise their inability to cope with the united masse play of their opponents. In the first half Ottawa College scored 10 points to 5, and in the second they made this 14 to 10, thus winning the championship. The game was thoroughly enjoyed by all who saw it, although rain and sleet fell on the snowy ground through the game.

Hard and Gentlemanly Game.

It was a hard game—the players say the hardest they were in yet—yet it was never either ungentlemanly nor brutal. Only once was a man sent to the fence for five minutes, and this was when Smith charged DuMoulin after he had made his mark. Not a single player had to leave the ground for an injury, and only a few times had play to be stopped from a player being hurt. It was such a game as one very seldom sees, and did equal credit to both victors and vanquished.

Toronto, Nov. 26. The football event in this city on Thanksgiving Day was the Canadian Intermediate championship game between Varsity and the Britannias of Montreal, the best intermediate team of Quebec. Two thousand people witnessed Captain Tanner's Ontario champions win for this province the intermediate championship of Canada by 26 points to 10. Notwithstanding the drizzling rain and consequent sticky field, the game was a good one, filled with splendid punting and tackling and the best running and passing that has been seen in Ontario this year.

The game was by no means a walk-over, although the best team landed the cup. They outplayed their opponents in the scrimmage and in the back division. On account of the bad ground and weather, the ball, after a few minutes' play, became wet and heavy, and caused the men to fumble.

Still the game was a first-class exhibition of Rugby, and was almost entirely free from roughness.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 33, St. Henri, Que.

FOR DURRANT'S SAKE.

The Widow of Blanther Has no Doubt Her Husband Murdered Blanche Lamont.

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 26.—The widow of Arthur Forbes, alias Blanther, who was arrested at Meridian, Texas, charged with having murdered Mrs. Philipena Langfeldt in San Francisco, and who committed suicide in the Bosque County Jail, has been located in this city by the police officials. The woman now goes by the name of Ada Taylor. She says that she married Arthur Forbes at Little Rock, Arkansas, in 1893, and that they taught in the Public Schools in Bosque County in 1896. They had some trouble, during which Forbes shot her three times.

Mrs. Forbes says there is no doubt as to Forbes being the murderer of the San Francisco women; that he often told her that he was well acquainted with Minnie Williams and Blanche Lamont, having been introduced to them by Theodore Durrant; that he often referred to the murders in such a manner that she was convinced that he knew of them. Mrs. Forbes, or Ada Taylor, says that one of her trunks is still in San Francisco, where it was used in evidence during Durrant's trial. She to-day wired Durrant as follows: "Have courage. I believe you to be an innocent man. If I can help to prove your innocence, command me."

Just The Bare Facts

About our Business is all that we wish you to know.

Just the one bare fact in fact—just the fact that we give you a little better smoke for your money than you can get any place else.

We pay more per thousand for the cigar we sell at "three for a quarter" than many a dealer pays for his "10 cent straight" goods.

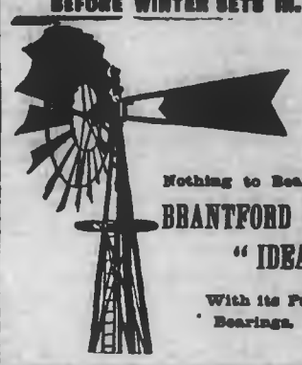
GET A WINDMILL

BEFORE WINTER SETS IN.



Nothing to Beat the

BRANTFORD "IDEAL"

With its Patent Bearings.

It is the only power mill having bearings on both sides of every gear wheel. This divides the strain on the bearings, and prevents the prying motion which soon wears out the ordinary single rabbit metal bearing. The wheels and vanes are also galvanized after being put together, which adds greatly to the permanence and to the value of the outfit. These powerful machines are fitted with interchangeable brass or patent roller and ball-bearings, sealed and fully protected from the weather. The hand brake of this mill will positively hold the wheel still when turned out of the wind. Those who have had a wheel constantly in movement, when it should not run, will particulary appreciate this feature, because if it continues to run it will keep just little enough water in the pump to allow it to freeze in cold weather. The "Ideal" is safe in a storm and will stop itself. There is no fear of it running wild in a big blow.

It is being rapidly appreciated by wide-awake farmers, and many of them may now be seen on the farms of this and adjoining counties. Mr. Thos. R. Mann, Bridgenorth; Hutcheon Bros., Springville; Geo. Cambell, ex-M. P., Cavan; Geo Russel, Doure; W. M. Reid, Otonabee; Levi S. Howell, Springville; W. Leahy, Otonabee; Geo. Webber, North Monaghan, are among the leading farmers who have one of these labour-saving wind-mills. New mills are being erected every week. It will run a cutting box, our grain grinder, root pulper, saw, lathe, etc., and pumps oceans of water.

Result of a Test.

The following letter taken from the Daily Ontario, Belleville, speaks for itself:—

BELLEVILLE, 18th Nov., 97.

C. C. Leavens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

Yours truly,

"The Pilot's Daughter."

At the opera house last evening the pretty comedy of "The Pilot's Daughter" was presented to a large audience. The sparkling and vivacious little actress, Mora, took the leading role of "Daisy Dean," the pilot's daughter, in an artistic and charming manner. Her bright and witty utterances won warm and lasting applause. She was ably assisted in the different parts by Mr. Williams and the members of the company. Dave Seymour, as "Solomon Isaacs," fairly kept the audience convulsed with laughter. Between the acts the several specialties were good and created much amusement and received well deserved encores. Altogether the the company is a good one. The pictures were well put on and showed to good advantage. The scenery was new.—Kingston Whig. Bradburn's Opera House, week Nov. 29. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labor-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his steam factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, ring up telephone No. 93, or address box 368, and have him send one over to your house.

Cupid's Arrows Create Great Havoc—The Epidemic Began on Wednesday and Lasted Until Last Evening.

SHANNON—SIMONS.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a quiet but very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Rev. Father Fitzpatrick celebrated the ceremony that united in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. F. A. Shannon, departmental clerk in the works of the Canadian General Electric Company, and Miss Kate Simons, second daughter of Mr. P. Simons, merchant tailor.

As the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her to be married, entered the Cathedral, the organ pealed forth the notes of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. There was a very large and interested attendance at the Cathedral, at even the very early hour, to witness the nuptials of a young lady who among the congregation was held in the very highest esteem.

The bride looked charming in a costume of peacock blue brocade trimmed with steel and chiffon, with hat to match, and she carried a superb bouquet of Marechal Niel roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Nellie Cauley, of Oswego, cousin of the bride, was similarly attired and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr. M. Coughlin, town.

At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony the nuptial mass was celebrated at which the newly wed communicated.

After the ecclesiastical ceremonies the bridal party and invited guests repaired to the residence of Mr. Simons, Rubidge street, where as they entered the wedding march af Mendelssohn was performed by Miss Maggie Doherty, and the sumptuous wedding breakfast was partaken of by the company, which enjoyed a few hours of delightful social intercourse. The heartiest congratulations were extended Mr. and Mrs. Shannon, and the many beautiful presents sent to the bride received the admiration of which they were abundatly worthy. Among the presents were a handsome clock presented by the office staff of the Electric Works and a beautifully chased silver cake basket by the choir of St Peter's, of which Miss Simons has for several years been a prominent and popula member.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon, who enter their wedded life under the most promising auspices, followed by the good wishes of a large circle of friends, will take up residence at 86 Aylmer street, to which they were escorted last night and where Mrs. Shannon will receive on December 8th and 9th.

BURNET—STEVENS.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the residence of Mr. Jas. Burnet, 801 Water street, Thanksgiving Day, at one o'clock in the afternoon, when his only daughter, Miss Helen, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert H. Stevens, a member of the firm of Stevens. Hepner & Co., brush manufacturer, Port Elgin.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's church, and the large double parlours were most beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums for the occasion. The bride was robed in white silk, with white chiffon trimmings, and carried a huge cluster of white chrysanthemums. Miss Ethel Dawson, the bridesmaid, carried yellow chrysanthemums, and was gowned in pale blue silk, with trimmings of chiffon.

The groom was assisted by Mr. James Connal.

The relatives and intimate friends of the family participated in the wedding dejeuner which was served immediately after the ceremony by caterar Long. Amongst the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hutchinson, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Comrie, Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs. H. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Warner, Cobourg; Rev. C. A. Stephens, brother of the groom, Irvington, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stevens, Amboy, Indiana; Mr. Macfarlane and Mr. Robinson, Port Elgin.

The wedding march was played by Miss Grace Kendry at the conclusion of the ceremony. The profuse decorations of chrysanthemums were the result of the handiwork of Jordan Bros.

The bride was unusually lucky in regard to the number and beauty of the presents she received from her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left on the 4.10 p.m. C.P.R. train for their future home in Port Elgin, the bride wearing a handsome travelling dress of green tweed trimmed with sable and green hat to match.

GREEN—SAVIGNY.

The residence of Mrs. Mary A. Green, No. 507 Aylmer street, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, when her only daughter, Miss Harriet Lobe was married to Mr. Wm. M. Savigny, by Rev. S. J. Shorey, pastor of the George street Methodist church.

The bride was most attractively arrayed in a gown of cream lustre with garniture of pearls and trimmings of buttercup chiffon. Her bridesmaid was Miss Rebecca Perrit of Madoc, who was gowned in cream cashmere with trimmings of silk lace. Both were large bunches of white carnations, the bride also wearing a white rose in her hair.

The groom was assisted by Mr. James Savigny.

During the evening a most appetising supper was served.

Amongst the numerous presents received was a very handsome pair of drapes from Mr. W. H. Meredith. The bridesmaid presented here with a pretty solid silver butterdish, and the groom's gift was a gold watch. To the bridesmaid he gave a handsome gold chain bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Savigny will reside at No. 257 Stewart street.

DENOON—MERVIN.

A popular event took place yesterday afternoon at half past two o'clock, when the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance uniting in wedlock Miss Effie Denoon, eldest daughter of the late Wm. Denoon, of North Monaghan, and Mr. John Mervin, who also resides in North Monaghan, but is one of Peterborough's well-known business men. The weddding took place at the residence of the bride's mother, and only a few of the relatives of the families concerned were present.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a green and brown costume, trimmed with silk and white chiffon and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Laura May, who was gowned in black and garnet, trimmed with velvet, and wore pink carnations.

Mr. John Fanning was groomsman.

The groom presented the bride with a very handsome set of furs, and his gift to the bridesmaid was a gold chain bracelet. The bride was the recipient of a cheque for a liberal amount from the George Matthews Co., with whom he was formerly employed. A number of the groom's friends clubbed together and presented him with a beautiful onyx-top table and brass parlour lamp, as well as an imported Italian marble clock. His fellow-craftsmen united and made a gift of two dozen silver knives and forks. A number of presents were received from Buffalo and Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin left on the 4.10 C. P. R. express for Buffalo and points west. On their return they will take up their residence at Mr. Mervin's comfortable homestead just across the boundary.

O'CONNELL—BICKLE.

Another quiet but exceedingly pretty wedding was that which took place at St. Peter's Cathedral at 7 o'clock yesterday evening, being the celebration of the nuptials of Miss Kate O'Connell, daughter of the late Timothy O'Connell, of Ashburnham, and Mr. Samuel Bickle, manufacturer of cheese boxes and dealer in cheesemakers' supplies.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, and the Cathedral was filled with their many friends. The bride wore a most becoming costume of blue covert cloth, trimmed with sable, and a hat to match. She was assisted by Miss Annie O'Connell, attired in pale pink organdie. Both carried roses. The groomsman was Mr Edward McFadden.

After the ceremony the wedding party returned to the residence of the bride's mother on Concession street, where the wedding dejeuner was served. An informal reception was then held when tribute to the popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Bickle was made by a large number of their friends who offered their congratulations. Later on in the evening the newly married couple repaired to their future home on Stewart street, Ashburnham.

A large number of most valuable gifts from Peterborough and Port Hope gave evidence of the esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their acquaintances in the two towns.

AN ELECTRIC SHOCK.

Knocks Down Two Horses, one of Which is Disabled yet.

Last night, at about a quarter after eleven, as the National Hotel 'bus was being driven to the C.P.R. station a live wire dropped down from the trolley pole on the corner of King and George streets and struck the team, felling both horses to the ground and throwing the driver from his seat.

Mr. White, who was inside the 'bus, jumped out and ran around to the horses, where they both lay across the street railway track with their bodies thrown out from the tongue. Mr. White, not knowing what was the matter, took hold of one of the bridles and the chain connecting the tongue with the same horse's collar and attempted to raise the animal, but he experienced a terrific shock and quickly let go his hold and went around to the other side, calling to the driver not to touch the harness, but he was too late as "Andie" had just seized a chain. He was thrown five or six feet away and finally realised what was the matter. The lash of the whip was then wound around the wire and it was drawn to one side, when one horse was able to rise, but the other could not be induced to move being paralysed, apparently, by the force of the electric shock.

The animal laid in the road all night, but Mr. White states that he provided bedding for it and had it covered with blankets, also having a man in charge until morning, when unable to procure a stone-boat he made one and removed the horse to its stable.

The power was immediately turned off and the dangerous wire removed.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Of the Peterborough Town Teachers' Association.

The annual convention of the Town Teachers' Association was in session all day and was well attended.

Mr. J. Jeffries, the president, occupied the chair, and in opening the convention at the morning session, congratulated the Association on the very favourable conditions that had prevailed during the past year. He referred to the few changes in its membership, and to the success that had attended the work of the various schools as seen in the results of the Promotion, Entrance and Institute Examinations. He commented on the harmonious relations existing among the several schools of the town and among the teachers of each school. The Board of Education was most favourably referred to as most zealously guarding the highest interests of the town and at the same time generously recognising and encouraging the services of their employees. Allusion was also made to the commendable absence of journalistic and aldermanic abuse sometimes met with by the teaching profession in less fortunate places. In conclusion he urged upon all present to contribute their share to the success of the convention by paying sympathetic attention to the papers read and freely taking part in the discussions.

Owing to the great pressure of news matter to-day, and the fact that some of the papers were not read until late in the afternoon, the balance of the report of the meeting, including a synopsis of the various papers, is held over until to-morrow's issue.

A Microbe's Work.

A microbe is about the smallest thing one meets in a day's journey, but it can do more harm for its size than anything known. Boils, pimples, etc., are simply microbes in the skin which cause irritating blood disorders, if not stopped at once: and it is they that prevent wounds healing also. "Quickcure" kills the microbe immediately after an application, and any sore heals rapidly where "Quickcure" is used.

THANKSGIVING CONCERT.

Court Peterborough, C. O. F., Spends a Pleasant Evening with its Friends—An Excellent Programme.

Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters, held a Thanksgiving Day concert under its auspices last night in their hall on Hunter street, which was packed to the doors for the occasion, the seating capacity giving out before the programme was commenced.

Mr. Harry Nesbitt occupied the chair, and the programme arranged for the evening was an excellent one, as a matter of course, those gotten up by Court Peterborough being always noted for their varied and pleasing character.

Mr. F. J. Perrin of Toronto, who has been here under the auspices of the Foresters before, made himself even a greater favourite than ever with his comic selections. The programme was rendered as follows:

God Save the Queen.

At the conclusion of the programme Mr. Nesbitt informed the audience that the entire suite of apartments was completely at their disposal, and a great many remained to spend a few hours in social intercourse. The piano was taken into the ball room and the young people enjoyed the pleasure of an informal hop.

ORANGE AT HOME.

L. O. L. No. 80 Entertained a Large Audience Wednesday Evening.

The Orange Hall, on George street, was well filled on Wednesday evening, when an "At Home" was given by the members and a most pleasing programme arranged for the occasion.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Joseph Jones and during the evening Mr. C. W. Sawers made a brief address, in the course of which he stated that he had been asked not to refer in any way to politics in his remarks, but this he would find a hard request with which to comply, as all Orangemen were politicians and he was of the red-hot Orange Tory type, so he hoped he would be excused if he transgressed. In speaking, however, Mr. Sawers confined himself to a brief history of the events which made the words "No Surrender" and "Boyne" the mottoes of the Order.

The musical programme was rendered as follows:

PART I.

Selection.....I O G T Harmony Club
Song.....Mr J Crane
Song.....Miss Florence Hall
Reading.....Rev Mr Armitage
Comic song.....Mr Adam

IN EVERY WAY A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Annual Supper and Entertainment of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church—The "Best Ladies' Aid" Scores a Splendid Success.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist church last night achieved their annual success in the way of a high tea and concert. It was hardly possible that it could be better than those of other years, but it is high praise to say that it was quite up to the mark.

In the school room three large tables were spread with the most tastefully prepared and appetising dainties, as well as substantials. The arrangement of the tables and their decoration and also the service were quite in keeping with the excellence of the viands. What contributed greatly to the pleasure of the diners was the excellent music furnished during the progress of the repast by Mrs. McClelland, Miss B. Sherin, Miss Campbell, Miss Rose Clark, Mrs. McAllister and Miss Barnett. It is carefully estimated that fully five hundred persons were fed sumptuously, from five to eight o'clock.

The second course of equal excellence with the first was the intellectual banquet provided in the main body of the church, which, notwithstanding the dirty weather, was well filled, large numbers being present besides the congregation of the church. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., occupied the chair, and preluded the presentation of an excellent programme by a brief and appropriate address. The pastor of the church, Rev. D. O. Crossley, had a seat on the platform and gave a happy little address of welcome and congratulation.

The choir sang two excellent anthems, "Jubilate Deo" and "Benedic Anima Mea." The excellence of the succeeding programme may be judged from the fact that a repeat was demanded of every number and in most instances given. Mr. A. L. Davis sang in fine voice and style "The Bedouin Love Song," encored. Misses Maude and Fox presented a violin duet, encored. Rev. H. T. Crossley, the evangelist, delivered a brief but happy address on "Sociality," and followed it by a song which was redemanded, and he responded at a later stage by singing with great sweetness two other sacred songs. Mrs. C. B. McAllister and Miss Barnett gave a brilliant performance of the "Qui Vive" gallop, but they did not respond to a very warm recall. Miss Lois Ostrom, the ever popular favourite, recited with excellent effect and pathos "What Women did for Men" and was so enthusiastically applauded that she was compelled to give another selection. A fine quartette was sung by Misses Hall and Stevens and Messrs. Davis and Skitch, Miss Florence Hall taking the exacting solo. Miss Ferran, a visitor to town, gave a comic recitation which was so well received that she was compelled to appear again. Miss Alma McCollum recited with fine effect a pathetic dialect selection, "Little Nellie's Pa." She was heartily applauded, but did not respond to the recall. Rev. S. J. Shorey, pastor of the George street Methodist church, gave a brief and happy address of congratulation. The entire programme was a most enjoyable one and received the heartiest appreciation of the audience. Rev. Mr. Crossley concluded the pleasant evening's entertainment by a short address in which he very heartily thanked those who had contributed to the programme and had helped to provide so delightful an evening's entertainment, concluding with the benediction.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist church are to be congratulated on the marked success of their annual entertainment.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

In Kingston yesterday Peterborough Rugby team met its first defeat after a long succession of victories. This is only the second time the boys have lost this year, and although the score against them yesterday was a big one, they have no reason to be ashamed of it, as in the second half, with the wind against them, they held the Granites down so close as to only allow them to make four points. The Globe gives the following account of the match: "In a downpour of rain and mud, ankle deep, Peterborough and Granite teams played football at Kingston yester afternoon, resulting in a victory for the home team by a score of 23 to 2. A feature of the game was the passing and combination of the Granites, their going straight up the field being a beautiful exhibition of of football. The playing of Scott, the Peterborough back, who did fine catching and tackling, was much admired, as was the work of the halves. The wings were unable to hold their men, allowing the Granites their own way at times. Teams:

Peterborough—Scott, full back; Letellier, King, Lefevre, half-back; G. Bell, quarter; Rutherford, Burnham, Stethem, scrimmage; Picord, Austin, McClennan, Thorne, Hollingshead, Rickey, Herden, wings.

Granite—Back, Reyner; halves, Hamilton, Haslett, McCaig; quarter, Dalton; scrimmage, Mills, Lumb, Dehaney; wings, J. Clark, Chown, Clarke, Young, Rankin, Porter, Asselstine.

HOCKEY.

The Colts Hockey team has organized for the season, the initial meeting being held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Wednesday evening. The following officers were elected:—

Honorary President—W. G. Ferguson.
President—A. A. Hollingshead.
Manager—Chris Graham.
Captain—Hubert McBain.
Treasurer—Frank Bradburn.
Rink Committee—H. McBain, Frank Bradburn, L. Bert, Wm. Cochrane.

The boys will wear a white uniform and practice in the Charlotte street rink.

Throat lined with Ulcers

A Young Lady Cured of Long Standing Catarrh and Catarrhal Sore Throat by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Miss Anna A. Howey, of Eden, Ont., says that she suffered from Catarrh for ten years, used a number of remedies advertised, but was always disappointed in the result.

Last fall she suffered intense pain in her head and her throat was lined with ulcers. The doctors called it Catarrhal Sore Throat, but did not cure it. She saw that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure was being highly recommended, so procured a box from C. Thomson, druggist, Tilsonburg, Ont., and commenced its use. Soon the ulcers cleared away from her throat, the pain in her head ceased. She says that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure does not cause distress or sneezing when being used, and is the most effective catarrh remedy she ever tried.

Mr. J. D. Phillips, a Justice of the Peace, declares that he knows Miss Howey and her mother, and can vouch for the truthfulness of her statements.

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, sold by all Dealers.

Price 25 cents, complete with blower.

BEES IN BATTLE.

The Contest as Viewed by a Spectator at a Safe Distance.

The movements of the combatants are so rapid in battle that it is difficult to follow them through all of their evolutions, but the plan of battle seems to be very simple, says The Chautauquan. Two bees from the hive are sent to kill one intruder, and the latter always tries to force an entrance, even at the risk of its life. Once inside, it makes room for others of its companions to enter and then, gathering up its abdomen in as small a space as possible, it assumes the defensive. Two of the hive bees pounce upon it and collaring it fiercely they seek to find a vulnerable point between the rings of its body to sting it to death. The attacking bee just as determinedly struggles to cover every unprotected spot. If sufficient time can be gained and the attacking swarm is large enough to force an entrance the badly mauled bees that have not been stung to death will suddenly assume the offensive and pursue the tactics of their enemies. The contortions and evolutions of the various fighters are interesting to the observer.

Should the battle go against the attacking body, the balance of the swarm flies away to seek safety, and the dead carcasses of their companions are thrown contemptuously out of the hive.

But in the event of an opposite termination of the struggle the poor inhabitants are slaughtered. When their fate has been practically decided, many of them turn traitors to their cause, and in order to save their own lives they join the forces of the attacking party and display great vigor in killing their former companions. But there is honest patriotism even among bees. In every hive there are some who fight to the last and prolong the struggle for hours.

Winter Coats.

In coat shapes for the winter both semiloose and fitted shapes are favored. The collars are still the familiar high standing bands finished with braided or braid edged tabs, crenelated strips of velvet, fur bordered points and other fancy shapes formed and decorated to conform to the rest of the garment. Most of the sleeves are very small coat shapes, or else very much reduced mutton leg styles, finished either with a flare at the wrists or turned back with a deep machine stitched cuff. The greatest novelty in wraps, aside from the widely popular Russian model, is the garment closely fitted back and front, the jacket slightly pointed, and reaching only a trifle below the waist line on the sides.

Over the very close coat sleeves fall loose open circular bell sleeves, which are silk lined and decorated in various ways to match the jacket trimmings. These little garments are designed to accompany a calling or church costume or for other occasions for which a small wrap is requisite. A few of these wraps fasten on the left side and are trimmed across the front with two rows of rather large buttons, giving the jacket a double breasted effect. These wraps are made of various materials, including velvet, brocade, repped silk in heavy cordings or fine cloth, with a handsome trimming of braiding or passementerie in conjunction with fur.—New York Post.

Aluminium Wire.

Aluminium wire is made of various sizes and used for a variety of purposes. Among its newer uses is the manufacture of door and window screens. When exposed to the weather, such screens do not rust. Aluminium wire is used in the manufacture of hairpins. In a few cases in this city aluminium wire has been sold to be put up on roofs for use as clotheslines. The wire sold for this purpose was No. 6 gauge, which costs 60 cents a pound, and 1,000 feet of which weighs 24 pounds.

Aluminium pigs sell now at about 42 cents a pound, which is about half the price of a year ago. The sale of manufactured articles of aluminium is all the time increasing and things in great variety are made from it.—New York Sun.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Sign of Strength.

The sign of strength, a ruddy countenance, depends upon rich, red blood. To make the blood rich and ruddy, the countenance clear and bright, and the step firm and elastic, use Burdock Blood Bitters. J.A. Gillan, B.A., Toronto, Ont., says: "I enjoy good health now to the greatest degree, ever since the day I started to use B.B.B."

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

The Convict Who Confessed That He Killed Angus McLeod of Napanee to Be Hanged on Jan. 14.

Napanee, Nov. 24.—Convict Troy was brought into court yesterday for sentence. When asked by His Lordship Chief Justice Meredith if he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him, he said:

"My Lord, I cannot have anything to say; a sentence of damnation has already been passed upon me."

The judge then pronounced the usual words, sentencing Troy to be hanged on Friday, Jan. 14.

Troy seemed to be satisfied with the death sentence, and before leaving the court asked that Mr. Riddell, the Crown prosecutor, call upon him. It is supposed that Troy has further particulars to give of the murder.

John Hughes was acquitted on a charge of having burglarized the house of Angus McLeod on the night of Nov. 15, 1893, when Mr. McLeod was murdered. Hughes, who is a convict, serving a term for burglary, was implicated as an accomplice by the confession of Convict Troy.

Allison's Alleged Confession.

Berlin, Nov. 24.—It is now generally supposed that the alleged confession of Jim Allison will play a prominent part in the great murder trial which commences on the 29th. The Crown, it is understood, will lose their case, to a certain extent, on alleged statements made by the prisoner, which they will, it is said, prove by reliable witnesses. The alleged confession is said to have be made by Allison to a fellow convict, who was also committed from Galt. Allison, it is said, stated he would have made a full confession long ago had he not been advised differently by his counsel.

An Honest Workingman.

Barrie, Nov. 24.—A man named Patterson, who had been working in Etobicoke Township all summer, got stranded at Allandale on his way to the shanties. He was arrested for stealing a ride on a train, and, on being brought before the magistrate, was fined $1 and costs. He had $1 in his pocket; but this the Allandale magistrate did not take. He accepted his note for the fine and costs, also for $3 he required for his fare to Trout Creek. A few days ago Patterson paid the note in full.

Bryan Plays Football.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 24.—William Jennings Bryan, late presidential candidate, appeared in Columbia in an altogether new role. Mr. Bryan participated in his first game of football. Clad in a striped old gold and black sweater, the erstwhile presidential candidate appeared on the athletic field of the Missouri University and took part in the game.

Gen. Alger and White Pine Duty.

New York, Nov. 24.—General Russell A. Alger, the Secretary of War, in an interview regarding the tariff said that he would advise that a change should be made in the duty imposed by the Dingley tariff law on white pine imported from Canada. He thought the rate of $2 per thousand feet, as at present in force, was unnecessarily high.

Took Strychnine in Mistake.

Waterdown, Nov. 24.—The household of Dr. J. O. McGregor, Warden of Wentworth County, is rejoicing over the escape from death of Mrs. McGregor. The genial Warden's wife took a dose of strychnine in mistake for a cough medicine, and it required Drs. McClennahan, White and Cummings to bring her out of danger.

Judge Gary Will Try Luetgert.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Judge Gary, who presided at the trial of the Haymarket Anarchists, will occupy the bench at the second trial of A. L. Luetgert. Luetgert appeared before Judge Horton yesterday and signed an affidavit, in which he stated that both Judge Horton and Judge Baker were prejudiced against him.

Relief of Cuban Peasants.

Havana, Nov. 24.—Marshal Blanco, the Captain-General of Cuba, has been authorized by the Government at Madrid to sign a credit for $100,000, to be devoted to the immediate relief of the suffering peasants, who have been gathered in the vicinity of the towns occupied by the Spanish troops.

Thorn's Second Trial.

New York, Nov. 24.—The second trial of Martin Thorn for the murder of William Guldensuppe was begun yesterday, and by noon the necessary panel of jurors was selected. So far the evidence is but a repetition of that given at the first trial.

Taking Another Step.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The Illinois Naval Militia Association has called a meeting at Chicago, Nov. 30, to consider the feasibility of having the old gunboat Michigan, now the sole representative of the United States Navy on the great lakes, replaced by a modern warship.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Savers of the 19th Century — Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men a common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

A Fair Trial.

ALMOST SECOND NATURE.

Cyclists Unconsciously Follow the Rules of the Road When Walking.

You can tell a bicycle rider by his walk. Not because of a peculiarity of gait, but for the reason that he unconsciously follows the rules of the road that he has learned while riding a bicycle.

On the sidewalks of the crowded streets of New York and Brooklyn a gentleman whose acquaintance among bicycle riders is quite extensive has, as a matter of curiosity, watched his cycling friends walking to and from business. Almost without exception they pass to the right when meeting other pedestrians and to the left when passing them from behind. When turning a corner, the pedestrian who has learned to cycle hugs the wall closely if going to the right and is almost sure to make a long turn if bound to the left.

If all pedestrians would observe the rules of the road on the sidewalks as well as the experienced cyclists observe them on the highways, there would be fewer toes trampled upon and fewer persons nudged in the ribs by protruding and sharp elbows.

There is nothing more annoying to the participants and nothing more laughable to the spectator than to see two persons dancing up and down and taking a series of side steps because both started to pass each other in the wrong direction.

The bicycle is unconsciously teaching people how best to keep out of each other's way. Any one who does not think the result is sure to be beneficial ought to attempt to stem a crowd coming from a theater or crossing the bridge at rush hours. There will be no polish left on the rash individual's shoes, there will be mud stains on his garments, and a feeling of deep, bitter resentment against all mankind in his bosom.—New York Journal.

Two of a Kind.

Blenheim People talk for the Public Good on an Interesting Subject.

Our representative interviewed Mr. J. Holland, the popular shoemaker, Talbot St., with the following results. Said Mr. Holland:

"Speaking of myself I have had severe pains in the small of my back, in both sides and between my shoulders for over seven years and I was also troubled with urinary difficulties, dizziness, pain in the head, etc., so much so that I could get but little sleep, and frequently got up as tired as when I went to bed, and feeling totally unfit for work.

"I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they have cured me of all my kidney troubles. They have taken away the tired feeling, built up my system, and made me feel like a new man.

"My son James, now 12 years of age, was attacked four years ago by malaria, which left him with severe pain in the back and weakness of the kidneys. He has been troubled in that way ever since, and until he took Doan's Kidney Pills could get no relief, but they have cured him entirely.

"It is no wonder that I speak highly of these remarkable pills, for they are undoubtedly the best kidney cure in the world, seeing that they cured both myself and son in such a short time." 201

THE OLD OFFICE DEVIL.

He Tells How He Evoluted Into a Country Editor.

The old time devil was keen to learn. He had gall. He wasn't afraid to ask the milliners for advertising or printing He dreamed of owning a paper of his own. He experimented in a thousand ways. He lived in the office almost, being there early and late. He made a battery and copper plated types before the first type founder thought of doing it. He did stereotyping in a rude way, making a matrix from blotting paper. Desiring to do his work better, he tried to buy proper materials for stereotyping, but he was bluffed so easily by the prices or talk given him by the dealers that for many years he supposed he was the victim of some infamously jealous trusts.

A tramp printer from Chicago made him believe that gasoline could be made. The Chicago man pointed to a big can of the fluid and insisted that he had made it. Gasoline was high priced then. The devil sold the gasoline the printer said he had made to a rival office, and the two divided the money. "Make some more," said the devil. "There is a demand for it." The Chicago printer left that night, and the editor made the devil pay for the gasoline.

The editor can recall his last visit from the tramp printer he "learned the trade" with, the one who made gasoline. He came into the "shop" and was denied work by the foreman. He saw at a glance that the old days and loose ways were gone. Neatly dressed, well kept young men and women were at work in an office as clean as a parlor.

"Whose runnin this sheet now?" he inquired.

"Jack Hill," was the reply.

"I know him," he said laconically. "I taught him his bis."

And then they saw him drift into the sanctum and heard him say: "Hello, Jack! You're doin well. I want somethin to eat and drink."

"Gasoline" got what he asked for, just as all tourists do who apply. The next morning he called on his editor friend again, and when he found him discussing prohibition with two or three ministers and one or two of the elders of the town he lurched right into the editorial den and joined in the talk to help the editor along. He was very drunk. He cried and said that naturally he was a prohibitionist, but he really longed to die and go to heaven, only he had become "such a d——d skeptic he didn't believe there was such a place." Then he went to sleep. The preachers looked at him in pity. The editor spoke kindly of him as a comrade who had seen better days. As the editor talked "Gasoline" awoke and said:

"Jack, if you don't gimme a quarter to buy a drink with I'll sit here and holler."

And "holler" he did.

He "hollered" until the ministers left.

This may or may not account for the fact that prohibition has prohibited in Editor Jack Hill's town since the last visit of his Chicago printer friend.—Chicago Times-Herald.

MORTALITY OF SLANG

WORDS AND PHRASES THAT RUN WILD AND ARE SHORT LIVED.

The Use of Slang as a Habit Compared to Swearing and the Intemperate Use of Intoxicants—The Harm That Results From the Nonessential Custom.

The Italian method of prefixing an s to a word to give it a damaging significance can be employed with good effect in christening that wayward and degenerate offspring of English known as slang. In its present state slanguage has attained to such a luxurious completeness that it warrants serious treatment. So copious and comprehensive has it become that there is hardly a human want, feeling or emotion of the heart that cannot be translated into the vernacular of the bootblack. In studying the philosophy of slang the first natural query is, How and why did it originate? To the first question one might give, with certain modifications, the same answer that would be given to the question, Why do people swear? The human animal, like a locomotive, seems to require escape valves for occasions when there is too much steam in the boiler. When a man is overflowing with admiration, anger or wonder, the ordinary adjectives do not (or he thinks they do not) meet the emergency. They do not relieve his pent up fullness any more than a sip from a dewdrop would quench a man's thirst. The natural man and the natural woman sometimes find relief under strong emotion in explosive utterances. In the case of anger the escape valve expletive is an oath unless the man in question happens to be a gentleman and sometimes, though very rarely, when he is.

It will thus be seen that slang, being of emotional ancestry, is a first cousin to the oath, and both are used by those who mentally resemble the man whose use of intoxicating drinks has made him forget or underestimate the attractions of pure water. Slang, in sooth, is a whisky distillation of language. It is so strong that it may be taken only very rarely with impunity, and herein lies the chief danger in its use. Not only does the slanguist find ordinary English tame, but he ends in not being able to find any English at all.

Another fatal characteristic of slang is the very one which at first secures its adoption—namely, its pungency. The same law that makes quiet colors and shades wear well in the world of fabrics has its counterpart in the world of speech. We tire very speedily of a startling costume, in high colors, and just as speedily do we tire of slang, which is startling, high colored speech.

Still another reason why slang can never gain a permanent foothold in the language is its utter lack of dignity. No subject can be seriously treated in slanguage. Its sole function is to tickle by its patness or its grotesqueness. It reflects a fugitive iridescence upon current wit and humor, as like the bubble catches prismastic colors, but, like the bubble, it vanishes even while you behold it. Naturally there are slang phrases of all degrees of goodness and badness, ranging from the word which is only a slight remove from a forcible but perfectly decorous adjective to slang of the most daring, deep dyed order. At one end of the scale, for instance, one might place "fetching" and at the other end its superlative "rum." Again, the injunction "play ball" is gentle and seemly, in comparison with the brusque command "get a move on." Along certain lines the slanguist seems to revel in extravagant synonyms and antonyms, especially in those expressing some infirmity in the upper story. The man who has "wheels" is also popularly known as "nutty," "cracked" or "off his trolley." Again, if he comes from the country, he is "corn raised," has "seed in his hair," or his "face doesn't fit him." "Gall," "nerve," "cheek," "sand," "brass" and "face" are also nearly synonymous terms for qualities whose universality has made them a target for popular satire. Equally prolific is the slanguist in coining terms for money. "Dust," "tin," "sand," "rocks," "chink" and "spondulicks" are only a few of the words that translate "filthy lucer."

Two of the slang phrases now in gallingly frequent use are, "That's right," and "That won't cut much ice." The latter, it must be confessed, has certain cool figurative qualities which give it a saving color of grace. But most of these phrases rely chiefly upon their condensed expressiveness, which is the trademark of their American manufacture. They are but one of the many devices of the masses to compass a crosscut and avoid circumlocutions. Thus "snap" and "cinch" are time economy for a moneyed sinecure and an assured competence.

One of the surest tests of the rapid mortality of slang is the extremely painful sensation produced by hearing antiquated slang phrases used—and there are always people who are two or three or ten years behind in their use of such phrases. When other people are saying "Not on your tintype," the user of mildewed slang feebly ejaculates "I should smile." The piquancy and patness of certain phrases make it hard to declare that slang has no legitimate use. But concerning its misuse, there can hardly be two opinions among people whose opinions are worth anything. A careful study of the qualities of men and women who habitually interlard their remarks with slang will furnish anybody with a world of convincing conclusions in favor of pure English.—Critic.

FORGIVENESS.

I sat in the evening cool
Of the heat baked city street
Musing and watching a little pair
Who played on the walk at my feet—
A boy, the older, of strong, rough mold;
His sister, a blossom sweet.

When, just in the midst of their play,
Came an angry cry and a blow
That bruised the cheek of the little maid
And caused bright tears to flow
And brought from my lips quick, sharp reproof
On the lad who had acted so.

And he stood by, sullen and hard,
While the maid soon dried her tear.
He looked at her with an angry eye.
She timidly drew near.
"Don't be cross, Johnny!" (a little sob).
"Let me fordive 'oo, dear!"

And the cloud is passed and gone,
And again in their play they meet,
And the strong, rough boy wears a kinder mien
And brighter the maiden sweet,
While a whisper has come from the heart of God
To a man—a man on the street.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract.

THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICES.

Thanksgiving Day broke dull and cheerless with a steady pouring rain which greatly damped the ardour of the hundreds who had laid their plans for its enjoyment in their several ways.

UNION SERVICE IN ST. JOHN'S.

At St. John's church the day was observed by a special union Thanksgiving service of the congregations of St. John's, St. Luke's and All Saints. In spite of the dreary rain there was a fair congregation present. The service, a shortened form of Morning Prayer, was conducted by Rev. J. C. Davidson and Rev. W. Leslie Armitage, of All Saints. The prayers and hymns were special. The sermon was preached by Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed, of St. Marks and Allandale. He took for his text the thirty-fourth verse of the fourteenth chapter of Proverbs, "Righteousness exalteth a nation.' The preacher pointed out that a national day of thanksgiving involved a national recognition of God's wonderful mercies and a declaration that we were Christian people. We presented all the outward evidences of a Christian people, but there were to be found in our own country much that was contrary to such a condition, and there were thousands who afforded an apparent refutation of our claim to the character of a Christian people. But on the average the normal plane of Canadian life was as high as that of any other nation of Christiandom. The speaker went on to point out how righteousness exalted a nation and showed how the great nations of antiquity, Greece and Rome, which had not the necessary quality of righteousness, faded away and were brought to naught, and the great British Empire was only guaranteed a continuation of greatness as she exemplified, in the individual and nation, that righteousness that exalteth a nation. The nation was defined as an aggregation of individuals, and it was only by individual goodness that righteousness could be maintained that would insure a future of national greatness. The speaker concluded an effective sermon by repeating Kipling's well-known jubilee recessional, "Lest we Forget."

UNION SERVICES AT THE GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

In spite of the rain there was a fairly large attendance at this church at the union service of the Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist churches. The pastors present were Rev. Dr. Torrance of St. Paul's Presbyterian, Rev. A. T. Dykeman of the Murray street Baptist church, Rev. W. G. Clarke, M. A., of the Charlotte street Methodist church, and the pastor of the George street church, Rev. S. J. Shorey.

Rev. Dr. Torrance read the first lesson, and Rev. Mr. Dykeman the second lesson. He also preached the sermon, taking for his text the first verse of Psalm xcii,—"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto thy name, O Most High." The reverend gentleman preached a powerful and effective sermon from these words. He indicated very completely the reasons we as a Christian country had for giving thanks, instancing among other things the religious liberty and Gospel privileges we enjoy as well as the civil liberties which contributed to the happiness and prosperity of the people. We had the past year been blessed with prosperity and peace, and the dark shadow of war had not fallen upon us. A bountiful harvest had been bestowed by the Giver of all good, and we had numerous reasons for feeling, as it it was our duty to show, the gratitude due to the bountiful Giver of all good gifts.

The music supplied by the choir was special and excellent. The anthem was "Come, ye thankful people, come; raise the song of harvest home."

SERVICE AT NORWOOD.

Rev. H. Symonds was the preacher at the special Thanksgiving service in St. John's church, Norwood, yesterday, which was well attended in spite of the weather. His sermon was scholarly and apt to the occasion. He was accompanied by Mr. Davies, organist of St. Lukes, and four members of St. Luke's choir, Miss Phillips and Miss A. Tivey, and Messrs. Turner and Edwards, who sang in fine style the quartette, "Lord of all Power and Might," Mr. Davies presiding at the organ.

The Life-giving Pines.

The breath of the pines is the breath of life to the consumptive. Norway Pine Syrup contains the pine virtue, and cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, hoarseness and all throat and lung troubles.

A FINE BARN

Which Has Just Been Erected for Mr. H. P. Kennedy in Otonabee.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy is now the possessor of one of the most modern barns in the entire Midland district, and as it is just about completed, an EXAMINER reporter drove down to the homestead in Otonabee the other day to have a look at the structure, which has been the object of so much comment amongst the farmers of the section.

The barn was built for the purpose of being devoted exclusively to the great stocking interests of Mr. Kennedy, and it is therefore, a cattle stable par excellence fitted up with all the modern improvements appertaining to the successful feeding of stock.

When entirely completed the structure will be a huge one, consisting of a main building 37x80 feet in size, and a wing 35x50 feet. The former portion has just been completed and the wing will not be erected until spring.

The main building has 20 ft. posts and is built on a ten foot stone wall, of which the contractor, Mr. Edward Mann, of Bridgenorth, is very proud, field stone being used exclusively in its construction. Few dressed stone walls in the county will be found to equal it.

On the ground floor there are stalls for 48 head of cattle, and each and every stall is occupied at present by a beast of huge proportions, picked from amongst the 5000 odd head which have passed through Mr. Kennedy's hands during the season. These are being specially fattened for the local trade, along with thirty or forty more which are kept in another barn.

The stalls are all arranged, of course, on the most modern plans, the heads of twenty-four cattle facing each other from the opposite sides of a corridor along which a car runs on wheels, to facilitate the convenient handling of food for the animals. They are fed on ensilage and grain, the former being prepared in an immense silo holding 120 tons. In this the fodder corn was placed and prepared for feeding at a cost of one dollar a ton. Mr. Kennedy is positive in his assertion that no food at seven dollars a ton is the equal of the ensilage.

Water is provided for the cattle by a windmill which furnishes the power for pumping as well as for cutting green fodder, and operating the root pulper and straw cutter. Water is plentiful and a great tank has been erected in the barn containing 4,000 gallons, which is kept constantly filled. A trough runs down on each side of the corridor between the stalls and the water is always accessible to the cattle.

The upper floor of the barn is reserved for the purpose of storing hay and grain, for the handling of which and its conveyance to the cattle every modern convenience is utilized.

On Saturday Mr. Kennedy held a sale of a large quantity of young stock and at fair prices disposed of seventy or eighty head of cattle and forty or fifty sheep. These were sold largely to the farmers residing in the county, who are beginning to follow Mr. Kennedy's example and do more feeding for the market.

BASKET BALL AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The Standing of the Different Teams in the Thanksgiving Day Tournament.

The first second, the last first. Such was the result of the game of basket ball, played between the Roses, Thistles and Shamrocks on Thanksgiving Day. The Roses, who were last in the ticket contest, came out first in the game. At 3.15 the Thistles and Shamrocks lined up as follows:

Thistles.		Shamrocks.
M Brockenridge	forwards	W Wilson
G Armstrong	forwards	R Irwin
S Hall	centre	H Goldey
L Lancashire	backs	H Halpin
A Wilson, capt.	backs	E Hall, Capt

The contest between these teams was so even that when half time was called neither had any advantage over the other, but in the last half luck appeared to be in favour of the Thistles, for when time was called they were declared to be the winners—the score standing 6 to 5 in favour of the Thistles.

After a rest of ten minutes the following Roses—presented themselves to battle for the championship:—M. MaDonough and H. Morgan, forwards; J. Hall, centre; W. Pedlar and H. Conway, backs—the latter being captain. The game also was very evenly contested so much so that by the time one goal was taken and that by the Thistles—half time was called—a short rest was here given after which the contest was resumed with the result that the Roses won, score being 5 to 4 in their favour. It was a good exciting game all round—everyone was in good humor and played a clean gentlemanly game. It was a very close game the teams were so evenly matched that all but the Roses would like to have it over again. The Thistles think that in order to make the game fair and even the Roses should first vanquish the Shamrocks, as they (the Thistles) did and then in 10 minutes face the Thistles, and the Shamrocks think neither of the others could do them on a try.

There were very few fouls and those that were called were the result of over zeal on the part of the offenders.

Messrs. Bletcher and T. Anderson acted as umpires and scorers, and Mr. D. H. Moore as referee and time keeper. These gentlemen discharged their duties in a satisfactory manner.

In the lecture room great interest centered in the checker competition. The names of players and results will be published later, as the series remained unfinished yesterday.

During the day hundreds of young men visited the building. Mr. Geo. Hartman, chairman, assisted by the Reception Committee, received all visitors.

REST YOUR STOMACH.

By Letting Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do Their Work.

Give your stomach a rest!

You don't need to quit eating in order to do this. You may eat any food you desire if you only take one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food while your stomach rests and gains strength and health. After two or three weeks of this treatment, you can go on eating heartily of any kind of food you wish, and take no medicine.

Your stomach will have regained its natural health and strength.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, without the least assistance from the stomach, will positively digest the food you eat. They do this every time. Therefore, while you are using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, your stomach is enjoying a holiday, resting and storing up health and vigour imparted to it by the Tablets.

Dyspepsia simply can't exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. This has been proved by actual experience thousands of times, and new proofs are being made every day. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a double treatment, can be procured of all druggists or will be sent on receipt of the price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

SHOT AT HOME.

Adne Howes of Camden Township Will Go Through Life Crippled.

Thamesville, Ont., Nov. 26.—Adne, the 16-year-old son of William Howes, a farmer, residing in the Township of Camden, about five miles from Thamesville, met with a serious accident yesterday while preparing to go shooting with a young friend from Chatham. The men were loading their guns in Mr. Howes' kitchen, when by some means the friend's gun was discharged, the entire charge entering the outer side of Adne's right leg, just above the knee, shattering the lower end of the thigh bone. Surgical aid was secured from Thamesville and the limb amputated through the thigh, about its middle. At latest accounts the young man was resting nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Howes have the sympathy of the whole neighborhood, as Adne is their only son, and an unusually bright and clever lad.

Severe Bronchitis Yields Promptly to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

I used your Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a severe attack of Bronchitis. I got better from the time of taking the first dose. Having a family of young children, my doctor's bills have annually come to a considerable sum. I believe a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup occasionally will aid me in reducing them very materially. W. R. Alger, Insurance Agent. Halifax, N. S.

People Talk Back.

Many people talk back. Here is one. Miss Katharine Weese, Belleville, says: "I have had a pain in my back accompanied by general debility and tried various remedies for the same but without deriving much benefit, until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which I am glad to say entirely cured me. They are certainly a grand medicine and I can say in my case proved to be a thorough specific."

PETERBOROUGH'S FAVOURITE MERCHANT TAILORS,

THE PRIZE TEA AND FREE GIFTS AT THE PEOPLE'S GROCERY. A DECIDED SUCCESS.

Would you believe it, such lovely Tea for 20 cents a pound, and a handsome Present with every pound. I saw a large beautiful white and gold China Teapot given with 1 lb. of this Tea, to an old bachelor. Just think of that! While another young lady carried off in triumph a fine large blue and white Teapot worth more money than was paid for the pound of Tea. Why there was a regular rush to the tables to secure the prizes; gifts for nothing, yes and a whole lot to choose from. Another says: "Oh my, why are you giving away your goods for nothing? Well I want to sell a lot of goods. I want to advertise my business and work up a good trade. Stop now there! I see crowds of people in your store. Why last Saturday you must have done a rushing trade." Well so we did, and we heartily thank you for your kind patronage and favours, and I promise to do my best to deserve it. "I see your advertisement in the Daily EXAMINER, with a grand list of Christmas free gifts for nothing. Just give me a pound of that tea, and I will take a set of those nice China Dishes for my little girl, it will make her so happy. Good Bye." This is what people are saying and doing. We have a large counter filled with free gifts, which every purchaser of one pound of Japan Tea can select from. We have a fine full stock of all lines in Groceries, Fruit, Provisions, Hams and Bacon, Lard, Butter and eggs. Choice Confectionery, Biscuits and Candies, Apples, Potatoes, and Vegetables of every kind, and last our fine Choice Celery, so white and clean so nice and crisp, the best to be had. We invite all the citizens of town and county to come and get the best Celery for their money that can be had at the "People's Grocery," 238 George Street Peterborough.

A NEW LINK OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

Important Announcement at a Centre Toronto Liberal Meeting.

Three Cent Postal Rate for Canadians Throughout the Empire—Sir Louis Davies and the Hon. Wm. Patterson at Massey Music Hall—Enthusiastic Meeting.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—The greatest meeting of the Bertram campaign was held last evening at Massey Hall, when several thousands of enthusiastic Liberals and many independent electors unattached to either party were present to hear Sir Louis Davies and Hon. Wm. Paterson speak on the issues of the contest. The Ministers were in fine fighting trim and two important announcements were made. Sir Louis Davies, in the course of a discussion of Intercolonial extension, stated that so far from there being any scandal attaching to Liberals in connection with the Drummond County Railway purchase the transaction was one of which the Ministry was proud. It had been discovered that the subsidy granted to the road by the former Government was milked, and the Laurier Government would insist at the coming session on a full investigation of the transaction. Revelations would be made that would make men in public life hang their heads in shame, and, added Sir Louis significantly, those men are not Liberals.

The other important announcement was by Mr. Paterson, who said that the Postmaster-General had made arrangements by which, after January 1, letters weighing not over one ounce, would be sent from Canada at a three-cent rate to all parts of the British Empire. This further development along Imperial lines was greeted with an extraordinary demonstration of approval. The meeting was a decided success as a vote-maker, and the crowd cordially endorsed the sentiment—not much to look at but fairly effective as sung—"that there'll be a hot time in the Centre when Bertram is elected."

Mr. Bertram's Address.

The chairman first introduced Mr. Bertram. He made a rattling speech. On the question of free trade he said: "The word free trade was used in many ways. He (the speaker) had no interest in theoretical free trade discussion. He did not want theory, he wanted business, something that would give Canada an opportunity of growing and expanding. (Cheers.) Free trade was impossible in Canada. The country required a tariff for revenue. He believed the country would have been better off if it had never gone to the length of extreme protection—(applause)—if it had held to the Mackenzie tariff and increased that tariff if necessary in the interest of the country. The Liberal party had simply gone back to the old Mackenzie tariff, taking into consideration the requirements of the country and the circumstances of the past 18 years. (Cheers.) He closed an eloquent speech with the single sentence: "A better Government we never had than that now in power at Ottawa."

Sir Louis Davies.

Introducing Sir Louis Davies the Chairman briefly called attention to the fact that he had introduced into the House the first resolution in favor of a British preference. He had done much toward securing the cancellation of the obnoxious treaties. No man except the leader himself was entitled to more of the gratitude of the people of Canada than Sir Louis Davies. (Loud cheers.)

There was much enthusiasm when Sir Louis Davies advanced to the front of the platform to begin his speech. The audience cheered prodigiously and sang with heartiness the chorus "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." The Minister, during a masterly speech, said:

Although we have only been in power some sixteen or seventeen months we have come before the electors since we were first returned to power 28 times and we have won 21 times. We come before you with great confidence on this occasion. When we assumed power, we found the people of this Dominion, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, divided into hostile camps, not on political grounds merely, but divided upon racial and religious cries. We said we had never found in the Dominion of Canada, when an appeal was made to the people to do right and justice, that they did not respond. "Give me a chance to try the application of true Liberal principles to the settlement of that question, and I believe I can settle it in six months satisfactorily to all parties." These were the words of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in June, 1896 and I want to know how he has fulfilled

HON. L. H. DAVIES.
Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

his promise, because he settled that question as he said he would. (Cheers.) To-day, instead of strife, faction, disunion and hatred, instead of race against race and creed against creed, we have quiet, peace and a satisfactory settlement.

We have no reason as free traders to be ashamed of the tariff which we brought down and carried in 1896. The chief feature that that tariff proposed was the clause that declared the Motherland was entitled not to be treated as it had been treated in the past with discrimination against its wares, but was entitled to be treated, in view of what it had done and was doing for us, with discrimination in favor of its wares. I say that I am not using extravagant language when I declare from this platform that the announcement of that policy was received, not only throughout Canada, but throughout the empire at large with acclaim, and I say that there has never been any political action taken by any political party in Canada or any other part of the empire which received such cordial, heartfelt approval in the heart of the Motherland as did Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal of preference in the tariff. (Cheers.) The speaker then referred at some length to steps which led to the denunciation of the German and Belgian treaties, and passed on to consideration of the assertions sometimes made that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had refused an offer of preferential trade from Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. This he denied.

What is the Intercolonial Railway? It is owned by the people of Canada, 1900 miles long, built for the purpose of cementing and uniting the various provinces of the Dominion together, running from the sound of the sea up through the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec, till it ends, where? In the woods. Why, sir, for four years the leading statesmen of this Dominion have been considering the best means of getting that railway into the commercial centre of Canada, but the late Government put it off in hopes that it would make a political stalking horse of it for some political question. When the present Government came in they grappled with that business as business men. We sat down as business men with representatives of the G.T.R. Company, and after a time we agreed with them to give $93,509 for the terminal facilities. That is, we shall share absolutely with them in the enjoyment of all the terminal facilities which they have in Montreal. Secondly, we agreed that for $37,500 we should have the same rights of traffic over Victoria bridge that they have; and, thirdly, we agreed that we should buy but one-half of the 37 miles of road from the end of the bridge to Ste. Rosalie, where we meet the Drummond County road, so that it would be half ours and half the Grand Trunk's. The differences between that and the traffic arrangement being that owning half of the road we have the right to traffic along the road, and all we take we put in our own pocket. Of the $210,000 paid for the extension of the Intercolonial to Montreal, $140,000 goes to the Grand Trunk Railway for the purposes I have described.

A Startling Announcement.

Continuing, Sir Louis Davies described the negotiations which had resulted in securing the Drummond County Railway. The road, he said, had been previously subsidized by the Tupper or Bowell Government, and he had excellent authority for the statement that while they subsidized it from the public treasury they milked for political purposes to the tune of tens of thousands of dollars.

"I promised them," said Sir Louis, "that when Parliament meets and the investigation takes place that they are talking about, and which we court—we not only court, but we say that that investigation shall be held, and I can tell you that when it is held there will be some public men in Canada, and they do not belong to the Liberal party, who will hang their heads with shame."

Sir Louis then closed an eloquent speech by telling his audience all about the visit of himself and Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Washington, and his pertinent closing remark was that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had not surrendered one iota of Canadian rights or Canadian privileges.

Hon. Wm. Paterson.

Hon. William Paterson, who was introtroduced by the chairman as one of the greatest manufacturers in the Dominion, after thanking the audience for remaining to hear him at that late hour, said: "We have been in power some 17 months; it was only about seven months ago that we inaugurated our new tariff. Is there desolation, is their woe, in Canada or any part of Canada to-day as a result of establishing a Liberal Government? Why, sir, test it to-day by any means you choose, and Canada to-day is enjoying an era of prosperity greater than she ever enjoyed under a Conservative Administration and a Conservative tariff. When did they ever propose that they would lighten the burdens of the people as we have done, and give a stimulus to the manufactures and commercial interests as we have done?

Sir Louis Davies has alluded to the promises we have made. He has pointed out the fulfilment of some of them. One of the promises and one of the policies that we were put in power to fulfil was to be a revision of the tariff, a lessening of the burdens of the people, a better state of affairs commercially, and I invite your attention to what has been done. Mr. Paterson then, with some detail, gave in clear, terse language, with eloquent figures, the result of the reformed tariff.

Continuing, Mr. Patterson said that while the general tariff as reformed by the Liberal party was in many respects lower than before, it must be remembered that in the whole range of duties, except those upon sugars, liquor, tobacco and a few other articles, there was a 25 per cent. reduction on goods from Great Britain. It had been asserted before the general election that the Liberal policy would close the factories. Instead the people were more prosperous and able to spend more money upon luxuries, thus giving renewed activity to the mercantile and manufacturing interests.

Three Cents British Postage.

Mr. Paterson made an important announcement. He said, "We have and expect to have closer and more intimate commercial relations with Britain under our tariff than ever before. You know that the Government have recognized the fact that while now you can, at a cost of three cents, send a letter or communication weighing an ounce to any part of Canada or the United States, it costs ten cents to send that weight of letter to Great Britain."

The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, the Ministry and the candidate.

LIBERALS NOMINATED.

Actions of Conventions in Various Parts of the Great Province of Ontario Yesterday.

Tara, Ont., Nov. 27.—A large convention of Liberals of North Bruce took place here yesterday for the purpose of selecting a candidate in the Liberal interests for the provincial general elections. Every part of the constituency was well represented. Fourteen candidates were nominated, all retiring excepting J. E. Campbell, A. McCannell, C. M. Bowman, P. Cummings and John F. Smith. A vote, requiring six ballots, resulted in C. M. Bowman being the choice of the convention. Upon motion of Messrs. Campbell and McCannell, Mr. Bowman's election was made unanimous. Strong resolutions approving of the course and policy of the Dominion Government and also of the Ontario Administration were warmly carried.

Mr. Craig Again Nominated.

Fergus, Ont., Nov. 27,—The Reformers of East Wellington met here yesterday in convention for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the approaching election for the Local House. The names brought before the convention were: John Craig of Fergus, the present member; James Kirkwood of Erin Township; William Cushing of Arthur Township. The second ballot resulted: Craig 68. Kirkwood 39. Mr. Craig's nomination was made unanimous.

A SHORT SESSION.

The Last Session of the Legislature to Be Crowded With Business From the Opening.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—The session of the Legislature will be short, sharp and decisive. The Government printers have been working over time, with a big extra staff of men and could not keep pace with the copy sent in for reports of the various departments of the Government. Orders were issued yesterday that the public accounts were to be printed, to the exclusion of anything or everything else. The matter is all ready, and the accounts will be laid before the House on the second day of the session.

The committees will also proceed at once to work, and the session will be hustled through just as fast as possible.

Moving the Address.

The honor of moving the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Parliament of Ontario is this year a coveted distinction, being the last session of this Legislature and the first of Sir Oliver Mowat's term as Lieutenant-Governor. The Government is in the peculiar position of having had no bye-election since the last session, and thus there is no new member to move the address. Mr. W. M. German of Welland has been asked to undertake the onerous duty, and the seconder will likely be Mr. Farewell of Algoma.

Suicide of Kenneth Campbell.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 27.—Kenneth Campbell, a Grund Trunk Railway locomotive fireman, committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a pocket knife. Campbell, who was about 25 years of age, ran between Toronto and Niagara Falls on the Toronto-Buffalo flyer The body was sent to Toronto by the morning train.

Dollar Wheat Again.

New York, Nov. 27.—Dollar wheat was realized again here yesterday.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the United States they keep condemned murderers in suspense. In Canada we suspend them.

The Kingston News says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not really loyal to the British Crown. The News need be in no hurry to have this idea copyrighted, nobody outside of Rockwood will steal it.

If the shade of Annanias could be presented with a file of the Mail and Empire during the election contest in Centre Toronto, he would move for a reconsideration of his sentence.

Here's to you, Sir Oliver [illegible] may you live to approve of [illegible] conservative legislation.—Galt Reformer.

Whereupon the London News pertinently inquires: "Does the Galt man expect Sir Oliver to rival the gentleman of ancient writ who have centuries to their credit?" No more expressive wish for long life than that expressed by the "Reformer" could be uttered.

MR. HOWLAND, the Conservative candidate in Centre Toronto, is the candidate of the party of loyalty in all its cerulean Simon purity. Yet he advocates using American money in the deepening of our canals. This proposition puts the Conservative candidate in a hole that will need no deepening. Mr. Bertram, the Liberal candidate, repudiated such a proposal. We shall deepen and dig our own canals and then we shall own and control them, what we would not do if we allowed the Americans to have a hand in the work. At the same time Mr. Bertram pointed out that the Dominion Government did not talk about deepening the canals; they went at the work. Our evening cotemporary had a fling at the present Dominion Government for its apathy in regard to the extension of work on the Trent Valley Canal. The organ shouldn't show any such hysterical haste over canal construction, when the late Conservative Dominion Government was dangling the canal as a vote bait before the electors for fifteen or twenty years. We shall see the work go on under the present Government at a faster rate than it progressed under the late Government. But we shall not use American gold to dig our canals; as Mr. Bertram says, if we can't use our own money we can get good British money, and then we shall own the canals and control the canals.

ONTARIO'S HARVEST HOME.

STATISTICS OF THE YIELD OF CROPS FOR 1897.

The Yield of Wheat and Other Grains—Interesting Information as to the Crops—Figures of Yield.

Following is a summary of the November crop report about to be issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The yield of fall wheat has been large and much of it is of first-class quality, but a portion of the crop is not up to the standard in either weight or quality, as some of the grain sprouted during the wet harvest weather. A large area of new fall wheat has been sown but owing to the dry condition of the soil much of the seeding was done later than usual. Spring wheat was rather poor in the west but good in the remainder of the Province although much shrunken grain is reported in some quarters. Rye and buckwheat are evidently being restored to favour, and both were splendid crops this year. Peas have been a great disappointment. A few had good returns, but the yields generally were light, and there are many small peas. The "bug" was unusually destructive. It was one of the worst years for our fancy pea growers. Reports regarding clover seed are on the whole unfavourable, some report, however, doing well. The midge was very active. Young clover looks promising. Corn was a splendid yield, but some got nipped by the frost.

Potatoes were struck by a blight or rot in September, nearly all the older sections of the Province suffering more or less. In some places about fifty per cent of the crop was lost. Since being taken up, however, the rot has been stayed, and farmers are hopeful that there will not be a return of the attack. The beetle was freely at work, and many small potatoes will be the result. Turnips are fair in yield, but are not so good in quality. The yield of carrots has been good, but this crop does not seem to be increasing in favour. All the root crops were well housed.

Much of the

on account of the drouth, rendering the soil dry and hard, and also no more time than usual being required to thresh and handle the various crops. Good rains at the beginning of November started thousands of ploughs going all over the country.

Except in the extreme east and west, pastures have been from fair to good most of the season. Live stock are in fine condition, less disease than usual being reported. The movement of cattle and hogs to market has been steadier than in former years, especially in the case of the latter, which are fattened all the year around. The season has been a prosperous one for the dairy. Cheese factories have been well patronized, and the butter trade has shown an improvement. Several correspondents allude to the good effects of the visits of the Travelling Dairy.

Fruit trees are in good condition. There is not the usual surplus of pears, and apples are scabby and scarce in most parts of the province. Grapes were abundant, but late clusters were caught by the frost.

AREA AND YIELD OF FIELD CROPS.

Corn for silo and fodder (green)	260,025	2,600,282	12.77
Hay and clover	2,241,426	2,911,513	1.30

The figures of yields given above vary but slightly from those of the August estimate, except in the case of peas, which have fallen off about 20 per cent. The crop of potatoes is 5,200,000 bushels less than last year.

WEAK CHILDREN

Made Strong and Vigorous by Paine's Celery Compound.

The Great Modern Nerve Strengther and Flesh Builder.

Recommended by all Progressive Citizens.

Walter Lester Carr, M.D., Physician to the Out-patient Department of St. Mary's Free Hospital for Children in New York city, says:

"The inheritance of many children is a sad one. The so-called disease—nervousness—gives the little child a poor foundation on which to build physical health and mental strength. The wear and tear of business, the excitement and dissipation of social life, and the strife to get ahead, so common among all classes, deprive the men and women of this century of the vitality they should possess in order to transmit health to their offspring."

Parents of Canada, let us say it is just the old, old story—weakened nerves. You have left your little ones a sad legacy. Before they grow up see that you do your duty to them. Do not let nervous weakness run on, to end possibly in one of the many serious disorders that may cut them off. When your child feels nervous, irritable, does not sleep well, has headache, variable appetite, or any of the symptoms of nervous disorders, give it Paine's Celery Compound; there is no other medicine which is so well adapted for the little ones. It is pleasant to take, entirely vegetable, and cannot harm the most delicate system. It will quickly banish all nervousness, will promote strength, give a natural appetite, and make the child feel well all over.

Mrs. Powell, Palace street, Montreal, used Paine's Celery Compound for her children with wonderful results; she says: "In the early part of the past summer my children seemed to be frail, nervous and restless, and had no appetite for their meals. Fully convinced from personal experience of the great value of Paine's Celery Compound, I resolved to have my little ones use it. The results are so pleasing and satisfactory that I am prompted to advise you, for the benefit of parents who are anxious regarding the condition of their dear ones who are frail or nervous.

MY WARD.

A winsome creature is my ward—
You scarce can think how fair her face is—
A woman all of sweet accord,
Yet well possessed of girlish graces.
Lest she Dan Cupid's work might read
On love, with other dangerous knowledge,
And his instructions blindly heed,
And wed, I sent her off to college.

Of Latin, French, she learned a store
And delved in science and the 'logies.
She played at football, pulled an oar
And wrote an essay on the dogeas.
She graduated, pretty Prue,
Three prizes from the school she carried,
Four thousand dollars saw her through—
And now she's going to be married.

The dregs of disappointment's less,
You, mocking, say. Sackcloth and ashes
Are meet for her, and, if I please,
Who cheats my aims deserves some lashes.
Ah, no! My arm is round her waist—
Congratulations, sir, are tardy—
But now, you see, she has the taste
To wed the man she calls her "guardie."

A SEA SECRET.

BY C. B. LEWIS.

In the year 1849 the Hon. East India company's ship the Star of India set sail from Madras for London, having on board over 200 passengers, and among them Lord Glenham, General Swift, Lady Artwell and her two daughters, and other men and women of note at home and abroad. Aside from her general cargo, the ship carried treasure to the amount of $250,000. The bankers at Madras figured out that the passengers must have had at least $100,000 among them, while an Indian potentate, on his way to be received as a guest of royalty, had a strong box of jewelry and gems valued at so great a sum that no one dared speak it. It was intended that the ship should be convoyed as far as the cape of Good Hope by a man-of-war, as there were plenty of pirate craft still afloat, but the government vessel met with a mishap at sea and was detained somewhere, and the Star finally decided to sail without her, and there was little fear but that she could take care of herself. Two days out of Madras she was sighted and reported, but that was the last seen or heard of her until the year 1864.

The loss of the Star made a great sensation for several reasons, and when it was finally concluded that she had been lost various vessels were sent in search of her, and every effort was made to ascertain her fate. In 1856 a Malay sailor who died aboard of an English tea ship told her captain that the Star was attacked and captured by pirates to the south of Ceylon, and that he was one of the men engaged in the attack. He said there were five native crafts, and that they came upon the Star in a calm and carried her by boarding. The ship made a long and stubborn resistance, but was finally captured, and the pirates had suffered such heavy loss that in revenge they killed everybody to the last child. They then looted the ship and scuttled her, and the plunder was subsequently divided on an island in the China sea. Some people believed this story and some said it was absurd. The general idea was that the Star foundered at sea during a heavy gale. The dying statement of the pirate was never fully investigated for some reason. So far as the investigation went it was proved to be a fact. The pirates had long been scattered, many were doubtless dead, and the idea of bringing the gang to justice was given up as impossible.

In the year 1863 I was one of the crew of the English brig Swiftsure, which was making a survey of the islands to the northeast of Madagascar. At the Chagos group, as we were pulling into land one day, with seven men in the boat, we were upset in the surf and only two of us escaped death. My companion was a sailor named Wallace, and while in a half drowned state we were swept along the coast of the island by a current and finally thrown on shore in a bit of a cove. A boat put off from the brig as soon as the disaster was noticed, but only two bodies were recovered. The three others were pulled down by the sharks before the boat got to them. Believing this to have been the sad fate of all five no search was made for the pair of us cast ashore, and before we had recovered from our exhaustion and prepared a signal the brig had departed for another field. The island on which we were cast is one of a group of nine, and the easternmost one of all. It is likely the same today as then, having plenty of fresh water, most of it covered with verdure, and wild fruits, shrimps and shellfish so plentiful that a shipwrecked crew of 20 men could get along there for months. Wallace and I were inclined to look upon the affair as a lark. We erected a hut in the woods, procured fire by rubbing two dry sticks together, and after a thorough exploration of our domain, which was not over two miles across in any direction, we slept, ate and talked, and had a pretty easy time of it.

We had been on the island about three months, when we awoke one morning to find the sea like a sheet of glass and the air as still as death. The sky was overcast, and yet of a coppery color, and the birds on the island appeared to be in great alarm. Great flocks of them came in from the sea, and all along shore the fish were leaping out of the water as if it were polluted.

After surveying things for awhile Wallace gave it as his opinion that we were in for a typhoon or an earthquake. The sulphury smell in the air inclined him to the latter, and as soon as we had eaten we started for the center of the island. There was a high hill in the center, bare of everything but a couple of trees and a few bushes, and we sought it on account of the tidal wave we knew would surely follow an earthquake. As to a disturbance of the earth, we were helpless except to keep clear of the forest. It was midday before anything occurred. The menacing look of the sky and the sea increased, and fish by the thousands drove up on the sandy beach to their death. Just about noon, when we were wondering what it was to be, the whole island suddenly began to heave and tremble. For what seemed a full minute it was like riding a choppy sea in a small boat, only the sensation was strangely bewildering and made the head swim.

There was more than one shock, but the first was the most violent and lasted longest. The three or four which succeeded were thrills rather than shocks. They ran through the island from east to west and out to sea, and we heard a chorus of what may be called shrieks of distress from the birds with each vibration. Two or three minutes after the fourth or fifth shock Wallace stood up and looked out upon the sea to the east and shouted to me:

"Look, look, the tidal wave is coming in, and there's a big ship on the crest of it."

I sprang up and followed his gaze. Ten miles away there was a wall of water, which seemed to lift its white crest almost to the sky and to reach north and south as far as I could see. Riding on this crest was a great ship, with her three masts standing erect and some of the yards across. For the first ten seconds the wall seemed to stand still. Then it came rolling on like a railroad train, and almost before I could have counted 20 it struck the shore of our island and swept across it. The island was a good 30 feet above water in every part, while on the hill we were at least 100, but all portions save the hill were covered by at least ten feet. I had my eye on the ship alone. It came straight for the hill, but as the wave divided it was swept to the left and struck the earth and was turned full about. While it hung there the waters passed on, and, lo, at our feet, resting almost on a level keel, was as strange a sight as the eyes of a sailor ever beheld.

It was a ship to be sure, but one had to rub his eyes and look again and again to be certain of it. There was the great hull—there the three masts—up aloft the yards, and there were scores of ropes trailing about like slimy serpents. From stem to stern and from keel to masthead the fabric was covered with mud and slime and barnacle and sea grass and shells, and as she rested there the water poured off her decks and out of her hold in such a sobbing, choking way as to bring the shivers. Not a word had passed between the pair of us while the wave raced in and across the island, and the ground below us was clear of the last water before Wallace said:

"I think this ends it, and let us both thank God! This ship was heaved up from the bottom of the sea, where she must have rested for a good many years, but we'll have to wait a day or two before we investigate."

After a couple of hours, to let the ground dry out a bit, we descended the hill to see what damage had been done. About one-half the trees on the island had been uprooted and carried out to sea, and of our hut not a vestige remained. There was scarcely a stone as large as a hen's egg on the island previous to the wave, but now we found that hundreds of rocks had been distributed around, while the dead fish were so numerous that we were hours in gathering them up and giving them to the tide to bear away. Two hours after the last shock the sky cleared, the sun came out, and by night the island was fairly dry in all parts. We, however, gave the ship all next day to get rid of her water and harden in the hot sun. You are prepared to hear, of course, that she proved to be the long lost Star of India. We found that out before we had been aboard of her a quarter of an hour, and later on we had a dozen reasons for believing that the dying Malay had spoken the truth.

I tell you that ship was a queer sight. Her ocean bed had been hundreds of feet deep, and the mud covered everything to the depth of a foot—in some places two or three. Neither one of us had heard of the Star or her loss, but we knew this wreck to be that of an Indiaman, and we went at it to clear away the stuff and get into her. We were a full week doing this, and at every turn we came across evidences to prove the story of the Malay. Three or four of her guns were yet in place, and from the way she had been knocked about by cannon shot it was easy to figure that she had made a hard fight and suffered great loss of life before she gave in. Even before we began work we found the auger holes bored in her bottom to scuttle her. The great cabin and every stateroom had two feet of mud on the floor, and I may tell you that we worked hard for four weeks before we got the hulk cleaned out.

We made the ship our home for six months and were then taken off by a whaler, and our story was the first news received of the long lost ship. The English government sent a man-of-war to the island to overhaul the hulk, and mementos of her have long been on exhibition in the British museum. Nothing could be more queer than the way we found her, or, rather, the way she was heaved up by the sea to be discovered. From soundings made to the east of the island in 1867-8 it was estimated that the great ship rose from a depth of over 2,000 feet. Nothing but an earthquake could have lifted her from that depth, nothing but a tidal wave held her up and swept her to our feet.

UNCLE PETER'S RECIPES.

First.—To keep your feet dry on rainy days: Stand on your head.

Second.—The best way to mind a baby: Do everything he tells you to.

Third.—The safest way to gather chestnuts: Take a pair of scissors and cut them out of the comic papers.

Fourth.—How to get soda water or candy for nothing: Persuade somebody else to buy it for you.

Fifth.—How to make a dollar go a long ways: Put it in an envelope addressed to somebody in the Sandwich Islands and mail it.

Sixth.—How to go west at no expense whatever: Turn your back on the east and walk straight ahead.

Seventh.—To avoid stammering, whispering and impudence: Don't talk.

Eighth.—To avoid swallowing watermelon seeds and cherry stones: Eat no fruit but bananas or apples.

Ninth.—To learn to dance in one lesson: Walk on the hot sand at the seashore at midday in midsummer barefooted.

Tenth.—The surest method of remembering dates: Fix them firmly in your mind and don't forget them.

All children following these rules, which are the result of many years of experience on Uncle Peter's part, will find that they can accomplish the special objects for which the rules are made without any added effort.—Harper's Bazar.

THE CHURN.

Some Timely Advice About Keeping It Sweet and Clean.

We sometimes hear complaints about keeping the churns sweet and clean. They got to smelling strong or "cheesy" and cause considerable trouble, besides injuring the butter made in them.

With proper care, no churn need ever get in this condition. I care not how long in use, writes Mrs. E. R. Wood to The Country Gentleman. Mismanagement somewhere has been the cause every time, and although I am not wise enough to prescribe a cure, I can tell what will restore its sweetness again, I can tell how to care for it so that it will not get into that condition.

In the first place, cream should never be allowed to remain in a wooden churn any longer than is necessary to churn it, and it must be carefully scalded each time before the cream is put in. To let it stand for half a day or longer with cream in is the first step toward tainting it. Scald the churn, cool it with clear, cold water and immediately put in the cream and churn it.

When the butter has been removed, rinse the churn well with cool water at once, and as soon as possible pour in hot water, replace the cover and revolve (if a barrel churn) for a few minutes, then draw off the water, wipe the castings and outside with a clean cloth wrung from hot water, turn the churn bottom side up and hook it in that position, leaving the cover off entirely. It will rarely be necessary to use a brush on the inside, if sufficient hot water is used. Carefully examine the interior under the top rim of the churn to ascertain if any particles of butter have lodged there before washing. This rim is in some churns metal, and if so the butter may adhere to it.

The whole secret of preserving the churn sweet for years lies in its being rinsed free of buttermilk before the boiling water is put in. This water cooks the particles and holds them fast to the wood in the same manner that it does upon milk pails and strainers that are not first washed in water only moderately hot. If any one has noticed a yellowish substance attached to the inside of a milk pail, whether wood or tin, he may know that the cause of it is pouring boiling water upon it before it is freed from every trace of milk. Once on, there is only one way of removing it, and that is by scraping. This can be done with tin, but for wooden ware it is better to throw the utensil away and buy new.

My own way of washing and salting the butter in the churn makes any further rinsing before adding the hot water for washing unnecessary. The churn is thoroughly freed from every trace of buttermilk by the time the washing and salting of the butter is done.

The outside of a barrel churn should never have hot water put on it. To do so is unnecessary, as it does not get at all soiled, and the action of the water soon spoils the varnish, giving the churn anything but a neat appearance. The outer surface needs only to be wiped off with a damp cloth. The standard will need to be thoroughly scrubbed if not kept varnished, as here is where that greenish mold first starts. The cool, moist atmosphere of a creamery or a dairy room makes it difficult to prevent this accumulation.

In selecting a churn it is well to get one with galvanized hoops and castings. Salt soon rusts any other. The cork edge of the cover should be brushed thoroughly each time it is cleansed and all particles of cream carefully removed. If a whitish coating comes upon the galvanized parts, it must be removed by scraping with a thin bladed knife, and more care taken to prevent its formation.

One mistake which many make is in screwing down the cover of the churn too tightly. When it is just tight enough to prevent leakage of cream, stop. To tighten it further injures the cork and necessitates doing the same every time.

Properly cared for, there is no reason why a wooden churn should not be in constant use for an indefinite period without getting rancid. When ice is used in the churn properly to reduce the temperature of the cream, it should be made quite fine, that the inside of the churn may not be made rough by the pieces coming forcibly against it. There is also danger of the sharp corners breaking the glass in the cover.

A Tale of the Sea.

Two American captains were recently relating their experiences on different voyages. One of them told the following story: "About 1 p. m. on March 2 my ship was proceeding under full sail when a cloud about the size of a man's hand was observed on the horizon. It came on, and as it neared the ship we discovered that it was composed of locusts. They settled on the sails, and you couldn't see a bit of canvas for them. When they flew away, there was not a stitch of canvas left on the yards."

"Ah," said the other captain, "I can quite believe that, for at about 3:30 p. m. on March 2 my vessel was proceeding under full sail when we observed a small cloud on the horizon. As it approached the ship we discovered that it was a cloud of locusts, and as they passed our vessel we saw that every man Jack of them had a pair of No. 1 canvas trousers on."—Brazil Nut.

Stagnation.

Stagnation is more dangerous than revolution, but sudden change means a house on sand. Action and reaction is the miserable seesaw of our child world. If these extreme men had their way, the end of the century would be plunged in blood, a universal French revolution. What we have to bear in mind is that, even in a republic, there must be a guiding hand; men of education, experience, weight and wisdom must continue to come forward. They who will not be ruled by the rudder will in the end be ruled by the rock.—Tennyson.

Liquefied air can now be ordered by the dozen bottles in Munich, but just what it can be used for in a general way is in doubt. It is so cold that it blisters the skin at a touch, but its excess of oxygen is a valuable feature. At present chemists are the only customers for it.

The Similarity.

"You speak of your colleague as having a mercurial temperament," said one statesman.

"Yes," replied the other, as he wiped his perspiring brow, "the great trouble about him is that you can't keep him down."—Washington Star.

WHAT DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS have done for others they will do for you, if given a fair trial.

From the Meaford, Ont., Monitor

About two years ago the Monitor procured an interview with Mr. Reuben Petch, of Griersville, in order to ascertain from his own lips if the reports were well founded that he attributed his most astonishing return to health to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The result of the interview was published in the Monitor under the date of Jan. 17th, 1896. Mr. Petch's case was certainly one of the most extraordinary in the annals of medicine in Canada—if not in the world. He had been ill for five years and in that time he consulted no less than six of the best physicians he could find, but none could give him the least relief. His limbs and body were puffed and bloated to such an extent that he could not get his clothes on, and for two years he had not dressed. He had lost the use of his limbs entirely. His flesh seemed to be dead, and pins could be stuck into various parts of his body without being felt or creating the slightest sensation. He could not move about and if he attempted to get up would fall and would have to be lifted up. He was unable to open his mouth sufficiently to take solid food, and had to be fed with a spoon like a child. The doctors said his trouble was spinal sclerosis, and that he could not possibly get better. He was in fact nothing more or less than an animated corpse, so helpless was he. He was a member of the Canadian Mutual Life Association, and was under their rules entitled to disability insurance and made a claim for it. Two doctors, on behalf of the association were sent and they pronounced him incurable and permanently disabled, and in accordance with their report he was paid a disability insurance of $1,650 00. This was about two years after his sickness began. For three years more he lingered in the condition above noted, utterly helpless, and a burden to himself and friends. He was then advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He did not hope that they would help him, but in his sad condition he was prepared to grasp at anything that afforded the prospect of even a slight relief. The first change noted in his condition after he began the use of the pills was a disposition to sweat freely. Then life began to return to his hitherto dead body, and from that time on his progress towards recovery and activity was steady and certain.

The publication of the interview, containing the facts above noted, created unusual interest, not only in this section, but throughout Canada. That a man, whose limbs and body were all but dead, who had been examined by medical experts, and pronounced incurable and on the strength of their report was paid a large disability claim, should afterwards be cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, was looked upon as a marvel. Many were skeptical; not as to the cure—for the fact that he was actively going about proved this—but they did not believe it would prove permanent. In view of the doubts then expressed, the Monitor determined to watch the case closely, and now, nearly two years after the cure was first published, has again interviewed Mr. Petch, with the result that we are in a position to say most emphatically that this remarkable cure has proved permanent.

On being again questioned, Mr. Petch said;—"You see those hands—the skin is now natural and elastic. Once they were hard and without sensation. You could pierce them with a pin and I would not feel it, and what is true of my hands is true of the rest of my body. Perhaps you have observed that I have now even ceased to use a cane, and can get about my business perfectly well. You may say there is absolutely no doubt as to my cure being permanent. Indeed I am in even better health than when I gave you the first interview."

Do you still attribute your cure to the use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills?" ask the Monitor.

"Unquestionably I do," was the reply, "Doctors had failed, as had also the numerous remedies recommended by my friends. Nothing I took had the slightest effect upon me until I began the use of Dr Williams's Pink Pills. To this wonderful medicine I owe my release from a living death. I have since recommended Dr William's Pink Pills to many of my friends, and the verdict is in their favor. I shall always bless the day I was induced to take them."

The above are the chief statements made by Mr Petch in this latest interview, and the Monitor may remark, from long acquaintance with him that we consider his statements absolutely true and reliable. He has no interest to to serve other than a desire to recommend the medicine that has done so much for him, and we feel sure that if any sufferer will write Mr Petch, enclosing a stamp for reply, he will endorse all the statements made above. We may further add that Mr Petch's remarkable recovery leaves no doubt of the wonderful curative powers of Dr William's Pink Pills, and it seems reasonable to infer that they will do for others what they have done for him—restore health and vitality.

The check at the head of this article is a fac-simile of the one by which Mr Petch's disability claim was paid and is given in further corroboration of his statements.

Your Xmas Fruits.

R. F. Mason & Co are showing very choice goods in raisins and currants, which are large and clean, also candied peels, extracts and jellies.

W. C. T. U.

The W.C.T.U. will hold their regular meeting on Monday, 29th, at 2.30, at Mrs. Patos's, Brock street. After the meeting the ladies will have tea and a sociable time together. All members and friends will be cordially welcome. Mrs. Dr. Youmans, of Winnipeg, will lecture here on the 7th December.

An Endless Shoe Lace.

A representative of Packard & Co., of Montreal, dealers in shoe-findings of all kinds, was in town Friday. Among his samples which he was showing in Gough Bros., was an endless shoe lace—a new and convenient wrinkle for saving time and trouble in lacing and unlacing shoes. It's a good thing and will take like hot cakes.

A Big Company Coming.

The largest popular priced company ever seen in Canada will hold the boards at Bradburn's opera house next week, headed by the comedy sunbeam, Mora, America's most versatile soubrette. For the opening play "Pretty Poll" has been selected, a bright and new comedy drama, showing a beautiful picture of New England life, and introducing the clever little Mora in six widely different characters, supported by twenty-two ladies and gentlemen carefully selected from the leading stock organizations. The new ideas of continuous performances are used and high class vaudeville artists entertain between the acts, assisted by the Mora novelty orchestra. New pictures will be shown each evening by the latest and greatest moving picture machine, Edison's Projectoscope. An entire change of plays and specialties each evening. Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Seats now on sale at Osmond & Walsh's drug store.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

The Committee Will Take Action in Regard to the Street Raiway Co.

The Street and Bridge Committee met last night and decided on immediate action in regard to the dangerous condition of George street, caused by the projection of the street railway rails above the level of the roadway. The chairman was authorised to confer with the President of the Company as soon as possible.

The broken stone which has been cracked at the Court House during the last few months, will, by direction, be placed on the streets before the snow falls.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

Arrangements to be Made for Cheap Fares on the Railroads.

The Peterborough Central Poultry and Pet Stock Association met last evening with President Cockburn in the chair.

Report was made of a large number of special prizes which had been donated by the town merchants.

Dr. Poole was instructed to forward $10 to the Canadian Kennel Club for a permit to hold the Bench Show under their auspices. Mr. Wm. Collins, the secretary, was authorized to write to the C.P.R. and G.T.R. authorities to secure the usual reduced rates on the railways. Arrangements will also be made to have the exhibits returned free of charge by the Express companies.

The matter of judges was settled for the present by the secretary being requested to write to President Hesse, of the Toronto Association, asking him to furnish a list of poultry judges whom he could recommend.

The meeting then adjourned to meet in the council chamber on Thursday, Dec. 2nd, at 7.30 p.m.

THE GREEN GOODS GAME.

The Swindler Still After Victims—No Letters—Only Telegrams to be Sent.

The green goods game is evidently evergreen. It turns up in new guises with great persistence. Mr. D. Belleghem has, as have several other business men in town, a circular which proposes a green goods racket which claims great superiority over the schemes of the vulgar sawdust swindler, and guaranteeing safe, immediate and immense returns.

This game in any guise is too old and too transparent to deceive anybody. Any persons that deals with these rascals is sure to be nipped and he deserves no pity if he is foolish enough to believe that anybody will give anything for nothing, and for the greater reason that he will be a party to swindling the public and assists in the perpetration of a crime.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

The Case Against Mr. White Dismissed in the Police Court.

In the Police Court this morning Mr. James White, of the National Hotel, was charged with wanton cruelty to animals in leaving a horse belonging to him lying out in the street all night where it had been struck down by a live electric wire.

Before the magistrate, Mr. W. H. Wrighten, the Crown's witness, stated that Mr. White had provided straw bedding for the horse and covered it with blankets and tarpaulins for the night, also leaving a man in charge of it. He had seen this done.

The magistrate felt that in the face of such evidence he could not let the prosecution proceed and dismissed the case without hearing any more testimony, stating that nothing more, in his opinion, could have been done to care for the animal.

Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the defence.

A writ for damages is being issued against the Street Railway Company.

SEWER SERVICES.

Many are Being put in Without Traps—Foul Gas.

The attention of the Board of Health is called to the assertion that many of the services that have been laid from the mains to connect with private places are not provided with the necessary traps. One gentleman states that when he went to make connection with the service that there was a gush of unspeakably foul sewer gas forced into the building, nearly prostrating the workmen and polluting every square foot of the premises. He had to hastily reclose the opening in the pipe and have a proper trap put in before connection could be properly made. It is the part of the council and the civic officials to see that all sewer connections are properly trapped, and if they fail to do so it is the duty of the Board of Health to make them do so. We spend thousands upon sewers for the sake of improving the sanitary condition of the town. If, by the neglect to put in traps, our sewers are made the source of pollution of premises and the breeders of disease, the object of their construction will be entirely defeated.

C. C. Leavens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

AUBURN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Annual Tea and Entertainment on Thanksgiving Evening.

The Auburn Sunday school held their annual tea and entertainment on Thursday evening and it proved a decided success, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. The attendance was good and the programme given excellent.

The chair was ably filled by Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, who was warmly welcomed on this, his first visit, but it is hoped not the last, to Auburn.

The different numbers were well rendered. In the dialogue "Scene in a Backwoods School," all the boys took their parts well, as well as their teacher.

The tableau, "Cupid's Dart," was very pretty, Miss Hamilton being charmingly dressed as a peasant girl.

Before the programme given below was rendered a sumptuous tea was served.

MAKING ROOM FOR CHRISTMAS THINGS.

Just a month from to-day will be Christmas Day—a day strong in the hearts of the people of the country as well as of the town. What splendid shape we soon will be in for Christmas shoppers, when our marvellous display of Holiday Goods is placed on exhibition!

But for another week we must keep on contriving to make more room for Santa Claus' stocks. What a time we have had, selling at any price to clear off the counters and shelves for the new things to come. For another week we must keep it up—this selling at any price—and the money saving chances we have to offer ought to bring the farmers in from the cross-roads and back concessions of the whole country. WEST PETERBOROUGH.

On Tuesday, November 30th, the fourth and final session of the eighth Parliament of Ontario opens in Toronto. In the usual course of events the Parliament will be dissolved and a general election will follow probably towards the latter part of winter or early summer. This circumstance has resulted in candidates for the coming elections being selected in various ridings of the province, and, as announced yesterday, the Liberals of West Peterborough will meet in convention on Saturday, December 11th, to select a candidate to contest, and it is confidently hoped, to carry, the riding, and give independent support to a Liberal Government in the Parliament to be chosen.

So far as West Peterborough is concerned, the Liberals can look forward to the contest with confidence, for it is probable that at the convention on December 11th a candidate will be brought out who will carry the constituency in the interests of good government. In order to leave the convention the largest freedom of action, Mr. Stratton, the present representative, expresses his entire willingness, and indeed preference that the convention shall feel itself perfectly free to select any candidate whom they may feel will command the confidence of the whole Liberal party and of the electors generally. Liberal nominating conventions in West Peterborough are generally mass meetings, and, therefore, the choice they make generally represents the sentiments of the great body of Liberal electors in the riding.

It is to be hoped that the convention called for Saturday, Dec. 11th, will take the form of a grand rally of the supporters of the Hardy-Ross Government, and that it will result in the selection of the strongest candidate available.

It should be remembered that the meeting will be addressed by Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Senator Cox, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., and others.

FINED ONE DOLLAR.

For Committing an Assault on the Market Square.

A session of the police court was held at noon to-day, when a charge of assault was preferred by one oltizen against another, the assault having just previously taken place on the market square, being occasioned by the plaintiff speaking to the defendant's wife, when he had been warned that trouble would ensue if he did so. A little over a year ago the two men quarrelled over the same subject, when the plaintiff was thrashed and the defendant bound over to keep the peace for a year. The year had expired a few weeks previous to this morning's assault, so the bond will not be forfeited. The defendant was fined a dollar.

KEEP CLOSE WATCH!

Look to it that You are Well Guarded Against that Stealthy Enemy, Kidney Disease!—South American Kidney Cure is the Only Remedy Which will Relieve at Once and Cure.

Michael McMullin, of Chesley, writes:—"I had been troubled with gravel and kidney disease for eight years. At times the pain was so severe I could not lie in one position for any length of time. I took South American Kidney Cure according to directions. I got immediate relief. The soreness and weakness all left. I can testify to the remedy being a wonderful cure." This stealthy enemy will not quit you by using pill doses. It must be a kidney specific—a liquid that will dissolve all the hard substances, and carry them off through nature's channel. THE TOWN TEACHERS' ASSO. CONVENTION.

IT WAS IN SESSION ALL DAY YESTERDAY.

A Number of Interesting Papers Were Read—An Open Meeting at Night Addressed by Prof. Reynar, M.A., of Victoria University.

The annual convention of the Town Teachers' Association was in session yesterday and all the sessions were well attended.

Mr. J. Jeffries, the president, occupied the chair, and in opening the convention at the morning session, congratulated the Association on the very favourable conditions that had prevailed during the past year. He referred to the few changes in its membership, and to the success that had attended the work of the various schools as seen in the results of the Promotion, Entrance and Institute Examinations. He commented on the harmonious relations existing among the several schools of the town and among the teachers of each school. The Board of Education was most favourably referred to as most zealously guarding the highest interests of the town and at the same time generously recognising and encouraging the services of their employees. Allusion was also made to the commendable absence of journalistic and aldermanic abuse sometimes met with by the teaching profession in less fortunate places. In conclusion he urged upon all present to contribute their share to the success of the convention by paying sympathetic attention to the papers read and freely taking part in the discussions.

The first number on the programme for the morning session, yesterday, of the Town Teachers' Convention was an address on the subject of History by Mr. J. McCaig, M. A., LL. D., of the Collegiate Institute. His treatment of his subject was very broad, comprehensive and philosophical. It took account of the subject on both the theoretical and practical sides. The nature of history and its value as mental discipline was treated in the first part of the address and the scientific principles underlying it were given in the second part.

History being concerned with the activities of man, should, in the first place, be of interest to every man. The faculties of mind trained by History are the memory, reasoning, imagination, moral and religious feelings and will. In respect to the value of mental discipline history is perhaps inferior to classics, mathematics and science, but on another side it far surpassed them. Every subject has a value both as discipline and as knowledge. On the latter side history surpassed all other subjects. It is the best training for citizenship, as we can understand present political institutions only in the light of the past and

TO APPRECIATE THEM.

It develops patriotism, independence, moderation, religious toleration and a regard for justice and right.

With regard to the teaching of history, the speaker showed that as history was a memory subject, the organizing and unifying of its diversified materials depended on the laws of association, and that there were three principles that are indissolubly joined to history, and these are the ideas of time and succession, place, cause and effect. By the skilful manipulation of these, the fabric of organized knowledge is built up in the mind of the pupils. The speaker had no cut and dried system of rules for teaching history, but rather gave the basis for all methods in expounding the philosophy of the subject.

The address was enlivened by appropriate and humourous illustrations, and was warmly commended by those who took part in the after discussion. They were Rev. H. Symonds, Messrs. C Fessenden, D. Walker, Keogh and the Misses Mark and Pakenham.

The discussion on the paper was led by Mr Keogh Misses Mark and Pakenham.

PUBLIC SCHOOL DRAWING,

by Mr. J. C. Smith, was the next paper.

The five books of our Public School Drawing Course were taken up. The grading of this course was touched upon, and where, in each succeeding book, new principles presented themselves, the teacher's attention was drawn to the manner in in which they were presented to the class.

What a child should be able to do for himself after completing each step of our Drawing Course was suggested.

The ensuing discussion was led by Mr. M. O'Brien, Miss Perrin and Miss Hall.

IN THE AFTERNOON

Miss M. A. Nicholls illustrated the teaching of reading by instructing a class. She prefaced the instruction with a few remarks, in the course of which she stated that the first step in the education of the human race began with the establishment of contact between mind on the one side with nature and society on the other. These ideas of the natural and social were simple and depended on environment. But this knowledge was soon reinforced. As men were led to observe, think and remember they began to impart what they learned to others. One generation told what they knew to the following. This was really the beginning of teaching—tradition i. e. oral delivery from man to man and from age to age, which is the second step in the education of the race. Writing and reading may be considered twin arts, forming the third step. These cannot exist apart, as the one depends on the other. The author is the creator of composition, but is unable to keep it alive. That function falls to the lot of the reader, who recreates it. The three requisites for reading are: (1) The reader must have a mental preparation that will enable him to receive the knowledge contained in the composition. (2) He must know the power of the characters used in the expression of printed thought. (3) He must have vocal training that will enable him to convey to others what he himself finds on the printed page.

The discussion was participated in by Mr. H. A. Yeanes, Miss Brown, and Miss O'Connell.

THE LAST ITEM

of the programme was a paper by M. A. Sorsoleil on "Teaching Composition to the Junior Third Grade."

The paper first showed the change in opinion regarding the importance of composition as a culturing subject. In presenting this subject four points required consideration. These were Form, Matter, Language and Criticism. Form is of a two-fold nature—first mechanical and secondly requiring an exercise of thought and judgment. The first referred to the general appearance of the work. The second to the logical arrangement of sentences and paragraphs. These should be taught by observation and the analysis of good models.

In discussing matter it was shown that the subjects should be familiar and within the pupils' range. An earnest discussion should precede each composition in order to arouse interest and give sequence to the subject matter.

The improving of the child's vocabulary is a slow and gradual process. Every subject should furnish its quota of words. The great aim of the teacher should be to bring into organic connection and common use the words thus acquired.

The paper then went on to show how criticism was the most unsatisfactory part of the work. Methods for correcting were given and discussed. The paper closed with an appeal to teachers to pay the greatest attention to the study of models and the arousing of interest in the subject to be written upon.

THE OFFICERS.

The following officers to act for the ensuing year were elected during the afternoon session:—

President—D. Walker, B.A.
Vice-President—Miss Spence.
Sec.-Treas.—J. C. Smith.
Executive Committee—Messrs. Welkey and Keogh and Misses Mark and Cairns.

EVENING SESSION.

In the evening an open session was held in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, when a lecture on "Humour" was delivered by Prof. A. H. Reynar, M. A., of Victoria University.

A large audience assembled to hear the address and all went away with a far different idea concerning humour than when they entered the hall. Finely drawn distinctions were given of satire, sarcasm, irony, pathos, wit and humour, and the latter was found to differ so greatly from all other characteristics to such a degree as to make it impossible to class it with any of them. It was one of the things that gave pleasure, and therefore is considered an essential to a complete life. A great mistake was made in imagining that there was any true humour in saying funny things. Nothing could be more distinct from the sense of the term. Humour was seldom found in in woman to the same degree as in man. George Eliot was an exception, however, but her education could be credited with the result. She was brought up in a puritanically religious fashion and afterwards educated on philosophical lines. True humour was found more generally existing in the Scot—the deep thinker. It was found in the books of Ian McLaren, Browne and Stevenson.

The lecturer spoke for over an hour and at the close of his remarks was tendered a warm vote of thanks on motion of Messrs. L. M. Hayes and Robert Fair.

Mr. Peter Hamilton occupied the chair during the evening.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Sessions Opens In Peterborough on Monday Before Justice Rose.

The non-jury sittings of the High Court will open on Monday next before Justice Rose, when the following cases will be taken up:

The Central Bridge Co. vs. Dominion Construction Co.—Denniston, Peck & Stevenson for plaintiff; Carscallen & Cahill for defendant. This is a case in which the Central Bridge Company is suing the Dominion Construction Company for $10,429.88, being the alleged balance due on a bridge erected for defendants over the Desjardine Canal at Hamilton. The defendants state that the bridge was never accepted by them, and that they were induced to enter into the contract by misrepresentation regarding the weight of the bridge, which was not to exceed 275,000 pounds, at $4 40 per 100, when in reality the weight amounted to 474,702 pounds when finished, and consequently entailed greatly additional expense.

Brown vs. The Village of Lakefield.—E. B. Stone for plaintiff, Dumble & Johnston for defendant. A case in which the plaintiff, J. G. Brown, sues the Village of Lakefield for $200, and asks that the defendants be restrained from causing the surface water from a newly constructed culvert across the street to discharge itself in such a manner as to flood his premises in the spring. The defendants state that the plaintiff's land is the lowest in the village, and that the culvert has been in existence for over twenty years.

Scriver vs. Quirk et al—Geo. J. Sherry for plaintiff. Edmison & Dixon for defendant. A case in which the plaintiff sues the executors and heirs of the late Rev. John Quirk, of Hastings, to recover wages due, etc., to the amount of $900. The defendant, Eliza Quirk, who disposed of the property of the deceased, states that at the time of such disposition she had no knowledge of the claim of the plaintiff, but that of the money which is now left she is willing that the plaintiff have a fair share if a lawful creditor.

Kinsman vs. Kinsman.—A. A. Smith, of Millbrook, for plaintiff; Robt. Reddy, for defendant.—A case in which the plaintiff, Mary Kinsman, asks for alimony, claiming that the defendant, a short time after his marriage to her in 1894 began to exhibit a very bad temper. He refused to furnish necessary supplies and became addicted to the use of intoxicating liquor and often returned home in a drunken condition and used violent and abusive language toward the plaintiff and threatened to strike and kick her. In November, 1895 the defendant abandoned the plaintiff and went to live in Millbrook. Subsequently he returned to her, but refused to make provision for her maintenance and abused her, threatening her life. In March 1896 defendant made charges against plaintiff's character, falsely accusing her of having immoral relations with other men.

The defendant in the statement of defence, claims that he is 76 years of age, and that since the day of his marriage the plaintiff has acted towards him as if money was her sole object in marrying him, and that defendant executed an agreement in writing whereby he consented to giving plaintiff an annuity of $100 per year, to commence after his death, in lieu of all claims of whatsoever nature for alimony or otherwise which the plaintiff might have upon the property of the defendant, and the defendant pleads the said agreement as a bar to this action.

That on various occasions the plaintiff left her home for three or four days at a time, returning in a drunken condition. That he took a dwelling in Millbrook and asked his wife to live with him there, and forsake her old associates but she refused. That his income is small, but he is the owner of a furnished dwelling, and if the plaintiff would discharge her duties as a wife, and live with plaintiff, he is now and always was willing to receive and live with her as such.

Well Dressed Children Where Diamond Dyes Are Used.

Mothers who wish to save money, and who are economical in home management, are not obliged to buy clothing for their children as frequently as some mothers do. This saving of money is due to the fact that the economical mothers are regular users of the wonderful Diamond Dyes that always make old things look as good as new.

The Diamond Dyes show such a variety of standard colours that mothers can now dye any of the fashionable colours and shades seen in the new autumn dress goods. At the very small cost of ten cents an old dress can be made stylish looking and serviceable for a long time.

If mothers would have success with home dyeing they must use the Diamond Dyes at all times. All imitations and mixtures of soap and colouring matter should be avoided with care, as they are ruinous to good materials. Diamond Dyes are the best in the world; they are pure, strong, brilliant and last forever.

Canadian

In every respect the Canadian Order of Foresters is a representative national society. Its work is confined to Canada, yet it protects and guards its members in whatever part of the world they may reside. It insures its members for $500, $1000, $1500 or $2000 at rates running from 35c. to $2 monthly—according to age and amount. Sick benefits are also available at low rates. For nearly 20 years the Canadian

Order of Foresters has maintained a splendid record for prompt payment of claims, and its securely invested surplus funds exceed $550,000.00. The easy payments, ample security and favorable rates render it the duty of every careful and provident man to insure his life for the benefit of his dependents, and the many advantages offered should guide him to insure in the Canadian Order of Foresters.

THE PORT ARTHUR MURDERS.

Oliver Prevost, Alias Gauthier, Makes Confession—Mrs. Gauthier Put Poison in the Tea—Bodies Cremated.

Pembroke, Ont., Nov. 27.—Oliver Provost, alias Gauthier, sentenced by Judge Armour to seven years for stealing pork and furs at Renfrew, has made a terrible confession to Crown Attorney Metcalfe here. Some time ago he left his wife and went off with a Mrs. Gauthier from Valleyfield, Que. Assuming Gauthier's name, they went to Port Arthur, and started hotelkeeping.

Two men named Rene Dabin and Fred Corriere lived in a shanty near the hotel. The men called on Prevost Feb. 10 last to trade some pigs, and they remained for supper. Prevost says the woman (Gauthier) put poison in the tea for the men, but would not give him any tea. Both men left the table before the meal was finished.

One dropped dead in the house, the other immediately in reaching the door.

Realizing they would be arrested for murder, and to screen themselves, they placed the bodies on a sleigh, took them to their shanty, laid them on their bed, after searching them, and taking what money they found, they set the place afire and cremated the bodies.

Prevost says he frequently quarrelled with Mrs. Gauthier, and was afraid she would poison him also, as she told him she always kept poison on hand. Mrs. Gauthier deserted Prevost, and returned to her husband at Valleyfield.

CURING DYSPEPSIA

In Simplicity Itself When Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are Used.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets don't cause feverish over-stimulation of the digestive organs. Their effect is to strengthen and re-invigorate the stomach, while they are digesting the food.

In effect, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets say to the worn-out, exhausted stomach:—"You take a day off. Let me do your work for a while: you just take it easy, and rest." Then they go to work, and the effect is marvellous.

The food is digested, dyspepsia disappears, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, etc., vanish. The stomach grows strong, healthy, vigorous, able to digest any food supplied to it. The blood becomes pure, the nerves that were shattered by indigestion or dyspepsia become steady and healthy, and the irritable, fault finding man or woman becomes pleasant, genial and sunny-natured. All because he or she used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the smaller tablets that are in every box.

The manner in which these changes are made is simplicity itself. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act in place of the stomach till the stomach regains its strength. At the same time they tone it up and nourish it.

Try the treatment yourself. Give your stomach a holiday. Give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a chance. They'll positively do the work.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, for stomach and bowels, are for sale by all druggists or will be sent on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Where is May Barnstable?

Montreal, Nov. 26.—May Barnstable, the daughter of a well-known resident of Lachine, near Montreal, disappeared from home a few days ago and no trace of her can be found. The case is shrouded in considerable mystery, as the family, who are well-to-do people, cannot give any reason for her disappearance.

Gary Will Try Luetgert.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Judge Gary definitely announced yesterday that he would take the Luetgert wife murder case for trial and that he would begin the hearing on Monday.

The confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla is due to its unequalled record of wonderful cures.

Sign of Strength.

The sign of strength, a ruddy countenance, depends upon rich, red blood. To make the blood rich and ruddy, the countenance clear and bright, and the step firm and elastic, used Burdock Blood Bitters. J.A. Gillan, B.A., Toronto, Ont., says: "I enjoy good health now to the greatest degree, ever since the day I started to use B.B.B."

TROOPER DENNIS HURT.

Calls Out the Sympathy of His Excellency the Governor-General.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock Trooper Dennis of the Royal Canadian Dragoons was riding east on King street with a horse from the fort for Government House, when the off animal shied at a passing trolley car and fell, causing Dennis' horse to fall at the same time. In falling Dennis' left leg was caught under the other horse, resulting in a serious dislocation of the soldier's foot. He was carried into Government House stables, where his injuries were attended to by Drs. Bruce, Riordan, Gallow and Pepler. Dennis' left leg is also broken above the ankle. His Excellency the Governor-General, hearing of the accident, called to see the sufferer, and was most solicitous for his comfort, remaining until Dr. Riordan had reduced the dislocation. The patient was then removed in the police ambulance to the New Fort Barracks.

MEDALS FOR FENIAN FIGHTERS.

Old Documents Destroyed, and Now There Will Be Trouble About It.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—It appears that during Major-General Herbert's tenure of office a general clearing out of all documents and files was made in the vaults of the Militia Department by the G.O.C. orders. Among the papers destroyed were the pay lists and regimental registers of the corps which served in the Fenian raids of 1866 and 1870. Accordingly the department will have to resort to other means of proving the claims of applicants for medals for those services.

NOTES FROM WINNIPEG.

Illness of His Grace Archbishop Langevin—The Assessor Resigns.

Winnipeg, Nov. 26.—Mr. E. W. Smith, who has held a position as assessor for about 12 years, has handed his resignation to the City Council, owing to what he considers harsh and arbitrary treatment at the hands of the mayor.

His Grace Archbishop Langevin is still in the St. Boniface Hospital, but expects to be out in a few days.

A B. C. MAN KILLED.

A Sad Thanksgiving in One British Columbia Home.

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—J. McMaster of this city was accidentally shot on Wednesday while duck shooting on Lulu Island, near this city. While stepping out of a boat his gun went off, killing him instantly.

CLAIMS CONFIRMED.

Work of the Venezuela Arbitrators Made Easy by Discovery of Old Memoranda.

London, Nov. 26.—A letter received here from Georgetown, British Guiana, announces that Great Britain's legal experts have unearthed in the colonial archives there a series of volumes containing memoranda giving a running history of the Dutch settlement of Guiana, from the middle to near the close of the seventeenth century, fully confirming the British boundary claims.

The memoranda, it is added, were written or dictated by the commander of the settlement, the seat of government being on the River Essequibo. They contain frequent references to trading expeditions to the Dutch depots on the Upper Cuyuni, to the Moruca and to all the northwest country which the Venezuelans assert the Dutch never possessed. It is claimed that the discoveries clear the question and will greatly facilitate the work of the arbitrators.

Turkey Saluted in Due Form.

Vienna, Nov. 26.—Despatches received here from Mersina, Asia Minor, announce that, as a result of the decision of the Turkish Government to grant the demands of Austria for redress in consequence of the ill-treatment of Herr Brazzafolli, the agent of the Austrian Lloyd Steamship Company at that port, and the subsequent insults complained of by the Austrian Consul there, the flag of Austria was duly saluted at Mersina yesterday by Turkish guns, with all the ceremonial demanded by the Government of Austria.

Russia Getting Anxious.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 26.—The Russian newspapers urge that Russia, France and Great Britain should occupy points in China, to counterbalance the German occupation of Kiao Chou Bay.

Japan is Interested.

Yokohama, Nov. 26.—The Kiao-Chou affair is seriously occupying the attention of the Japanese Government, and the representatives of Japan abroad have been instructed to ascertain the resolutions of the powers.

Getting Ashamed of Themselves.

Vienna, Nov. 26.—The unparalleled violence in the Lower House of the Reichsrath yesterday is almost the only subject of conversation throughout Austria today. The German Progressist party has published a note expressing regret at the outbreak and disclaiming any responsibility for it.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life-Saver of the 19th Century—Bright's Disease Robbed of its terrors.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th—Local medical men common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveller of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and no other medicine but Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good. These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

China Preparing to Fight.

London, Nov. 26.—A despatch to The Times from Hong Kong says it is reported there from Canton that the Viceroy of the Province of Quang-Tong, with the Chinese Admiral and General, is preparing defences and river forts on the Canton River, as a result of "telegrams received from the north."

Earthquake in Roumania.

Bucharest, Nov. 26.—There were two severe earthquake shocks here at 1.45 yesterday. No damage was done.

Money Cheaper in India.

Calcutta, Nov. 26.—The Bank of Bengal has reduced its rate of discount from 6 to 5 per cent.

Have the Youngsters Eloped?

Chatham, Nov. 24.—Minnie Brown, the attractive little daughter of Stephen Brown, concession 8, Raleigh, who has been working for some months past in the millinery department of Thomas Stone's, has been missing since Friday evening, and it is now feared that she has been induced to elope with Harry Damon, formerly news agent on the E. & H. R., and partner of John Graham, now awaiting trial on a serious charge. On Friday evening she did not return to tea, and the same night Damon packed up his clothes and departed. They are thought to be in Detroit.

ALARMING!

The frequency of Heart Troubles given Collingwood people no need for alarm. Its ravages can be stopped.

"For a number of years," says Mrs. J. W. Gardiner, Napier St., Collingwood, Ont., "I have been afflicted with nervousness and weakness of the heart. The symptoms constantly became more distressing and alarming as the disease advanced. I had violent palpitation and fluttering of the heart which naturally made me weak. My sleep was disturbed with frightful dreams and my mind wandered at night. In addition to this my blood was much impoverished, causing sleeplessness and fatigue. I became thin and lacked bodily vigor. Dizziness and weak eyesight, blurred vision, etc., added to my distress, and at times I found it difficult to breathe after slight exertion and felt always tired and weary.

"At Mr. Carpenter's drug store I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in March last, and from that time began to get better and gain in strength and weight. By their remarkable tonic action they brought my entire system to health and strength again, gave me restful, refreshing sleep, enriched my blood and restored vitality, and in every way conferred great benefit upon me. I cannot say too much in favor of this great medicine as a tonic for all forms of physical weakness caused by wrong action of the heart or nerves."

A CONFLICT IN LAGOS

French and British Forces Meet and Fight.

NIKKI TAKEN BY THE FRENCH.

The News Discredited in Both London and Paris—Territory in Dispute—Aims of the Two Great Powers May Clash—General Cable News.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—A despatch to The Frankfort Zeitung from Rome reports that a sanguinary conflict has taken place between the French and British at Nikki, in the Lagos Hinterland.

A conflict between the French and British forces in the Lagos Hinterland has been anticipated for some time past. Both countries have been hurrying troops into the disputed territory. The trouble is of about 20 years standing, dating from 1868. In 1870 France and Great Britain opened negotiations for the settlement of their respective frontiers in West Africa, and it was decided in substance that French influence and authority should be confined to the north of a certain line, and that Great Britain should have a free hand south of this line. The outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war interrupted the negotiations. Finally it was resolved to appoint commissions to consider the whole matter, a meeting in Paris was arranged, and as a result, during the course of the next ten years, four separate agreements were concluded. One dealt with the territorial limits of Sierra Leone, the second arranged a number of disputed points regarding Gambia, Sierra Leone, the Gold Coast and Lagos. The third agreement drew a line between the spheres of the two countries in the Niger region, running from Say, on the Niger, to Barua, on Lake Tchad, and making a detour so as to include the Kingdom of Sokoto in the British sphere.

The fourth of these agreements settled the interior frontier of Sierra Leone, relinquishing the Hinterland to France.

But since these agreements were arrived at further difficulties have arisen, owing to the failure of the boundary commissioners of Great Britain and France to agree among themselves as to the frontier lines, and especially as to the interpretation of the Say-Barua treaty, principally owing to the absence of any boundary line to the southwest of Say, where the competition of the British and French has been very strong. The British Niger Company, which was first in the field, concluded a number of treaties with native chiefs, bringing the whole of the Borgu and Dahomey Hinterland within the British sphere. This was during the fall of 1894. In the meanwhile the French were trying to establish a a great African Empire, to extend from Algeria to the basins of the Congo and the Upper Nile. But for this purpose it was essential to secure the Hinterland of Lagos and Carnotville, in Northern Dahomey, became the base for despatching a number of French expeditions into the interior with this object in view. The British Niger Company, however, getting wind of the French plans, despatched Captain Lugard, now Major Lugard, to Nikki, the capital of Borgu, for the purpose of negotiating a treaty with the native ruler, and the English officer was fortunate enough to reach there before a French officer, Commandant Decoeur, who was bound for the same place and with the same intention, although the latter had the start, and Lugard secured his treaty and carried it away three weeks before Decoeur arrived at Nikki. The French, however, seemed to have chosen to disregard this fact, and have despatched armed expeditions not only to Nikki, but to Brousse, which has all along been acknowledged to be within the sphere of British influence. Besides this, the French have raised a question as to whether the right bank of the Niger, below Say, is properly included in the British sphere, under the Say-Barua treaty, and to settle these questions commissioners representing Great Britain and France are now tardily beginning to deliberate.

Its Accuracy Doubted.

London, Nov. 27.—While the accuracy of the statement contained in the Rome despatch to The Frankfort Zeitung, announcing that a conflict has taken place between the French and British troops in the Lagos Hinterland, is doubted, the London morning papers yesterday pointed out the imminent danger resulting from the proximity of the two forces in the contested territory.

Later in the day a rumor was received at the British Colonial Office to the effect that there had been a collision between the British and French forces at Nikki, which is said to have been captured by the French troops. The officials of the Colonial Office, however, consider this report to be highly improbable, as they explain, the British police in the Hinterland, who are a very limited number, had strict orders to avoid any collision with the French. It was also understood that the French forces had been instructed not to come into conflict with the British. The British forces in the Hinterland, it is further stated, are being reinforced considerably.

The Colonial Office late this evening received a cable message from Lagos, West Coast of Africa, stating that a rumor is current among the natives there of a collision between 400 British and French troops.

The report, it is believed, will prove to be founded on a conflict between the French and some natives.

Lebon Does Not Believe It.

Paris, Nov. 27.—M. Lebon, the Minister of the Colonies, has received no information of a collision between the British and French troops at Nikki, in the Niger region, and discredits the report.

SCIATIC, OUCH!!!

Excruciating Pains—Have You Suffered Rheumatic or Sciatic Pains?—South American Rheumatic Cure Will Relieve in Six Hours and Cure.

"I have suffered intensely with rheumatism and sciatica in my left hip. I tried a great many remedies and a number of physicians, but they could do very little for me, only giving me at times a little temporary relief. I saw South American Rheumatic Cure advertised and decided to give it a trial. The first few doses benefitted me wonderfully, and after taking only two bottles the pains disappeared, and there has been no return. I consider my cure a marvel, as I had been so bad for two years that had I been given the whole universe I could not lie on my left side."—E. Ferris, Merrickville, Ont. Sold by H.S. Macdonald.

A REPLY TO WASHINGTON.

Suspension of Pelagic Sealing Refused by the Canadian Government—The Joint Commission—Other Questions.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—The Government have transmitted to Washington a reply to the proposals of the Hon. J. W. Foster in regard to the means of arriving at a settlement of the various questions between the United States and Canada. When Sir Wilfrid and Sir Louis Davies were in Washington the United States first proposed to pay the Canadian Government a lump sum of money to extinguish pelagic sealing, but this Sir Wilfrid Laurier instantly refused and would not entertain for a single moment.

The reply points out to the United States that pelagic sealing is carried on under the sanction of an international tribunal, and under the sanction of statute law enacted by the Imperial Parliament, and the Canadian Government, and even the Canadian Parliament, have no power to suspend pelagic sealing, even for one year, without Imperial legislation.

The reply likewise says the more sensible plan is for the proposed commission to get together and see if they can agree, a matter that will not consume more than a month's time, and if they do agree steps can be taken to suspend pelagic sealing in Behring Sea during the coming season.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney disease.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

Playing Checkers for the Championship.

Windsor, Nov. 26.—The checker match for the championship of Canada and $200 a side and a silver cup between J.M. Dykes of Wardsville, the present champion, and Robert McLaurin of Windsor is in progress here. It begins to look as though McLaurin would wrest the championship from Dykes. McLaurin has won four games, Dykes none, and ten have been drawn. Twenty-six games remain to be played.

Batcheller Going to Cairo.

Saratoga, N.Y., Nov. 26.—Judge Batcheller of Saratoga, appointed by President McKinley a member of the international tribunal in Egypt, will, with his family, sail from New York on Dec. 11 for Cairo, his future judicial residence.

Can Work all the Time.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrh of the stomach, and tried many different prescriptions without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken fifteen bottles and is now able to work all the time. We prize Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." ANNA MERRILL, Eaton, Que.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Cure all liver ills. 25 cents.

The Trial of Martin Thorn.

New York, Nov. 26.—The second trial of Martin Thorn, the barber who is charged with the killing of William Guldensuppe, is progressing much more quickly than the lawyers on either side anticipated, and, now that the chief preliminary evidence, with the exception of Mrs. Nack's confession, has been reheard, very interesting proceedings were looked for when the court resumed at 9.30 to-day.

Mr. Howe has come out straight and says: "We will show that Mrs. Nack committed the murder."

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 58, St. Henri, Que.

Snap and Vigor Wanted.

Thinking of Gift Times Now?

Gift Things, of all things, should be RIGHT—not necessarily costly, but in good taste. This store is never more necessary than during holiday times. It is so easy to make mistakes during the "rushed-for-time" days that one is in danger of buying gaudy things, despite usual good judgment. Safest to go where gaudiness does not enter. Nothing so givable—nothing as necessary—nothing so much admired as AN ARTICLE OF FUR.

For the Ladies:—

A cosy pair of Fur Gauntlets	$2 50 to $15 00
A cosy pair Imitation Fur Gauntlets	75 to 2 00
A Soft Fluffy Neck Scarf	2.00 to 20 00

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

The game in Kingston on Thanksgiving Day between the Peterboroughs and Granites is spoken of as follows by the Kingston News:

Yesterday afternoon an exhibition game of Rugby football was played on the Athletic Grounds between the Peterborough team and the Granites. The weather was anything but pleasant for the sport. Rain began to fall about six o'clock in the morning, and came down in heavy showers all day. The athletic grounds were in fair condition in spots, though in other places the mud was thick, and it became worse as the game progressed. The visitors arrived in the city shortly after one o'clock. They partook of their Thanksgiving dinner in Belleville. The game was called shortly after three o'clock, the teams lining up as follows:

Granites.			Peterborough.
Reyner		Back	Scott
Murray	Halves		King
McCaig			Letellier
Haslett			Lefevre
Dalton		Quarter	Bell
Mito	Scrimmage		Rathbone
Dehaney			Burnham
Mohr			Stethem
Rankin	Wings		Picard
Assistine			Austin
Young			McLellan
Lamb			Thorne
Chown			Rickey
Clark, J.			Herden
Porter			Hollingshead
Geoghegan		Spare

Referee, E. Elliott; umpire, Cadet Caldwell; timekeepers, C. Bass and R. Davidson, Peterborough; goal judges, R. Murray and J. Thorne; touch-line judges, Geo. Low and Mr. Quigley, Peterborough.

The Peterborough boys won the toss and elected to kick north, with the stiff south-west wind in their favour. For the first five or six minutes the game was slow. The players were "scraping" acquaintance with each other. The local team then got down to work, and Geo. Dalton crossed the line for a try. Score, 4—0. "Neilly" McCaig then made a run towards the visitors' goal. He was brought low, but not before he had passed to Murray, who still continued to gain ground. He passed to Mohr, who crossed the line for a try, which was not converted. Score, 8—0. As soon as the game was re-started, the ball was again worked towards the visitors' line. Haslett broke through and went over for a try, but the ball was called back. Then came another pretty piece of combination on the part of the Granites. McCaig, Dehaney, and Reyner being the actors. The last named player made a brilliant run and secured a try. Score 12—0. For the next few minutes the Granites treated the spectators to some fine passing, and Dehaney and Murray gained ground, but LeFevre relieved by a long punt, kicking a touch-in-goal. Score, Granites 12, Peterborough 1. The ball was put in motion again, when Burnham punted it away over the dead-line and the visitors were awarded a rouge. Score 12—2. The "Peterborough" players picked up for a time, and the play was forced in the Granite's territory. Lefevre kicked well back of the Granites' goal-line. Reyner lost no time in securing the lemon and, after dodging Hollingshead, made a long run, bringing the ball safely out. Half-time was called and the teams rested. In the second half Peterborough played a much better game. "Paddy" Letellier bucked the line in fine style and gained ground. Lefevre did some good kicking and the full-back, Scott, played a far steadier game than he did in the first half. The points scored in the last half, however, were all in favour of the Granites. They were a rouge, try (Dalton), a safety touch, and try (Clark). Score, 23—2, in favour of the Granites.

The Peterborough Club had no combination. Had the ground been dryer their back division might have kicked better. Letellier put up a dashing game, but was not well supported. Lefevre and Hollingshead did good work at times. Towards the end of the game Scott indulged in some good play. All the Granites played well. Dalton worked his marvellous short passes in splendid style. Murray, Dehaney and Reyner covered themselves with glory and mud. Their brilliant rushes and sure passes were features of the game. McCaig and Porter proved to be valuable acquisitions to the team. The players were literally covered with mud from the chrysanthemum top-knot to their heels. Dalton, Assistine and Haslett looked like mud men, but they played the game as if they were made of the proper kind of "mud." The Peterborough team are true sportsmen, both on the field and off. The took their defeat like men, and asserted as they went off the field, that the Granites were "all right."

"Paddy" Letellier, formerly of Queen's Rugby team, received a royal reception from his Kingston friends. He was always popular in Kingston.

Lefevre, of the Peterborough team, is a graduate of the R.M.C.

When the game was at its height George Dalton exclaimed, "Stop the game—I see a street car ticket." The game was stopped but that was only one of the "yellow kid's" gag

MILLBROOK HOCKEY CLUB.

The fourth annual meeting of the Millbrook Hockey club was held in the fire hall on Friday evening, and was by far the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the club. It was the unanimous decision of the meeting to enter the O.H.A. and a team will be placed in the Intermediate series. The following officers were elected:

Managing Committee—Messrs. W. G. Wood, R. K. Harris and Walter Coombs.
Hon. President—W. A. Fallis, M.P.P.
President—Dr. H. A. Turner.
Vice-President—Arthur Mulligan.
Secretary—Ernie S. Clarry.
Treasurer—W. H. Coombe.
Captain—Chas. Leach.
Rep. to O. H. A.—W. A. Buchanan,

The club starts out with a largely increased membership, and the prospects for the coming season are exceptionally good.

CURLIANA.

The annual meeting of the Lakefield Curling Club was held on Tuesday evening last. The attendance of members was good, and a great deal of interest was taken in the proceedings.

After the routine business the following officers were elected:

Patron—Mr. F. J. Tate.
Patroness—Mrs. F. J. Tate.
President—Levi Payne.
Vice President—G. B. Hilliard.
Chaplain—A. W. Mackenzie.
Sec.-Treas.—M. L. Strickland.
Committee of Management—R. C. Strickland, J. C. Grylls, J. P. Strickland and J. W. Ridpath.

The election of skips was left over until such times as the club saw fit.

It was decided to enter the Ontario Curling Association this year.

The club starts out this season with good prospects, and it is expected that the season will be a lively one in Lakefield, although the club was a little late in re-organizing.

ECZEMA ON HANDS

Completely Covered, and Between the Fingers Skin Perfectly Raw.

Husband Had to Dress and Undress Her Like a Baby.

Physicians' Medicines Drove Her Almost Crazy.

Hours of CUTICURA. Husband Goes Twenty Miles for It.

First Application Gives Perfect Ease in Five Minutes, and a Night's Sound Sleep.

My hands were completely covered with Eczema, and between my fingers the skin was perfectly raw. I had to sit with both hands held up, and away from the fire. My husband had to dress and undress me like a baby. I tried the best physicians, but their medicines gave me no relief, and drove me almost crazy. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES, and did so, although my husband had to go twenty miles to get them. As soon as he got back, I used the CUTICURA (ointment), and five minutes after the first application I was perfectly easy, and slept sound all that night. Before I commenced using CUTICURA REMEDIES I could get no ease night or day. I could not bear to get warm, it would put me in a rage of itching. I always keep CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house now, and recommend them to everybody, because of their wonderful effect. Yours gratefully,

MANY ATTRACTIONS.

These are Busy Days at the Young Men's Christian Association.

Last evening no less than five different meetings and classes were held in the building at the same time.

There was a good attendance of members in the Bible class room, when it was decided to organize a debating club. Splendid speeches were made by Messrs. Bennet, C. H. Bradburn, Geo. Fisher and the General Secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution to submit to the meeting next Friday evening at 8.15 when organization will be completed.

About 35 boys were present at the boys' meeting last night. Mr. S. Hall gave an able address on "Daniel." The meeting was followed by a social, in connection with which the boys gave a number of books and other gifts to the boys' room.

The membership contest score now stands:

Thistles	744 points
Shamrocks	77 "
Roses	47 "

Man and Wife Join Hands in Proclaiming the Great South American Nervine King of Cures for Stomach Trouble and Nerves.

Mr. S. Phillips, of Wiarton, writes: "I was very much emaciated by chronic dysentry and dyspepsia for a number of years. No remedy or no physician seemed to successfully cope with my case. When all else had failed I read of the cures being effected by South American Nervine. I decided to give it a trial. Before I had taken half a bottle I was much improved and felt greatly relieved. A few bottles of it have made me a new man. I am better and healthier than I have felt for years." His wife was always a great sufferer from stomach trouble and headaches. She says: "Seeing the wonderful effect it was having on my husband I tried it also. The remedy gave me almost instant relief and has cured and made a strong woman of me." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conqueror of kidney and liver disease.

Bedroom Furniture.

It is a statement of plain facts to say that you can get the best value in bedroom sets at CLEGG'S. The number of them sold is proof of this. Dozens of new, neat and tasteful designs to choose from. Prices run from $9 up. Call and see them at CLEGG'S Furniture Warerooms, 425 and 427 George street.

Appropriate Decorations,

For all occasions, executed in an effective manner. Fancy coloured bunting, streamers, flags, mottoes, evergreens, etc., expertly arranged. Halls, homes, societies, ball rooms, supper rooms, hotels, etc., dressed in the gayest effects. Special attention to wedding events, social functions, political meetings and other public gatherings. A. KINGSCOTTE, tent and awning manufacturer and decorator, 344 Water street.

REST YOUR STOMACH.

By Letting Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do Their Work.

Give your stomach a rest!

You don't need to quit eating in order to do this. You may eat any food you desire if you only take one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food while your stomach rests and gains strength and health. After two or three weeks of this treatment, you can go on eating heartily of any kind of food you wish, and take no medicine.

Your stomach will have regained its natural health and strength.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, without the least assistance from the stomach, will positively digest the food you eat. They do this every time. Therefore, while you are using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, your stomach is enjoying a holiday, resting and storing up health and vigour imparted to it by the Tablets.

Dyspepsia simply can't exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. This has been proved by actual experience thousands of times, and new proofs are being made every day. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a double treatment, can be procured of all druggists or will be sent on receipt of the price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Madill's Cough Syrup is in brisk demand. Its curative qualities for coughs, colds, sore throat or bronchial troubles, caused by just such November weather as you have experienced, is guarranteed. 25c and 50c bottles. At Madill's Drug Store, 142 Hunter Street.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

PETERBOROUGH'S FAVOURITE

MERCHANT TAILORS,

THE PRIZE TEA AND FREE GIFTS AT THE PEOPLE'S GROCERY. A DECIDED SUCCESS.

Would you believe it, such lovely Tea for 20 cents a pound, and a handsome Present with every pound. I saw a large beautiful white and gold China Teapot given with 1 lb. of this Tea, to an old bachelor. Just think of that! While another young lady carried off in triumph a fine large blue and white Teapot worth more money than was paid for the pound of Tea. Why there was a regular rush to the tables to secure the prizes; gifts for nothing, yes and a whole lot to choose from. Another says: "Oh my, why are you giving away your goods for nothing? Well I want to sell a lot of goods. I want to advertise my business and work up a good trade. Stop now there! I see crowds of people in your store. Why last Saturday you must have done a rushing trade." Well so we did, and we heartily thank you for your kind patronage and favours, and I promise to do my best to deserve it. "I see your advertisement in the Daily EXAMINER, with a grand list of Christmas free gifts for nothing. Just give me a pound of that tea, and I will take a set of those nice China Dishes for my little girl, it will make her so happy. Good Bye." This is what people are saying and doing. We have a large counter filled with free gifts, which every purchaser of one pound of Japan Tea can select from. We have a fine full stock of all lines in Groceries, Fruit, Provisions, Hams and Bacon, Lard, Butter and eggs. Choice Confectionery, Biscuits and Candies. Apples, Potatoes, and Vegetables of every kind, and last our fine Choice Celery, so white and clean so nice and crisp, the best to be had. We invite all the citizens of town and country to come and get the best Celery for their money that can be had at the "People's Grocery," 328 George Street Peterborough.

THE FRENCH AT NIKKI

Reported Battle With the British Denied,

BUT THE SITUATION IS STRAINED

The French Are Engaged in Raiding Contested Territory and a Collision is Not Improbable — Resignation of the Austrian Ministry — Death of a Waterloo Veteran.

Lagos, West Coast of Africa, Nov. 27.—The report of a collision between British and French troops near Nikki is unfounded. The French expedition from Porto Novo has reached Nikki without any trouble.

A Confirmatory Telegram.

Paris, Nov. 27.—M. Lebon, Minister of the Colonies, has received a cable despatch denying that there has been any fighting between the French and British forces at Ornur Nikki, in the Lagos Hinterland, West Africa.

Danger of Roving Expeditions.

London, Nov. 28.—In spite of the cheery optimism of the Colonial Offices of both Great Britain and France the rumors of a conflict at Nikki between French and British forces is a matter of the greatest gravity. The reasons for disbelieving the reports are far from convincing. Since the initiation of the policy of sending armed bands from Dahomey and Lagos, led by officers, to assert the authority of their respective nations and grab anything in sight which might still be unoccupied, it has been obvious that a collision was bound to occur sooner or later. Both Governments have repeatedly been warned to recall these roving expeditions and await the settlement of the delimitation commission now sitting at Paris. It is difficult to apportion the blame for this state of affairs. That the French initiated the system of raiding the contested territory in West Africa is indisputable, but the Colonial Columbus as Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader, has nicknamed Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, made what some think a false step in following suit.

Was Wounded at Waterloo.

London, Nov. 29.—Lawrence McCarthy, probably the oldest man in the world and the last survivor of the combatants at Waterloo, has just died in the workhouse at Nenagh, Tipperary, aged 115 years.

McCarthy was born in Nenagh early in 1782, and had a vivid recollection of the horrors of the rebellion of 1798. He had attained his 33rd year when he fought at Waterloo, where he was severely wounded.

LABOR IN BRITAIN.

Engineering Conference Bodes Ill for the Organizations Talk of a National Convention of Labor.

London, Nov. 29.—The engineering conference apparently bodes ill to trades unionism. The essence of the provisional agreement is that the "Masters' Union" (Employers' Federation) is to be free to introduce into any of the federation workshops the conditions existing in any other workshop, without reference to the wishes of the trades unions. The employers have in mind the system of piecework, in which the unions have no voice, prevailing in certain workshops, and it is the right to substitute individual agreements for collective bargains, which the masters are asking the unions to sign away. If this is accomplished, it involves such vital changes in the methods upon which industry has hitherto been conducted as to menace every trades union in the country. Indeed, the situation is regarded as being so critical that there is talk of summoning a national convention of representatives of all organised labor to discuss the matter.

Masters Have the Best of It.

New York, Nov. 29.—The London correspondent of The Tribune says: The conference of the engineering trade has settled the most difficult question under discussion. This relates to the management of shops, piecework and machines. The masters have carried their main point, and can well afford to be generous in dealing with the question of hours.

Belfast Elects Labor Candidates.

Belfast, Nov. 29.—The municipal elections here resulted for the first time in the election of six Labor and eight Nationalist councillors. Several Independents defeated Conservatives, while in two Nationalist wards two Conservatives, headed by the Catholic bishop and priests, defeated Dillonites. Ex-Lord McCammond was defeated by an Independent.

LORD MOUNTSTEPHEN'S MARRIAGE.

Postponed Event Solemnized With Much Ceremony at Westminster.

Montreal, Nov. 29.—A special cable to The Star says:

London, Nov. 27.—There was a large and fashionable attendance at St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, this afternoon to witness the marriage of Lord Mountstephen to Miss Diana Tuinel, who was a lady in waiting to the late Duchess of Teck. The officiating clergymen were the Bishop of Peterborough and the Rev. Mr. Coggin, vicar of Lemsford. The chancel of St. Margaret's was lavishly decorated with choice plants and flowers. The impressive service was choral.

Amidst the ringing of bells and the strains of the "Wedding March" from the organ, Lord Mountstephen, attended by Sir John McNeill, took his place at the altar railings. The bride, leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Tuinell, passed up the aisle and took her place. She was attended in the capacity as bridesmaids by four pretty little girl relatives, beautifully attired. Then the service commenced.

There were noticed among the guests Field Marshal Viscount Wolseley, Field Marshal Sir Donald Stewart, Admiral Lord Clanwilliam, Sir Stafford and Lady Northcote, Mr. T. Baring, Col. and Mrs. Fellowes, Lord and Lady Selbourne, Lord and Lady Waldegrave, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Lord and Lady Clifford, Rev. R. H. Jephson and Mr. Charles Johnston.

B. S. McInnes, his Lordship's private secretary, acted as one of the ushers. There was no formal reception.

Lord and Lady Mountstephen left for the Continent this afternoon. Upon their return to London they will take up their residence at Brocket Hall.

MR. FIELDING IN ENGLAND.

Canada's Finance Minister Attends a Conference at Manchester.

London, Nov. 27.—(Telegram special.)—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian Minister of Finance, after luncheon with the chairman of the canal directors, Manchester, held a conference at the Lord Mayor's office. There was in attendance a representative body of merchants, and the subjects of Canadian trade and insolvency legislation were fully discussed.

In conversation to-day at Liverpool, Hon. W. S. Fielding expressed the opinion that the Manchester Canal would be a good route to a distributing point for Canadian produce. He qualified his opinion, however, with the statement that the regular line of steamers necessary could not be established without financial aid from both the Canadian and the Imperial Governments.

"We Must Forestall England."

Berlin, Nov. 29.—The presence of Emperor William at Kiel upon the occasion of swearing in the naval recruits has had the expected effect of clearing the situation, so far as Germany's attitude toward China and Hayti is concerned. Within two months a squadron of eight fine cruisers, having on board 3500 men, will be assembled in Chinese waters, and the fact that Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of His Majesty, is to command half this force, lends probability to the reports current in Government circles that hot work is expected, as Prince Henry's great ambition for years past has been to win naval laurels.

Furthermore, the correspondent here of the Associated Press has been told by gentlemen who were at Kiel upon the occasion referred to, that Emperor William, in conversation with Admiral Von Knorr, commander-in-chief of the Imperial Navy, and with Prince Henry, made use of the expression: "We must forestall England."

An Austrian Steamer Sunk.

Constantinople, Nov. 27.—The Austrian-Lloyd steamer Diana has been in a collision off Galatea with the British steamer Antonio. The Diana sank. The 180 passengers and 40 members of the crew of the Diana were saved.

The Diana, which was built at Dumbarton in 1866, registered 1708 tons gross, was 282 feet long, had 35 feet beam and was 23½ feet deep.

Liberals Re-Nominated.

Windsor, Nov. 29.—At the Liberal convention on Saturday Mr. McKee was unanimously nominated for the North Riding of Essex, his present seat in the Legislature.

Brampton, Nov. 29.—Saturday Mr. John Smith, the present member for Peel, received the unanimous nomination of the party again.

BERTRAM'S ANSWER.

His Last Word Completely Floors His Opponents.

TORONTO CENTRE'S FINAL MEET,

Convincing Speeches by the Postmaster-General, the Solicitor-General and Premier Hardy - Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick's Answer to Slanderous Charges Made by Hon. Clarke Wallace.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The final rally of the campaign in Mr. Bertram's interest was held in the Pavilion on Saturday evening, and proved a very successful and enthusiastic gathering. The splendid addresses delivered by Hon. William Mulock, Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick and Premier Hardy, as well as by the candidate himself, were full of convincing and effective arguments.

The Candidate's Last Word.

Mr. Bertram, in opening his remarks, expressed his belief that he had not only the young Liberals but the old Liberals behind him. No matter what happened, he felt confident of the result, he had made during the past week many acquaintances and friendships that would last through life. He was proud of the support received from the men and of the sympathy of the ladies.

There was but one matter that he proposed to discuss, a question that grieved him much to refer to because it was of a personal nature. The Howland canvassers had told over and over again that he was an irreligious man. His friends had asked him to allude to it and he left his reply as a last word in this campaign and asked the Liberal and Tory papers alike in common justice to report it word for word. Then, amid the reverent silence of his audience, Mr. Bertram said:

I believe in God as the Creator and sustainer of all life, in whom we live and move and have our being.

I believe in the fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man and spiritual leadership of Jesus, the great Galilean Prophet.

I bare my head and bow my knee at the name of Jesus as the leador of all true souls.

I worship at the altar of one living and true God. I read the same Bible and sing the same hymns common to all Christian churches.

I have an undying belief in the immortality of the soul.

I believe that true religion consists in visiting the widows and the fatherless in their affliction and keeping oneself unspotted from the world.

I believe in the religion of Jesus, which is summed up in the words, "Love to God and love to man."

The Postmaster-General.

The Postmaster-General was introduced and was received with much enthusiasm. After referring to the declaration of his religious faith which Mr. Bertram had been obliged to make, he said that he always thought that freedom of conscience was the birthright of every free man, he dealt with the charge which has been made in Mr. Howland's press and on his platform, that a scandal was involved in the Crow's Nest Pass project. The proposition was before Parliament and it was before the country for many months.

There was no citizen of Canada more anxious for the completion of the work than Mr. George E. Foster. He had many an opportunity to speak and raise his voice in protest against the proposition if it was deserving of condemnation. Mr. Foster had consumed one-sixteenth of the time occupied by the last session of Parliament, but it never crossed his mind to say that the transaction was in any sense dishonest or unpatriotic. In the Senate, where all but sixteen of the members were opponents of the Government, no objection was raised to it and no one asserted its passage more than Sir Mackenzie Bowell. Mr. Mulock then discussed the three propositions for preferential trade that had been put forward.

He then passed on to the consideration of his own department, and showed how he had already saved $300,000 a year in its administration.

The Solicitor-General.

The Solicitor-General was given an ovation when the Chairman presented him to the audience. In the present contest he understood that there was nothing objected to regarding the general policy of the Government. There were but two questions raised as an issue, scandals they were termed, by the Conservatives. These questions were the Crow's Nest Pass Railway and the Drummond County Railway transactions.

The speaker then dealt first with the Crow's Nest Pass Railway transaction. Hon. Clarke Wallace had stated that this deal was the greatest scandal of which our political history made mention, and when he said this, standing beside him on the same platform was Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway. "This charge," he said, "was made in the presence of a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, one of the parties to this nefarious transaction which is said to be the greatest scandal of which history makes mention. I asked myself this question: 'Why should he stand in silence by the side of a man who would make an accusation of that kind against his company?' Surely it must be a sorry condition of things, and it must be a very hopeless cause that requires Mr. Osler to stand idly by and let such a charge be made in order that it may benefit his friend, Mr. Howland. If those are the means to which they must resort their fortunes must be at a low ebb."

Mr. Fitzpatrick made a complete reply to the charge that a scandal is involved in the Drummond County Railway transaction. As a basis of his statement he recited a portion of the history of the Intercolonial Railway, and the comparison which he was enabled to draw between the methods of the present Government and their predecessors was most instructive.

The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, the candidate and Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. JOHN LA PAGE, 240 Church St., Toronto, Ont.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

DURING the past season over two million boxes of cheese have been sent from Canada to England and there is still some 700,000 boxes to be shipped. The grand total of Canada's cheese exports this season will total a value of twenty million dollars—about four dollars for each man, woman and child in the Dominion. Besides the value of the butter exported was three times that of last year, or over two millions and three quarters of dollars. Our dairying interests are large and much of their importance is due to wise government assistance.

HON. N. CLARKE WALLACE says that "a political party's existence depends largely upon the results of bye elections." By this standard the Liberal party is in a pretty comfortable position. Since the 23rd of June, 1896, Liberals have been returned in twelve cases by acclamation and six seats have been retained by a contest and seven have been captured from Conservatives. The Conservatives managed to retain two of the seats they gained in the general elections, East Simcoe and Champlain. Therefore, according to Mr. Wallace's standard, the Liberals have done pretty well, and the addition of Centre Toronto will confirm their favourable condition. If the Conservatives win, then it will be the first offset to twenty-five successful bye-elections.

"MACK," in Toronto Saturday night, thus refers to the succession duties in connection with the Cawthra estate, left by the late Mrs. Cawthra-Murray, of Toronto:—"The statement is made that the Province of Ontario will collect $250,000 in the way of succession duties on the Cawthra estate. This is a considerable sum of money, but the collecting of it will impose no hardship on anyone. Now that the principle is affirmed and acceded to that governments have the right to impose such a tax as this, we may expect to see the idea extended." There is no doubt that the greater part of this immense sum of money, between three and four millions, has escaped municipal taxation during and since its accumulation, and incidentally that many taxpayers have been oppressively taxed in the way of paying interest. It is therefore eminently just that it should pay its fair share of the cost of the civic protection which has surrounded the operations, rendering the accumulation possible.

THE DEMON OF DYSPEPSIA,

Banished For Ever by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Snow cannot withstand the heat of the midsummer sun. There's no ice on the creeks in August.

No more can Indigestion and Dyspepsia exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. The sun melts the snow; Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food. That's all that is needed to banish Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more. While they are digesting the food, they rest the stomach; tone it up, restore all its old strength, and give it a new supply.

You don't have to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for ever. A short course of treatment, two or three weeks, is enough for any case. Then you can quit using them and enjoy the benefits they have given you.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are specially suited to every form of Dyspepsia. They will positively cure any form of the disease.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent the formation of poisonous gases in the stomach by digesting the food at once. There is no time for it to ferment and create gas.

If the bowels need treatment Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets won't give it. But, in each box is a package of smaller tablets that will. Thus there is a double treatment in every box.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists, at 50 cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

PREMIER HARDY ON PROVINCIAL QUESTIONS

CONDENSED REPORT OF HIS ADDRESS AT AYLMER.

The Record of His Government—Excellent Legislation as Well as Administrative Record.

In an address recently delivered at Aylmer, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Provincial Premier, pointed out that the Liberal party had been equally active in the promotion of good legislation during the brief session which had been held since he had become Premier, a session than which there had been none more fruitful in the past in measures calculated to promote the best interests of the people. He pointed to the record of the Government, and asked what questions had arisen that they had not dealt with, what they left undone that they ought to have done. He had asked their opponents to point to any one question upon which they had fallen behind public opinion. They had failed to answer, because from every quarter, notably from the judicial bench, came the complaint that they had moved too rapidly rather than too slowly. His government, being a continuation of Sir Oliver Mowat's Government, could hardly be expected to launch a number of new and burning questions upon the people; they had kept pace with the times, and they relied upon their record for good, safe, sound and progressive government. He again challenged his opponents if they had any policy to come out and let the intelligent electorate know what it is. Mr. Whitney and his supporters had been speaking all over this Province since June 14th, and he was compelled to ask them now what their policy is. He asked any Conservative, even Mr. Brower himself, if he happened to be present, to name any single act of third-rate importance, any single stroke of policy of even third class importance that either Mr. Whitney, Mr. Willoughby, Mr. Miscampbell or Mr. Matheson have avowed they will place upon the statute books of the province. (Loud cheers.) All this shows that the Government have not been behind in their legislation, that there are not many flaws in their administrative record. He did not say that there is nothing more to do, because in a progressive province there must always be legislation to keep pace with the march of progress. Mr. Hardy then reviewed the history of the agitation for the abolition of Government House, and his explanation of the manner in which the Government had grappled with the question according to their pledge to the people and had settled it upon terms against which no patron had voted in the Legislature, which relieved the province entirely from the maintenance of Government House in five years and provided for a reduction of 50 per cent. in the cost in the meantime, was received with every mark of approval. The question of official fees was next dealt with, and it was shown that three separate measures had been passed cutting them down, until now some of the officials complained that they were cut down so fine that they could not in some cases much more than pay office expenses. The large incomes to which exception had been taken were in any event, it was pointed out, confined to a few of the larger cities, where the boom had given a great impetus to dealings in real estate and litigation consequent thereon, but which had now become a thing of the past. The incomes now derived from the fee system are not larger than the amounts which their opponents had declared in the House to be a fair and reasonable salary to pay, and the amounts received by the officials of Elgin County were quoted in proof of this assertion to the satisfaction of the audience.

ATTITUDE TOWARDS THE PATRONS.

These were two questions which the Patrons made their own during the last election, and the Government had dealt with them. The complaint that the officials took too active a part in elections was also dealt with by the House by the adoption of a resolution, introduced with the sanction of the Government. Having done this the Government are in a position, where the Patrons have not a candidate of their own, to invite their co-operation. There had been no hard language towards the Patrons on the part of themselves or any member of the Liberal party, whilst the Conservatives upon the floor of the Houses at Ottawa and Toronto had taunted and sneered and jibed at the Patrons. The speeches of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Bennett were given as cases in point. The position of Mr. Whitney upon the licenses bill and his vote against giving the municipal councils power to shorten the hours of sale showed how much might be expected from his promise of a better license law. In reference to the oft-repeated assertions of Mr. Whitney and his supporters that there is no surplus Hon. Mr. Hardy spoke at some length, showing that not only had it a real and tangible existence, but that although since coming into power the Government had spent enormous sums in aid of railways to develop the country, and in the erection and establishment of public institutions, and had relieved the municipalities in various ways of further large expenditures, they still had a surplus much larger than that left by the Sandfield Macdonald Government. The Engledue lease was also explained, and the policy of the Government in endeavouring to induce the investment of British capital in the development of our mineral resources was defended. The terms of the lease were reviewed in detail, and the Premier announced that sixty men were now at work prospecting, and that on one of the locations they had made a good discovery, but had not struck anything on the other. That the explanations of the various acts of the Government referred to were entirely satisfactory was shown by the hearty applause which greeted every point, and Mr. Hardy sat down amid a storm of applause.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

A Personal Item.

Mrs. Wm. Hambly, Belleville, Ont., says: "My husband was troubled with kidney complaint, rheumatism, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, etc., and could not get relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for him. He has now used four boxes in all and is perfectly cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the ones that cure. Remember the name, DOAN'S.

THE BEAR SAILS.

To the Relief of the 265 Persons Imprisoned Within Eight Vessels in the Arctic Ice.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 29.—The United States revenue cutter Bear sailed Saturday night for Alaska to rescue the imprisoned whalers in the Arctic Ocean. The best information obtainable gives the assurance of truth to the reports that a fleet of eight whaling vessels are icebound in the Arctic Ocean somewhere in the vicinity of Point Barrow, and that the 265 persons who were at last accounts on board those vessels are in all probability in dire distress. The United States Government therefore sends this expedition to the rescue. Capt. Tuttle was chosen as commander of the expedition because of his long experience in Arctic work, his familiarity with the region of Arctic Alaska from Point Barrow and the coast line washed by the Behring Sea, from which he but recently returned, his known ability and reputation as an able and competent officer, especially fit him for the trust. His ship, the Bear, is officered by an incomparable body of men and manned by a crew of his own selection. The ship is fully equipped, fitted and provisioned for the perilous work in view, for such it must be under the most favorable conditions.

The Bear is loaded with 300 barrels of beef, pork, corned beef, flour, sugar, coffee, hard bread, rice and canned goods. Enough provisions are carried to last the officers and crew of the Bear for one year, with 12,000 rations extra for the whalers. Captain Tuttle is given the largest discretion regarding the expedition, for the department realizes that contingencies and emergencies may arise, now unforseen, and which only the commander of the expedition can meet.

But in general he is ordered to steam as far north as possible—to try and make Norton Sound, which is to be the base of operation. Two points are to be especially observed:

First—Food must be gotten to the starving men.

Second—The best and most feasible method of doing this is to be adopted.

Capt. Tuttle carries with him a big budget of letters to those imprisoned in Arctic ice.

Outcome of the Riots in the Austrian Reichsrath.

BADENI'S MINISTRY RESIGNS.

Another Riotous Scene in the Austrian Parliament Before the Downfall of the Administration - Rioting in Vienna Requires the Hussars to Supplement Police in Obtaining Order.

Vienna, Nov. 29.—The members of the Austrian Ministry yesterday tendered their resignations to Emperor Francis Joseph, who accepted them and entrusted Baron Gautsch, who holds the portfolio of Public Instruction in the retiring Ministry, with the task of forming a new Cabinet. This morning Emperor Francis Joseph addressed an autograph letter to Count Badeni, decreeing the adjourning of the Reichsrath until further orders.

Before the assembling dense masses of people, for the most part workmen, thronged the Ring strasse, from the University to the outer gate of the Hofburg. A charge by the mounted police with drawn swords failing to disperse them, a body of Hussars cleared the streets at sabre point, many persons being wounded. The ambulance society immediately sent two vans to attend the injured.

The streets became more quiet during the afternoon, but at sunset thousands reassembled in the Frangen Ring and the Rathhaus Park, where they indulged in stormy protests against the Government, the passengers in the street cars and omnibuses who went by joining in cries of "Down with Badeni."

Suddenly a change came over the scene. The report spread like wildfire that Count Badeni had resigned. The demonstration ceased almost instantly when the news was confirmed by the police authorities and their subordinates, who announced to the people at various points that they were instructed to inform them of the Cabinet's resignation.

AUSTRIA'S BEAR GARDEN.

The Police Interfere and One of the Delegates is Arrested - The Ejection of Mark Twain.

Vienna, Nov. 28.—The bear garden scenes in the lower house of the Reichsrath were continued yesterday. When the othus, Dr. Abrahamovics, appeared, there was a chorus of "Shame upon you" from the Leftists, accompanied by a deafening noise of whistles and the slamming of desk lids. Many of the Leftists gathered in front of the President's platform, shouting and blowing toy trumpets and flutes while the President was ringing his bell for order. This scene lasted about a quarter of an hour, during which the President quietly remained seated. Then he suspended the sitting.

As President Abrahamovics was leaving the House a number of Leftists pelted him with paper balls. Thereupon the President returned and stood unmoved. After waiting ten minutes and the uproar continuing, the President left the platform. During his absence the noise was not abated, and Dr. Wolff, the German Nationalist leader, and one of the suspended members of the House, who entered about that time, was forcibly ejected by the police, to whom he offered a violent resistance. According to one account Dr. Wolff had to be gagged and was afterwards bundled into a cab and taken to a police station.

At 10.40 a.m., the Vice-President appeared and declared the sitting closed, adding that the date of the next session would be communicated to the members of the House by letter.

Of the 51 persons arrested during the street demonstrations here yesterday, 18 have been sent before the provincial tribunal, charged with causing an illegal assemblage and with holding up the authorities to contempt. One was charged with public violence, ten were denounced to the public prosecutor for trespassing, five will be tried for interfering with official acts, 15 have been fined and one person has been acquitted. The cases of the rest have not been decided.

Later in the day Dr. Wolff was bailed. His case will be referred to the Provincial Court, before which he will be charged with public violence.

Mr. Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), while being forcibly ejected from the lower house of the Reichsrath yesterday, was struck violently by a Czech delegate.

The Reichswehr declared that the uproar in the lower house of the Reichsrath has no connection with the campaign against the language ordinances, but was due to the action of the international social democracy, which considers the time has arrived to complete its destructive work against the State and Empire. Continuing, The Reichswehr says that in view of this fact the State will not yield.

The San Jose Scale in Essex.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 29.—George Mills, Government inspector of fruit trees for the County of Essex, has discovered a section where over two thousand trees are infected with the San Jose scale. He expects that at least one thousand will have to be burned, causing a loss of $6000 or $8000. The infected trees are said to have been part of a large consignment from New Jersey. The County Council has been asked to assist the Government official in stamping out the plague.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, home-made home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 88, St. Henri, Que.

Shocked and Frightened.

Weak, nervous people having heart troubles are easily shocked and frightened. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills fortify the nerves, restore regular action to the heart and cure every form of heart and nerve trouble. Mrs. Gladys McMillan, Toronto, says: "Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills cured me of nervousness and palpitation. I was so nervous that the least noise would startle me; but am now perfectly well."

MURDER MOST FOUL.

One of the Most Dastardly and Bloodthirsty Crimes Stands Revealed in Its Appalling Horror.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Of all the bloodthirsty and deliberately contrived crimes recorded in this province, yesterday's developments around the Poirier murder case at St. Canuto, give it the first place. The facts are these: Poirier, the victim, was an easy-going man, a carpenter by trade, and his only fault appears to have been an appetite for strong drink. He was about 68 years of age and his wife some eight years younger, and, although she was considered somewhat frivolous, Mrs. Poirier was supposed to be a fairly good woman, and this opinion of her seems to have been shared by the parish priest of St. Canute, as she had been engaged for some time past as organist of the village church.

On Sunday morning, however, the whole country was startled by the discovery of Poirier's dead body lying across the bed, his throat cut from ear to ear, and a bloody knife near at hand.

At the Coroner's inquest both the suspects were heard, and they deposed that Poirier had often threatened to take his life, as his business was not going well. However, when Detective McCaskill arrived on the scene he carefully looked over the situation and clapped madame and her lover in jail in very short order. Then the officers began the same tactics that worked so well in the Tom Nulty case over in Rawdon, and with the same success. In a short time the detective had the full confession from their lips.

Sam Paralow declared that he was passionately in love with Mrs. Poirier, and that she had time and again wished him to kill her husband. Some six months ago he bought a revolver in Montreal to do the deadly job, but the woman said that the report would be heard and that they would be caught in the act. He said that he sharpened a butcher knife and that when Poirier was asleep on the bed Saturday night, his wife held her husband down while he (Paralow) cut the man's throat.

Mrs. Poirier makes, however, somewhat of a different story. She said that Sam committed the deed alone, as he had often told her he would put her husband out of the way without her knowing anything about it. She admits, however, that she told Sam that they would divide the $2000 insurance between them. These are the awful facts, and it is generally believed that Paralow's version of the butchery is the correct one.

Chatham, October 18, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—Some time ago I was treated by one of our best city doctors for continued bleeding at the nose and the treatment I was subjected to weakened my stomach so that nothing I could eat would agree with me and I could retain nothing but bread and milk, which was my chief diet.

I tried a bottle of your Sloan's Indian Tonic and at once began to improve and it has made a permanent cure in my case. I can now partake of any food, no matter how strong, and experience no distress after eating.

I have recommended it to several people and in every case it has given grand results, and a bottle of it should be in every household.

Yours very truly,
R. T. PHILLIPS.

INDIGESTION PERMANENTLY CURED.

St. Williams, Co. Norfolk, October 19, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fact that Sloan's Indian Tonic has caused a most remarkable change in my condition. For two years I have suffered from indigestion and weakness and not finding relief from any other medicine until your agent came here one day and advised me to try Sloan's Indian Tonic. I did so and have used four bottles. It has made a great change in my life and I can now rest and sleep with ease and comfort. I believe Sloan's Indian Tonic is the best medicine in the world.

I remain,
Yours truly,

The Coming Concert.

The choir of St. Paul's church has always taken a high place in the estimation of our musical people in the matter of providing first class concerts, and their aim has always been to raise the standard of music in our midst. The choir has been augmented to 50 voices and purposes giving a concert in the Opera House on Thursday evening, Dec. 9th. The excellent character of their singing in sacred music will promise some good work in the programme of part songs by the best writers of the day. Mr. Douglas Bird, tenor, of Detroit, who stands high as a concert tenor, together with Miss Jessie Alexander, our own popular entertainer, will assist the choir in a programme which bids fair to be the best of the season.

A Beany Episode.

A story is being told, which is a very good one, but we cannot vouch for its truthfulness. One of the clerks on this section of the T.V.C. keeps such late hours when he sees his best girl that in the mornings he has that tired and dreamy feeling, making it very difficult for him to keep track of the number of men employed. At last one day he hit upon an easy way of doing so. Before going down to work he took a goodly supply of beans—common everyday beans, with him, and for every man counted he dropped a bean in his pocket. He made out his week report, and it was, as he though, one that any person could understand very easily, but the surprise of his superior in office may be imagined when he read the report which showed Buchanan's gang so many beans, Fitzgerald's gang so many beans, Patterson's gang so many beans. It was some time before he found out what the beans meant, and the clerk will no doubt in future do without beans.—Lakefield News.

WAS IT A JOKE?

A Man Takes a Turkey From in Front of a Grocery and Says he Did it for Fun.

Richard Bailey was arrested on Saturday afternoon on a warrant charging him with the theft of a turkey.

Bailey lives on Reid street, and when on his way home Saturday, took the turkey from in front of Mr. Fleming's grocery and slipped it under his frieze overcoat. A young son of Mr. Fleming saw that something unusual was occurring, although he could not make out what was wrong. He ran out to take a look after Bailey, and saw the head and neck of a turkey hanging down below the bottom of his overcoat. A glance at the front of the store revealed the fact that a turkey was gone, and he instantly surmised what had become of it, and told his mother.

Mrs. Fleming immediately followed Bailey to his boarding house, situated a few doors away and found him in possession of the turkey. He endeavoured to laugh the matter off as a joke, but Mrs. Fleming thought the matter had gone too far for that and had a warrant issued for him.

At a special session of the police court Saturday afternoon the prisoner was remanded until Tuesday.

Bailey is the American stonemason who was recently up before the magistrate on a charge of neglecting to support his wife.

THE DIFFICULY SETTLED.

And the Dangerous Condition of George Street on Account of the Street Railway Rails to be Remedied.

Quite a number of citizens who were out on George street this morning at about ten o'clock wondered at the composition of a little procession that came marching down the centre of the road four abreast and one deep. The quartette was composed of Councillors J. B. McWilliams, chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee; T. E. Bradburn, President of the Street Railway Company; Town Clerk Armstrong and Street Inspector Ranney.

They were inspecting the condition of the rails which have occasioned so much complaint on account of the danger involved to rigs in crossing them, protruding, as they were, several inches above the roadway in places.

It seems that an amicable agreement has been reached with the Street Railway Company, whereby the level of the street is to be raised to the rails, the cost to be defrayed by the town and company each paying half.

As the ground is frozen up it is only possible to put gravel on the street this fall, but in the spring it will be metalled and the space between the rails rolled into a path for bicyclists.

Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure should be kept in every home; if used rightly would save a world of trouble.

MIKADO FLOUR.

FATHER CHADWICK'S ADDRESS ON SIN.

IN ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL LAST EVENING.

He Urges the Congregation to Repent and Put on the Armour of Jesus Christ as the Day of Salvation is Near at Hand.

At vespers yesterday in St. Peter's Cathedral Rev. Father Chadwick, chaplain on the United States Navy battleship, "Maine," preached a most eloquent sermon, taking "Sin" as his subject. He took his text from the Epistle for the day—the first Sunday in Advent, being Romans xiii, 11-14:

> And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.
> The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.
> Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, nor in strife and envying.
> But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof.

In the course of his address the speaker referred to Advent as a time of preparation, and spoke of the lesson which the Church presented in telling all to prepare for the day of their salvation, which was at hand. We are admonished to cast off the works of darkness and to put on the armour of light—to cast away sin and to take the Lord Jesus. Our first duty is to put away sin. Do we realize what a terrible thing it is?

The speaker pointed out a few of the various evils to which man was subject: sickness, poverty and wretchedness, but according to the Holy Scriptures these, he stated, were nothing to the evil of sin. Quotations were then made from the Scripture in proof of this assertion: "If thy right eye offend thee pluck it out and cast it from thee, . . and if thy right hand offend thee cut it off and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell."

He was positive that in our own souls we realized that sin was the greatest of evils, and pictured a man elevated to the highest dignity—made a king, with wealth, pomp, power, courtiers and all the accessories to royalty, but who had raised himself to his high position by perjury and sin. He then contrasted with him the poor man—a beggar—a Lazarus at the gate—and stated that in our very souls we would respect the poor man who was virtuous, pure and holy, rather than a king who came to his power through injustice and sin. Royalty cannot give respect to sin; neither can rags prevent us from honouring virtue.

Father Chadwick then contrasted the evils that men experience and which they regret the most. When they pass through sickness they remember it and rejoice that they passed through it and it bears with it no remorse, whereas the days passed in sin when they are recalled give no peace in the remembrance, but rather remorse and we would seek to blot them from our memory if possible.

The history of the world showed that all evil came through sin. Everything was beautiful and there was no sin in the Garden of Eden before Adam and Eve offended.

Then it was only through the passion of our Lord Jesus Christ, who conquered sin and death, that peace and grace came into the world again.

In concluding the speaker exhorted his congregation that now the day of salvation was at hand, to repent and put on the armour of the Lord Jesus.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Case of Brown vs. the Village of Lakefield Still on.

The non jury sittings of the High Court of Justice opened before Judge Rose this afternoon at the Court House. Amongst the legal gentlemen attending were Messrs. W. R. Riddell, Q. C., Toronto; A. L. Colville, Campbellford; R. M. Ruddy, Millbrook; G. J. Sherry, Norwood; D. W. Dumble, W. J. Johnston, W. A. Stratton, R. R. Hall, Geo. Edmison, R. M. Dennistoun, E. B. Stone, J. Williams Bennett, D. O'Connell.

The first case taken up was that of Brown vs. The Village of Lakefield.—E. B. Stone for plaintiff, Dumble & Johnston for defendant. A case in which the plaintiff, J. G. Brown, sues the Village of Lakefield for $200, and asks that the defendants be restrained from causing the surface water from a newly constructed culvert across the street to discharge itself in such a manner as to flood his premises in the spring. The defendants state that the plaintiffs' land is the lowest in the village, and that the culvert has been in existence for over twenty years. Mr. W. R. Riddell, Q. C., of Toronto, is acting as counsel for the plaintiff.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with 25 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Keep Your House in Order.

What a convenient secretarie is to an orderly business man, a handy workbasket is to a tidy housekeeper—a place for everything and everything in its proper place. Ladies are invited to inspect our new stock of convenient fancy work baskets, with or without stands, novel spool baskets, pretty nursery baskets, etc. At the same time we wish them to see some new and very handsomely framed pictures in very effective mouldings, quite taking, at the Peterborough Bookstore.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Result of a Test.

The following letter taken from the Daily Ontario, Belleville, speaks for itself:—

BELLEVILLE, 18th Nov., 97.

C. C. Leavens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect is to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

Yours truly,
BENJ. SERVISS,
Janitor Butterfield Block.

MAKING ROOM FOR CHRISTMAS THINGS.

Just a month from to-day will be Christmas Day—a day strong in the hearts of the people of the country as well as of the town. What splendid shape we soon will be in for Christmas shoppers, when our marvellous display of Holiday Goods is placed on exhibition!

But for another week we must keep on contriving to make more room for Santa Claus' stocks. What a time we have had, selling at any price to clear off the counters and shelves for the new things to come. For another week we must keep it up—this selling at any price—and the money saving chances we have to offer ought to bring the farmers in from the cross-roads and back concessions of the whole country. MAPLE LEAF CHEESE FACTORY.

Annual Ball and Supper on Thanksgiving Eve.

Maple Leaf cheese factory has already won a reputation for holding first-class social assemblies, (not to say anything of their celebrated cheese) but the supper and ball on Thanksgiving eve eclipsed every former effort in this respect.

The affair, of course, was conducted by Mr. Geo. Brooks and his obliging wife, who are to be congratulated upon the evening's success.

About one hundred couple took in the affair, and excellent music was provided by Messrs. Blewitt and Sullivan, Mr. M. Jamieson being master of ceremonies.

The supper provided by Mrs. Brooks is worthy of mention. The tables fairly groaned under the weight of the excellent repast served, and so well was it patronized that the waiters were obliged to serve four tables.

The evening's enjoyment lasted until about 4.30 in the morning, when the guests departed with the hope that all would gather again next season at the annual supper of Maple Leaf cheese factory.

Beware of Cocaine.

Thos. Hays, Analytical Chemist, Toronto, says:—"I have made an examination of Dr. Chase's Cure for Cocaine and any of its compounds from samples purchased in the open market, and find none present." Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is a cure—not a drug. Price 25 cents, blower included.

Found a Horse.

Four small boys dropped into the EXAMINER office this afternoon to report the finding of a stray horse on Aylmer street. The animal is at present in Mrs. Drake's stable, 188 Rubidge street, where the owner can have it on payment of expenses. It is a bay with three white feet and a white strip on face.

More.

To-night this charming little lady will introduce herself to a Peterborough audience, and if the encoimums bestowed upon her elsewhere prove aught, she will certainly be a big favourite and play to a succession of good houses. More is supported by a first class company of 20 artists. She carries her own special orchestra. Between the acts and during the play several bright specialties, including cake walks and darkey melodies, are introduced. For so sterling an attraction the prices are very low, 10,20 and 30c. Between the 3rd and 4th acts, animated pictures will be shown by the aid of Edison's Projectoscope.

For Catarrh in any form use Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. R. J. Sanders in Detroit on Nov. 21st.

The demise of Martha Sanders, wife of Mr. R. J. Sanders, occurred in Detroit on Sunday, Nov. 21st.

The deceased was born in Douro in 1862, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Saunders. She was married in Peterborough and lived here for some time, removing to Detroit with her husband about twelve years ago. Her husband and three small children survive her. Mrs. Byers, of Fraserville, and Miss Eliza Saunders, of Peterborough are sisters of the deceased. Interment took place in Detroit.

Far from her native land,
Ready to go, death found her,
To join the ransomed band;
Friends gone before surround her.
Jesus said sweetly "Come."
And she's with Him forever,
Safe in her heavenly home,
Beyond the shining river.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Lionel King returned to Trinity University this morning.

Mrs. J. B. Pentland has been quite ill for the last few days.

Mr. Ernie Clarry, of Millbrook, is up attending the sessions of the High Court.

Mrs. Wm. Deyell and son, of Lindsay, are visiting relatives in town and Otonabee.

Mr. W. H. Bradburn is confined to the house with what, it is feared, is an attack of pleurisy.

Miss Lena Walker, of Belleville, who has been visiting Miss Mabel Roy, Stewart street, returned home this morning.

—Mr. Ozias Leplante left this morning to resume his studies at Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

Mr. Andie Scott has gone back to the Dental College, Toronto, after spending Thanksgiving in town with his parents.

Mr. Ernie Wasson is spending a few days with his parents in Warsaw prior to their departure to British Columbia and California for the winter.

Rev. Father Chadwick, chaplain in the United States navy, is in town on a visit to Sister Geraldine, of St. Joseph's Hospital, his sister, who is dangerously ill.

Mr. Walter English to-day received official notice of his appointment as assistant signal officer of the American Canoe Association by Frank N. Dunell, the President of the A.C.A.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows celebrate their anniversary next Monday night.

—The handsome sum of $100 was cleared by the Jubilee Tableax and Charity Entertainment in the opera house on November 19th.

—A grey woollen glove was picked up near the EXAMINER office this morning. The owner can have the same by applying here.

—The St. Paul's Concert Chorus will rehearse on Tuesday and Friday evenings of this week, and every member is urged to be present.

—We have had a touch of polycilmatic weather to-day—snow, rain, wind, zephyrs, sunshine, blustering and, almost, balmy weather.

—Mr. Shirley Ouderdonk, son of Mr. Andrew Ouderdonk, the railway contractor, of Hamilton, has gone to Alaska to superintend the surveying of a railroad. He will represent a company composed of Rothschilds, of London, Mr. D. Mills, of New York, and his father.

—The Lindsay Post says:—"The new 2,000 incandescent light dynamo built for the Lindsay Light, Heat and Power Co. by the Peterborough Electric Co., has been delivered, and will be placed in position on Saturday night.

—Mr. Wm. Walsh and a gang of men have returned to Lindsay from Gull Lake outlet, near Scott's mills, twelve miles below Bobcaygeon, where they had been building a new slide and repairing several dams. The body of Hendred, the Norwood hunter who lost his life there three weeks ago, had not been recovered up to the day of their departure.

—Farmers should not undertake during the threshing season to run their own steam engines, but should employ an expert engineer. This fully illustrated a few days ago, when an energetic Ops farmer, after discharging his engineer, undertook to run the engine himself, with results most disastrous. He was put to the expense of taking the engine to Lindsay for repairs and also engaging a first-class engineer for the balance of the season.

GENEROUS GIFTS.

The Children's Aid Society wish to gratefully acknowledge the following generous gifts:

Rev. V. Clementi, $5.00.
Mrs. Birdsall, $1.00.
Mrs. Jos. Carey, $1.00.
Mrs. John Butcher, $1.00.
Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, bed and mattress for dormitories at the shelter.
Mrs. Thos. Hay, chair and iron bed for the same.
Mrs. Beck, infant's clothing.

A Microbe's Work.

A microbe is about the smallest thing one meets in a day's journey, but it can do more harm for its size than anything known. Boils, pimples, etc., are simply microbes in the skin which cause irritating blood disorders, if not stopped at once; and it is they that prevent wounds healing also. "Quickcure" kills the microbe immediately after an application, and any sore heals rapidly where "Quickcure" is used.

Judge a Man By His Overcoat

This Admonition goes in Peterborough.

The QUALITY and MAKE will speak. The INDIVIDUALITY we show in our CHESTERFORDS and other Top Coats—the Art of making what best represents the man—comes from a scrupulous regard for the High-Class trade we are favoured with.

GENTLEMANLY OVERCOATS continues to be one of our Favourite Specialties. Moulded to fit and keep their shape till the fadeless fabric wears threadbare. MERCER makes them as good within as they look without.

Reckoning always on a CASH basis, our prices are small, but a large trade atones for it—and Cash is better than stock.

DELIBERATE SUICIDE OF HENRY DAVEY.

A Douro Farmer Takes His Own Life.

THROAT CUT WITH A RAZOR.

No Reason can be Assigned for the Rash Deed Other Than the Fact That the Victim had Been Drinking Very Heavily of Late—He Also Cut the Throat of one of his Horses.

Special to the Examiner.

Sunday afternoon word was brought to Lakefield that a farmer named Henry Davey, residing alone on the — concession of Douro, about three miles from the village, had been found dead in his house, lying in a pool of blood and that one of his horses was also dead in the stable, with its throat cut, and requesting Coroner Bell to go down.

Dr. Bell, together with Dr. J. R. Fraser, drove down to the

and found a large crowd had collected; but the house was closed and nothing had been disturbed.

A short investigation soon told the story. The unfortunate man had returned from Peterborough on Friday. Unhitching his team and placing them in the stable he had gone up to the house, taking with him some bread and parcels he had brought from town, removing his two coats and hat.

He then evidently mixed a large cup of Paris green, which was found on the bureau. Changing his mind, he secured his razor and first stropping it, returned to the stable and severed the large vessels in the neck of one of the horses which had been a favourite of his and which he had been heard to say no one else would ever own.

Coming back to the house he left

TRACES OF BLOOD

(which must have covered his hand from the horse) on the door handle, etc. Then sitting down on a chair in his bedroom he inflicted two cuts on the left side of his neck and one on the right side, the latter severing the larger vessels. He had caught the blood in a vessel until getting weak he had slid off the chair in a heap, the vessel full of blood upsetting underneath him.

His watch was found beside the cup of Paris green and the razor beside him, while the sum of $69.15 was in his pocket and also a grain buyer's ticket for forty-four bushels of rye.

No cause can be assigned by the neighbours for the deed except that he had been drinking heavily of late. The body was first discovered by a young man who had gone to see him, and who suspected something wrong when he saw the other horse in the fields with the harness still on and could get no answer to his demands for admittance. When he discovered the dead horse he got some companions and they entered the house and saw the body, and gave the alarm to the neighbours.

An inquest was considered unnecessary.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor was in Grafton on Sunday and conducted confirmation services.

Before his return to Peterborough the Bishop will go to Hastings to hold the Month's Mind service for the late Rev. Father Connolly, at which a large number of the priests and friends of the deceased are expected to be present.

MARK STREET CHURCH.

Rev. J. Liddy, Ph.B., of Keene, occupied the pulpit on Sunday, morning and evening, and preached to large congregations. Mr. Moore took Mr. Liddy's work on Keene circuit.

In the morning Mr. Liddy chose as his text John iv., 14—"But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life." From this text he gave an excellent missionary sermon, bringing out many beautiful and profitable analogies between natural water and the water of life.

At the close of the sermon a subscription was taken for missions and a good sum was realized. The amount raised by subscription this year was more than was raised last year by both subscriptions and collections together. Misses Eva Weir and Edna Armstrong were appointed collectors for the north end of the village and Misses Minnie Hamilton and Maud Dawson for the south end.

The Sunday school was well attended, the attendance being larger than it has been for some time. New workers are taking part and helping on the good work. Everyone, young and old, is cordially invited to the sessions at 2.30 every Sunday.

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment of the Sunday school will be held in the new town hall on Christmas night. A good programme is being prepared.

In the evening the service was of an evangelistic nature.

The special meetings will be continued all this week. Song service at 7.30 and the regular meeting at 8. All welcome; come and help in the good work.

On Friday evening there will be a reception service for new members. Many have professed conversion during the meetings.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The Evangelical or Low Church School of Thought was the subject of the sermon at St. Luke's church last night. The congregation was large. Next Sunday evening the subject will be the High Church School of Thought.

Yesterday being Advent Sunday, there was a large attendance of communicants at St. Luke's at both 8 o'clock and the midday celebration.

St. Luke's annual tea and sale of work will be held in the Ashburnham town hall on Thursday afternoon and evening next. The ladies of the congregation have never taken more pains in the preparation of the event. A large number of useful and fancy articles suitable for Christmas presents will be offered for sale. Tickets, or admission at the door, 25c.

CHEESE ESTIMATES.

As Received by Mr. Geo. W. Fitzgerald From Hodgson Bros. in Montreal.

Mr. Geo. W. Fitzgerald has just returned from Montreal where he has been engaged in straightening up his cheese business for the season in connection with the firm of Hodgson Bros.

From a circular issued by Hodgson Bros. the following comparative statements are made concerning the shipments of cheese in 1896 and 1897:

1896. Shipments	2,092,446 boxes
1897. Shipments to Nov. 8, from Montreal	1,923,310
" en route to seaboard	28,000
Stock in Listowel district	48,000
Stock in London, St. Mary's and Strathroy districts	41,000
Stock in Ingersoll district	46,000
Stock in Woodstock, Brantford and Stratford districts	93,000
Stock in Belleville, Campbellford, Peterborough and Napanee districts	57,000
Stock in Kingston, Brockville, Perth, Morrisburg, Prescott, Iroquois and Chesterville districts	61,000
Stock in township French country	37,000
Stock in Montreal on Nov. 8th	340,000
	2,514,310

From the figures given above it will be noticed that the estimated total production of cheese in Canada for the present year exceeds that of last year by about 452,000 boxes. Against this the total exports to date exceed those of the same period last year by 321,000 boxes, thus leaving stocks to day in Canada 131,000 boxes in excess of what were held here at the same time last year.

WHAT GERMANY WILL TAKE.

Murderers of Missionaries Must be Punished and a Big Indemnity Paid.

London, Nov. 27.—A special despatch received here from Shanghai says that Baron von Heyking, the German Minister to China, has presented to the Chinese Government the demands of Germany for the recent murder of German missionaries and the destruction of German mission property. These demands include the discovery and execution of the murderers of the missionaries, Nies and Hennle, the punishment of the implicated officials, the reconstruction of the missionary buildings, the payment of an indemnity of 600,000 taels to the relatives of the victims, and also the payment of a heavy indemnity to cover the expenses of the German naval expedition and the maintenance of the German force at Kiao Chou Bay. The foreign diplomats say that the German conditions are impossible of acceptance, and they will assert that they were only presented to enable Germany to retain Kiao Chou Bay and to extend northward her hold of Chinese territory.

Good Strike News.

London, Nov. 27.—The conference between the representatives of the employers and the delegates of the striking engineers, which began Wednesday morning behind closed doors, after many weeks of negotiation, has taken a decided step towards a settlement of the points in dispute, by an acceptance on both sides of the general principle of non-interference in the management of either trade unions or the employers' workshops.

An adjournment was taken to Tuesday next, when the discussion of details will proceed.

Four Sailors Drowned.

London, Nov. 27.—The British steamer Baron Ardrossan, from Bombay, on Oct. 14, for Antwerp and Havre, collided with the Austrian steamer Jokai at midnight off Dungeness, with the result that the Jokai was so badly damaged that she sank shortly afterwards. Four of her crew were drowned, and 19 others were rescued by a pilot cutter. The Baron Ardrossan had her bow stove in.

A New Dreibund Suggested.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27.—The Novosti contends that the growth of German influence in the near and far east will necessitate a union of Great Britain, Russia and France, for the protection of their interests.

Will Come From the Old Land to Canada in a Few Months—The Strathy-Gascoigne Affair.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Sir Charles Ross, who is here, says that far from injuring the British Columbian mining camps, the Klondike movement will be a bonanza for the Pacific province. Sir Charles calculates that 25,000 people will land in British Columbia next year, bound for the Klondike, but that two-thirds, or certainly one-half, will remain in British Columbia when they realize what they have there. He estimates that syndicates will bring in next year £5,000,000, and the Klondike people almost as much more. He does not think the C. P. R. people have yet decided on a location for the proposed new smelter, but it will no doubt be somewhere on the Columbia River.

Thomas Nulty has been sent up for trial, the date of which has been fixed for Dec. 5.

Another case of smallpox is reported as the result of the recent outbreak in the St. Catherine street school. It is a nun that is affected, and she has been sent to the Civic Hospital.

Are These Men Alive?

Kingston, Nov. 27.—A special to The Whig, from Northport, says that on Wednesday George Cole, postmaster, Big Island, and William Morden went out shooting in the Big Bay, stating they would return the same evening, which they failed to do. Searching parties went out Thursday and spent the day, but failed to find any trace of them or their boat. Searching was resumed again yesterday with the finding of their boats and a pair of oars floating in the bay, which shows they were drowned. Cole is a married man with two children. Morden was a young man and unmarried. Efforts are being made to find their bodies.

A DUEL TO THE DEATH

Shooting of James McConnell on Lake Tallion.

SAMUEL TONGUE LAID HIM LOW.

The Nipissing Desperado Had Opened Fire on His Slayer and Mr. Bell, With His Rifle by Tongue Secured First—The Relief of the District From a Scourge.

Mattawa, Ont., Nov. 27.—On Thursday, Nov. 18, Samuel Tongue and William Bell, two of our prominent citizens, started out for Lake Tallion and adjoining lakes to look after two valuable dogs that had been lost some few days previously. After paddling their canoe for some miles over the lake they were crossing a bay where the bush is very heavy, and saw coming at a distance paddling towards them, a canoe and man. Thinking they could get some information as to where their dogs were, they paddled towards the approaching canoe, not thinking there was any danger in store for them. When the canoes were about two or three hundred yards from each other, they saw the man let up paddling and draw out his Winchester. Taking good aim he fired at them. This was succeeded by two more shots in succession, which were low and did not take effect, the last shot just striking very close to the bow of the canoe.

Tongue and Bell recognized the desperado at once, and instinctively knew it was a case of life or death, either by drowning or shooting, unless they could escape from him.

Shore not being far off they made all efforts to reach it and escape from this man, if possible, but from all appearances he was determined to finish them, and made after them. Both canoes landed very near the same time, but Mr. Tongue, being somewhat the quicker to strike land, and seeing no escape possible, turned and took aim and fired at the desperado, the ball entering at the pit of the stomach, and coming out at the back, as shown now that the body has arrived.

They were much excited, and on seeing he did not return the fire, got into their canoe and made for Mattawa, where, on their arrival on Friday, they laid an information, and the chief of police with some specials were despatched on Monday to go after the desperado and bring him in dead or alive. Mr. Tongue, however, being an expert shot, was quite positive that he would be found either very badly wounded or dead. By the appearance of the body last evening after its arrival in charge of Chief Fillion, and the way he was found, it is quite clear that he could have lived but a very few minutes after being shot.

The man's proper name is James McConnell, and no doubt this shooting will recall to memory his past career, having only a few years ago been on trial for doing away with his father on Lake Nassbonsing. There are also a number of warrants for his arrest for shooting at various people, cattle, etc. He was a very large and powerful man of 48 years, very heavy, black hair, with sandy whiskers, very poorly clad, as he only had on a poor pair of overalls and shirt to face a cold winter, and has not been known to come out from the bush for the past few years, where he would expose himself to arrest.

There were found at his hut seven boxes of cartridges, a little flour, salt and plenty of deer meat. All farmers and settlers in the vicinity where he roamed are very well pleased to hear of his death, as they more or less had a great fear of him.

The inquest on the body of the deperado, James McConnell, began to-day at 10 o'clock, it having been postponed from yesterday awaiting County Crown Attorney Browning's presence.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conquerer of kidney and liver disease.

The Sea.

It is the sea which ennobles everything. Between the line and the surf there was but the ancient foreshore, covered with prickly tamarisks and mauve colored heath, with yellow sand conspicuous here and there. At the limit of the foreshore the rugged border line cut clear into a deep and somber blue. It is she—blue as any grape on this cluster which hangs in the cooling breeze. The azure deepens, filling up a good half of the range of sight; the white sail of a fishing smack floats alone, like a hollow shell; the eternal monotone of ocean is borne upon the ear. Draw near and see the leaping silver foam.

Above this intense blue the sky is transparently, superbly pale, and the stars are hurrying to light their lamps. There is not a living soul, nor a plant, nor any sign of the hand of man. There might be nereids and fauns dancing on the strand, as in the days when the world was young.—H. A. Taine in "Journeys Through France."

COULD HARDLY WORK.

He Was Ill—But Now is Well.

Mr. T. Sarchet, the well-known tailor, Court House Ave., Brockville, Ont., got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills sometime ago. He did this because he had been seriously troubled for over a year with pains in his back across the kidneys, together with headache, dizziness, tired feeling and a general sensation of weariness and lack of ambition.

Referring to the result of the use of these pills, Mr. Sarchet says, "I can tell you that the pains in my back while sitting at work, made it almost impossible for me to keep on. I took a great many remedies, but they did me little or no good.

"When I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had but little faith in them. Now I have the greatest faith in them, because I believe them to be the greatest specific in existence for all kidney and back troubles.

"I say this because they have completely cured me, and I say it out of gratitude, and so that others who suffer in a similar manner may derive like benefit from a knowledge of the virtues of these pills.

"I can recommend them highly to any sufferer from kidney or back troubles, and feel that if they are given a fair trial no case, however severe, can resist their medicinal effects. 292

Laxa-Liver Pills Cure Biliousness and Sick Headache.

A LITTLE PROBLEM.

Mr. Richard Beechley told himself that he was a happy man. His friends congratulated him on his happiness. He had good health and a reasonably good education. He could play golf quite well. He could not play cards and had no wish to drink. He was going to make a name at the bar, but he could afford to wait for it in comfort, having £3,000 a year. And he was engaged to a very pretty girl. He told himself that he was a very happy man one morning as he ate his breakfast; he repeated the assertion with what would have been (had he spoken aloud) a note of great determination. Although he was alone in his chambers, he was very neatly dressed. His tea was poured out, he was rather thirsty, but he made a point of eating before he drank. Meantime he read his letters; those from his relatives began "Dear Richard," and congratulated him gravely; those from his men friends began "Dear Beechley;" not one called him "Dear Dick." A letter from the very pretty girl began "Dear Richard," and announced that she had prepared a surprise party for him that afternoon. He was to expect her at 4. He put the letter back in its envelope and made a note in pencil on the outside. Then he turned to the leading article in The Standard. When he had finished his breakfast, he made a pencil mark in the article to show the place he had reached, and went to his writing table. There he wrote out a telegram. It was addressed to Miss O'Donnell, 120 Egerton Gardens, S. W., and ran:

Don't come without a chaperon.

BEECHLEY.

He sent his man with it to the telegraph office, and resumed The Standard.

I am sorry to say that 120 Egerton Gardens presented a somewhat painful contrast to the decorous establishment of Mr. Richard Beechley. Elsa O'Donnell, in a dressing gown and with her hair down her back, was belaboring with a pillow her brother Tom, who lay in bed and cried from time to time, "Stop, you little devil, stop!" while a vigorous knocking on the ceiling intimated that the noise disturbed the repose—it was half past 9—of somebody overhead.

"Say you'll come with me to Richard's."

"Keep your beastly prig to yourself."

Elsa stopped abruptly, dropped the pillow and turned away. She was of the fair type of Irish girl, with pale gold hair, and pale blue eyes, and a pale, beautiful skin, small and slender and upright. As she moved to the door Tom sat up in bed—a brown faced, pleasant fellow, with a tumbled, curly head—and called out eagerly:

"Hello, Elsa! I beg your pardon. I didn't mean to offend you."

She showed him a grave and slightly tremulous face. "All right, Tom. Only I wish you'd understand that I care about Richard and can't bear to hear him abused."

"I'm very sorry. It was beastly rude of me. Only one can't help seeing if there's a weak point in a chap, even if one's sister's going to marry him. I'm sure Beechley's a very good chap, but he is a bit reserved and—and that sort of thing, isn't he? That's really all I meant. I'll come this afternoon all right."

"No, no, Tom. It doesn't matter. I dare say the mater will come."

There was a knock at the door and a housemaid's voice, "A telegram for you, miss."

Elsa took it and looked at it for a longer time than the reading needed.

"Nothing wrong, Elsa?"

"No, only Richard can't be in this afternoon."

She went out of the room, and Tom muttered, "Damn the fellow!" as he settled his head on the pillow.

Ten minutes later a telegram was sent from Egerton Gardens:

Am not coming. ELSA.

* * * * * * * *

The same day, at 4 o'clock, Richard Beechley went to Egerton Gardens.

"I was afraid you'd be out."

"Oh, no."

"But you wired you couldn't come"—

"I thought I'd remove all apprehension about the chaperon."

"Why, you know you said once you were going to look me up alone, and I was afraid—you know, people don't understand"—

"You needn't explain. I quite understood. Only your fear was groundless."

"I'm very sorry if I offended you"—

"Not at all."

And then Tom came in and greeted Beechley with a somewhat measured politeness, and presently came in Elsa's father and mother and her younger sister Kate. Mr. Beechley discoursed on the bar as a profession and by and by took his leave. Tom saw him out of the house, and as he returned up the stairs met his father.

"Jolly fellow, isn't he?" said Tom.

"Don't talk to me about him," said Mr. O'Donnell.

Outside the drawing room door Kate appeared. She put her finger on her lip and made the most hideous grimace of disgust which her pretty face could achieve.

Meanwhile Elsa and her mother were alone.

"Elsa, my darling, are you really happy?"

Elsa averted her face. "Mother, I do love him, but—but I wish he were more like—more like Tom or father."

Mrs. O'Donnell gave a little sigh. "It's not the jolly, witty men who always make the best husbands," she said. "If you really love him, you won't mind his being serious; but make sure of yourself, my darling, that's all."

Elsa did not reply.

* * * * * * * *

"Elsa, you don't really mean it? What reason have you? You give no reason"—

"What's the good of arguing about it? It's not a question of argument. I feel I can't marry you—that is enough. I beg your pardon with all my heart for—for disappointing you. But what is the good? We could never be happy together."

"Why not?" said Richard Beechley.

"I'm not your sort, Richard. I know I worry you dreadfully. I'm irresponsible, I suppose, and foolish, and you're—you're serious. We should never get on together."

Richard Beechley bit his lip and took a turn up and down the room. Then he spoke with an effort:

"Give it a longer trial," he said. "You're right in a way. I can't help being serious, as you call it. I can understand I seem heavy to you"—

"Oh, don't, don't! I hate to hear you run yourself down."

"I'm not running myself down," said he stoutly. "I'd rather be as I am. I don't understand men like your brother. I don't see what their aim in life is. But, of course, you expect a lot of social tricks I haven't got. I'm sorry, but you must remember I've not been brought up in the sort of atmosphere you have. My people are so different. Elsa," he said suddenly, "we cared for one another. Don't give it up for such a little reason as that."

Elsa burst into tears. He leaned over her and tried to comfort her after his fashion. She let him kiss her passively.

After awhile she spoke. "Forget what I said, Richard. I will try."

Tom O'Donnell, hearing the hall door shut, strolled up to the drawing room.

"You've been crying, Elsa," he said involuntarily.

"It's nothing," she said and went from the room.

Tom kicked over a chair, and, happening later in the day to pass Richard Beechley in the street, gave him the slightest possible nod.

* * * * * * * *

The marriage was, of course, broken off. The conversation last reported took place again, twice, thrice, and then without the reconciliation, and the O'Donnell family were bright faced once more.

But the point on which perhaps it would be interesting to be assured is if they who loved Elsa were justified. One may wonder if he should be sorry or glad. A stolid, unimaginative husband and a light headed but simple hearted wife have been happy before now. In this case each went back to his kind. Beechley, if he marries now, will marry, I think, for convenience alone. He is suspicious, and he is not amorous. He has thrown himself heavily into his work and is very busy indeed.

The man to whom Elsa O'Donnell is now engaged is very popular with her father and her brother Tom. Elsa and he seem to be very fond of each other. They laugh together a good deal; they chaff each other wittily and have numberless secret jokes. On the other hand—such is the occasional balance of life—he is inclined to drink rather too much and is certain to go through the bankruptcy court sooner or later.

It is a small problem, this of the actual state and the foregone possibilities of Elsa O'Donnell, but I should rather like it to be solved.—Chapman's Magazine.

BESIDE THE BAY.

A woman by a cottage door,
Noting the sunset's golden hue,
Said quaintly to a summer guest,
"Oh, look! the lights almost shine through!"
Then told the tale I tell to you.

The winds blew here, the winds blew there,
In every clime beneath the sun.
We dreamed they would some happy day
Bring tidings of our wandering one.

White ships came in from every sea
That beats between the frozen poles.
We watched them bearing up the bay
Their freights of home returning souls.

A loving fancy came to me,
Staid with me, would not go away,
That some time I should hear his voice
Blown landward from the foaming bay.

One March day, when the tides were out,
My man and I sat in the sun.
An iris blossomed by the step.
'Twas planted by our wandering one.

The neighbors slur the "fond conceit,"
But we both heard these words that day:
"Rest comes not to the watching heart.
Abide in peace and hope and pray.

"The sea is God's. All seas are one.
So sit you here beside the bay
And think these cradling waves perchance
Are love's own hands that show the way
Between you and your lost today."

Since that springtime sweet peace is ours.
We rest and pray and calmly wait.
Our wandering boy seems near us now.
The sea line is the heavenly gate.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they knew beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as we SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Thus, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Thinking of Gift Times Now?

Gift Things, of all things, should be RIGHT—not necessarily costly, but in good taste. This store is never more necessary than during holiday times. It is so easy to make mistakes during the "rushed-for-time" days that one is in danger of buying gaudy things, despite usual good judgment. Safest to go where gaudiness does not enter. Nothing so givable—nothing as necessary—nothing so much admired as AN ARTICLE OF FUR.

For the Ladies:-

A cosy pair of Fur Gauntlets	$2 50 to $15 00
A cosy pair Imitation Fur Gauntlets	75 to 2 00
A Soft Fluffy Neck Scarf	2.00 to 20 00
A Comfortable Fur Muff	1.00 to 18 00
A Rippled Capperine	5.00 to 35 00
A Fur Collarette	2.00 to 15 00
A Dressy Fur Cap	1.50 to 15 00
An Imitation Cap	.50 to 1 00
A New Style Fur Jacket	15 00 to 200 00
A choice Ripple Fur Lined Wrap	15.00 to 50 00

For the Gentlemen:—

An attachable Fur Collar	$4.00 to $18 00
A Cosy Pair Gauntlets	3.00 to 18 00
Imitation Lamb Gauntlets	1.50
Buck, Mocha, & Kid Gloves & Mitts Fur Lined and Wool Lined	75 to 4 00
A Dressy Warm Fur Cap	1.50 to 25 00
A heat-retaining, cold-excluding Fur Coat	13.50 to 50 00
A Fashionable and Dressy Fur Lined Coat	50.00 to 150 00
A comfortable Robe or Set of Robes	5.00 to 50 00

For the Children:—

Caps in Fur	$ 1.50 to $ 3 50
Imitations Caps	.25 to 1 00
Grey Storm Collars	3 50 to 5 50
Blizzard Collars	3 00
Gauntlets	.75 to 5 50
Muffs	1.25 to 5 00
Ruffs	1.25 to 3 50
Grey Capes	10.00 to 25 00
Wool Boas	.25 to 50

If you have $1.00 or $100.00 to spend it will be best spent here—comfort, richness and good taste combined.

Xmas orders should be looked to at once.

KINDLY ADVICE TO SPECULATORS.

"How many Canadian merchants speculate in the New York stock market?" was asked by a gentleman the other day. And the reply was: "More than you or any other old-fashioned man thinks." People are certainly not without enticements to risk money in the lottery of Wall street gambling. Within the week we have seen, in one Toronto daily, a double column advertisement a foot in length, signed by a Wall street man, who professes to make profits for his patrons by "no guess-work," but by what is called inside information and by long experience. He gives instances of gains and quotes account sales—of course, he does not relate any losses. He wants so many dollars per week (in advance) for his daily information, which is to make his customers rich. Another man, or rather firm, in the same paper, writes from Broadway offering to make "big money" for any one who will send him $15 per month for advice when to go in or get out of the market, and who will send him money to speculate with, and declaring to every one that "you cannot lose if you follow as we direct." Much more follows to the same effect, plausibly written, and calculated to attract the attention of sanguine people, and they are asked to write at once for full particulars.

We trust none of our readers will be induced by those attractive lures to plunge into the vortex of stock speculation. No broker, however experienced, can tell exactly how a stock is going to move, and the most lucky guesser will miss his guess sometimes. "Runs of luck" do not last, whether at cards, roulette, betting on horses, or anything else into which the element of chance enters. Therefore the man who tells you that you cannot lose by gambling on stocks is leading you astray. If any young man has saved up $50 or $100, and is tempted to risk the loss of it by "blowing it in" at some gambling place, we say to him, don't do it; you had better be sure than sorry. Go straight to a life insurance office and ask some intelligent official to explain to you how best you can invest it in that direction. Or buy outright some shares with it in trusty Canadian mines, if you like (not wildcats). Buy your wife or mother something with it; or put it in a savings bank. Do anything in reason with it, but do not venture your money in Wall street gambling.—Monetary Times.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it will stop the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

The Ontario Legislature will open tomorrow. His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen will be present. The portrait of Sir William Meredith will be presented to the House at the close of the opening proceedings and will be received by the Speaker and the leader of the Opposition.

A farmer named Spice, living near Thorndale, was killed by a trolley at London on Saturday night.

Mrs. Lewis Johnson, wife of the caretaker of Ainslie Park, between Dundas and Hamilton, was nearly killed by a buck deer on Saturday. The exhibition animal trampled and hunted her for 20 minutes, finally running his horn through her right hand, before help came.

Hon. S. C. Wood and Hon. A. M. Ross will act as financial and municipal experts in the case of Toronto Junction's financial arrangement with its bondholders.

A provincial detective has gone to Pembroke to take charge of the Port Arthur murder prisoners.

Pierre Desroslers, a Yamaska farmer, lost his barn and crops on Saturday. Value about $1000; no insurance.

Turtle Mountain, Man., returned on Saturday Mr. James Johnston, Conservative, to the Local House.

Gus Clarke of Toronto, who came into prominence in the Westwood murder case, has been arrested at Hamilton and charged with stealing the clothing of his brother Caspar.

J. Savage, a London laborer, was nearly buried in a sewer cave-in on Saturday. His injuries are painful.

Two Men Were Killed.

Winchester, Ky., Nov. 29.—Two lives were lost and thousands of dollars worth of property was destroyed in a railroad accident that occurred several miles south of here Saturday afternoon. As a heavy freight train bound north on the Kentucky Central branch of the Louisville & Nashville road was passing over a wooden trestle spanning a deep ravine the structure gave way, precipitating twenty-three coal laden cars to the rocks 65 feet below. The engine and tender passed over safely. A number of bridge carpenters were at work at the bottom of the trestle when it fell. Most of them made their escape. James Harris and Warren Burch, however, were not so fortunate and were instantly killed. Their bodies lie buried under hundreds of tons of coal, lumber, etc.

"On Dit" Among Lawyers.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—It is said that Chief Justice Sir Thomas Wardlaw Taylor, formerly Master-in-Ordinary of the High Court of Justice at Toronto, and now Chief Justice of Manitoba, is about to retire on account of ill-health, and will be succeeded by Mr. Thomas Hodgins, Q.C., the present Master-in-Ordinary of the High Court in Ontario. It is also reported that Mr. Justice Robertson is about to resign. These announcements have not been officially made. They are simply "on dit" among the lawyers.

The Strathy-Gascoigne Affair.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—There is a strong impression in militia circles that Lieut.-Col. Strathy of the Royal Scots will be summarily dismissed from the service.

A TERRIBLE TALE!

The Philippine Islands Devastated by a Southern Ocean Typhoon—Thousands of Lives Lost.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—The typhoon which swept over the Philippine Islands on Oct. 6 was the cause of one of the worst disasters that has been reported from the Southern Ocean in many years. Thousands of lives were lost, including those of many Europeans, and the damage to property was something appalling. Telegraphic advices concerning the calamity have been very meagre.

The natives were panic-stricken and tried to make their way to clear ground. Four hundred of them were buried beneath the debris of wrecked buildings and 126 corpses of Europeans were recovered from the ruins when the native authorities instituted a search for the dead. Reports from the southern coast were received, which claimed that a score of small trading vessels and two Sydney traders were blown ashore and the crews drowned. The sea at Samoa swept inland nearly a mile, destroying property valued at several million dollars and causing a great number of deaths among the natives.

RETURNED KLONDIKERS.

Twenty-Five Men Who Came Out Over Dawson Trail—Food Scarce—Flour $200 Per Sack.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 28.—Twenty-five men arrived here to-day on the City of Seattle direct from Dawson City. They were divided into two parties, the last one of which left Dawson Oct. 16.

They came out over the Dalton trail. They are reported to have among them $60,000 in drafts and $200,000 in gold dust.

All tell stories of a food shortage in Dawson that is almost a famine.

According to the statements made by members of the Dalton party, there is liable to be trouble of the most serious kind this winter in Dawson. Billy Leak told one of the men in the party ahead of him, whom he met at Dyea, that all the people talk about at Dawson is the food famine. Men were gathering in groups and cursing with might and main the new comers that were constantly arriving in the Klondike, loaded with scarcely any provisions. H. A. Ferguson, one of the party, said: Flour could not be bought at all. One or two sacks were quickly picked up at $200 per sack.

PETE. SIMONS & CO.
PETERBOROUGH'S FAVOURITE MERCHANT TAILORS,

THE PRIZE TEA AND FREE GIFTS AT THE PEOPLE'S GROCERY. A DECIDED SUCCESS.

Would you believe it, such lovely Tea for 20 cents a pound, and a handsome Present with every pound. I saw a large beautiful white and gold China Teapot given with 1 lb. Tea, to an old bachelor. Just think of that! While another young lady carried off in triumph a fine large blue and white Teapot worth more money than was paid for the pound of Tea. Why there was a regular rush to the tables to secure the prizes; gifts for nothing, yes and a whole lot to choose from. Another says: "Oh my, why are you giving away your goods for nothing? Well I want to sell a lot, of goods. I want to advertise my business and work up a good trade. Step now there! I see crowds of people in your store. Why last Saturday you must have done a rushing trade." Well so we did, and we heartily thank you for your kind patronage and favours, and I promise to do my best to deserve it. "I see your advertisement in the Daily EXAMINER, with a grand list of Christmas free gifts for nothing. Just give me a pound of that tea, and I will take a set of those nice China cups for my little girl, it will make her so happy. Good Bye." This is what people are saying and doing. We have a large counter filled with free gifts, which every purchaser of one pound of Japan Tea can select from. We have a fine full stock of all lines in Groceries, Fruits, Provisions, Hams and Bacon, Lard, Butter and eggs. Choice Confectionery, Biscuits and Cheese. Apples, Potatoes, and Choice Celery, as white and clean as nice and crisp, the best to be had. We invite all the citizens of town and country to come and get the best Celery for their money that can be had at the "People's Grocery," 323 George Street Peterborough.

THE LEGISLATURE

A Brilliant Ceremony Promised for This Afternoon.

"THE FATHER OF THE HOUSE."

The Governor-General and the Countess Aberdeen to be Present—Arrangements for the Opening by the New Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Oliver Mowat—Ceremonial Detail.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—On account of the presence of the Governor-General the part taken by the military at the opening of the Ontario Legislature this afternoon is to be of a more imposing nature than is usual, as in addition to the contingent of the Royal Regiment of Canadian Infantry from Stanley Barracks, which by the Queen's regulations are always expected to attend the opening of the House, there will also be present four guns from B Battery under command of Capt. Myles, which will be used in firing a salute of honor.

In addition to the presence of the gubernatorial party the proceedings will also have a special interest this year, inasmuch as "the father of the House," the late Premier, Sir Oliver Mowat, will act for the first time in his capacity of Lieutenant-Governor, and should the weather be fine the function this year will no doubt be the most largely attended and the most brilliant in the history of the Province. The doors leading to the chambers will be opened at 2.30.

A detachment of the R.C.R.I. will attend the Lieutenant-Governor to the chamber, and the opening of the House will be announced to the city by the firing of 15 guns by a section of the Toronto Field Battery, stationed on the lawn in front of the buildings. The Union Jack will at the same time be run up to flaunt in the breeze while the Legislature is in session.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen will occupy two great gilded chairs, to be placed on a raised dais, taking up the space usually occupied by the desks of the Attorney-General and the Minister of Education. Carpenters were busy all day yesterday building this vice-regal throne. Sir Casimir Gzowski, A.D.C. to the Queen, will sit at the rear of the dais, behind the Governor-General, who will be attended by his aides-de-camp, Capt. Wilberforce and Capt. H. F. Wyatt.

Admission to the buildings is to be gained only by ticket, and special cards will be required for entrance to the floor and galleries of the chamber itself.

On Wednesday, Mr. W. M. German, member for Welland, will move the address in reply to the speech from the throne; Mr. C. F. Farewell, from the Soo, will second the address, and then the forensic battle of the session will begin. Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition, will lead off the debate on the speech, and the Attorney-General will follow.

Uncle Tom Gibson, from Huron, the oldest member of the House, has arrived to sit for the last time in the chamber.

Hon. William Harty is ill again and will not be able to attend the House to-day.

Mr. J. P. Whitney, Col. Matheson, J. W. St. John and other Conservatives have reached the city.

In the first Speech from the Throne, to be read by Lieut.-Gov. Sir Oliver Mowat, allusion is made to the visit of their Excellencies Lord and Lady Aberdeen to the capital of the Province. The bountiful harvest and the prospect of better times claim a paragraph in the speech, and in that connection the celebration of Her Majesty's jubilee and the remarkable outpouring of sentiment that followed it are referred to. The position of the friendly litigation arising from the unsettled accounts of the Province and the Dominion and out of constitutional questions are noted. Satisfaction is expressed at the success and economy which has attended the working of the County Councils under the act reducing the membership of these bodies.

The reason for calling the Legislature together has been a matter of ingenious conjecture in certain quarters, but it is generally understood that the Cabinet, having decided to take the advice of the Legislature as to the advisability of adopting new regulations with respect to the getting out of logs, there really need be no mystery in the matter. A paragraph appears in the speech calling attention to the action of the United States Congress in increasing the duties on lumber, whereby it is almost impossible to continue sending to that market certain qualities of the pine lumber produced in the province.

The activity in the mining fields of the province during the past year justify the reference to the progress being made in that great industry. The work of the re-foresting commission is referred to, and it is possible that a bill on that subject may be submitted to the House. The work of consolidating the statutes, which has been in progress all year, is mentioned. It is also understood that among the legislation which will be introduced will be bills affecting the license laws, to suppress gambling at country fairs, regulating the drug business, dealing with the spread of disease among fruit trees, and one respecting jails and jailers.

The session is not likely to be a long one, the only interruption in its business that appears probable being the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

ROSS MACKENZIE DEAD.

Sudden Demise of the Famous Lacrosse Player in the Far West.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—Ross Mackenzie, the greatest goal keeper Canadian lacrosse has ever seen, died yesterday. He was engaged with Contractor Haney on the new Crow's Nest Pass Railway, and a simple wire to his wife on Jarvis street late yesterday afternoon told the sad and awful story. No details were given.

Fifteen years ago Ross Mackenzie was the most familiar figure on the field in Canada. He guarded the flags from '76 to '84, when championships for this city were a very common occurrence. He made the record for the longest throw on Oct. 21, 1880, at Montreal, 422 feet, which stood until 1886, when the mark was lowered by an Australian to 440 feet, and in 1893 by Barney Quinn, to 457 feet. Mr. Mackenzie's last appearance in Toronto at lacrosse was in the re-union match, Buffers v. Duffers, four years ago at Rosedale. He leaves a wife and five young children. He was 37 years of age.

South Wellington Liberal Nomination.

Guelph, Nov. 30.—A very largely-attended convention of the Liberals of the South Riding of Wellington met in the City Hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the forthcoming Provincial elections. A large number of delegates from the country and city were present. Mr. Donald Stewart Crieff, vice-president of the Reform Association, presided, with Dr. Stirton as secretary. The result of the ballot was: John Mutrie 106, Lieut.-Col. Nicoll 19, J. J. Hobson 2. The result was received with applause. On motion of G. A. Wallace and Ald. Crosbee the choice was made unanimous.

Tore a Horse's Tongue Out.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—Yesterday Benjamin Searle was arrested and charged with having torn out by the roots the tongue of a horse belonging to Charles Watson of York township. The deed is said to have been committed on the 17th inst. Searle himself says that he found the horse seemingly suffering, with its tongue hanging out, and while he had the tongue in his hand examining it he slipped in the mud and fell. When he got up again he found the tongue in his hand. It had been torn out by the roots. Squire Ellis remanded him to Friday next.

Blaze at St. Kitts.

St. Catharines, Nov. 30.—The two-storey brick residence owned by Mrs. Charles Lobb and occupied by William Burke, on Church street, was badly damaged by fire Sunday night. The cause was a defective chimney. Loss on contents about $1000. Insured in Commercial Union and North British and Mercantile for $1500. The building was uninsured.

Boy Drowned at Valleyfield.

Valleyfield, Que., Nov. 30.—The little 8-year-old son of Captain M. Robinault was drowned here yesterday at about 8 o'clock. The boy was on his way to the Catholic Cathedral. He was very fond of the water and had a great habit of walking on the canal bank. His foot must have caught or slipped on something, which caused him to fall into the canal.

Mrs. Gauthier Arrested.

Pembroke, Ont., Nov. 30.—Mrs. Rose Gauthier was arrested yesterday in connection with the Port Arthur murder case, and brought before the Police Magistrate on information from Government Detective Rogers. As the Crown was not ready to proceed, she was remanded for eight days.

Purchased for a Toronto Syndicate.

Kingston, Nov. 30.—Anson Ritchie has purchased smelting works and Loughboro lead mine for a Toronto syndicate, for $13,000. It is likely lead making will be begun in the spring.

Lizzie Deehan Said to be Dying.

London, Ont., Nov. 30.—Lizzie Deehan, the housemaid at the London Insane Asylum, said to have undergone a criminal operation, is reported to be dying, and a commission has been appointed to take her deposition to-day.

OFFICIALLY WARNED

That Starvation Threatens Dawson City Miners.

URGED TO MOVE DOWN THE RIVER

The Notice Prominently Posted Up by the Officials of the Canadian Government—An Explicit Document That Hid Nothing and Showed Anxiety Only to Save Life and Suffering.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 30.—The party which arrived here on the steamer City of Seattle from Skaguay, say that before they left Dawson City, the following notice of warning had been issued and prominently displayed by the Canadian officials of that place:

"The undersigned officials of the Canadian Government, having carefully looked over the present distressing situation in regard to the supply of food for the winter, find that the stock on hand is not sufficient to meet the wants of those now in the district, and can only see one way out of the difficulty, and that is an immediate move down the river of all those who are now unsupplied to Fort Yukon, where there is a large stock of provisions. Within a few days the river will be closed and the move must be made at once.

"It is absolutely hazardous to build hopes upon the arrival of boats. It is almost beyond possibility that any more food will come into the district. For those who have not laid in a winter's supply, to remain here any longer is to court death from starvation, or at least the certainty of sickness from scurvy or other troubles.

"Starvation now stares every man in the face who is hoping and waiting for outside relief. Little effort and trifling cost will place them in comfort and safety within a few days at Fort Yukon, or other points below, where there are now large stocks of foods.

"Capt. Constantine,
"Of the Mounted Police.
"D. W. Davis,
"Collector of Customs.
"Thomas Fawcett,
"Gold Commissioner of the Dawson District."

Hon. Mr. Sifton on Starvation Rumors.

Winnipeg, Nov. 30.—Hon. Mr. Sifton and Hon. Joseph Martin left by last night's train for Ottawa. Before departing the Minister was asked what he thought of the rumors of starvation at Dawson City. Mr. Sifton said he did not put much credence in them, as, from the best information the department could gain, there would not be any hardship in the first part of the winter in any event.

One of Major Walsh's first duties was to ascertain whether the food supply was sufficient, and if not, before it was too late, he would endeavor to get as many men as possible out to the coast, as it was impossible to get food supplies in during the winter.

A New Telegraph System.

Albany, N.Y., Nov. 30.—The Commercial Cable and Telegraph Company, capitalized at $100,000, has been incorporated with the Secretary of State. The principal office of the company is in New York city, and it proposes to operate a telegraph system throughout the United States and Canada. Its directors are John W. Mackay of Virginia City, Nev.; Dumont Clarke of Schraalsburg, N.J.; James W. Ellsworth of Chicago, Edward C. Bradley of East Orange, N.J.; Charles R. Hosmer and William C. Van Horne of Montreal, Alert B. Chandler, William H. Baker and Edward C. Platt of Brooklyn, Clarence H. Mackay, George G. Ward, George Clapperton and Charles E. Merritt of New York city.

A True Bill Found.

Lindsay, Nov. 30.—The Autumn Assizes opened here yesterday before Chief Justice Armour. In the case of the Thompson brothers, for the murder of the young man, Sawyer, at Maple Lake, some months ago, the grand jury brought in a true bill. The case is expected to be reached for trial to-day.

SUFFOCATED BY ENGINE GAS.

Gas in the Sarnia Tunnel Caused the Death of a Trio and Injury to Others.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 30.—Asphyxiation caused the death of three men in the Grand Trunk Railway tunnel last night. The dead are: Henry J. Courtney, engineer of tunnel engine; Arthur Dunn, conductor; John Dalton, brakeman.

A train which was being hauled through to the Canadian side broke in two. The engine backed down to get the detached portion of the train, but for hours nothing was heard of the crew.

Finally a searching party found the dead bodies, and also rescued William Dunn, the fireman, and William Potter, brakeman, in an unconscious condition. Three members of the searching party were also overcome, but were rescued by another party.

The tunnel gas arises from the hard coal used by the locomotives.

Found Poison in the Stomach.

Port Colborne, Ont., Nov. 30.—The postponed investigation regarding the death of Julia Klee of Humberstone was held yesterday in the Humberstone Town Hall. Prof. Ellis of Toronto reports the finding of a quantity of strychnine in the stomach. The jury returned an unanimous verdict that the deceased came to her death by poison administered by some person or persons unknown.

Child Burned to Death.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—Fanny, the [illegible]-year-old daughter of William Spence of [illegible] Bayard street, knocked over a lamp which was on a table last Saturday night. It exploded, when the child was quickly enveloped in flames. She was dreadfully burned about the face, neck and hands, and died on Sunday.

Severe Headaches

Resulting from Catarrh Cause Great Suffering

The Great Blood Purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because other medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I

Had Tried So Many

so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have derived so much benefit from it that I would advise any one troubled with impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. I feel better now than I have for years, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. E. GENT, 27 St. Nicholas St., Toronto, Ontario. Remember

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1897.

A GOVERNMENT THAT DOES THINGS.

Since Parliament was called together under control of a Liberal Government not much more than a year has elapsed, but in that time see what has been accomplished.

The tariff has been reformed to the general satisfaction of the country and to the great benefit of industry and employment.

The fiscal freedom of the country has been greatly widened by procuring the denunciation of the Belgian and German treaties.

A customs preference has been given to the motherland, which admits $70,000,000 of our products absolutely free.

As a consequence of this preference, seconded by the profound impression created by Sir Wilfrid Laurier's visit to the United Kingdom, interest in Canada has received a great stimulus in Britain, an interest that manufacturers say is not confined to sentiment but has taken the material form in orders for goods.

A cold storage service has been set in motion that promises to revolutionize the exportation to Britain of perishable products.

The vexing quarantine regulations, by which our cattle were virtually shut out of the United States market, have been removed.

The dilatory policy which prevailed on the important work of canal deepening has given place to an active purpose to complete the task in time for the navigation season of 1902. Before the new century dawns the passage of vessels of fourteen feet draught from Port Arthur to the sea will be an old story.

The fast line project, which has hung fire for years, is definitely arranged for at a price $260,000 a year less than Conservative Administrations had offered to pay for it.

The progress of the British Columbia and western Ontario mineral lands has been assured by aid extended to railways imperatively needed.

Advantage was taken of the situation in British Columbia to gain such concessions in freight rates as to bring the manufacturer, merchant and workman of the east into commercial relations with the consumer of the west.

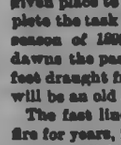
Arrangements were made by which the freight rates on the agricultural products of the prairies would be greatly lessened. These two concessions, it has been calculated, will be worth half a million dollars a year to the country, even on the present volume of freight.

For the first time in the history of the world coal monopoly in a great coal field has been made impossible.

The new problems which the remarkable discoveries of gold in the Klondyke raised have been energetically and successfully dealt with, including a provision for giving the country a fair share in the source of national wealth.

Common sense and business principles are being applied to the immigration problem. As a consequence of this, aided by the discoveries in western Ontario, British Columbia and the Yukon, it is not too much to expect that our population will be increased by a million souls in the immediate future.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound



Is the only safe, reliable monthly medicine on which ladies can depend in the hour and time of need.

Is prepared in two degrees of strength.

No. 1 for ordinary cases is by far the best dollar medicine known—sold by druggists, one Dollar per box.

No. 2 for special cases—10 degrees stronger—sold by druggists. One box, Three Dollars; two boxes, Five Dollars.

No. 1, or No. 2, mailed on receipt of price and two 3-cent stamps.

The Cook Company, Windsor, Ontario.

The school question, which by the incompetence and pusillanimity of the former Government has been allowed to threaten the peace of the Dominion, was settled in a prompt, statesmanlike and constitutional manner by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues.

Action has been taken whereby the deficits on the Intercolonial Railway are expected to become a thing of the past.

The principle of insisting on a fair day's wage for persons employed on public contracts has been adopted. The sweating system can no longer be employed on work done for the Dominion Government.

The carrying of the mails has ceased to be a fruitful source of reward for importunate bankers.

A three cent-an-ounce rate will be established forthwith for letters from Canada to Great Britain.

In short, we have a progressive, originating, prompt, capable Government at Ottawa, whose merits are worthy of recognition.—Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Americans can't afford to be very independent on the timber question. Their timber supply is running short. So wastefully have the pine forests of Michigan and Wisconsin been cut, that, in the opinion of a well-informed lumberman, there does not remain in those States pine lands for more than seven years' cutting at the rate of the last dozen years' consumption.

QUEBEC is to imitate the example of Ontario and institute a department of Public Instruction. It the Conservative rulers of Quebec for so many years, had begun earlier to take lessons from Ontario in the matter of economical, efficient and honest government, the lower province would not now be struggling with a 32 million dollars' debt as contrasted with Ontario's four million odd of surplus.

THE Mail threatens to shoot ploggers at the Central Toronto election to-day. The organ and party would have been saved the waste of a lot of ammunition if they had not passed a Franchise Act that created the plogger's occupation, and if they had not obstructed the Government last session the iniquitious resurrectionist franchise law would have been repealed and a rational one substituted. Then every man in Central Toronto entitled to vote would have a vote. Thousands are now disfranchised.

As an instance of the extent to which municipal ownership may be profitably carried, it is reported that the city of Birmingham, Eng., now builds and runs its street railways, gas works, electric lighting plant, water supply plant and Turkish baths. It buys the food that is sold in the markets of Birmingham, and owns the market, selling the food itself. It owns and operates a farm, a printing establishment and a woollen mill. Peterborough, some think, might do worse than follow its example in some of these respects.

WE do not think much of the name Intercolonial for the Government railway, says the Toronto World, (Con.) We beg to propose that Parliament and the press change the name to the Canadian National Railway. One of the greatest moves on the continent in the way of railway regulation by the state will be accomplished when Parliament declares that it intends to maintain, extend and officially run its railways so as both to give the public cheaper freight and travel, and be a check on the roads not owned by the state. And with the creation of a strong Railway Commission the work will be fairly begun.

THE Brantford Expositor points out that "since the Succession Duties act came into force, and up to one year ago, 20,000 estates have been reported to the government, and of this number only 295 have paid duty, being one out of every seventy-two estates. In 1896, in only one estate out of 309 did direct heirs pay succession duties. These figures prove that the provincial revenue is derived mainly from very large estates, that the vast majority of estates escape the act altogether (fifty-one out of every fifty-two in 1896), and that indirect or collateral heirs pay by far the greatest part of the duties." The large amount of revenue received has come out of the hoards of millionaires. Nearly $700,000 has come into the provincial treasury in this way.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

How to Cure all Skin Diseases.

Simply apply "Swayne's Ointment." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for Swayne's Ointment. Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal wholesale agents.

Shocked and Frightened.

Weak, nervous people having heart troubles are easily shocked and frightened. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills fortify the nerves, restore regular action to the heart and cure every form of heart and nerve trouble. Mrs. Gladys McMillan, Toronto, says: "Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills cured me of nervousness and palpitation. I was so nervous that the least noise would startle me; but am now perfectly well."

THE DEMON OF DYSPEPSIA.

Banished For Ever by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Snow cannot withstand the heat of the midsummer sun. There's no ice on the creeks in August.

No more can Indigestion and Dyspepsia exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. The sun melts the snow; Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food. That's all that is needed to banish Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more. While they are digesting the food, they rest the stomach; tone it up, restore all its old strength, and give it a new supply.

You don't have to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for ever. A short course of treatment, two or three weeks, is enough for any case. Then you can quit using them and enjoy the benefits they have given you.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are specially suited to every form of Dyspepsia. They will positively cure any form of the disease.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent the formation of poisonous gases in the stomach by digesting the food at once. There is no time for it to ferment and create gas.

If the bowels need treatment Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets won't give it. But, in each box is a package of smaller tablets that will. Thus there is a double treatment in every box.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists, at 50 cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

EXPORTS LARGELY INCREASED.

Large Gains Shown at Montreal, Specially in Shipments of Wheat, Corn and Other Gains.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—The season just closed has been a busy one, as will be seen by the following tabulated statement. Large gains will be noticed in the exports, more particularly in the shipment of wheat, corn, oats, rye, etc., while the decreases, compared with last year, are mainly seen in meats and fruit:

The Nova Scotian Coal Industry.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—A deal has been signed which means a great deal to the Nova Scotia coal industry, as well as to the revenue of that province. The New England Gas & Coke Co., with a capital of $17,000,000, composed of W. L. Elkins, Philadelphia; Hollister & Babcock, New York; Rockefeller & Rogers; H. M. Whitney and others, have signed a contract with the Dominion Coal Co. for delivery of 800,000 tons of coal yearly in Boston, with the right to receive 1,500,000 tons at the same figure. The contract is for a long term—said to be 20 years—and will double the output of the mines, as well as give a big boom to the revenue of Nova Scotia.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

COASTS OF ENGLAND

The Scene of Awful Gales and Many Shipwrecks.

A SEAWALL WASHED AWAY.

Fearful Loss of Life—Vessels and Crews Lost in the Raging Waters—Many Districts Flooded—Phenomenally High Tides Mark the Disaster—Damage on Land.

London, Nov. 30.—The gale raged all night long, and had not abated in fury this morning, when it amounted almost to a cyclone in many places, and was accompanied by snow and hail.

A long list of fatalities, wrecks and damage to property has already been received. All the coast towns have suffered, and a score of bodies have been washed ashore. Falling walls and flying debris have added to the loss of life. Vessels are reported ashore on every part of the coast, and many ships are known to have foundered, with the probable loss of all hands. There is much wreckage about the Goodwin Sands. At Lowestoft, Yarmouth and elsewhere the sea has flooded the quays and neighborhood, washing away the esplanades and doing other serious damage.

The sea wall at Scarborough has been washed away, and the passenger and mail services across the channel have been for the most part suspended.

MANY FATALITIES

Recorded as the Result of the Big Storm in England.

London, Nov. 30.—Reports from various points along the coast show that the gale which swept English waters yesterday, and which had not abated its fury up to noon to-day, was one of the worst storms of recent years.

In the north the wind was accompanied by blinding snow and hail, that hid the lights and immensely increased the difficulties of navigation. Many ships are known to have foundered, in many cases, it is feared, with all on board.

Scarcely a town on the coast has escaped without more or less injury, falling walls and flying debris adding to the loss of life. There have been rocket and lifeboat rescues almost without number.

Five Vessels Go Down.

Stories of thrilling escapes come from all points. On the Norfolk coast, between Backton and Happisburg, five vessels, as yet unidentified, went down, and the crews of all perished. A number of bodies have been washed ashore near Yarmouth.

The British brig Ruby was wrecked off Hornsby. The coast guard service made desperate efforts to save the crew and succeeded in getting a line on board. A dying woman was "rocketed" in safety, and then the brig capsised, all the rest of the ship's company perishing.

A large steam collier dashed upon Flamborough Head, the famous promontory on the North Sea coast, floated off, and then foundered with all on board.

A steamer not yet identified was wrecked on Bridlington Sands, with her entire company.

Last evening the ship Rose of Devon, Capt. Davis, went on the rocks near Redruth, Cornwall, where she pounded all night long, her crew of 19 perishing. This morning the bodies of the captain and five seamen, all wearing life belts, were washed ashore.

Phenomenally High Tides.

Phenomenally high tides are reported in many localities. The district near the mouth of the Thames has suffered severely, several townships being partly submerged. The Sheerness dockyard and the Woolwich arsenal were inundated. At Scarborough, the fashionable watering place, the sea wall was washed away.

At Yarmouth, Lowestoft and other coast towns of Norfolk, the esplanades were flooded.

At Liverpool the squalls blew off the roofs of several houses, threw down chimneys and tore up trees. The Mersey flooded its banks on the Chester side and deluged the shore district for miles.

Valuable Yachts Sunk.

Similar disasters occurred at Holyhead, where a number of valuable yachts were sunk at their moorings. Scarcely a vestige remains in sight of the wreck of Lord Nelson's old flagship, the Foudroyant, long fast in the sands off Blackpool. There is a great deal of wreckage near the Goodwin Sands.

The British ship Larnica, Capt. Burgess, was driven ashore near Fleetwood, at the entrance of Morestown Bay, about 18 miles northwest of Preston. The crew were saved, but the position of the vessel is dangerous. She left St. John, N. B., on Nov. 1, for Fleetwood.

Grand, But Awful.

The scenes at such popular resorts at Yarmouth and Margate were of great grandeur, but the damage done was terrible. Tremendous seas still invade the gardens of the hotels and residences, wrecking the parades and buildings, while debris is floating about.

Immense damage has been done to the Government property at the Sheerness dockyard and the Woolwich arsenal.

At Sheerness and Queensborough, two miles away, hundreds of acres have been submerged, scores of cellars flooded, and two hundred yards of the Sheerness pier have been swept away.

Boom of Distress Guns.

The boom of distress guns from Goodwin Sands has been almost continual. Below London Bridge the low lying houses and cellars are flooded and all work is temporarily suspended along the Thames, even as high as Charing Cross.

Six vessels were wrecked between Yarmouth and Bacton, only a few miles apart, on the Norfolk coast, and 25 lives lost. The brig Vedra stranded at Bacton. The storm tore out her masts, and when the rocket line was fired the crew were unable to haul it in. Finally the line dragged them into the surf and three out of seven were drowned.

The gale is now traveling southward and traversing various parts of the continent. Very rough weather is reported along the north coast of France.

British Steamer Foundered.

London, Nov. 30.—The British steamer Esparte foundered off the Royal Sovereign lightship, in the English Channel, between Dungeness and Beachy Head, yesterday morning, after having been in collision with the French steamer Noel. The latter vessel was beached at Dungeness in a sinking condition. No lives were lost.

PROFIT IN COLD STORAGE FRUIT.

Shipment by Str. Kastaba Shows That New Methods Are Preferable.

London, Nov. 29.—(Telegram cable.)—A cargo of fruit from Canada arrived by the steamer Kastaba to-day. Mr. Crandall, the Canadian Government agent, has made a close study of Canadian fruit shipments, and made many valuable suggestions as to the proper mode of packing, etc. The cargo which arrived to-day by steamer Kastaba was packed and shipped under conditions recommended by Mr. Crandall. The result was in every way satisfatory and encouraging to those who have predicted favorable results from proper methods of transportation. Mr. Crandall's inspection of the shipment makes it very clear that cargoes arriving by a system of cold storage, such as the Kastaba's, will meet with marked preference in the British market. Some varieties of Canadian apples, says Mr. Crandall, are not arriving in good condition. Especially is this so of Northern Spies, which show signs of spot scab, resulting in early decay.

For this reason there is a slump in prices. In the Kastaba shipment cases of apples averaging forty pound weight sold for 5s to 8s 6d, and barrels at 19s to 20s. Pears brought from 10s 6d to 23s per case, according to quality.

Mr. Crandall has visited many places and enquired as to the possibility of developing trade with Canada. Everywhere he has found a hearty willingness on the part of British people to do all in their power to assist in increasing Canadian trade.

A letter in The Morning Chronicle, signed by Mr. Crandall, replies to an article as to the colonial invasion, asking, if the Canadian Government is going into the retail fruit and provision business. The Canadian Government, says Mr. Crandall in this letter, is encouraging the Canadian agriculturist, but at the same time is interfering in no way with the natural order of the channels of business in Britain. There is a fear in some quarters that the article may cause hostility among buyers of Canadian produce.

"DON" IN THE INCAS' COUNTRY.

The Canadian Commissioner and His Project Received With Cordiality.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 30.—The Peruvian press cordially welcomes Mr. Edmund Sheppard, the special commissioner of the Dominion Government to Central and South America, in the interests of the project for promoting increased commercial intercourse by a line of steamers from Vancouver to Panama.

THE BRITISH LION.

He Will Do Nothing Rash in South Africa, But Will Make Sure of His Ground.

London, Nov. 30.—The Daily Graphic says: "Great Britain will carefully avoid imitating the French policy of effective occupation in the disputed territory of the Lagos Hinterland. Although a small French force has occupied Kishi, a disputed town, no attempt will be made to dislodge them, pending the discussion as to the boundaries now in progress in Paris.

"The British force is being collected in the north of Lagos only to be ready for the occupation and organization of the Borgu district, which, it is expected, will be included in the British sphere as a result of the Paris conference."

RUSSIAN DUPLICITY.

A Seizure in the Thames Which Shows Where the Afridis Get Their Supplies.

London, Nov. 30.—Eight barges, loaded with cases of gunpowder, falsely labelled "Arms," have been seized by the customs officers in the Thames. They emanated from Russia, and were about to be transferred to the steamer Baluchistan for Persia. It is suggested that the ammunition was destined for the Afridis.

Intended for Abyssinia.

London, Nov. 30.—It developed to-day from the investigation made into the subject that the eight barges loaded with cases of gunpowder, falsely labelled "arms," which have been seized by customs officers on the Thames, were consigned from St. Petersburg to Jiutil, through a Paris agent, and were probably intended for Abyssinia.

Queensland Rejects Federation.

Brisbane, Queensland, Nov. 30.—The Colonial Legislature, by a vote of 21 against 17, has rejected the federation bill introduced by the Premier, Sir Hugh Muir Nelson.

How Thin You Look.

Nova Scotia Vessel Waterlogged.

Liverpool, Nov. 30.—The British steamer Michigan, Capt. Stubbs, which arrived here Nov. 27, from Boston, reports that on Nov. 18, in latitude 45, longitude 61, she passed the schooner W. J. Geldert of Lunenburg, N.S., a derelict and waterlogged.

Wheat in New South Wales.

Sydney, N.S.W., Nov. 30.—An unofficial estimate places the wheat yield of New South Wales at 11,000,000 bushels, and it is anticipated that the exportable surplus of wheat from Australasia will be 5,000,000 bushels.

VICTOR LOST AN ARM.

A Young Man of Holland Landing Has a Very Serious Accident.

Holland Landing, Ont., Nov. 30.—A very sad accident happened to Victor Emanuel Thompson, a young man in his 20th year, residing with his widowed mother here. The young man left this morning, in company with two comrades, rabbit hunting, and it appears Victor was breaking some ice for the purpose of getting a drink when he hit the hammer of his gun in some way, causing the gun to go off. The contents went through the poor fellow's left arm, close to the shoulder, shattering the bone to splinters, which made it impossible to save the arm. The unfortunate young fellow was taken home and Drs. Stevenson and Scott amputated the limb.

Grain at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Nov. 30.—The C. P. R. has one million bushels of grain stored here. There are two more steamers to arrive at this port before the close of navigation.

Would Not Consent

To be Operated on at the Hospital.

The Lady Uses Paine's Celery Compound and is Cured.

Mrs. Saunders, of Bracondale, a suburb of Toronto, lay in the hospital suffering from a trouble quite common with many of her sex. At a critical time in her sickness the doctors deemed an operation necessary. Mrs. Saunders wisely refused to submit to the decision of the medical staff, and decided to try the virtues of Paine's Celery Compound.

After being blessed with a complete cure, Mrs. Saunders wrote as follows:

"It is with much pleasure that I testify to the value of your wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. I was a great sufferer from severe attacks of neuralgia in the left ovary. At times the attacks were so acute that I thought I would lose my reason.

"Several doctors treated me, and I was a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton. I obtained no relief from medical treatment. The doctors said unless I had the ovary taken away I could not be cured.

"Instead of submitting to the operation I used Paine's Celery Compound, and I am thankful your valuable medicine cured me. I feel like a new woman, and I would like all sufferers to know what this great medicine has done for me."

DEAR SIRS,—Some time ago I was treated by one of our best city doctors for continued bleeding at the nose and the treatment I was subjected to weakened my stomach so that nothing I could eat would agree with me and I could retain nothing but bread and milk, which was my chief diet.

I tried a bottle of your Sloan's Indian Tonic and at once began to improve and it has made a permanent cure in my case. I can now partake of any food, no matter how strong, and experience no distress after eating.

I have recommended it to several people and in every case it has given grand results, and a bottle of it should be in every household.

Yours very truly,
R. T. PHILLIPS.

INDIGESTION PERMANENTLY CURED.

St. Williams, Co. Norfolk, October 19, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fact that Sloan's Indian Tonic has caused a most remarkable change in my condition. For two years I have suffered from indigestion and weakness and not finding relief from any other medicine until your agent came here one day and advised me to try Sloan's Indian Tonic. I did so and have used four bottles. It has made a great change in my life and I can now rest and sleep with ease and comfort. I believe Sloan's Indian Tonic is the best medicine in the world.

I remain,
Yours truly,

Gough's Great Sale.

In to-day's EXAMINER Gough Bros'. repeat their announcement of the sale of the McKenna-Thompson stock of clothing, &c., bought at 33½ cents on the dollar. They are determined to keep up the remarkable reductions in the prices of this stock during December and to make it the crowning sale of the year. Last week, notwithstanding the unfavourable nature of the weather, each day of this sale was attended by unusual crowds of buyers, and people who had been hesitating about buying came and bought freely. Gough Bros. are determined to make this lucky purchase part of their great programme for big business during December, although prices in every department of their store will be reduced, so as to create an enthusiasm during the the last and best holiday month of the year. There will not be an inch of material held in reserve, and it will be to the advantage of everyone to make selections as early as convenient. The transformation in prices ought to keep the big store crowded, "not in spurts, but all the time." Now is your chance to procure really dependable winter garments, boots and shoes, hats and furnishings at ridiculously low prices. 241w

C. C. Lessome, Mgr. People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Bat berfield had 2,000 ton of coal hied put in. I found your coal got up in heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

TRUE BILL FOR MURDER.

Against the Two Thompson Brothers for the Killing of W. H. Sawer, Minden.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Lindsay, Nov. 30.—At the fall assizes now in session here the grand jury this morning brought in a true bill for murder against the two Thompson brothers for the killing of W. H. Sawer, in Haliburton county, a few miles from the village of Minden, about the first of September last. The trial is now in progress. The evidence so far is a repetition of that given at the inquest and preliminary trial.

HE WAS INSANE.

Henry Davey Took His Life When His Mind Was Unbalanced.

Fuller particulars concerning Mr. Henry Davey, whose suicide was referred to in yesterday's EXAMINER, reveal the fact that the unfortunate man took his own life whilst insane and that he was not a heavy drinker by any means.

It appears that his wife died early in August, and since that time he has been unable to obtain a full night's rest, and being naturally of a very excitable temperament, his brain was unable to stand the strain, and his mind became unbalanced.

His sister, who came to live with him, became frightened latterly at his strange actions, and on Wednesday last made up her mind to leave him and did so. On Thursday he came into town to see her, and seemed to be labouring under the idea that he had robbed her in some way and was greatly troubled over the matter, stating that she would be put out on the street. For himself, he stated, he did not care, as he was a man and could work, but he was very much put out apparently by the thought that his sister would be left in poverty. He mislaid the deed of his farm and this also troubled him greatly, as he could not be convinced but that the finder of the document could dispossess him of the land, and when he was in town on Thursday he was at the Registry office inquiring into the matter and was assured that the deed was no good to any but himself. This, however, only calmed him for a few minutes.

He also called on Dr. Moher whilst in Peterborough, and the doctor is quite sure that the man's mind was unhinged when he was in the office. He was driven into town by Dr. Moher's brother, Mr. Wm. Moher, Jr., and his actions in asking Mr. Moher to come in with him is considered strange as it was something which he had never done before.

During the harvest the deceased was frequently observed working in the fields after midnight.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

Judgment Reserved in the Case of Brown vs. Lakefield.

The case of Brown vs. Lakefield was closed last evening and judgment was reserved.

The Court adjourned to allow the counsel in the Kinsman vs. Kinsman alimony suit to endeavour to reach a settlement, but as this was found to be impossible the case was proceeded with.

This is a case in which the plaintiff, Mary Kinsman, asks for alimony, claiming that the defendant, a short time after his marriage to her in 1894 began to exhibit a very bad temper. He refused to furnish necessary supplies and became addicted to the use of intoxicating liquor and often returned home in a drunken condition and used violent and abusive language toward the plaintiff and threatened to strike and kick her. In November, 1895 the defendant abandoned the plaintiff and went to live in Millbrook. Subsequently he returned to her, but refused to make provision for her maintenance and abused her, threatening her life. In March 1896 defendant made charges against plaintiff's character, falsely accusing her of having immoral relations with other men.

The defendant in the statement of defence, claims that he is 76 years of age, and that since the day of his marriage the plaintiff has acted towards him as if money was her sole object in marrying him, and that defendant executed an agreement in writing whereby he consented to giving plaintiff an annuity of $100 per year, to commence after his death, in lieu of all claims of whatsoever nature for alimony or otherwise which the plaintiff might have upon the property of the defendant, and the defendant pleads the said agreement as a bar to this action.

That on various occasions the plaintiff left her home for three or four days at a time, returning in a drunken condition. That he took a dwelling in Millbrook and asked his wife to live with him there, she forsake her old associates but she refused. That his income is small, but he is the owner of a furnished dwelling, and if the plaintiff would discharge her duties as a wife, and live with plaintiff, he is now and always was willing to receive and live with her as such.

TWO ACCIDENTS.

Mrs. H. W. Watson and Mr. Sims the Victims.

Mrs. H. W. Watson while walking up George street last evening, slipped on the icy sidewalk in front of A. G. Dickson's store and badly bruised her face. She was assisted to the residence of her son William.

On Saturday afternoon as Mr. Jos Sims, of north George street, was putting the double windows on his house, he fell from a ladder, a distance of about ten feet, to the ground, and struck his chest on the point of the ladder, which turned as he fell. He was badly bruised. Dr. Clarke is in attendance.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE WAS OPENED TO-DAY.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT'S SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

He Refers to the Provincial Timber and Mining Interests and Mentions a Number of Bills Which Will be Introduced This Session.

The Provincial Legislature was formally opened this afternoon by Sir Oliver Mowat, Lieutenant Governor, who read the following speech from the Throne:

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly,—It gives me much pleasure to meet again the members of the Legislative Assembly of this Province with whom I was so long associated in a different capacity. While it was my good fortune to be for many years the leader of the majority in the Assembly, I am glad to know that I always had the friendship and good will of many members who were politically opposed to me and that during my long Premiership I had the personal enmity of none. As Lieutenant Governor and no longer identified with any political party I hope to possess the confidence of all, and I trust that my long familiarity with public matters, as a member of Canadian and Provincial Legislatures and Governments, may enable me to render valuable service to my native Province in the performance of the important constitutional duties which belong to the office of Lieutenant Governor.

I am greatly pleased to be able to state that Their Excellencies the Governor-General, as the Queen's representative in the Dominion, and the Countess of Aberdeen, have come to reside in the capital of the Province for a time, and it is owing to this happy event that we are honoured with their presence to-day. I am sure that I truly express your sentiments when in your name and my own I bid Their Excellencies a most hearty and loyal welcome, and indulge the hope that during their residence in this city they may become better acquainted with the people and institutions of western Ontario than has been possible in the short, but welcome visits which have heretofore been customary. I sincerely trust that this departure from the usage which has hitherto generally prevailed, may not only be found to be of public advantage, but may prove as agreeable to Their Excellencies as it is gratifying to Her Majesty's loyal subjects.

THROUGH DIVINE GOODNESS

the blessings of a bounteous harvest have been vouchsafed to the husbandman in nearly every portion of the province; and it is an additional cause for gratitude that prices for nearly all the products of the farm have been greatly increased since your last meeting. The signs of returning prosperity, not in agriculture alone, but in nearly every important branch of business and industrial enterprise, except that directly connected with the sawn lumber industry, give cause for hearty congratulation.

I rejoice further to be able to congratulate you upon the increased interest manifested by the mother country in Canada and the other colonies and dependencies of the Empire, as evidenced by the reception of their representatives as well by Her Majesty and others in authority, as by the whole people of the United Kingdom during this Jubilee year, and as further shown by the action of the British Government in connection with certain foreign treaties which effected Canadian commerce.

I am pleased to inform you that some progress has been made during the year by the arbitrators to whom was referred between the Governments of the Dominion and the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. Appeals have been taken to the Supreme Court against some of the decisions of the arbitrators, and arguments have been heard thereon and they now stand for judgment.

The appeals to the Privy Council in the matters of the fisheries and of the power of appointing Queen's Counsel have been heard by the Judicial Committee, but judgment has not yet been delivered.

It is gratifying that the new county councils, though limited in the number of members under the new Act, are found able to transact the business of their respective counties as efficiently as formerly and at a greatly reduced annual expenditure.

TIMBER AND MINES.

I regret that the congress of the United States has seen fit to increase the duties on pine and other lumber imported into that country to such an extent as to make it almost impossible to continue sending to the markets of the United States certain quality of the pine lumber produced in this province.

The mining industry is making steady progress, and throughout the present year lively interest in the mineral resources of the province has been exhibited. The area of crown lands sold and leased under the provisions of the Mines Act has been largely in excess of that of any recent year, and the revenue derived from sales and rentals has been correspondingly greater. It is gratifying to note that the limits of the several gold fields are being constantly extended by exploration and that their value is being satisfactorily proven by substantial mining and milling work. At a number of central points in the north western part of the Province, where our territorial rights were strenuously disputed for a long time by the Federal Government, there is evidence to show that rich gold-bearing veins exist over a region several thousand square miles in extent, and there is good ground for hope that this part of the Province will soon become the field of successful enterprise and give profitable as well as stable employment to capital and labour. I am confident that the recent discoveries of gold in various parts of the Province will attract increased attention abroad and especially in the mother country.

The perpetuation of the sources of our pine timber supply on Crown Lands not suited for general agriculture has for some time engaged the attention of the Government. A royal commission was appointed last summer to investigate the condition of the young forests which now cover extensive tracts of these vast lands and to report as to the best and most practicable methods of preserving and managing them, and otherwise concerning re forestery. I am glad to be able to announce that substantial progress has been made in the work of the commission and that much information on this important question has been obtained.

NEW LEGISLATION.

Among other measures to be laid before you are a bill relating to the timber and timber licenses; a bill affecting the election laws; a bill to prevent gambling at agricultural and other fairs; a bill affecting the business of druggists; a bill to prevent the spread of disease among fruit trees; a bill relating to extra-provincial insurance companies; a bill respecting gaols and gaolers; and a bill relating to forestry.

I am happy to inform you that the work of revising and printing the statutes of the Province is almost completed, and I hope it will be in my power to issue the necessary proclamation for bringing into force at the close of the year the newly revised statutes embodying once more in two convenient volumes the entire provincial public statute law. A confirmatory bill will be laid before you for consideration. In connection with the revision of our public statutes, the statutory provisions affecting practice and procedure and all the rules and orders heretofore issued by the various courts during more than fifty years, have been consolidated and revised under the supervision and direction of the judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario, with the view of promoting greater uniformity, certainty and simplicity in legal proceedings. Consolidated orders have been adopted under the authority given for this purpose by statute and a bill to confirm the work of the commission will be laid before you.

The public accounts for the ten months ending with the 31st day of October, will be laid before you without delay and for the remaining two months within a few days after the close of the year.

The estimates for the various public services for the coming year will, at an early date, be submitted for your approval. They will be found to have been prepared with all the economy consistent with the efficiency of the public service.

MEMBERSHIP CONTEST.

Only Three More Days—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Thistles still lead in the membership contest, the score being as follows:

Thistles	80 points
Shamrocks	77 "
Roses	67 "

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the last days of the contest.

We have been ahead almost all the time, but wish our friends to remember that over-confidence often loses.

Consequently if we will win we must work and work hard.

Other fellows claim that there will be an exhibition of buried points on Friday to count for them.

How we will enjoy that supper they must provide for us.

We never knew what it was to be defeated and don't intend that our first lesson shall be taught now.

Look out for surprises—the other fellows are after us.

We ask the support of all our sympathizers. If you cant join, get some one else in the notion.

Every dollar counts a point.

Every point will be needed to carry our standard to victory, but to victory it will go.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

The following are readings of the official thermometers for this afternoon, as well as the highest and lowest yesterday—shade temperature:—

To-day—1 p. m. ..... 37° above zero

Beware of Cocaine.

Thos. Heys, Analytical Chemist, Toronto, says:—"I have made an examination of Dr. Chase's Cure for Cocaine and any of its compounds from samples purchased in the open market, and find none present." Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is a cure—not a drug. Price 25 cents, blower included.

For Catarrh in any form use Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure.

The Board then adjourned.

THE COMING SOCIAL CRISIS.

W. A. Douglas Will Speak on this Subject on Wednesday Evening, Dec. 9th.

The tragic death of Henry George has in a measure awakened fresh interest in the teachings of that remarkable man. Many of our citizens may therefore be pleased to learn that Mr. W. A. Douglas, B. A., of Toronto, will visit Peterborough on Wednesday evening, Dec. 9th, and deliver an address on the subject of the "Coming Social Crisis," in which he will give a popular exposition of the Single Tax to the elucidation and advocacy of which Henry George devoted his life. The fact that Mr. Douglas was for many years in an important position in one of our largest financial institutions and that he was for some years Examiner in Political Economy in one of our prominent colleges is a guarantee that he is well qualified to deal with his subject. The graphic style with which he illustrates his subject on the blackboard never fails to make it easily comprehensible to his audience.

CHECKER TOURNAMENT.

Mr. J. L. Garvin is the Champion—The Scores Which Were Made.

The checker tournament at the Y.M.C.A. on Thanksgiving day resulted in a victory for Mr. J. L. Garvin, who defeated all comers. The score was as follows:—

FIRST ROUND.

J L Garvin, 2; J Duke, 0.
McWilliams, 2; LaBell, 0.
Wilkins, 2; Warne, 0.
Birch, 2; J Smith, 0.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Wm. McFarlane, of Young's Point, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Harry Neil and children have returned from a visit with friends in Galt.

Mrs. R. P. McMahon, of Merrickville, is visiting her mother, Mrs. M. O'Connell, in Ashburnham.

Mr. Dan Simons last season was with the Mora Company, which is now occupying the boards at the opera house.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., are both in Toronto attending the opening of the Ontario Legislature.

Commodore H. Calcutt and Miss Susie Calcutt returned from Preston Springs last night. Mr. Calcutt is looking exceedingly well after undergoing a series of baths there.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Morse, of Toronto, left to day en route for Melbourne, Australia. While in town they were the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. H. I. Farnum, 20 College street, and also of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Morse, 465 Donegal street. The officers of the International Medical Missionary Society, under whose auspices a medical and surgical sanitarium is building among our antipodes at Melbourne, have made selection of a business manager and also matron in the person of Mr. and Mrs. Morse.

DESERVING OF PATRONAGE.

The Mora Dramatic Company at the Opera House.

A fair house greeted the Mora Dramatic Company last evening in the Bradburn Opera House, when "Pretty Poll" was put on the boards. Mora, herself, appeared in six different characters and won all by her magnetic brightness and winning manner. Mr. Neil Twomey as Robt. Stockton did some very clever work and Mr. Fred Williams as his clerk was exceedingly funny, as he was as the deaf old man. Mr. Dave Seymour in parodies, took the house with his comical sayings. Daly and Keaton presented one of the best specialties ever seen here, introducing character changes, negro singing, dancing and cake walk between acts. The new pictures by Edison's famous Projectoscope also caught the house between acts three and four. One of the features of the evening was the music by the Mora Novelty Orchestra. The entertainment is one of the best ever seen here, and should have crowded houses during their week's stay. To-night the jolly four-act comedy-drama, "The Pilot's Daughter," will be presented, with special scenery, new specialties, pictures and music.

HOCKEY.

Appended is a complete list of amendments to Ontario Hockey Association rules and regulations supplied by Secretary Beeton:—

Amending regulation 2 by inserting:—"That all players must have been bona fide residents of the town which they represent for at least thirty days before engaging in a matched game."

Amending regulation 2 by inserting the words "and certificate of the same to be obtained from the executive committee before playing for the second club," after "residence" in the third line in place of the words "to be decided by the executive."

Amending regulation 4 by adding, "When the status of an individual is questioned, the burden of proving his innocence shall rest with the accused, inasmuch as the real and true facts of the case must lie within his own personal knowledge, and consequently he must be in a position, if unjustly accused or suspected, to prove his innocence to the satisfaction of the executive. To prevent frivolous and groundless charges of this nature, the executive must be convinced that there is good and sufficient cause to question the status of an individual and may insist that all such charges be made upon affidavit.

Amending rule K, page 16, by striking out in line six, "This rule not to be deemed, etc.," down to the word "regard" in line ten.

Amending rules of the game, No. 13, page 20, by inserting after word "match" in first line, "break his skate, or from any other accident be compelled to leave the ice, the opposite side shall allow a substitute to replace him or drop a man to equalise the teams." Strike out lines two and three.

Amending rules of the game No. 14, by adding: "And that no delay shall exceed five minutes."

Amending section E of rules of competition by substituting "Any club refusing or failing to play the club against which it is matched within the stated time shall be considered to have lost the tie."

Amending by adding the following rule: "The puck being played from behind one's own goal cannot again be played by a member of the same side unless it has been hit by or has touched the dress or person of a player on the opposite side."

THE RING.

Great interest is being taken in Costello's training by local sparring enthusiasts, and he should be in fine shape in the course of another couple of weeks. In the morning he goes for a run of eight or ten miles out the Lakefield road with either his trainer, O'Connor, or Chris Graham, and after a rub down takes it easy until dinner time. About two hours after dinner, exercise is indulged in again, and Costello punches the bag, spars with some of the local talent or wrestles, and also skips the rope.

An idea of his cleverness can be gained at the Opera House on Monday, when he will give an exhibition with Mr. James Graham. A number of other bouts have been arranged for the occasion, and Trainer O'Connor will pull off his bag punching contest against White, of Detroit, for a side bet of $50. O'Connor is in shape to give a fine exhibition, and many will prefer to see his clever manipulation of the bag to watching the sparring. A full programme of vocal and instrumental music, clog dancing, tumbling, etc., has been arranged.

THE OTHER FELLOW GOT IT.

Here is a good story told at the expense of one of the local barbers. A certain tonsorial artist who shall be nameless was called upon to assist in the toilet of a commercial traveller at one of the hotels last Sunday. When he had completed his labours his customer handed him a bank note which the wielder of the razor could not change. The drummer said it would be all right; that he would look him up the next day, and asked what shop he worked in. The barber thought he smelt a large rat at once, and passages from the Lord's Day Act flashed through his brain. In an excess of caution he gave the address of a rival shop, which also shall be nameless.

Next day the traveller dropped into the shop indicated by his obliging barber and allowed the proprietor to do fifty cents worth of work in beautifying him, and in addition to paying for this he insisted on leaving a handsome remembrance for the courteous barber who had come to his rescue on the Sabbath Day. The proprietor looked wise as he took the unearned increment.

SUNDAY NOISE AND CHURCH BELLS.

A gentleman whose nerves have been severely irritated by the noise of church bells, sends the following from the Helena, Montana, Independent:

A recent issue of the Washington Post contains a letter from a minister of that city on the subject of noise on Sunday. He thinks it all right that newsboys are prohibited from shouting in the streets when trying to sell papers, and that the city should be free from unnecessary noise on Sunday. As for that, a city should be free from unnecessary noises on every day of the week. But we are surprised that the minister does not arise and condemn the church bell, which can and does make a good deal more unnecessary noise than a whole regiment of newsboys. If newsboys can succeed in selling papers without shouting in the streets, surely the churches can get along without harrowing the ears and nerves of citizens. A bell is of far less necessity in religion than is street outcry in selling papers.

The church bell is a relic of the days when people didn't have clocks and watches, and now its sole function is to make an unnecessary clamor.

ORMERE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Farmers are very busy marketing their produce since stopping the plough, Peterborough getting the bulk of the stuff, particularly that from east of here.

Our hotels are kept unusually quiet this fall, though largely patronized, without much signs of drunkenness. Many use the sheds for their accommodation in all kinds of weather, who have been in the habit of destroying the places of accommodation.

The excellent speech delivered by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., to his constituents north of here has been loudly spoken of by all classes of people, and should be read by every right-thinking person, as it affords much knowledge summed up in such a manner that few are competent of such style of placing "solid facts."

Mr. Potter, father of the Rev. Mr. Potter, St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, gave a most interesting account of the work done amongst the sailors by the Upper Canada Bible Society, of which he has charge. Although 65 years in existence this work has not heretofore been explained, but has met with the sympathy of all who who were fortunate in listening to Mr. Potter.

Dr. J. N. Thompson is one of our busiest practitioners. Although there is not much sickness here, yet his south practice, as far Cavanville, keeps him hustling.

There is one of our leading farmers who has made over $100 out of 150 turkeys, and considers this more profitable than many other lines. They are for the foreign market.

Mr. Jas. Fowler, sen., Smith, general agent, is often seen passing through our village on business, and is a living example of industry and thrift to many younger men.

MAY HAVE MEANT WELL.

But Her Efforts Did Not Meet With Much Success.

Last season a Washington woman, possessing both social and charitable ambitions, elected to give a reception. The affair was to be very exclusive. Judge of the surprise when a bundle of invitations was left at the door of a hospital in town upon whose board of managers Mrs. Z. serves. The invitations were found to be addressed to the trained nurses of the institution, and great was the wonder that the professional ranks had been invaded for society recruits.

A few days elapsed, and Mrs. Z. paid a visit to the hospital. Making herself extremely agreeable, she remarked to the nurses:

"Well, girls, I hope you received cards to my reception?"

Smiles and acknowledgments answered in the affirmative, and Mrs. Z. went on complacently:

"Indeed, I was only too glad to remember you all. I appreciate how much work and how little play you girls have, and I thought you would enjoy a little glimpse of society fun."

"No doubt of it, Mrs. Z.," one of the nurses spoke up, "but none of us are likely to have gowns suitable to wear at such a function."

"Oh, that need not trouble you in the least," returned the smiling Mrs. Z. "Now, my idea is this. Of course I understand you have no evening gowns and that you know very few society people, but these facts must not interfere with your getting a peep at my guests and eating some of my supper. I thought the whole thing would be simplified if you all came in your pretty uniforms and caps and took up your stations in the dressing rooms. You would only have to assist the ladies with their wraps, and you could see the gowns to such good advantage, and"—But such a chorus of indignant exclamation rent the air at that juncture that Mrs. Z.'s sentence was never completed.

The social veneering must be thickly coated on Mrs. Z., for to this day she does not seem to understand why the nurses meet her advances with frigid indifference and why her visits to the hospital are no longer pleasant.—Washington Star.

Taking Toll.

There is a little girl named Nellie living in Allegheny, says the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph, who has astonished the neighborhood by a cute little trick which was so bright that even her parents had to laugh, and she escaped even a scolding. A grocer in the neighborhood had sent out a message to his customers that he was in need of money. The little girl's mother thought her bill was about $5 and gave Nellie a $5 bill to give the grocer and told her to bring back some sugar.

"Can I have a penny?" asked Nellie.

"Oh, yes. If there is one left you can have it," her mother replied.

Nellie went to the store and brought back the sugar. A few days later the grocer sent his bill, and it contained an acknowledgment of "cash received, $4.99." The lady had paid no such sum and asked for an explanation. The grocer said, "That's what Nellie brought."

The little girl was called in to explain. She said, "You said I could have a penny, and I went to the drug store and had the $5 bill changed and gave him the rest."

She Wasn't Guessing.

"Can I occupy half this seat?" asked the western drummer after he had succeeded in pushing his way into the crowded car.

"I don't know, sir," said the Boston girl, "but if you intended to ask my permission to try it I beg to inform you that you may do so."—Cleveland Leader.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which, I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 68, St. Henri, Que.

A C. P. R. PROBABILITY.

It is Now Thought Likely That the C.P.R. Will Get the Railway From Trail to Robson, B.C.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 29.—It has been known for some time past that the Canadian Pacific have been negotiating with F. A. Heinze of the Trail smelter, with a view to purchase either the smelter, the road from Trail to Robson, or both, and it is now thought that the deal will either go through to-morrow or be declared off altogether. Mr. Heinze and his Trail agent, Mr. Carlos Warfield, are both in the city, and this gives rise to the belief that something will be done this week. It is also said that if the C.P.R. do not purchase the railway they might seek running powers over it from Robson to China, or Murphy Creek, and thence switch off to Rossland by a branch of their own.

Mr. Blackstock of Toronto, who is in the city, denies that the War Eagle have any notion of building a smelter of their own.

Chicoutimi is Booming.

Rural Quebec is going ahead. The town of Chicoutimi has increased its population from 2000 to 5000 in three years and the farmers of the United Counties of Lake St. John and Chicoutimi have received during the past season no less than $250,000 in cash for their butter and cheese, which is sold in London at the same rate as the Ontario and Eastern Township article.

A pulp mill costing $110,000 will also start in Chicoutimi next week and the output for 18 months to come has already been sold in England.

James' Bay Railway in England.

The old scheme of a railway to James' Bay is again being revived on account of the favorable report of Mr. Sullivan, an engineer, sent out to explore the country by the Quebec Government. The distance from James' Bay to Roberval, on Lake St. John, is 373 miles, and the engineer says he took a dip in the bay as late as Oct. 4, and found the water in good condition, while wheat was seen ripe at a Hudson Bay post half way between Roberval and the Bay, or some 400 miles north of the city of Quebec. Mr. Sullivan states that the road can be easily constructed and will pass through magnificent forests and agricultural lands. The promoters say that the railway will come from Roberval to the mouth of the Saguenay, seeking a port at Tadousac.

Suicide at Eglington.

Eglington, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Hearn, a woman 60 years of age, committed suicide at the house of Deputy Reeve Stibbard, here, on Saturday morning. The housekeeper, Miss Brady, at about 8 o'clock found her hanging from a beam by a strap, and quite dead. The dead woman's husband lives at 26 Reid street, Toronto, with one son. Ex-Warden Donald McDonald of Sutton and Mrs J. McDonald of the same place are brothers of the deceased, and Mr. John Stibbard a nephew. Mrs. Hearn has been unwell for months, and at times showed great mental unbalance.

Theodore Durrant is Doomed.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—Acting Attorney-General Carter has received word from Attorney-General Fitzgerald to the effect that after present legal quibble has been decided he will advise Warden Hale to carry out the execution of Theodore Durrant regardless of any new legal proceedings that may be instituted by Durrant's attorney.

Durrant will be re-sentenced as soon as the controversy now pending is settled, after which the Attorney-General of the State believes no legal step can accomplish further delay in the proposed execution of Durrant.

The Mattawa Killing Case.

Mattawa, Ont., Nov. 29.—The result of a coroner's jury on McConnell's body was that, in the opinion of the jury, the deceased, James McConnell, died from hemorrhage caused by a bullet wound fired from a rifle in the hand of Samuel Tongue. The jury are fully of the opinion from the evidence produced that the shot was fired in self-defence.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conquerer of kidney and liver disease.

Ignorance In Motion.

I do not in the least mind if England, when the people are less ignorant and more experienced in self government, eventually becomes a democracy. But violent, selfish, unreasoning democracy would bring expensive bureaucracy and the iron rule of a Cromwell. Let the demagogue remember "Liberty forgetful of others is license, and nothing better than treason." The hero of the morning is too often the traitor of the afternoon. It was the mob who smashed the Duke of Wellington's windows on the anniversary of Waterloo. As Goethe says, "The worst thing in the world is ignorance in motion." The world would grow into the wickedest of worlds should all this babble and gabble ever succeed in impressing on the people that the obligations of contract are mere tyranny and that law is nothing but coercion.—Tennyson.

THIS TELLS THE WHOLE STORY.

A Hamilton lady restored to Health.

Mrs. A. Simpson spoke to our reporter as follows, at her cosy residence, 119 Locke St., Hamilton, Ont. Said Mrs. Simpson, "For the last two years I have suffered greatly from heart and nerve troubles, also pains in my head. My appetite was very poor, and I felt very miserable all the time, hardly able to do my household work. My heart was so bad that I frequently fainted away, and was liable to drop down at any place or time.

Sometimes my heart seemed to bound into my throat so that I thought I would smother. My rest was very much broken, and I grew quite discouraged after using so many medicines without relief.

When I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and procured a box at John A. Barr's drug store, and now after having used two boxes can say that I am completely cured. My appetite is good, indeed it seems as if I wanted to eat all the time. I sleep well and am thoroughly toned up. Truly I am better than I have been for many years."

A DRAMA OF THE SEA.

Deeply touched and still quivering with emotion, I write these lines.

Many and full of terrors are the sea tragedies enacted on this island, that is nevertheless rightly named the "beautiful."

Its lovable and courteous inhabitants are divided into two distinct classes—farmers and fishermen.

The former plant wheat, corn, oats and potatoes.

The latter catch the sweet fleshed tunny fish, sardines and lobsters.

Neither farmers nor fishermen ever become rich, and meat is almost unknown in their homes.

The people are, therefore, far from strong, the women especially being tender and delicate, with straight noses, slender, graceful necks and a slow, aristocratic carriage.

The men are of medium height and well built, but lack the vigor characterizing the peasants of Normandy.

The islanders are proud and never beg. A careful observer cannot fail to notice that among the many wrinkles which give character to their faces those written by laughter are wanting.

Both men and women have a serious and melancholy air, and their foreheads seem burdened with sad memories or a certain restlessness. Has not each one a father, a brother, or a son on the malignant water that lies out there—out there—encircling the island everywhere as far as the eye can reach?

Here these people have lived for centuries surrounded by a moving, agitated cemetery that smiles so alluringly and at the same time so savagely.

Occasionally the laughter of a child in one of the huts bubbles out toward its mother working in the fields. Her face lightens up for a moment, but she dare not seem happy, for as she turns there lies the sea, and its waves sob as they roll at her feet.

* * * * * * *

Yesterday there stood near me a dainty little girl of 13. She shaded her eyes with one hand in order to watch as long as possible her brother, who was walking down the street leading to the harbor of Bordery. Soberly as a matron she called after him: "Be careful of yourself and do not take cold. Au revoir! Good catch!"

The boy disappeared, and his sister returned to arrange her little household for the home coming of both her brothers, as the three were orphans to whom the state paid a small pension.

The girl was dressed in mourning, Father and Mother Gouenantin having died two years before—he in the hospital after 12 days of cruel suffering caused by the poisonous sting of a fish, she a few days later from consumption and grief.

Yes, there they lived, the three orphans. The elder brother, aged 18, had arisen at daybreak to be ready for his share of sardines, and the other, a lad of 15, was just to depart with his cousin Pierre-Marie to catch lobsters.

The three companions, Pierre-Marie Gouenantin, Eugene Gouenantin, the orphan, and Michel Samzun, boarded a little boat, L'Enfant du Desert, hoisted its pale blue sail and disappeared.

* * * * * * *

The heavens were slightly misty, the wind came out of the west, and I, sitting on the rocks, looked before me.

Dreaming the endless dreams born of the changeless yet ever changing sea as one gazes into its depths, full of charm and mystery.

Faraway cries caused me to turn my head and look about.

A flock of screaming sea gulls flying above me had attracted my attention. I was just about to leave the rocks when new cries reached my ears. These were piteous and broken like the sobs of a child. I arose and, looking toward the island where the lighthouse of Poulains stands, saw Mother Le Pelletier, the wife of the lighthouse keeper, down on her knees, waving her handkerchief, weeping and calling for help.

Workmen, busy in the neighborhood, saw the woman just as I did. In a few moments the little island was crowded with people.

What a painful, what a terrifying spectacle!

Opposite the point of the island, 300 meters from land, lay the boat L'Enfant du Desert capsized. Her sails were under water, and on her keel, which rose in the air, clung Eugene Gouenantin, the orphan. His face was as pale as a winding sheet, his eyes were closed, and his head, a plaything for the waves, swayed from right to left. With my telescope I could follow the entire development of the tragedy.

The child had become helpless and was just about to loosen his hold of the boat. Right near him lay Michel Samzun, clasping the edge of the keel convulsively, crying continually for help. His voice, hoarse with the death struggle, was partly drowned by the waves rolling furiously over him, as if reluctant to surrender their prey.

A hundred meters from them Pierre Marie Gouenantin disappeared in the water, the boat's car under his shoulders; but, strong and vigorous as he was, he arose with a cry of joy, for he had seen Father Le Pelletier coming. The lighthouse keeper, hearing the cries for help, had jumped into his boat and pushed from the shore without waiting for any of his companions for fear of being too late.

He was obliged to round the point.

"Courage! Hold fast!" called Michel Samzun to the little sailor hanging to the keel. "Courage! Father Le Pelletier is here, our gallant deliverer."

Then on came a wave, a sheer wall of water, with a foaming crest, and buried the boat. When it had spent itself, Michel raised his head and looked about—the keel was empty. Far away the wave was now rolling, and in its cruel bosom it held the orphan boy. Finally it disappeared in a whirl of waters, boiling and swirling in a horrible struggle for their victim.

The sun just then pierced the fog and shone dimly on the raging, tumultuous sea. In the meantime Father Le Pelletier had rescued Pierre-Marie Gouenantin, and then rowed to the place where the accident occurred. Great tears rolled over the weather stained cheeks of the brave lighthouse keeper, as with inexpressible tenderness he loosened Michel Samzun's cramped hands from the boat's keel.

For three-quarters of an hour the three fishermen had struggled with the waves and with the winds that had been blowing furiously for the last 20 minutes. When Michel's fingers were released, Father Le Pelletier drew him into the boat and placed him next to Pierre-Marie. It being now certain that the orphan was lost, the lighthouse keeper made for the island where Mother Le Pelletier was waiting with dry underclothing, stockings, shoes and coats, while my maid had prepared a drink of hot wine.

Finally Le Pelletier stepped on shore and the two poor shipwrecked mariners followed. The pilot shook the former by both hands, saying over and over:

"Brave fellow, brave fellow! Another rescue added to your long list."

"Oh," answered Le Pelletier, pale with sorrow and in a bitter tone, "a life has been lost!" And, although worn out and wet to the skin, he assisted the two fishermen, whose teeth were chattering, into some dry clothing.

Michel Samzun could not open his hands, so swollen were they. They hung down limp as the hands of the dead and seemed to be clutching something invisible.

Pierre-Marie, the elder—this was his second shipwreck—recovered first. With half suppressed anger he looked at the sea and cursed it. Then in taking off his soaked wool jacket he felt his watch. He held it to his ear. "It did not stop," he exclaimed, tapping the lid lightly. "It is a very good watch."

When the sailors were dressed again and somewhat warmed by the wine, they asked about their boat. A deep flush spread over Pierre-Marie's face when he heard that the pilot, Alexandre, had saved it. Although the sailors' limbs were still trembling and their hair stiff and wet from the salt water they at once stepped into the vessel, hoisted sail and steered for the pretty harbor of Bordery. Some one must tell "la petite Gouenantin."

I took the road and arrived at the same time. The murmurs of the sympathetic crowd was the first premonition the little girl had that something was wrong. She came out of her door, still dressed in black, her restless little head covered with a white coif. She saw the farmers and fishermen form into a group. She knew they were pitying her as they turned aside their heads. She could hear the "alas, alas!" which the wind carried to her.

A nameless fear urged the girl forward to meet the crowd. With pale face and eyes wide open with horror the child understood at once when she saw the two fishermen alone. She fled back home, calling out in tones broken by grief: "He is dead! He is dead!" This was her message to the unseen dwellers there.

"He is dead! He is dead! Dead without confession!" she cried and fell down before the black crucifix that hung on the white wall.

"He is dead! He is dead!" she whispered, kneeling on the floor, her head pressed against the stones, her arms spread out toward the crucifix.

And the crowd of fishermen and farmers stood on the doorsill. They held their hats in their hands. They did not speak. They found no word of comfort.

And I—I was in their midst, one of them.

Your anxiety is for your delicate child; the child that in spite of all your careful over-watching, keeps thin and pale. Exercise seems to weaken her and food fails to nourish. That child needs Scott's Emulsion with the Hypophosphites—not as a medicine, but as a food containing all the elements of growth. It means rich blood, strong bones, healthy nerves, sound digestion. No child refuses Scott's Emulsion. It is pleasant and palatable.

WHEN PARLIN DRAWS THE BOW.

When Parlin resumes up his bow
An the horsehair whines an squeaks,
I know wut's comin an jus' lay low,
But when that fiddle speaks
B'goshs all hemlock, I hain't keep seats,
An I whoop an holler so
Yo'd think 'twas dawn o' kingdom come
When Parlin draws the bow!

The bar'l 'at Parlin's settin on
Keeps still because it must,
But every human 'at hears the fun
Has got to dance or bust.
Wy, even the candles on the wall,
They dances an flicker low
When the boys jes' stomp as they "seshay all"
An Parlin draws the bow!

They hain't a tune 'at he don't know—
"Tempest" an "Ginny Reel,"
"Vesuvianny," "Blackbird an Crow,"
"Lancers" an "Ole Tarkeel."
An he plays with such a ticklesome touch—
Ma's seventy-nine, you know,
But she'll skip an hop till it beats the Dutch
When Parlin draws the bow!

I wonder of ther's fiddle strings
To sound in paradise?
Wy not? Ther's harps an trumps an things
'At ain't not half so nice.
Waal, when I've crossed the crystal wave
I'll dance a jig—by Jo,
I know I shall—on the jasper pave
Ef Parlin draws that bow!

—J. L. Heaton in "Quilting Bee."

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney disease.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The treatable with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Thinking of Gift Times Now?

Gift Things, of all things, should be RIGHT—not necessarily costly, but in good taste. This store is never more necessary than during holiday times. It is so easy to make mistakes during the "rushed-for-time" days that one is in danger of buying gaudy things, despite usual good judgment. Safest to go where gaudiness does not enter. Nothing so givable—nothing as necessary—nothing so much admired as AN ARTICLE OF FUR.

For the Ladies:—

A cosy pair of Fur Gauntlets	$2 50 to $15 00
A cosy pair Imitation Fur Gauntlets	75 to 2 00
A Soft Fluffy Neck Scarf	2.00 to 20 00
A Comfortable Fur Muff	1.00 to 18 00
A Ripped Capperine	5.00 to 35 00
A Fur Collarette	2.00 to 15 00
A Dressy Fur Cap	1.50 to 15 00
An Imitation Cap	.50 to 1 00
A New Style Fur Jacket	15 00 to 200 00
A choice Ripple Fur Lined Wrap	15.00 to 50 00

For the Gentlemen:—

An attachable Fur Collar	$4.00 to $18 00
A Cosy Pair Gauntlets	3.00 to 18 00
Imitation Lamb Gauntlets	1.50
Buck, Mocha, & Kid Gloves & Mitts Fur Lined and Wool Lined	75 to 4 00
A Dressy Warm Fur Cap	1.50 to 25 00
A heat-retaining, cold-excluding Fur Coat	13.50 to 50 00
A Fashionable and Dressy Fur Lined Coat	50.00 to 150 00
A comfortable Robe or Set of Robes	5.00 to 50 00

For the Children:—

Caps in Fur	$ 1.50 to $ 3 50
Imitations Caps	.25 to 1 00
Grey Storm Collars	3 50 to 5 50
Blizzard Collars	8 00
Gauntlets	.75 to 5 50
Muffs	1.25 to 5 00
Ruffs	1.25 to 2 50
Grey Capes	10.00 to 25 00
Wool Boas	.25 to 50

If you have $1.00 or $100.00 to spend it will be best spent here—comfort, richness and good taste combined.

Xmas orders should be looked to at once.

WESTWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Jas. Ryan and his sister, Miss Mary Ryan, have moved to Peterborough for the winter.

Mr. Geo. Gillespie has returned from Fleetwood where he has made cheese.

Miss Lena Cumming was the guest of Miss G. Warner for a few days last week.

We noticed the pleasant face of Mr. Geo. Renwick in our village last week.

Mr. Wm. Thompson, of the firm of Ryan & Thompson, attended the cheese meeting held here on Friday. He appears to be very well satisfied with the condition of the factory.

Mr. F. H. Breckenridge, O. B. C., Bellville, has come home for a few days. We hear that he has secured a school at Cahoon's Corner.

Mr. Thos. Eason, jr., has gone to Norwood for the winter. He intends to wear the apron.

Mr. Thos. Evans was in Keene a few days ago. On Packer street he found a very valuable cane. No owner has yet been found and Tom, of course, is glad to have it still in his possession.

Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., has returned to the Legislature, which opened on Tuesday last.

Mr. J. Albert Graham has been re-engaged in Fife's public school at an increased salary; so also has Mr. R. Lancaster decided to remain another year at Cameron's school.

Mr. R. James McColl was so unfortunate as to cut his knee badly. He was conveyed to Dr. MacNaughton's office, where his injuries were attended to. We anxiously await his recovery.

The following were appointed collectors for Asphodel by the Norwood branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society:—Misses Ada Scott, E. Crawford, L. Thistlewaite, M. Scott, M. Powell and R. Wood. The books are to be placed in the hands of the collectors at once. New books are anticipated.

The following committee will arrange for the Farmers' Institute meetings here: Misses M. Breckenridge, K. Sharp and J. Eason, and Messrs. W. C. Breckenridge, Will Sharp and G. Eason. Now, Will, roll up your sleeves.

The annual meeting of the Westwood cheese patrons was held in the factory on Nov. 20th. Mr. Robert Harrison, President, took the chair, and Mr. R. Tudhope acted as secretary. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The auditors, Messrs. R. Tudhope and John Lancaster, presented their report, which was received. It was resolved that the directors should insure the factory next year, putting on $2,000. The salesman, Mr. Thomas Blezard, M.P.P., gave his report respecting the season's business, which was entirely satisfactory. He said Westwood cheese always commanded the very best price on the board. There was no trouble selling it, because it was A1, and the buyers were always after it. He advised the patrons to look carefully after their cows and milk, and in so doing, greatly assist our excellent cheesemaker, Mr. Jas. Ryan, in keeping the cheese up to its proud record it has to-day—no better in the world.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, and resulted as appended:

President—Mr. Robert Harrison, (re-elected)

Secretary-treasurer—Mr. Robt. Ryan, re-elected.)

Salesman—Mr. Thomas Blezard, (re-elected.)

Auditors—Messrs. R. Tudhope and Jno. Lancaster, (re-elected.)

Directors—Messrs H Nelson, M Lynch, Jas Lancaster, Israel Mumphries, M J Healy, Wm Sharp, M English, D R Cameron and Thos Eason, (re-elected.))

The whey was first offered for sale in bulk, and then by the day. Mr. Thomas Breckenridge offered 50c per standard for it in bulk. It was then sold by the day but this did not realize as much as before, so that Mr. Breckenridge has the whey for the year.

The auditors' report for 1897 reads thus: The amount of milk delivered at the factory was 2,398,171 lbs., or a little more than 704 standards, from which was made 209,543 lbs. cheese, being an average of 10.93 lbs. of milk per lb. of cheese. The amount received from sales was $18,471.70, being an average of a little more than 8 81 cents per lb. Interest received, $71.64. The value of the whey at 47c. a standard, $330.10, making the total amount value of the business done [illegible] $18,903 44. The [illegible] per standard is $26.75, [illegible] the whey [illegible]

after deducting expenses is $19 90. The greatest amount of milk sent by any one patron was by John Breckenridge, viz, 89,301 lbs., and the average sent by the 99 patrons was 23,153 lbs.

Westwood factory is the largest on the Peterborough Cheese Board and commanded the greatest price paid for cheese in the province. This speaks well for the carefulness and ingenuity of our salesman, Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P. He has ever tried to bring Westwood factory to the front, and this year's showing proves it so to be. Whatever he takes in hand to do is sure to receive his most careful and closest attention, and it is well for the patrons of this factory that they secured as able and shrewd a salesman as he to act in this office next year. Our hearty thanks are due to Mr. Blezard for his thoughtfulness and care in the past.

SUCCESS CROWNED THEIR WORK.

Ninety out of of every one hundred homes in Canada make use of Diamond Dyes each season of the year.

Diamond Dyes hold their present high position owing to the fact that they are perfectly pure and harmless. They are prepared with such scientific precision that the colours are always uniform in power in shade. NO ADULTERATION, NO SOAP GREASE in Diamond Dyes, and every package is fully warranted.

The following letters from old users of Diamond Dyes maintain every claim:

Mrs. G. E. Langille, Port Hawkesbury, N.S., says:

"I have tried all makes of package dyes, but find Diamond Dyes by far the best; they work perfectly."

Mrs. E. Chambers, Massey Station, Ont., says:

"We have used your Diamond Dyes for years; they are excellent and make old things look like new; I could not get on without them."

Mrs. Aubin, Shefford Vale, P.Q., says:

"Have used Diamond Dyes for many years and think they are the best; I do not wish to buy any other make."

Mrs. R. J. Hannah, Poplar Point, Man., says:

"Diamond Dyes are a perfect success and no trouble."

Mrs. James Ingram, St. Mary's, Ont., says:

"I have used Diamond Dyes exclusively for years, and will use no other make."

SPRINGVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss H. Lowery, of Port Hope, is the guest of Mr. Levi Bowles.

Miss Etta Clarke was home for Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Mackenzie and family, of Galt, spent a few days with Mr. W. J. Laing last week.

Mr. Fallis, Miss Fallis and Miss Walsh were the guests of Mr. J. Baptie and family on Sunday.

Miss R. Watt is visiting at Mr. R. Hetherington's.

We are pleased to see Miss M. Baptie out again after her recent illness.

Miss S. Weir, of Norwood, spent Thanksgiving holidays with W. Clarke and family.

Rev. J. A. Tanner, of Omemee, will conduct the preparatory services here on Friday morning at half ten, Sunday following being the Sacrament.

Placed in our hands the GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY OF THE YEAR, and gave us practical control of the Clothing trade of Peterborough. Opportunity and ability were thus united—and that is how we have collected together this great $66,000 stock of Merchandise. It is 1897's LATEST, NEWEST, RIGHT-PRICED addition to Peterborough's prosperity, spread out on our tables and shelves for the greatest December feast of our history.

Even the great GOUGH'S are not insensible to a Boom in business. It seems a contradiction to push sales by losing profits we might as well have, when our business is vigorous with healthy activity, and yet we are inspired to do so by sound reasoning. It sometimes pays to lose, especially when you really don't lose at all.

IT'S A REAL DUTY you owe to yourself to make an early visit to GOUGH'S while this Great Sale is in progress. The store is constantly crowded with delighted customers—and no wonder when you look at some of our prices:—

Men's Tweed Overcoats, worth $5.00, selling at	$2 40

PETE. SIMONS & CO.

PETERBOROUGH'S FAVOURITE MERCHANT TAILORS,

THE PRIZE TEA AND FREE GIFTS AT THE PEOPLE'S GROCERY.

A DECIDED SUCCESS.

Would you believe it, such lovely Tea for 20 cents a pound, and a handsome Present with every pound. I saw a large beautiful white and gold China Teapot given with 1 lb. of this Tea, to an old bachelor. Just think of that! While another young lady carried off in triumph a fine large blue and white Teapot worth more money than was paid for the pound of Tea. Why there was a regular rush to the tables to secure the prizes; gifts for nothing, yes and a whole lot to choose from. Another says: "Oh my, why are you giving away your goods for nothing! Well I want to sell a lot ofgoods. I want to advertise my business and work up a good trade. Stop now there! I see crowds of people in your store. Why last Saturday you must have done a rushing trade." Well so we did, and we heartily thank you for your kind patronage and favours, and I promise to do my best to deserve it. "I see your advertisement in the Daily EXAMINER, with a grand lot of Christmas free gifts for nothing. Just give me a pound of that tea, and I will take a set of those nice China Dishes for my little girl, it will make her so happy. Good Bye." This is what people are saying and doing. We have a large counter filled with free gifts, which every purchaser of one pound of Japan Tea can select from. We have a fine full stock of all lines in Groceries, Fruit, Provisions, Hams and Bacon, Lard, Butter and eggs. Choice Confectionery, Biscuits and Candies, Apples, Potatoes, and Vegetables of every kind, and last our fine Choice Celery, so white and clean so nice and crisp, the best to be had. We invite all the citizens of town and country to come and get the best Celery for their money that can be had at the "People's Grocery," 328 George Street Peterborough.

THE GREAT STORM

Britain's Ports Filled With Damaged Shipping.

INLAND KENT TOWNS FLOODED.

The Losses at Margate and Southend—New England Island Swamped and a Farmer and His Belongings Swept Away—A Laborer Frozen to Death—General Cable News.

London, Dec. 1.—Stories of wrecks, fatalities and damage done as a result of the gale in England were received yesterday. All the bays and ports are full of shipping, more or less seriously damaged. Several of the inland towns of Kent are still flooded, and a long time must elapse before the damages done can be repaired. At Margate the damage is estimated to amount to £50,000 and at Southhead to £30,000. Similar reports are being received from other seaside places.

The severity of the weather prevailing in Durhamshire can be gauged by the fact of the finding of the frozen body of a laborer, who lost his way in a snowstorm.

Five artillerymen from Shoeburyness, who were sent out to search for a boat in which six gunners were adrift, were driven out to sea and were picked up last night by the Allan Line steamer Austrian, after their boat had been stove in. It is feared that the boat containing the six gunners had been swamped and that the men have been drowned.

The Ramsgate lifeboat, which, with a tug, the two vessels having a score of men on board, went to assist a vessel in danger on the Goodwin Sands, has not been heard from for 24 hours.

Later in the day it became known that the missing gunners had reached Woolwich safely. New England, an island near South End, several thousand acres in area and surrounded by a high sea wall, was swamped during the gale, and everything, including a farmer and his family, the farm buildings, sheep, horses and cattle, was swept away.

FOR CHINESE WATERS.

German Warship Gefion Sent to Reinforce the German Fleet There.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—The German Government has abandoned its intention of sending the warship Gefion to Port au Prince, Hayti, in order to enforce the demands of Count Schwerin, the German Minister there, who is insisting upon the payment of an indemnity to Herr Emil Luederk, for alleged false imprisonment. The Gefion, instead, will be sent to reinforce the German fleet in the Chinese waters.

Damage on Belgian Coast.

Brussels, Dec. 1.—The storm which has been sweeping over the northern part of Europe has done great damage along the Belgian coast. At Heyst and Middelkerke the dykes have been breached, flooded houses have collapsed and a number of vessels have been driven ashore. The Kursaal and other buildings at Blankenberghe, and the dykes as well, have been damaged, the streets are flooded and troops are being employed at various points to assist in the work of rescue.

New Governor of Hong Kong.

London, Dec. 1.—Sir Henry Arthur Blake, Captain-General and Governor-in-Chief of Jamaica since 1889, has been appointed Governor of Hong Kong.

Sir Augustus William Lawson Hemming, Governor of British Guiana, will succeed Sir Henry Blake, and Sir Walter Joseph Sendall, High Commissioner for Cyprus since 1892, will succeed Sir Augustus Hemming.

French Brig Wrecked.

St. Malo, Dec. 1.—The French brig Hasparren has been wrecked off Aurigny. A majority of the crew perished. The Hasparren was of 309 tons, and belonged to S. M. Lagasse Nevu Cie. of Bayonne, France. She was probably a fishing brig.

THE THREE CENT POSTAGE.

The Beginning of the End of the Fight for Imperial Postal Unity.

London, Dec. 1.—(Montreal Star Cable.)—English comment on the reduction of the Canadian postage is summed up in a sentence: "This is the beginning of the end of the long battle for Imperial postal unity. If Canada, with a small revenue, risks so much to create a new link in the chain of the Empire how can rich England hesitate to co-operate?"

The question arises, however, whether the International Postal Union, of which Canada and England are members, will not prevent the reduction of the present rates without full and formal notice. In any case Canada's action will probably force the hands of the British postoffice and the Exchequer, as the new tariff forced the hands of the Foreign Office with respect to the treaties with Germany and Belgium.

INTO BRITAIN'S ARMS.

China Said to Have Agreed to Give England a Strip of Territory and Some Islands for Protection.

London, Dec. 1.—The morning papers assert that China has practically agreed to cede to England a strip of territory near Hong Kong and all the surrounding islands, in order to enable England to fortify them securely and to increase the garrison. It is expected that a convention covering the agreement will soon be signed.

Don Carlos' Agitation.

Madrid, Dec. 1.—It is stated here that Don Carlos, the pretender, has summoned to Venice the Marquis of Cerralbo, his representative in Spain, with a view of promoting a fresh agitation.

Raised to the Bench.

London, Dec. 1.—Sir Walter George Frank Phillimore, Baronet, Vice-President of the English Church Union and Chancellor of the Diocese of Lincoln, has been appointed to a judgeship. He was born in London on Nov. 21, 1845, was educated at Westminster and at Oxford, and was admitted to the bar in 1868. Among his publications are: "The Book of Church Law," "Phillimore's Ecclesiastical Law," and "Phillimore's International Law."

New Austrian Cabinet Completed.

Vienna, Dec. 1.—The new Austrian Cabinet, of which Baron von Gautsch von Frankenthurn is President of the Council of Ministers, has been completed and will be gazetted to-day.

Has the Khalifa Been Butchering?

Suakim, Dec. 1.—Advices received here from Kassala announce that reports are current there that the Khalifa recently murdered several Christians at Khartoum.

Among the Honored.

Cambridge, Eng., Dec. 1.—In the honor list of Cambridge University, just made public, Dr. Hamilton Wright of Montreal gets a scholarship of the value of £50.

The Hammond Murder Case.

Bracebridge, Dec. 1.—The Muskoka Assizes were opened last evening at 6 o'clock, Mr. Justice Meredith presiding. The grand jury roll was called and the jury empanelled and the charge given when the court adjourned until 9 o'clock to-day. The first business in the morning will be the selecting of jurors for the trial of William James Hammond, charged with the murder of Katie Tough.

Rescued From Starvation.

New York, Dec. 1.—The Bristol City Line steamer Exeter City, which arrived yesterday from Bristol and Swansea, on Nov. 24 fell in with the British schooner Elite, dismasted and in a sinking condition, and rescued the crew of five men and brought them safely to port. The supply of provisions had almost run out and the little crew suffered greatly from lack of food.

Two Oshawa Boys Drowned.

Oshawa, Ont., Dec. 1.—A sad drowning accident occurred here last evening. Two boys, about 8 years old, sons of John Robinson and Fred Horn, were sliding on the ice on the river and broke through. It appears they went out to slide shortly after school, and when they did not appear at tea time a search was made. After dragging about an hour the bodies were found side by side in about six feet of water.

Big Fire at Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 1.—About 11 o'clock last night fire broke out in Richardson's elevator and the building and contents were totally destroyed. The elevator was filled with grain, and the loss will amount to fully $75,000. The amount of insurance cannot be ascertained at this hour, but it is believed to be fully covered.

Haycock is Working.

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 1.—J. L. Haycock, Patron leader, has been holding meetings throughout Frontenac, and he thinks his prospects are good for re-election.

A GREAT VICTORY

Bertram Carries Centre Toronto by an Increased Majority.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER PLEASED.

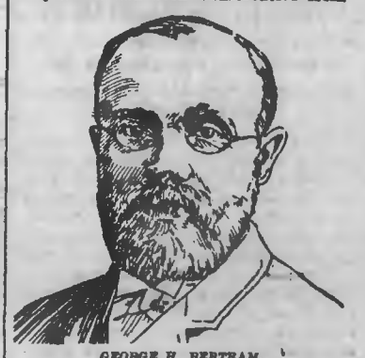
A Splendid and Brilliant Campaign Carried to a Successful Issue—Enthusiasm at Liberal Headquarters—Mr. Bertram Speaks Warm Words of Thanks to His Friends.

Bertram	2,234
Howland	1,958
Majority for Bertram	276

Toronto, Dec. 1.—A good cause, an excellent candidate, enthusiastic workers and supporters, combined to make the Liberal forces of Centre Toronto irresistible yesterday. The battle was one of the most determined ever fought in the city, both sides being keyed up to do their utmost.

There was no disunion in the Conservative ranks to excuse failure. Tupper Tories and anti-Tupperites, remedialists and anti-coercionists, Mr. John Ross Robertson and Mr. George E. Foster, Mr. Clarke Wallace and Dr. R. B. Orr, who tried to unhorse him in West York in the general elections—every section of the Tory party was at work.

The result is that in a city which the Conservatives formerly thought a pocket borough of the party, and in a constituency which had been Conservative from



GEORGE H. BERTRAM,
Member-elect for Centre Toronto.

1878 till it was redeemed by Mr. Lount in 1896, the Liberal majority of 240 at the general election has been increased to 276. This, too, in a deliberate trial of strength and on ground of attack chosen by the Opposition and accepted by the supporters of the Government.

Headquarters was crowded with workers after five o'clock waiting for the verdict. When the returns, which came in rapidly, proved beyond doubt that Mr. Bertram was member for Centre Toronto the ardor of his friends broke bounds, and cries of "speech, speech," were heard all over the room. Mr. Rutter, who has done such magnificent work in the management of Mr. Bertram's campaign, before calling on Mr. Bertram, thanked the members of the Executive Committee, every man who worked in the campaign, and every elector of St. John's and St. James' Wards who supported Mr. Bertram.

Mr. Rutter then introduced Mr. Bertram, who was received with tremendous enthusiasm. Every man in the hall waved his hat in the air and shouted, and shouted again. "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung with great vigor, and the cheering was renewed. Mr. Bertram said: Fellow electors of Centre Toronto,—I am proud to think that the Liberals, that the electors, of Centre Toronto have by their vote shown that they have confidence in the Liberal Government led by Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier. I am far more satisfied with that vote on behalf of the Government than I am that it concerns me personally, because if the electors had lost confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier the Government would not have been sustained, and allow me to add this—now that I am in, the Tories will never get me out. (Cheers.) I desire to thank the Liberals—the Liberals, I desire and wish to emphasize the word. It is the Liberals that I desire to thank for the splendid support they have given me." He then reviewed the issues of the campaign and closed with still warmer words of thanks, if that were possible.

At The Star office and The Globe office, to which Mr. Bertram was escorted by enthusiastic supporters, the member-elect also spoke in similar terms. From all over Canada poured in telegrams of congratulation, this one from Ottawa was received with great enthusiasm and pleasure.

Sir Wilfrid Gratified.

"Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The news of the result of the Centre Toronto election reached the Premier's office just as he was leaving for home, shortly after 6 o'clock. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was very much pleased at the expression of confidence from such a constituency as Centre Toronto, particularly when it represented the opinions of a large body of business men."

At Conservative Headquarters.

A cheerful speech was made by the defeated candidate, Mr. Howland, and he was followed by Mr. George E. Foster, ex-Finance Minister, who dwelt upon the importance of a fight even though it had not been won.

Team Ran Away and Killed Him.

Palmerston, Dec. 1.—Thomas Hayes, a farmer living near Teviotdale, was killed last evening. His team, a spirited one, ran away, throwing him out and fracturing his skull. He was carried into a house near by, but lived only a few minutes.

A Railway Conductor Decapitated.

Stellarton, N.S., Dec. 1.—John McDonald, a conductor on the Intercolonial Railway, while shunting cars here yesterday afternoon, fell under one and was decapitated. He was 45 years old and had a large family.

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. THE LEGISLATURE.

The last session of the eighth Legislature of Ontario was opened yesterday afternoon in Toronto, and the speech of the new Lieutenant Governor, Sir Oliver Mowat, better known as the veteran statesman who has so long and well controlled the affairs of the Province, was published in the EXAMINER a few minutes after its utterance. The governmental programme is eminently satisfactory, and its exhibit at the session will be of a character that will give earnest of its triumphal return to power after the coming elections. The finances of the Province are in a solid condition, the receipts are in excess of the expenditure and the surplus is large. The public accounts will be given perhaps too soon, to please the Opposition, for they will contain a complete refutation of the reckless statements with which the little band of romancers, headed by Mr. J. Piiny Whitney, have been regaling an incredulous public during the summer and fall. The vexed question of the lumber interests will be dealt with in an intelligent and, as far as the Opposition will permit, practical manner, and measures which will best conserve the provincial interests adopted. Some changes in the educational procedure in the direction of improvement will be made, and it will be seen that the hand of the admirable administration of the past twenty-six years has not lost its cunning, and is guiding the provincial ship with its accustomed skill.

GROWING COMMERCE.

There have been some very remarkable increases in the volume of exports from the port of Montreal this year. Grain has shown an immence increase. The total quantity of wheat, oats, corn, peas, barley and rye shipped in 1896 was, roundly, seven million bushels; in 1896 it jumped to nineteen millions, and this year there has been another bound to twenty-seven million bushels. Of this eight millions of increase—more, by the way, than the total exports of 1895—wheat claims 2,847,340 bushels; corn another 2,605,526 bushels, and oats 2,396,370 bushels.

Montreal has also handled for export 400,000 boxes of cheese more than last year, each containing about seventy pounds; 63,000 more packages of butter, each of fifty-six pounds, and 15,000 more cases of eggs.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

YESTERDAY was the day dear to the hearts of Scots the world over. Their national day is one in which those of other races can bear a part with some degree of pride. They belong to an Empire, in the building of which, notably in Canada, the Scot has borne a large part. All can be "brithers" and wear the heather on that day.

CHRISTMAS comes but once a year, but when it comes—etc., etc. It is somewhat close at hand now and advertisers should govern themselves accordingly. By bringing their wares before the notice of the people promptly the sales will commence the sooner, the demand can be better met and the public and the merchant alike will be spared the rush and pressure which must result from leaving the matter until the very eve of the festive season.

JOCK TAMSON'S BAIRNS.

The Toronto Society's Celebration of the Great Anniversary. Chief of the Gordon Clan Present.

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Yesterday was St. Andrew's Day and the brethren of St. Andrew's Society of Toronto were not behind their brethren in commemorating the anniversary. In the splendid capacious dining hall of the Queen's Hotel, gathered hundreds of braw Scotchmen to tell over again the praises of Scott, Burns, Wallace, Bruce and Bannockburn and the "Thin Red Line."

Additional relish was presented this year in the light of recent feats at Dargai Ridge. The praises of the Gordon Highlanders were sung, the more lustily that the chief of the clan, Gordon, in the person of the Earl of Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, was present. His Excellency replied to the toast of the evening, "The day an' a' wha honor it."

A MILLION AND A HALF

To be Paid Out by Canadian Banks in Dividends to Shareholders.

Montreal, Dec. 1.—St. Andrew's Day was royally celebrated here last night. The ball and concert were each a marked success.

Banks Will Pay out Money.

To-day 10 of the leading Canadian banks will begin to pay out over $1,400,000 in dividends. The payments are in every case half yearly. The largest amount that will be set rolling is $600,000, and that will be by the Bank of Montreal. The next largest amount is $240,000, which will be paid out by the Merchants' Bank of Canada, while the third amount is $210,000 by the Bank of Commerce. Here is a full list of the amounts payable to-morrow: Bank of Montreal, $600,000; Merchants' of Canada, $240,000; Bank of Commerce, $210,000; Bank of Toronto, $100,000; Imperial Bank, $68,220; Standard, $40,000; Quebec Bank, $68,750; Bank of Hochelaga, $28,000; La Banque Ville Marie, $14,288; Jacques Cartier, $17,500. Total, $1,406,758.

CARBERRY'S BIG FIRE.

Twelve Places of Business Lately Destroyed, Contents Partly Saved.

Carberry, Man., Dec. 1.—Twelve business places were burned here yesterday morning, namely: Walker's Bazaar, News office, Morton, harness; H. McFeridge, boots and shoes; J. McFeridge, workshop; Silvester, implements; Massey-Harris, implements; Thompson Elliott's blacksmith shop, Walker's Liverpool, Kennedy's restaurant, County Court offices, Robertson, furniture. All the buildings were totally consumed. The contents were partly saved. Loss about $30,000; insurance not learned.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

Fruit Shipments.

Hamilton, Dec. 1.—Messrs. T. Carpenter & Son, fruit exporters of Winona, have sent a consignment of Canadian apples and pears to the West Indies via Halifax. The shipment consist of 200 boxes and the fruit is neatly packed, something in the same style as the California fruit comes to the Canadian market.

Judge Dartnell Stricken With Apoplexy.

Orillia, Ont., Dec. 1.—Yesterday Judge Dartnell of Whitby, County Judge for County of Ontario, was stricken with apoplexy while holding revision court at Longford Mills, about nine miles from here. He was brought to town and now lies at the Orillia House in a critical condition. He is being attended by Drs. Harvey and Ardagh.

Dismissal Decided Upon.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—It is reported that the dismissal of Lieut.-Col. Strathy of the 5th Royal Scots of Montreal has been decided upon, and that the officer will not even retain regimental rank.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it will stop the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

THE DEMON OF DYSPEPSIA.

Banished For Ever by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Snow cannot withstand the heat of the midsummer sun. There's no ice on the cracks in August.

No more can Indigestion and Dyspepsia exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. The sun melts the snow; Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food. That's all that is needed to banish Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more. While they are digesting the food, they rest the stomach; tone it up, restore all its old strength, and give it a new supply.

You don't have to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for ever. A short course of treatment, two or three weeks, is enough for any case. Then you can quit using them and enjoy the benefits they have given you.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are specially suited to every form of Dyspepsia. They will positively cure any form of the disease.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent the formation of poisonous gases in the stomach by digesting the food at once. There is no time for it to ferment and create gas.

If the bowels need treatment Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets won't give it. But, in each box is a package of smaller tablets that will. Thus there is a double treatment in every box.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists, at 50 cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

MUNYON

HAS A CURE FOR EACH DISEASE

With Munyon's Improved Homœopathic Remedies in the House, Mothers Can Become the Family Physician.

Professor Munyon is honoured to-day as the leading authority in the medical world. His new and humane methods of treatment have swept away all the old-fashioned ideas of doctoring with poisonous drugs that create a dozen diseases in the effort to get rid of one. He does not claim that he has one remedy that will cure all complaints, but that he has prepared a specific cure for nearly every disease. He does not claim that Munyon's Rheumatism Cure will cure consumption, dyspepsia or any other complaint, but he does assert that it will cure rheumatism. Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure is prepared expressly to cure dyspepsia; Munyon's Cough Cure to cure coughs; Munyon's Catarrh Remedies to cure catarrh; Munyon's Kidney Cure to cure kidney troubles. The same may be said of all Munyon's different named cures. They may be obtained at all drug stores, mostly at 25c a bottle.

Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 11 and 13 Albert street Toronto, answered, with free medical advice for any disease.

THE LEGISLATURE

Sir Oliver Mowat Opens the Ontario Assembly.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

The Floor of the Chamber Crowded With Distinguished Citizens—Several Important Pieces of Legislation Promised—A Portrait of Sir Ralph Meredith Presented to the House.

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Seldom in the Parliamentary history of this province have the opening ceremonies of the Legislature been attended with the grandeur which marked the inauguration yesterday of the fourth session of the seventh Parliament.

It was not only an important function of State and a notable social event, but it marked an epoch in the career of one of Canada's greatest statesmen. Sir Oliver Mowat made his first public appearance as Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and discharged his first important official duty.

Additional lustre was imparted to the occasion by the presence of vice-royalty, which was sufficient to make it a distinct social success. Distinguished amongst those present was Hon. Edward Blake, Sir Oliver Mowat's predecessor in the Premiership of Ontario.

Brilliant toilettes and gold lace gave to the scene a festive appearance, and the picture presented by the great throng of fair women who composed the larger part of the assemblage was one of surpassing magnificence. The formal ceremony was disposed of expeditiously, but with a traditional accuracy of detail, thanks to Commander Law, A.D.C., who is a master of such things.

Contrary to expectation Their Excellencies had no military escort. Special raised seats had been provided for them at the right nearest to Mr. Speaker, where they sat throughout the ceremony. A pleasant feature of the opening was the unveiling of a portrait of Sir William Ralph Meredith, former Conservative leader in the House. The artist, J.W.L. Foster, unveiled the portrait, which was presented by Mr. J.R. Whitney. Mr. Hardy made a neat and appropriate reply.

Letter From the Queen.

Office of the Governor-General's Secretary,
Ottawa, Aug. 9.

Sir,—I am desired by His Excellency the Governor-General to inform you that he has received instructions to convey to the Legislative Assembly of Ontario the Queen's cordial thanks for the loyal congratulations and assurances of devotion to her crown and person contained in the finely illuminated address to Her Majesty on the occasion of her Diamond Jubilee.

I have the honor to be, sir,
C. J. JONES,
Per Governor-General's Secretary.

To the Hon. the Speaker, Legislative Assembly of Ontario, Toronto.

The letter read, a messenger announced the presence of the Lieutenant-Governor. Sir Oliver Mowat, attended by a glittering staff, thereupon appeared, the one-time Premier walking directly to the Speaker's chair.

Speech From the Throne.

The speech from the throne was as follows:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

It gives me much pleasure to meet again the members of the Legislative Assembly of this Province with whom I was so long associated in a different capacity. While it was my good fortune to be for many years the leader of the majority in the Assembly, I am glad to know that I always had the friendship and good-will of many members who were politically opposed to me, and that during all of my long Premiership I had the personal enmity of none. As Lieutenant-Governor, and no longer identified with any political party, I hope to possess the confidence of all; and I trust that my long familiarity with public matters, as a member of Canadian and Provincial Legislatures and Governments, may enable me to render valuable service to my native province in the performance of the important constitutional duties which belong to the office of Lieutenant-Governor.

I am greatly pleased to be able to state that Their Excellencies the Governor-General, the Queen's representative in the Dominion, and the Countess of Aberdeen have come to reside in the capital of the province for a time, an it is owing to this happy event that we are honored with their presence to-day. I am sure I truly express your sentiments when in your name and my own I bid Their Excellencies a most hearty and loyal welcome, and indulge in the hope that during their stay in this city they may become better acquainted with the people and institutions of Western Ontario than has been possible in the short but welcome visits which have heretofore been customary. I sincerely trust that this departure from the usage which has hitherto generally prevailed may not only be found to be of public advantage, but may prove as agreeable to Their Excellencies as it is gratifying to Her Majesty's loyal subjects.

Through divine goodness, the blessings of a bounteous harvest have been vouchsafed to the husbandman in nearly every portion of the Province; and it is an additional cause for gratitude that prices for nearly all the produce of the farm have been greatly increased since your last meeting. The signs of returning prosperity, not in agriculture alone, but in nearly every important branch of business and industrial enterprise, except that directly connected with the sawn lumber industry, give cause for hearty congratulation.

I rejoice further to be able to congratulate you upon the increased interest manifested by the mother country in Canada and other colonies and dependencies of the Empire, as evidenced by the reception of their representatives, as well by Her Majesty and others in authority as by the whole people of the United Kingdom, during this Jubilee year, and as further shown by the action of the British Government in connection with certain foreign treaties which affected Canadian commerce.

I am pleased to inform you that some progress has been made during the year by the arbitrators to whom was referred certain unsettled accounts between the Governments of the Dominion and the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. Appeals have been taken to the Supreme Court against some of the decisions of the arbitrators, and arguments have been heard thereon, and they now stand for judgment.

The appeals to the Privy Council in the matters of the fisheries and of the power of appointing Queen's counsel have been heard by the Judicial Committee, but judgment has yet been delivered.

It is gratifying to learn that the new County Councils, though limited in the number of members under the new act, are found able to transact the business of their respective counties as efficiently as formerly, and at a greatly reduced annual expenditure.

I regret that the Congress of the United States has seen fit to increase the duty on pine and other lumber imported into that country to such an extent as to make it almost impossible to continue sending to the markets of the United States certain qualities of the pine lumber produced in this province.

The mining industry is making steady progress, and throughout the present year lively interest in the mineral resources of the province has been exhibited. The area of Crown lands sold and leased under the provisions of the Mines' Act have been largely in excess of that of any recent year, and the revenue derived from sales and rentals have been correspondingly greater. It is gratifying to note that the limits of the several gold fields are becoming constantly extended by exploration, and that their value is being satisfactorily proven by substantial mining and milling work at a number of central points. In the north-western part of the province, where our territorial rights were strenuously disputed for a long time by the Federal Government, there is evidence to show that rich gold-bearing veins exist over a region several thousand square miles in extent, and there is good ground for hope that this part of the province will become the field of successful enterprise and give profitable as well as stable employment to capital and labor. I am confident that the recent discoveries of gold in various parts of the province will attract increased attention abroad, especially in the mother country.

The perpetuation of the sources of our pine timber supply on Crown lands not suited for general agriculture has for some time engaged the attention of the Government. A Royal Commission was appointed last summer to investigate the condition of the young forests which now cover extensive tracts of these waste lands, and to report as to the best and most practicable methods of preserving and managing them, and otherwise concerning reforestry. I am glad to be able to announce that substantial progress has been made in the work of the commission, and that much information on this important question has been obtained.

Among other measures to be laid before you are, a bill relating to timber and timber licenses; a bill affecting the election laws; a bill to prevent gambling at agricultural and other fairs; a bill affecting the business of druggists; a bill to prevent the spread of disease amongst fruit trees; a bill relating to extra-provincial insurance companies; a bill respecting gaols and gaolers; and a bill relating to reforestry.

I am happy to inform you that the work of revising and printing the Statutes of the province is almost completed, and I hope that it will be in my power to issue the necessary proclamation for bringing into force at the close of the year the newly Revised Statutes, embodying once more in two convenient volumes the entire Provincial Public Statute law. A confirmatory bill will be laid before you for consideration.

In connection with the revision of our Public Statutes, the statutory provisions affecting practice and procedure and all the rules and orders heretofore issued by the various courts during more than fifty years, have been consolidated and revised under the supervision and direction of the judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario, with the view of promoting greater uniformity, certainty and simplicity in legal proceedings. Consolidated orders have been adopted under the authority given for this purpose by statute; and a bill to confirm the work of the commission will be laid before you.

The public accounts for the ten months ending with the 31st day of October will be laid before you without delay, and for the remaining two months within a few days after the close of the year.

The estimates for the various public services for the coming year will at an early date be submitted for your approval. They will be found to have been prepared with all the economy consistent with the efficiency of the public service.

Adjournment.

After the Speaker had formally announced Mr. Howland's resignation, the House adjourned to meet at 3 o'clock today.

Notes of the House.

Sir George and Lady Kirkpatrick were unable to attend the opening through the illness of the ex-Lieutenant-Governor.

Hon. E. H. Bronson is ill, and was thus absent from the opening ceremonies.

Forty private bills, about 75 per cent. of the usual number, have been handed in.

No one was admitted to the Parliament buildings during the opening proceedings without a ticket.

The Government has intimated to the Opposition that the House will adjourn on December 23 and stand adjourned for two weeks.

Conservatives one and all say their indications are that the Government cannot possibly save itself even in a short session of six weeks.

Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

571 ST. PATRICK STREET,
OTTAWA, July 31st, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

GENTLEMEN,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,

Chatham, October 18, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—Some time ago I was treated by one of our best city doctors for continued bleeding at the nose and the treatment I was subjected to weakened my stomach so that nothing I could eat would agree with me and I could retain nothing but bread and milk, which was my chief diet.

I tried a bottle of your Sloan's Indian Tonic and at once began to improve and it has made a permanent cure in my case. I can now partake of any food, no matter how strong, and experience no distress after eating.

I have recommended it to several people and in every case it has given grand results, and a bottle of it should be in every household.

Yours very truly,

INDIGESTION PERMANENTLY CURED.

St. Williams, Co. Norfolk, October 19, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fact that Sloan's Indian Tonic has caused a most remarkable change in my condition. For two years I have suffered from indigestion and weakness and not finding relief from any other medicine until your agent came here one day and advised me to try Sloan's Indian Tonic. I did so and have used four bottles. It has made a great change in my life and I can now rest and sleep with ease and comfort. I believe Sloan's Indian Tonic is the best medicine in the world.

I remain,
Yours truly,

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract.

St. Paul's Church Choir Concert.

The Toronto World says:—"No better tribute to the popularity of an entertainer could have been bestowed than the fact nearly 3,000 people turned out in last night's storm to the annual recital given by Miss Jessie Alexander at Massey Hall. The Kingsley selection was given with great dash and aroused patriotic feeling to a high pitch. Charles Dickens' funny production aroused much merriment and "The Brave Cameron," accompanied by the subdued strains of "The Cameron Men," by the band evoked warm recalls. The Romeo and Juliet excerpts were taken from the passage following the balcony scene; after the marriage, and the potion scene, in all of which Miss Alexander's dramatic power was made fully manifest. But the piece de resistance was Miss Alexander's own description of her experience on a bargain day morning. The audience laughed incessantly at the true-to-life pictures drawn, and the applause was uproarious at the close." Miss Alexander appears at the St. Paul's church choir concert on Thursday evening, Dec. 9th, in Opera House. 1d

A YEAR IN THE MERCER.

A Girl who was Completely Beyond the Control of Her Father.

Ellen Spenceley was this morning committed to the Mercer Reformatory for a year by Magistrate Dumble on a charge of the theft of a brooch and a pair of bracelets from Mr. Robt. Jones.

The girl went to work for the Jones family, but proving unsatisfactory was discharged after being there a couple of days.

The jewelry mentioned disappeared at the time of her departure, and Mr. Jones tracing her to the residence of Mr. Morency, where she spent a few days, ascertained that the girl had shown a brooch, corresponding to the one lost, to Mrs. Morency.

The arrest was made on Thanksgiving Day, and the case enlarged until this morning.

The girl pleaded guilty to the theft of the brooch but denied taking the bracelets. Her father, who was in court, stated that the girl was completely beyond his control and went tramping about the country, causing him great anxiety.

County Crown Attorney Wood mentioned the fact that the girl was at liberty on remanded sentence from the County Magistrate's court on a charge of stealing a valise.

A sentence of a year in the Mercer was then imposed.

HE WAS DRUNK

And did not Take the Turkey with the Intention of Stealing it.

Richard Bailey, the man who removed a turkey from the front of Mrs. Fleming's store, Reid street, on Saturday, was up before Magistrate Dumble this morning.

The circumstances were as mentioned in Monday's EXAMINER. Bailey was seen by Mrs. Fleming's son removing something from in front of the store and in looking after him saw the head of the turkey hanging down below his coat. Mrs. Fleming then followed the man to his boarding house a few doors away and found the turkey in his possession, Bailey stating that he only took it for a joke.

It seems that the man was under the influence of liquor when he took the turkey and it was while watching him staggering along the street that Mr. Fleming saw him take the turkey. Under these circumstances the magistrate consented to look upon the act as one not committed with any criminal intent and allowed the prisoner to on suspended sentence. Bailey, however, will have to pay the costs of the prosecution, amounting to $12 35.

Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the prisoner and Mr. R. E. Wood represented the Crown.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

TRIAL OF THE THOMPSON BOYS FOR THE MURDER OF WILLIAM HENRY SAWYER.

The Crown Case Closed at One O'clock—Drs. Frost, of Kinmount, and Curry, of Minden, Say the the Injuries Were Sufficient to Cause Death.

At 10.30 yesterday morning, as announced in the EXAMINER, the grand jury at Lindsay brought in a true bill against Messrs. Thos. and Matthew Thompson, of Stanhope township, for the murder of William Henry Sawyer, of the same township, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 1st, 1897, and the case was at once called by His Lordship.

Hiram Sawyer, father of Wm. Henry Sawyer, examined by Mr. D. B. Simpson, Crown prosecutor said: "I live in Stanhope; I was with my son, William Henry Sawyer, at Maple Lake post office on Wednesday, Sept. 1st, at 7 o'clock; we drove in a buggy from our house, about a mile and a quarter distant; the Thompson boys, Matthew and Thomas, arrived there after us; when the mail had been delivered and some talk had taken place, we STARTED TO DRIVE HOME;

the Thompsons were walking; we overtook them about half a mile away and bade them good-night. My son asked them about a rumour that he had been with Thos. Thompson's wife, and said it was "a d——d lie." Thos. Thompson said, "can you back that up?" and my son said "yes, I can." Thos. Thompson then said, "if you can, get right out here." My son got out the opposite side of the buggy, saying he would hitch the horse, While he was doing so Thos. Thompson ran up and kicked at him under the horse's neck, hitting him on the hip. Then my son, Wm. Henry, sprang around to the opposite side and Thompson struck him on the shoulder with his fist; then Thompson tried to strike him again and young Sawyer knocked him down with his fist, and fell upon him, holding him face down. Then Matt. Thompson helped his brother up and kicked Sawyer in the stomach. A little later Thos. and young Sawyer came together again and young Sawyer knocked Thompson down the second time. All this occurred while I was getting out of the buggy and tying the horse, and it was at this time that James Barry, the mail-carrier, came along and interfered, calling for fairplay. The boy in Barry's buggy drove the horse up near the men lying on the road and Barry took him by the head to tie him, and while doing so Matthew Thompson jumped forward and in the head; Sawyer was then lying upon Thos. Thompson, and as he rolled off Matthew kicked him again apparently on the back of the neck; I then rushed upon Matt. Thompson to pull him away and he let into me, leaving me almost useless. The first thing I remember was trying to scramble to my feet; I was reeling around. My son was sitting on a root, and Matt. Thompson was chasing Thomas Archer around the horse, but he got away; Barry then said "I'll have you all arrested," or words to that effect, and later on helped Wm. Henry Sawyer into the buggy; the Thompsons had gone by this time; my son was 20 years of age, and weighed about 155 lbs., Mr. Barry also helped me into the buggy and I then drove home with my son, about a mile or so distant. My son was unconscious, or nearly so, and felt very poor that night; we did not go to bed but slept on a mat on the floor. Next morning my son was not able to accompany me when I went to lodge a complaint against the Thompson boys. I got a Doctor for him as soon as possible, Dr. Frost, of Kinmount, but he died four days later, on the 4th Sept.

KICKED WILLIAM HENRY

HE VOMITED BLOOD

frequently. I could not be there all the time as I had to travel 20 miles to see a magistrate. I think the kicking and pounding caused my son's death—he was a very strong and healty man.

Cross-examined by Mr. Steers, the witness said he and his son met a young man named Thos. Archer while driving to the post office and invited him to take a ride. He did so for about half a mile, when he jumped off to speak to a young man named Cruickshanks, saying the road was too bad to ride farther. When they reached the post office there were a number of young fellows standing about. We were probably there half an hour; the postmaster, Darling Redner was taking to us while we were getting our mail, but nothing was said about a possible row. I do no know that my son was a very great friend of Redners. I am aware that there was some trouble between Redner and Thompson about killing deer out of season, but I never heard Redner threaten to get even for it, nor did I ever hear that my son was to thrash Thompson for having informed. The Thompsons did not speak to myself or son. We left the post office probably a quarter of an hour after them. I did not hear Redner and my son have any private conversation before we left, nor did we talk of them on our way. When we caught up to them we said "Good evening," after which the fight followed as I have already stated.

FOUND GUILTY.

Justice Armour in summing up in the case of the Thompson brothers said that in a fair boxing fight, if by an unfortunate blow one should be killed, there was room for sympathy, but this could could not be called a fight, but a vile brutality on the part of all concerned.

Counsel for the prisoners made a strong plea for light sentences for the men on account of their previous good character and their being the only support of their aged parents. In view of these facts and also of a strong recommendation to mercy from the jury, his lordship imposed a sentence of twenty-three months in the Central Prison, the charge having been amended to manslaughter.

No Rubbing Needed.

In cases of severe sprains or strains, ordinary liniments that require rubbing are very painful. A little "Quickcure" spread on linen or cotton, and placed over the sore part removes the pain more quickly and surely than any other known means. The 50c and $1 00 sizes contain three and nine times the quantity in trial size; only a little is required.

A LAKEFIELD WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Ada E. Erwin and Mr. Milton Nelson.

A pretty wedding took place at 8.30 o'clock, Nov. 24th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Steele, Lakefield, the bride being Miss Ada E. Erwin, neice of Mr. and Mrs. Steele, and the groom Mr. Milton Nelson, popular agent of the G.T.R. and son of Mr. Samuel Nelson, all of Lakefield.

At the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss May Nelson, sister of the bridegroom, the bridegroom, with Mr. J. B. Nelson, the groomsman, entered the drawing room, soon followed by the bride, escorted by her uncle Mr. Steele, Miss Nellie Fitzgerald, of Smith, acting as maid of honour.

Rev. G. Warren, of St. John's church, performed the ceremony, after which congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson by the friends present.

The bride wore a handsome gown of fawn and brown silk effect, with white silk and lace trimmings, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses, cream carnations and smilax, presented by the bridegroom. Miss Fitzgerald, as bridesmaid, was becomingly attired in fawn, with trimmings of mauve silk and lace.

After partaking of an excellent and prettily arranged breakfast, the remainder of the evening was spent in various amusements.

The bridal gifts were numerous and valuable, among others a handsome brass piano lamp, presented by the members of St. John's choir, as a token of their appreciation of the bride's services for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will take up their residence on Queen street, amid the best wishes of their many friends.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

St. Andrew's Y. P. S. C. E.

A goodly number attended the temperance meeting Monday evening. Mrs. Paton addressed as topic, How can we consecrate ourselves to the temperance and similar reforms? In speaking of the convention recently held in Toronto, she presented a very sad picture of the foreign delegates who were there from far off lands. They attributed their present state of intemperance to the white people. What a sad responsibility is resting upon us as those who profess to know different. She showed how it was high time that we rise up in arms against this curse, and our young people have a large share bringing the day of freedom from the rum king's power. She closed by appealing to all to sign the pledge and the new declaration of independence against king alcohol, and to use our influence to induce others to do the same. It being our consecration service, the roll was called, and as active member added to the list. The meeting closed with the benediction.

Gough's Great Sale.

In to-day's EXAMINER Gough Bros'. repeat their announcement of the sale of the McKenna-Thompson stock of clothing, &c., bought at 33½ cents on the dollar. They are determined to keep up the remarkable reductions in the prices of this stock during December and to make it the crowning sale of the year. Last week, notwithstanding the unfavourable nature of the weather, each day of this sale was attended by unusual crowds of buyers, and people who had been hesitating about buying came and bought freely. Gough Bros. are determined to make this lucky purchase part of their great programme for big business during December, although prices in every department of their store will be reduced, so as to create an enthusiasm during the the last and best holiday month of the year. There will not be an inch of material held in reserve, and it will be to the advantage of everyone to make selections as early as convenient. The transformation in prices ought to keep the big store crowded, "not in spurts, but all the time." Now is your chance to procure really dependable winter garments, boots and shoes, hats and furnishings at ridiculously low prices. 2d1 w

W. SAILSBURY, SECRETARY. — T. E. BRADBURN, PRESIDENT.

Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1897.

SONS OF ST. ANDREW GREATLY RE-ENTHUSED.

HEIR MOTTO IS "NEVER SAY DIE," APPARENTLY.

The Society Re-organized and a Merry Evening Spent—There will be no Dinner this Year, but Bobbie Burns' Birthday will be Commemorated.

The adjourned annual meeting of the St. Andrews Society was held on Tuesday evening in the Morgan House parlour. There was not a large attendance, but they were a lot of enthusiastic Scotchmen who were present. They had come to the meeting with something of that resolute determination which characterized the Gordon Highlands in scaling the heights of Dargai, having with them minds fully made up that the St. Andrew's Society should "never say die," as long as their Scotch blood was warm.

The President, R. W. Bell, M.D., took the chair, and explained the business of the meeting. Two weeks ago they had met at their regular annual meeting, but as there was only a quorum present, it had been decided to adjourn until St. Andrew's night, with the hope that a larger number of Scotchmen would be present. He was pleased to see some new faces at the meeting, and felt encouraged to think that there was material enough present to bring the society safely through its critical stage once more.

The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, which were on motion, confirmed.

The treasurer reported the receipt of additional subscriptions since last meeting which, with the amount on hand, would only leave a balance of liabilities against the society of $6 26

A member volunteered to pay off the remaining liabilities so as to start the Society's new year with a clean sheet.

On motion of Mr. Charles Cameron, seconded by Mr. Alex. Gibson, the offer was accepted with thanks.

Moved by Mr. W. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Alex. Gibson, that this meeting proceed to the election of officers for 1898.—Carried.

OFFICERS FOR 1898.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, the following being unanimously elected for 1898:—

President—R. W. Bell, M D., for the third time.

1st Vice—A. G. Dickson (re-elected).

2 d Vice—W. Breckenridge (re-elected).

3rd Vice—Alex. Grieve.

Chaplains—Rev. Messrs. Torrance and Potter.

Physicians—Drs. Carmichael and Caldwell, of Peterborough, and Dr. J. R. Fraser, of Lakefield.

Treasurer—Alex. Gibson (re-elected).

Secretary—W. Menzies (re-elected)

Executive Committee for Town.—Same as last year.

Executive Committee for County.—Same as last year.

The President thanked the members for the honor they had conferred on him for the third time, and promised that with the co-operation of the officers, he would devote more of his time to recruiting Scotchmen, with the hope of swelling the ranks of the society.

Mr. Chas. Cameron suggested that in lieu of the annual dinner this year some effort should be made to celebrate Burns' Birthday, Jan. 25th.

The suggestion was taken up and approved by a number of the members, and left in the hands of the President to act upon it.

This closed the actual business of the evening.

THE AFTERMATH.

Being St. Andrew's Night, the members were loth to part without some celebration of the day. A few of the older members gloried in telling the meeting about some of the past trials of the Society when even fewer members presented themselves at the annual meeting than there were present, and when its days seemed to be almost numbered; but the old fire smouldered and was fanned into flame again by the slogan cry of Auld Scotia forever!

Mr. Wm. Breckenridge was called on for his popular song "The Tinker's Weddin'." Mr. Breckenridge responded in splendid style. He seized a walking cane with an unusual exhibition of his old time spirit, and as he waltzed o'er the floor to the tune of his "tirrum da and tirrum da tirrum dum and tirrum daddy," he brought the house down with applause.

Mr. Marshall, of Belleville, an ardent Scot and an enthusiastic lover of Scotch song, gave "Ye banks and braes of Bonnie Doon," and a number of other familiar airs which stirred the hearts of the members.

Mr. John Cunningham sang "Maggie Lauder," in which the company all joined in the chorus.

Mr. Chas. Cameron spoke of "The day and a who knew it." Although they were only few in number to-night to do honour to the day, he was glad to know that all over the world Scotchmen were joining hands in celebrating the event. Montreal and Toronto were having an unusual brilliant time, and from ocean to ocean the best orators in the world were extolling Scotland and her worthy sons. (Cheers.)

Mr. Marshall told a toothsome Highland story, "The Height O' Hospitality."

Mr. Gibson reminded the company about the flight of time, according to his chronometer, when all joined hands in singing "Auld Lang Syne," finishing up a good old time St. Andrew's meeting, with "God save the Queen."

Distress from Earache.

"I was troubled with earache for a long time," says Miss J. Johnson, Innisfail, N. W. T., "and after trying different remedies without success, used Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a last resort and I can really say that it cured me so completely that I have never had earache since."

LADIES, ATTENTION!

THE DANGERS OF THE CHILKOOT PASS.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM THE YUKON DISTRICT.

Mr. Dufferin Pattullo, of Woodstock, Writes From the Great Gold Country to his Father—Some Interesting Experiences.

Mr. Dufferin Pattullo, of Woodstock, who is accompanying Major Walsh to the Yukon country as his secretary, writes the following interesting letter from the far north to his father, the Registrar of Oxford county:

We are now over the great Chilkoot Pass, the awful divide has been surmounted, and we are just about to push on into the far interior on a mission, the importance of which, perhaps, cannot be overestimated. Now that I have crossed the Pass, it seems to me that for the man in search of riches the glamour of gold must lose much of its brilliancy, and in its place come the gloom of stern reality, darkening his expectations in a way that cannot fail to leave its life marks. To see the despair written on men's faces as they carry their packs up the awful hill is almost enough to make one's heart ache. But I haven't time in this letter to moralise or tell you all I would like. I want to confine myself to as clear and as exact an account as possible of our trip over the Chilkoot. In order to do so I think, I cannot do better than quote a few extracts from my diary. Circumstances indeed are not favourable for writing at length. That our expedition has met with so much success thus far is almost marvellous considering the many adverse circumstances to be encountered. Anyone unacquainted with military or other expeditions cannot realise the enormity of the task before us, the tremendous difficulties to be overcome and the magnitude of the work undertaken. The general public only realises that an expedition has started into the Yukon territory with the object of establishing law and order in the country. It probably fails to grasp the endless detail absolutely essential to the success of an expedition such as this. It is fortunate that the command of this expedition has fallen into such competent hands and on shoulders so capable of carrying the enormous responsibilities involved. I have always heard, just as everyone else has, of Major Walsh's indomitable courage, but it seems to me that he possesses in no less degree another characteristic equally essential to the success of this expedition, and that is a complete mastery of detail. There is no detail, from the administration of law and order to the shoe string of an Indian's outfit, of which the Major has not full cognisance; and I think it is this characteristic, as well as his great courage that has brought to a successful culmination every undertaking which Major Walsh has been connected with.

"FORWARD" HIS WATCHWORD.

Another of Major Walsh's high qualifications for command in his confidence. The other night when we were in such great danger at the foot of the summit, I must confess that with a man less courageous, should have faltered and should have felt like turning back. As it was I knew no fear, and am now as confident of success as is the Major himself. A little incident here will show the Major as he is. Mr. Scott, a contractor for packers, went up to the Major and told him that as the storm was so severe and the foot of the summit the very worst spot on the whole trail, he had better return to Sheep Camp for the night. The Major replied promptly, "My route is forward, not backward!"

It is only fair to my comrades to say that the other members of the party have been similarly chosen because of fitness for their respective positions, and I believe it was the intention of the Minister of Interior to so constitute the Yukon Expeditionary Party as to make it an out and out, all round and effective body of men, capable of meeting any emergencies and fully alive to the exigencies of the moment. How well the Minister has accomplished his purpose I think is already illustrated by the success of the expedition thus far.

And now I must take you with me over the summit and see what you think of it.

THE START FROM SKAGWAY.

Left Skagway Sunday, Oct. 24th, at 2 p.m., arrived at Dyea with all our baggage at 3 o'clock. Had great difficulty in landing. The tide being out and the current very swift rendered it impossible to secure a favourable landing and our party was obliged to jump into the river to keep the boat straight and prevent her from being swamped with all our goods.

Dyea, Monday, 25, 4 a.m.—Drizzling rain. Our baggage in shape and our Indians started for Sheep Camp, 15 miles distant. Major Walsh, with his servant, followed, and later Capt. Bliss, Philip Walsh, and myself mounted our horses. 11.30 we reached the Canyon, four miles from Sheep Camp. From here the ride is up and down almost perfectly straight mountains. The trail is in a deplorable condition and frequently so narrow that we were obliged to lift our legs and rest them on the horses necks in order that they be not crushed on either side. Capt. Bliss' monumental figure was too much for his charger on the awful hills, and he was frequently obliged to dismount. Philip Walsh and myself rode right through without once dismounting and we were afterwards informed that this was unprecedented and that it was a miracle we were not killed. Had our horses slipped or made a misstep we might have been hurled hundreds of feet below. Fortune favoured us. Arrived at Sheep Camp at 1.30, where Major Walsh had preceded us.

UNCOMFORTABLE REPORTS.

Sheer Camp, Tuesday, Oct. 26, 4 a. m.—Strong south wind and sleet. Preparations being made for crossing the Chilkoot to-day. We secured about fifty packers which started for the summit with packs. It was not a sufficient number to take all our baggage and Major Walsh decided not to attempt the ascent of the summit until to-morrow. The reason of being short of men was that a report came in that a man had been blown over a precipice on the summit and this frightened the packers. The report was false. 9 a. m. the wind so strong as to several times blow three or four of our tents down. 11.30 a. m. some of the packers are coming back, having left their packs at the foot of the summit, and reporting that the weather was too severe to attempt to cross the pass. Later others arrived saying the summit absolutely impassable to day. 12 15—Major Walsh despatched Philip Walsh and myself and two of our Port Arthur Indians to the foot of the summit to see as to the safety of the baggage that the packers had left there. The trail was covered with snow nearly all the way. On arrival at the foot of the summit which is called the Scales, we met three men who reported that a furious storm had been raging on the summit all morning but that it was now clear. We returned to camp at 3 30.

SNOW TO THEIR NECKS.

Sheer Camp, Wednesday, Oct. 27, 3 a.m.—Northerly wind blowing. We start at daylight to cross the summit. Breakfast at 4 30 a. m. At 5 a. m. heavy sleet set in and wind from north increasing in violence. We are able to secure enough packers and Major Walsh commanded me to lead off the first detachment, consisting of two of our own police, our Lake Superior Indians, and numerous regular packers, giving me orders to let no man pass the Scales at the foot of the summit until his arrival there. Accordingly I started off at is what Mr. George Benner, Wiarton, Ont., styles Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

A LIFE SAVER TO MANKIND

Not that I am at all fond of having my name put in public places, but as a life saver to mankind, I hereby state what Dr. A. W. Chase's K.-L. Pills did for me. For nearly four years I was greatly troubled with Constipation and general weakness in the kidneys, and in my perilous position was strongly advised to use Chase's Pills, and to-day I can safely and truthfully state that they have saved my life.

GEO. BENNER.

To all who find themselves with health gradually slipping away, Kidneys and Liver so disorganized that they are incapable of keeping the system free from poisonous waste material, Stomach Disordered, Bowels Constipated, Head Aching, Back Paining, take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The quick way they help you back to health will surprise you.

MAKING PLATE GLASS.

An Operation That Requires a Deal of Skill and Care.

A visit to a plate glass works reveals nothing perhaps more interesting than the casting tables on which the heavy plate glass used in most store windows is cast. "The casting tables," said the superintendent of a large factory, "are the most important pieces of apparatus in this establishment.

"Each table is about 20 feet long, 15 feet wide and from 7 to 8 inches thick. The heavy strips of iron on either side of the tables afford a bearing for the rollers and determine the thickness or diameter of the glass to be cast.

"The rough plate is commonly nine-sixteenths of an inch thick, but after polishing it is reduced to six or seven sixteenths. All casting tables are mounted on wheels which run on a track made to reach every furnace and annealing oven in the factory. The table having been wheeled as near as possible to the melting furnace, a pot of molten glass is lifted by means of a crane and its contents poured quickly on the table.

"A heavy iron roller then passes from end to end, spreading the glass to a uniform thickness. This rolling operation has to be done by expert hands quickly, as the boiling glass, when it comes in contact with the cold metal of the table, cools very rapidly. When the rolling process has been completed, the door of the annealing oven is opened and the plate of glass is introduced.

"The floor of the annealing oven is on the same level as the wheels of the casting table, so that the transfer can be made by rail quickly. When the glass is ready to be taken out of the oven, its surface is very rough. In this condition it is used for skylights and other purposes where strength is desired rather than transparency, but when intended for windows it is ground, smoothed and polished and is then ready for the market."—Boston Globe.

The New Jersey Vote.

The amendment to confer school suffrage on the women of New Jersey was defeated by a majority of over 12,000. The antigambling amendment was defeated by over 3,000, and another amendment was lost by only 843. This vote shows two things—first, that the suffrage amendment was defeated by opposition and not by indifference merely; second, that it could not carry even the vote of the moral element of the state. New Jersey needs a good deal of education.—Woman's Tribune.

After a Severe Cold.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofula. I was weak and debilitated and Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well. After a severe cold I had catarrhal fever. I again resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla which accomplished a complete cure." SARAH E. DEVAY, Annapolis, Nova Scotia.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

His Pertinent Question.

He had taken his punishment like a little man and for some time afterward had been buried in thought.

"Mamma," he said finally.

"Well, Willie?"

"Do you really spank me because you love me so much?"

"That's the reason I punish you, Willie."

"And don't you love papa at all?"—Chicago Post.

THE GALT MURDER TRIAL.

Grand Jury Has Returned a True Bill Against the Allison Boy—A Libel Suit Adjourned.

Berlin, Ont., Nov. 30.—The fall assizes opened here at 1 p.m. yesterday, His Lordship Chief Justice Meredith presiding. His Lordship addressed the jury and complimented them on the fact of there being so few criminal cases to be tried by the court, one of which, however, was a most serious one—a young lad stands accused of murder, and it was for them to weigh well all the evidence brought before them, disabusing their minds of all newspaper reports and other discussions they may have had, and be guided strictly by the evidence. He said there was no direct evidence that the boy struck the blow that killed Mrs. Orr. On the morning of the murder Mr. Orr and his young son left the farm at an early hour, leaving Allison, Mrs. Orr and two small children at home. Prisoner was given a duty to perform necessitating his going to a neighbor's a short distance away during his (Mr. Orr's) absence. When Mr. Orr returned he was informed of his wife's disappearance. A few day's later the woman was found buried. It is the purpose of the Crown to try and show that the boy was at the house when Mrs. Orr was killed. The Crown will also endeavor to show a motive on the part of the accused. He asked the grand jury to carefully weigh the evidence pro and con.

True Bill Against Allison.

The grand jury then retired and at 4 p.m. brought in a true bill against the prisoner, James Allison.

A WOMAN'S WIT.

She Braved Her Husband's Anger and Boosted Him to Success.

"Know him?" asked one of the two men talking at the corner as he nodded toward a handsome old gentleman just passing by. "No? Well, sir, that's Dr. Blank, the noted surgeon. I've known him ever since we used to frequent the same swimming hole. Just how long that was before the war I'm not going to say. He beat me in the race for the girl that he married, and if he hadn't the chances are that the doctor would still be driving, night and day, over a little back county, attending to a practice that couldn't pay if it wanted to.

"When they were back there in the woods and he was performing operations that no other member of the profession had thought of undertaking, she gathered from the talk of friendly doctors in the same section that he was original, daring and successful. She begged him to advertise his abilities, but he sternly rebuked her for asking him to transgress the ethics of the profession.

"But you know how it is when a bright woman sets her head. The doctor's office was a shabby little den without carpet, window shades, pictures or anything else but the plainest furniture. He resisted all her efforts to change this. One evening he came home from a 36 hours' stay with a patient to find that office so transformed in velvet carpet, tapestries and pictures that he flatly declined to enter it. His wife was away on a visit. Men had been there, done the work and disappeared. There were no bills, the home merchants knew nothing, and the doctor was so mad that he advertised everything for sale. The thing was told in the local papers as a huge joke, and incidentally there were related some of the stories of how he took people apart and put them together again. City papers copied and city doctors ridiculed. This riled Blank. He proved that he had worked greater wonders than were credited to him, and he was famous. The means and the end were the work of the little woman who had figured them out before giving a secret commission to furnish that office."—Detroit Free Press.

Herrmann and the Cheat.

A characteristic story is told of Herrmann. The incident took place at a well known London club, where ecarte was one of the favorite games indulged in for stakes by no means insignificant. It was observed that on these occasions a certain member almost invariably rose a considerable winner. At length so marked became the good fortune of this member that another determined to probe the matter to the bottom. One evening, accordingly, at his own rooms, he introduced Herrmann under a false name to a select party of the members, among whom figured the suspected one. At the close of the night's amusement, when the guests had departed, the host turned to the conjurer and demanded his opinion. "Not a doubt of it," replied Herrmann, "our friend cheats, but exactly how I can't say yet. Give me another chance." A second meeting was subsequently arranged, and play began. Suddenly Herrmann, looking straight at the supposed culprit, exclaimed, "Where did you get that king?" "Where?" replied the other. "Out of the pack, of course." "Impossible, my dear sir," retorted Herrmann, "for I happen to have all the four kings here," and thereupon he calmly drew them from his sleeve and laid them on the table.—St. James Gazette.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conquerer of kidney and liver disease.

Come all Who Suffer.

Mrs. R. Brown, Hamilton, Ont., says: "I have used Laxa-Liver Pills and find them perfect as a cure for biliousness and sick headache. I strongly recommend them to all who suffer from such troubles as an unrivalled remedy."

OH FOR SOMETHING TO READ!

And it's oh for a Bible or saving tract,
A history, novel or two,
The ponderous tomes of the sages of old—
Medicine, law would do;
A paper, a pamphlet, a magazine
To stifle the thoughts that rise,
For the mind must feed, as the body does,
Or, like the body, dies!

Then it's oh for Dickens, Thackeray, Poe
And Lever and Lover's fun,
The stately style of the scholarly Burke
Or Hugo by the ton!
There's Shakespeare, Lytton and Dumas pere,
And file of famed "Camille;"
Longfellow, Whittier, Bryant and Poe—
They ring of the truest steel.

Then it's oh for a book of some kind tonight!
This slave is my only friend.
Like friendship, too, it is brittle and thin;
Once broken, hard to mend.
But with friends in books you ne'er fall out.
They're true in hour of need
So come, add a year to my time, if you will,
But give me a book to read.

A Titled Costermonger.

An aristocratic costermonger is what one would hardly expect to find in Shoreditch, yet some years ago this was a favorite character of Lord Lonsdale. It was no unusual thing for this eccentric nobleman to lay aside his dinner dress and robe himself in the corduroys and colored handkerchief of the coster, and a capital coster he made, having a pair of lungs like a couple of foghorns and a genius for acting the part which was irresistible.—London Answers.

Fountain pens are rather older than most people imagine. As long ago as 1824 they were in use, for in that year Thomas Jefferson saw a contrivance of this sort, tried it and wrote to General Bernard Peyton of Richmond asking him to get one of them. The pen was of gold and the ink tube of silver, and, according to Jefferson's letter, the maker was a Richmond watch repairer named Cowan.

Will very naturally arise in the mind of the intending purchaser as to whether the Piano he has in view is a good one. The way to satisfy yourself is to find out the quality of the plant and material used to manufacture the Piano, and the reputation of the manufacturers themselves, and then JUDGE FOR YOURSELF. DOUBLED UP!

UNABLE TO WORK.

Suffering Agony Day and Night.

"For nearly two years," says Frank J. Wray, 211 Sherbourne St., Toronto, "I suffered greatly with lameness and pain in my back. It often happened that my back and kidneys pained me so badly that I was doubled up and could hardly walk, except in a stooping position. Very often I was unable to work, suffering agony both day and night. I had severe pain in the lower part of my stomach, and other symptoms which proved conclusively that my kidneys were in a very unhealthy condition. My appetite was lost and my strength declined rapidly.

"I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills in March last, and after using three boxes of them was completely restored to health. I have not had the slightest pain or stiffness in any part of my back, or any indication of my former trouble, since using these wonderful pills.

"With the restoration of my kidneys to a healthy condition, my appetite was restored, and my strength returned, so that I am now strong and hearty. I make this statement of my cure by Doan's Kidney Pills with the greatest pleasure, because when I commenced taking them I did not really expect so remarkable a cure as that which followed their use. I am very thankful that I hit upon this remedy, and gladly recommend it to all sufferers." 257

One Laxa-Liver Pill every Night for Thirty Days Cures Constipation.

THE RAINBOW'S LUCK

BY C. B. LEWIS.

During the palmy days of the whaling fleet no craft sailing out of any port was referred to as often as the bark Rainbow. Her history from beginning to end was a curious one, and it would be hard to find an old whaleman who hadn't heard it half a dozen times over.

The ship Wanderer went whaling from the port of Bristol, commanded by Captain Joseph Watkins. She was out 18 months and never took a whale. Four of her crew died of fever, three were killed by accident, and the ship returned so wrecked that she was sold for a collier. The owners lost heavily, of course, and Captain Watkins was called a Jonah and could not get another craft. One day when he was digging in his garden he unearthed three jars which were filled to the brim with gold-pieces, and which had been buried for perhaps a century. His find footed up about $90,000, and with the greater portion of the money he built and fitted out the bark Rainbow. Instead of shipping a crew on shares he paid by the month, and thus set out on his first voyage with the best seamen of Bristol.

On the second day after leaving port the bark came across a dead whale floating about which yielded 80 barrels of oil. On the fifth day, just as the decks had been cleared up, she came upon the scene of a fight between five whales and seven or eight of that species of fish known as the killer, which is the mortal enemy of the leviathan and the only known one he has in any sea. The bark hove to and let the fight go on, and when it was over she had two dead whales to tow alongside and added 150 barrels of oil to her cargo. In four months from the day she left Bristol she entered port again, having a cargo of bone and oil which sold for more than $30,000. In addition to that she brought home the complete skeleton of a whale 85 feet long, for which the British museum paid $5,000 in cash.

The lucky voyage of the Rainbow created much talk, and when Captain Watkins was ready to set sail again he had to turn sailors away by the hundred. This time the crew was shipped on shares, and no man had reason to regret it. In 150 days the bark was back in Bristol with 2,870 barrels of common oil, 320 barrels of "case" or fine oil, and the largest cargo of baleen, or whalebone, ever brought to port by a whaler. She had not lost a man, boat or a sail. Everybody was astounded over the luck of a man who had been out a year and a half in another ship to meet with nothing but disaster, and the name of Captain Watkins was heard whenever two sailors met. He had money enough to enable him to live comfortably the rest of his days, but he was persuaded to make one more voyage. On this third cruise the leviathans of the deep seemed to hunt for the ship. In 156 days she made the port of Bristol with a cargo worth $6,000 more than either of the preceding ones.

When the Rainbow had completed her third voyage, Captain Watkins determined to remain ashore. There were so many men who wanted to buy the lucky ship that she was put up at auction. Men came from every seaport in England and Scotland to bid on her, and the price was run up until she sold for $5,000 more than she had cost to build. She was bid in by a Bristol firm, and the command of her given to a Captain Travers. Her complement of men when ready for sea was 33, but so widespread was her fame as a lucky ship that there were over 700 applicants for the 33 places.

Three months after she arrived home on her third cruise the Rainbow went to sea again. Up to this time I had never seen the bark, but had heard all about her a dozen times over from men aboard of our whaling ship, the Nancy Lee of Marblehead. One day as we were cutting in a whale to the north of St Helena the Rainbow came up from the east, and the two craft remained in company for three or four hours. The lucky ship had then been out of port 40 days without a capture and all were disgusted. More than that, she had been through a severe gale and had three men hurt and lost sails and topmasts. Her luck had changed. Captain Travers was a fine seaman, an old whaler, and had never brought an empty ship into port, but the fact remained that the Rainbow had not yet even lowered for a whale.

Just as she was ready to leave us, however, two large whales spouted water within a half mile of the ships. They were a quarter of a mile apart, and while we lowered for one the bark took the other. We had but little trouble in killing our prey, which was a female and good for 70 barrels of oil. The other was a bull whale and evidently in bad temper. He first led the boats a chase of three miles to the south and then slowed around and waited for them to come up. When the mate's boat was within 500 feet of him, he rushed forward and ran it down, and as it floated astern of him he smashed it with a blow of his flukes. Two men were killed by this blow.

Two weeks later, just as we had scrubbed our decks, and while we were under easy sail to the south of St. Helena, we lowered for a school of whales and got two. There were 12 in the school, and 10 went off to the southwest. We were making our captures fast to the ship when the Rainbow came down on us from the south. She was now 54 days out, and ill luck still pursued her. After parting from us she lowered for a whale and lost two harpoons and lines and had half a day's work for nothing. Two men had fallen from aloft, had broken arms or legs, and her captain had to come aboard of us to buy oil to keep his lamps alight.

As I was third mate of the Nancy Lee, I had an opportunity to hear of the feeling which prevailed aboard the bark. Her crew were on the verge of mutiny, and Captain Travers had become alarmed for his own safety. The men had come to regard him as a Jonah, and on the day he ran down to us had come to the decision that if the run of ill luck was not broken they would compel him to return to Bristol with an empty ship. Captain Travers was still aboard of us when a monster whale broke water within half a mile of the two craft. We got him aboard of his ship as soon as possible, but long enough before he reached her his mates had lowered and were away. The hour was 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and we knocked off work to see the fun.

There were those aboard of the Rainbow who said it was the same whale which had killed two men and smashed a boat to the north of St. Helena. Be that as it may, he had a harpoon sticking in him and was badly tangled up in a whale line. He was rolling on the surface when both boats came up and made fast at the same moment. For 15 seconds the monster did not move a fin. Then he started off with a rush and made a complete circle about both ships, leaving such a wake behind him that there were times when we lost sight of the boats in the foam. Having completed the circle the monster slewed about until he was head on to the first mate's boat. He lay for a moment swinging his lower jaw to right and left and then made a rush. The boat attempted to shoot ahead and avoid him, but he caught her with a swing of that terrible jaw and left only fragments behind as he came down between the two ships and went off to the south. The second mate's boat was obliged to cut loose to pick up the other crew, but three men, one of whom was the first mate, had lost their lives. When the extent of the calamity became known, open mutiny resulted.

The men demanded that the Rainbow be headed for Bristol, and two hours later she laid her course for that port and left us. Never did a more disgruntled crew reach port. The owners at once removed Captain Travers from command. The men scattered, and it was three months before the bark started out for another cruise. She had lost prestige, but she was still looked upon as a lucky craft and there was no lack of applicants when she was ready for sea. On this, which proved to be her last cruise, she was commanded by Captain Thorndyke, who was a whaler of 15 years' experience and had commanded some of the best vessels in the fleet. On leaving Bristol he told the owners he would come back with a hold full of oil or not at all.

We in the Nancy Lee had meanwhile transhipped 1,400 barrels of oil and worked our way down to Cape Horn and 200 miles south of it. We were cruising east and west, taking a whale occasionally, when the Rainbow came down on us for the third time. This was some nine or ten months after her last adventure, and she had made the trip from Bristol without sighting a spout. She came down to us at 10 o'clock one morning, remained hove to until 3 in the afternoon and then headed away to the east.

We came about, and two days later sighted the Rainbow again. Neither craft had sighted a spout, but at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, as they lay within a quarter of a mile of each other, a whale broke water within a cable's length of the bark. He was so close to her that we had no show and did not lower. It was a lone whale and a big one, and we no sooner had him under our glasses than we saw that he was a fighter. There were half a dozen scars on his head, and the way he rolled about showed his temper. As he was head on to us he must have seen both ships and the two boats lowered for him, but he made no move until the mate's boat was close upon him and ready for a dart. She had made a half circle to get out of his line of vision and approach him broadside on, but he heard the approach and indulged in a strange manœuver.

Few men ever saw a whale back water, and there are plenty of whalers that contend that he cannot. This whale, however, backed a distance of 100 feet, and with amazing swiftness, too, and striking the boat with his flukes he killed four men and reduced her to matchwood. Then he started straight for the Rainbow, and his rush was that of an avalanche. Every man of us had our eyes on him when he struck her on the port bow, and we plainly heard the crash of planks and timbers. After the shock he started off and settled down and was seen no more, but in ten minutes the Rainbow was at the bottom of the sea. Not a man saved even an extra jacket. There was scarce time for them to lower their boats when the bark pitched forward and went to her grave. We, of course, took them aboard, and after a few weeks they were landed at Bahia.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

Can't follow trail at all and as we go up the trail the depth of the snow increases. 9 a. m., the snow three feet deep, a climb on hands and knees over snow-covered boulders and up perfectly straight ascents. 9.30, snowing hard and up to our arm pits. 9.55, struck the red flag which designates the entrance to the Pass, just below the Scales. 10 a.m., first man at the Scales, attitude 3,000 feet. The men in my charge came immediately following, and a few minutes afterwards Major Walsh, Scott, contractor, and Carbno arrived.

The ascent thus far was something awful, the snow blinding and so deep one scarcely had strength enough to pull himself out. Several of the packers kept coming in, but on account of the extreme severity of the weather they all refused to go any further and deserted us. To Capt. Bliss and A. F. Hardman, who were to follow us immediately, the Major sent word back to return to Sheep Camp and if the weather was favourable next day to follow us. Our party at the foot of the summit is now composed of Major Walsh, Philip Walsh, Louis Carbno, five of our Lake Superior Indians and myself.

CAMPING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

We are just 700 feet from the summit and Major Walsh at once ordered us to pitch a tent. We had no shovel at hand to remove the many feet of snow, but one was procured from a tent already pitched by someone to protect his goods, and Carbno began to shovel a suitable spot for the tent. It was such slow work, however, that Major Walsh procured a frying pan and himself threw back the snow with much success. We got down to rock, but it left huge projecting stones which, when we threw our blankets on at night, was much like sleeping on a bunch of church steeples. Our tent was soon up and set in place. Major Walsh had not forgotten dry kindling wood and a fire was soon started. Unfortunately, there was not a stick of timber within a mile of the camp and Major Walsh therefore sent out five Indians with axes to procure some firewood, and word was sent back to Sheep Camp to have firewood sent up in the afternoon. Noon, wind still blowing heavily but not very cold. So much snow, water could not be found and we started to melt snow. Later, by digging a hole in the snow some six feet, we were able to strike water. We now began making preparations for the night. At 3.40 wood came up from Sheep Camp by packers.

A TERRIFIC CYCLONE.

At 3.45 Major Walsh told our Lake Superior Indians that if they thought it perfectly safe, he would like if they would each take a peak over the summit, and when the Major backed it up with a monetary consideration, our Lake Superior boys didn't mind the snow from five to fifteen feet deep, and mounted that hill in great style. They returned at 5.25, reporting a hard passage, but had safely deposited their packs on the other side of the summit, and were feeling as gay as larks. They brought back with them a woman, a Mrs. Sohan and her husband, who were coming from Long Lake. It was fortunate that our Indians ran across them, as it would otherwise have gone hard with the woman. Major Walsh invited Mrs. Sohan and her husband to tea. The good lady brightened our evening, as we had not seen a woman for some time. 7 p.m.—A very heavy wind is setting in. Drying our clothes and preparing to cross the summit to-morrow. 9 p.m.—Retired. Heavy wind blowing. 10 p.m.—Such a cyclone, our tent is in danger of being blown to shreds. Truly we had struck the proverbially roughest spot on the whole trail. Something must be done to save our tent and ourselves as well. We therefore got up and by building a six-foot wall of snow around our tent were able to break a great deal of the force of the wind. This was undoubtedly the only thing that saved us. The wind kept up most terrifically until 4 a.m., when it died down. It will have to be something frightful to prevent us crossing that summit at daylight.

The Scales, Thursday, Oct. 28th, 6 a.m.—Still windy with slight sleet. Our long day yesterday, from 3 a.m. until after midnight, has kept us a little later than usual this morning. Breakfast at 7. No packers having again arrived from Sheep Camp, our Indians again left with packs, needless to say for the same consideration, and crossed the summit. We intend to do all our packing should no packers arrive. 9 a. m., the morning clear and the sleet has removed considerable of the snow. 9.05, our packers began to arrive. High up the mountain our Indians, looking in size like nine pins, could be seen returning from the summit and it was amusing to watch the consternation on the faces of the packers as they realized that they were losing their packs, and still later when one of our Indians, Joe Crow, started up the great high hill with two big bags, apparently with no exertion at all, a packer was heard to remark, "And just look at the loads the sons of guns are taking!" 9.30. The packers keep coming in, and nearly all our baggage is en route over the summit.

ON THE SUMMIT.

At 10.30 we struck camp and ourselves started up the ascent. From the Scales to the summit of the Chilkoot is about 700 feet apparently almost perpendicular. The snow this morning anywhere from two to fifteen feet deep, but the trail being now broken we managed to reach the summit much more easily than we otherwise would and headed by Major Walsh landed on top at 11.10. Altitude 3,700 feet. Distance from Sheep Camp about five miles. Distance from Dyea from 18 to 20 miles. It seemed a hundred. Crater Lake at 11.45. A short delay here. The Lake frozen but very slushy on top and we thought it better not to risk crossing it. A long tramp around it and headed by Major Walsh we reached Long Lake at 3 o'clock, after having waded through a river up to our thighs and having also soaked ourselves as we had come prepared for climbing, not for fording streams, and had no rubber boots. The water was frightfully cold and did not add to our comfort. There is no timber at Long Lake, and we therefore pushed on to reach Lyndeman, a good camping ground and timbered. Not caring to trust ourselves to the leaky boats on Long Lake, we had our baggage ferried across and ourselves marched around it. At the head of Long Lake, Major Walsh sent me ahead with orders to Captain Norwood in charge at Lyndeman to prepare for the arrival of our party. I accordingly pushed on, reaching Lyndeman at 5.30. Capt. Norwood had gone down to Bennett, leaving Constable Purser in charge. Everything was got in readiness, and shortly after Major Walsh's arrival at 8.10 we took tea; 8.30 we retired—throwing our blankets on great boughs and feeling that we deserved a good rest after our hard passage over the Chilkoot Pass.

Lyndeman, Friday, Oct. 29th—Capt. Bliss and A. F. Hardman arrived here at noon to-day from Long Lake, having camped there over night after crossing the summit. We are now making every preparation for our trip into the interior.

Well, we are over that summit. I have given as brief an account of it as possible, but no language can describe the hardships encountered. Just one more word for our Lake Superior Indians. When we arrived at Lyndeman we found there was no boats to be had, and we would therefore be blocked. Major Walsh heard that there was one for sale about six miles up the Chilkoot, and our Indians were sent after it. Think of it. They carried a boat 25 feet long, six feet beam, six miles down the Chilkoot to Lyndeman, and we are able to proceed. We have since procured another boat. These Indians are fine fellows.

SENTIMENT WON'T DO.

There are a thousand things I would like to tell you but can't do so very well at this writing. To the thousands who purpose coming out here, I would say don't do so rashly. The chances of gold aren't worth the hazard. Undoubtedly the gold is there, but it is paying too big a price for the whistle. The other night when coming down the hill into Lyndeman after having crossed the pass, it was about tea time, and at that moment as I thought of home, I would have given all the gold in the Klondike to be there, but now it would take all the gold in the Klondike to turn me back. Sentiment won't do away up in the Klondike. Every man who comes here must be willing to take life risks and ready to stand every imaginable hardship. I venture to say that 75 per cent. of the men who come here and do all their own packing, go back broken in health. Another thing, any man who starts out without a year's provisions and at least a thousand dollars in his pocket is exceedingly foolish. One only needs to be up here a short time to realize that.

Judge McQuire, F. C. Wade, C. C. McGregor and Inspector Starnes with police and dog drivers left about a week ahead of us and will proceed to Dawson city. They were more fortunate than we in securing good weather. It is always the way with the Major though, he will be the last man to leave the ship. It is, however, absolutely necessary for him to remain behind until all the supplies for his command are enroute for Selkirk. The consequence of our waiting behind is that instead of getting through by water we shall in all probability have to cross on ice.

J. D. McGregor is expected to arrive here via the White Pass in a few days and will come down the river as soon as it is frozen, with horses, dogs and sleighs. Inspector Wood is in charge at Skagway, and Dr. Bonnar is for the present at Tagish. We are in excellent health and spirits and anxious to push ahead. We leave for Tagish to-morrow.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

D. A. Moggarth, Insurance Agent at Paris, Ont., Lies in a Critical Condition, the Result of Sandbagging.

Paris Station, Ont., Dec. 1.—D. A. Moggarth, insurance agent, was sandbagged and robbed near his residence, Jane street, last night, and is still lying unconscious. He left home at 9 o'clock to visit and pay money to a neighboring agent. At 10 o'clock he crawled into his home mumbling something about two men striking him, from one of whom he tore a mask, and then fell unconscious.

On his left temple, his right ribs and on the back of his head were severe contusions. Every pocket was turned out and the contents gone. Not a scrap of paper or a key remained. The thieves secured $100 in bills, the proceeds of his day's collections, an I.O.O.F. benefit cheque for $33, which had been endorsed, a gold watch and chain and the papers he was carrying, which included a memo of collections made. The extent of his injuries cannot at present be defined, but they are considered serious.

Beware of Cocaine.

Thos. Heys, Analytical Chemist, Toronto, says:—"I have made an examination of Dr. Chase's Cure for Cocaine and any of its compounds from samples purchased in the open market, and find none present." Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is a cure—not a drug. Price 25 cents, blower included.

Cancer Can Be Cured.

Cancer is the severest known form of blood disease. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most powerful medicine known. It cures cancer and all skin diseases. Proof: "My husband had two cancers taken off his face, and another was coming on his lip. He took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and it disappeared. I know this medicine is an excellent blood purifier." MRS. WM. KIRBY, Akron, Erie Co., New York.

Baby Mass of Sores

Face Like a Slice of Raw Beef. Cried Night and Day. Would Rub Scratch and Scream.

Moisture from Sores so Great Changed Cloths 12 Times a Day. Hands Tied for Five Months.

After One Application of CUTICURA Child Slept. Cured Without a Scar.

My baby, when one year old (photograph herewith), broke out all over with a rash. He was a mass of sores. You could not put your finger on him anywhere there was not a sore. His face looked like a slice of fresh beef, and he cried night and day. He would rub, scratch, and scream. The doctor called and left some powder to put on him, but it did no good. It would take two to hold him, and one to put medicine on him. We had to hold him sometimes an hour or two before we could get him quieted down. All said that they never saw such a face or body on any baby as on him. I had to cut the sleeves out of his clothes, and put gauze underwear on him to keep him cool. I had to keep pieces of soft cloth around his neck, it was so wet with moisture from the sores, and had to change the cloths sometimes ten or twelve times a day. I had to tie his hands tight in a cloth, night and day, for five months. My sister had used CUTICURA, and I began to use it and was surprised at the result. After only one application, he lay down and slept as he had not for a month, poor little fellow. After I had used CUTICURA REMEDIES a day he was glad to have me wash and dress him. He has not a scar on him now, and is as fair and his flesh is as soft as any baby just born. He was absolutely cured in three months by one cake CUTICURA SOAP, two boxes CUTICURA (ointment), and one-half bottle CUTICURA RESOLVENT.

THE LEGISLATURE

Mr. Whitney Forced By Mr. German to Retract.

BEGINNING OF THE REAL BATTLE.

How the Mover of the Address in Reply to the Speech From the Throne Called the Turn on the Opposition Leader —Debate Adjourned.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—The proceedings yesterday in the Local Legislature were most lively and interesting. The Government and its supporters scored point after point with regularity and had the satisfaction of forcing Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition, to retract certain statements made upon the stump during his summer tour.

On Tuesday the session opened with unusual eclat owing to the presence of the Governor-General and the Countess of Aberdeen, who assisted Sir Oliver Mowat in the formal proceedings.

Beginning of the Battle.

Yesterday the real battle began when Mr. German, member for Welland, moved the address in reply to the speech from the throne in a rattling speech which evoked applause not only from the Ministerial benches but the galleries as well. Mr. German reviewed the record of the Government, eulogized the course of the Ministers and drew attention to the programme laid down in the speech as to the intentions of the Government with reference to legislation to be enacted this session.

He then called the attention of the House to certain statements which had been made by Mr. Whitney during his political tour of the Province last summer. He charged Mr. Whitney with having stated, at Exeter June 14 last, that the last of the timber limits belonging to the Province would soon be sold, and again with having said at Shelburne in September last that the last of such limits had actually been sold.

This brought the Opposition leader to his feet. He denied having made any such statement.

Opposition Statements Disproved.

Mr. German called the turn upon him amid thunders of applause when he quoted from The Mail-Empire, the official organ of the Opposition, to substantiate his assertion. Mr. Whitney, who seemed to grow very much excited, sprang to his feet and denied the correctness of The Mail's report, but admitted after considerable bantering that he had made a statement to the effect that the timber limits were nearly all sold. The members on the Government side enjoyed the discomforture of the leader of the Opposition, while his own followers maintained a discrete silence.

During the discussion Mr. Whitney appealed to Mr. Speaker to protect him on the ground that his word should be accepted. Mr. German reminded him that he was rather late in the day in his denial of statements attributed to him by his own organ. "The proper course," said Mr. German, "would have been for my honorable friend to have denied in his next speech following the publication its accuracy, or to have had the newspaper correct the statement. This, however, he did not choose to do, and the statement printed months ago has been allowed to stand as a fact before the country until now my honorable friend is called upon to make it good." (Cheers.)

The Seconder of the Address.

Mr. Farwell, member for East Algoma, delivered a rattling speech in seconding the address. He referred with satisfaction to the fact that Tory rule in Canada was a thing of the past and that after years of jobbery and corruption the people had an honest, working Government at Ottawa as well as Toronto.

Mr. Whitney was not prepared to answer the many strong arguments which had been hurled at him. He asked that the debate should be adjourned. The Premier granted his request.

Funny Opposition Leader.

The leader of the Opposition then began asking questions of such a character as caused amusement. He desired to know practically when the Provincial elections would take place. Hon. Mr. Hardy informed him that the Government had not as yet considered the date of the elections in Council, but guaranteed there would be four full sessions of the present Parliament. (Laughter).

Mr. Whitney then wished to know when the Government intended bringing down its bill dealing with timber licenses and was told the Government had not decided as to the day.

HEALTH OF THE PROVINCE.

Annual Report of the Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—The annual report of Dr. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, on the births, deaths and marriages in the province for 1896, will shortly be presented to the House. It will show that under the new Act of last session, better returns than ever before have been obtained regarding vital statistics. The estimated population of Ontario, based on the increase of births over deaths, is 2,268,493.

To indicate how much more generally the returns are being made, it need only be said that while in 1895, 78,075 births, marriages and deaths were registered, the number last year was 86,669. The increase of returns is chiefly as regards births and deaths, for so far the clergy have been negligent about complying with the law, which requires them to make returns as regards marriages to the Registrar-General. Under the new Act, all license issuers have now to make returns of licenses issued to the Department, and by means of the provision it has been discovered that the clergy have neglected to report no less than 1500 marriages within six months.

The Death Rate.

The death rate for the entire province is 10.9 per 1000. England's rate is 18.7 per 1000. Toronto's rate is 15.1; Hamilton's 14.1; Ottawa's 21.1; London's 11.9.

There were 6.5 marriages for 1000 of population, i.e., 13 persons in every thousand got married during the year. More wedded in towns than in rural districts, and more in border towns than in other parts of the province. In Windsor the marriage rate was 58 per 1000, i.e., 116 persons out of every 1000 entered matrimony during the year. This is probably due to the fact that many couples cross the line to marry under the laws of Canada.

Decrease in Contagious Diseases.

The report indicates a marked decline in deaths from contagious diseases or diseases under the Public Health Act. From 1892 to 1897 the decreases of deaths from four different diseases were: Smallpox 98 per cent., scarlatina 50 per cent., diphtheria 6 per cent., and typhoid 46 per cent.

The decrease in deaths from typhoid is largely due to the introduction of waterworks systems in 100 different places.

In the cities the diphtheria death rate has steadily gone down. The improved situation is due to the use of anti-toxin treatment.

Consumption the Slayer.

The report shows that tuberculosis keeps up its deadly work. In 1896 Ontario showa mortality of 2758 persons from the "white plague of the north," or 11 per cent. of all deaths. In the cities the mortality from tuberculosis is 13.3 per cent. of deaths from all causes.

Muskoka and Algoma are freest from this disease, the Lake Huron and central counties come next, and those on Lake Ontario, the St. Lawrence and the lower Ottawa have most of the epidemic. The deaths from consumption in fact amount to more than double those from scarlet fever, smallpox, measles, whooping cough, diphtheria or typhoid combined.

Petitions Before the House.

The following petitions were presented:

Mr. German—For the extension of the Lord's Day Act so as to prohibit work on the Lord's Day by all classes of persons without limitation.

Mr. Caven—From the Epworth League of Wellington, Ont., asking for further limitations of the liquor traffic. It asks that no license shall be issued in any polling sub-division in which a majority of the municipal electors petition against the granting of such license, and that power may be given to a majority of municipal electors in a locality to further limit the hours during which liquor may be sold in places in which licenses are in operation.

Ontario's Alien Labor Law.

The Ontario Government's alien labor inspector, Mr. Jonathan White, is said to be enforcing the law prohibiting alien labor on Crown timber limits. He is said to have already deported ten transgressors.

All Except the Premier.

Paris, Dec. 2.—The Cabinet met last evening and the newspapers express the belief that all the Ministers will resign, and that M. Meline, the present Premier, will reconstruct the Ministry.

All Re-Elected.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—The Reichstag has re-elected Baron von Buol-Berenberg to the Presidency of the House, and also re-elected the Vice-Presidents, Herren R. Schmidt and P. Spahn. The next sitting of the Reichstag will take place on Friday.

Killed 30, Injured 40.

Homburg, Dec. 2.—A fire damp explosion in the Frankerholz coal mine, near here, yesterday killed 30 men and injured 40.

THE HAMMOND TRIAL

Evidence of the Prisoner at the Inquest Read.

PRISONER'S SECRET MARRIAGE.

The Crown's Statement Insurance on His Wife's Life—Purchase of the Poison—What Katie's Mother Said—Last Interview of Prisoner With His Wife—Length of the Trial.

Bracebridge, Dec. 2.—The second trial of William James Hammond, charged with the murder of Kate Tough Hammond, opened yesterday promptly at 9 o'clock, and inside of forty minutes a jury had been selected. Although the selection of the jury took but a short time Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, who represents the prisoner, exhausted the whole twenty challenges to which the prisoner is entitled. Hon. Mr. Justice Meredith is the presiding Judge. Mr. Osler, Q.C., and Mr. Thos. Johnston represent the Crown, while Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, Q.C., and Mr. Ashworth represent the prisoner.

The case is causing intense interest in the community. Hammond's aged father had a seat at his son's side.

The Crown challenged 16 jurymen and 15 were told to stand aside.

The jury is composed as follows: W. H. Morgan, Brunel; William Lowe, Ryde; Wm. Clarke, Chaffey; John Dale, Franklin; Wm. Grilby, Chaffey; John A. Clarke, Stisted; Harry Field, Sinclair; Charles Ferris, Draper; William Spong, McLean; G. W. Franklin, Morrison; Robert Hutchinson, Huntsville, and S., T. Vincent, Stephenson.

In opening, Mr. Osler reviewed the whole case in a speech of nearly an hour's duration.

The first witness was William Galbraith, a provincial land surveyor, who identified a map made by him of the district in which Katie Tough met her death.

Miss Ida Campbell and Miss Annie Bailey found the body of Katie Tough on the night she died. It was about five minutes to 9 o'clock, and the girl was alive at the time she was found, but died ten minutes after being removed to the house of her father.

James McAllister of Muskoka stated that the prisoner had been to his house on the night of the death of Katie Tough. He did not seem very much excited, or seem to have anything on his mind when he left for his home shortly after 8 o'clock.

When Coroner Bridgland was called a dispute took place between Mr. Osler and Mr. Johnston. Mr. Osler proposed to read Hammond's deposition at the inquest to the court. Mr. Johnston objected and quoted authorities, but the bench overruled them all and allowed the evidence to be given. His Lordship, however, gave Mr. Johnston the privilege of cross-examining the coroner at any length before the deposition was read, which operation took nearly half an hour.

The prisoner's deposition was then read, but it did not contain anything very startling, except the statement that he had carried the bottle of prussic acid purchased by him at Dr. Campbell's store, on the day Katie died, all day long, and after her death had thrown it away. He did this, the deposition stated, because he had no more use for it, and it was dangerous. Hammond had suspicion that his wife died of poison, but he thought it was self-administered.

At the opening of the afternoon session the certificate of the marriage of the prisoner Hammond to Katie Tough by the Rev. George Whinian of Buffalo in November, 1895, was put in as evidence, the defence consenting. During the afternoon 11 witnesses were examined.

J. R. Dawson stated that Katie Tough came to Cornell's drug store at a few minutes to 8 o'clock on the evening of her death, and Drug Clerk Brodie testified that he sold a young woman phosphoric acid on that occasion.

Henry Oaten stated that he saw Miss Tough on the street going in the direction of her home at 8 o'clock same evening.

Elizabeth Tough, mother of the deceased, was examined at length, and her cross-examination lasted an hour. She stated that her daughter went to Toronto in 1894, and she thought she was dressmaking. While she was away witness had sent her $31, besides parcels. When she came home in February, 1895, she had no money nor trunk. Her attention having been called to prisoner's statement that deceased got a label from him to put on a bottle containing poison she was using to kill cockroaches, witness said she knew nothing about it. On the night of the death, witness asked prisoner what he had done to Katie. He said he had done nothing, denied he had been with her that evening, or that he had been married to her. While the body was lying on the lounge, prisoner put his face close to the face of deceased several times.

Allan McNabb and two brothers of deceased gave evidence as to the times deceased was seen that evening, and the time she was carried home, also the time of finding the bottle.

Rosina Russell said she saw a man and woman walking slowly in the direction of the Hammond house at about 9 o'clock that evening, and this was corroborated by Charles Oakes, who said he passed a couple who were walking very close together, near Hammond's, at about the same hour.

The court adjourned at 6.30 until 9 o'clock this morning. During the day three hour's time was gained over former trial, but the case will not likely be given to the jury until Friday afternoon.

A Lone Farmer Burned Out.

Sunderland, Ont., Dec. 2.—About 4 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the house of Mr. James Waddell, sr., one mile north of this village. Mr. Waddell lives entirely alone, and had barely time to escape with his life. House and contents a complete loss. Insured for $400 altogether.

WALLACEBURG, ONT.—The following letter will prove of interest to working men and others who may be in a condition similar to that of the writer:

"For three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I have been working at the barber trade for about 20 years and for the last four years I have been very closely confined and have had my meals very irregularly. I was taken with a and the doctors said it was caused by my stomach troubles. I lost flesh and became so weak I was hardly able to stand up to the chair to work. One day I happened to be looking over some testimonial letters and I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before I had taken two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt finely and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I have taken nearly five bottles and now I feel like a man again. I am than I have ever been in my life. My wife and children have also taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a blood medicine and realized much benefit from it. As for myself I cannot say too much for it. I firmly believe that if it had not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla I would not have been able to work at my trade any longer." JOHN W. COUGHLIN. Get only HOOD'S.

A number of our young people were at a party on Tuesday evening at Mr. James Walton's in Douro, where they enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Miss Maud Allen, of Peterborough, was in the village on Thanksgiving day.

Miss McCallum, of Port Hope, spent Thanksgiving day with her sister.

Miss Edna Stubbs spent her Thanksgiving holidays at home.

On Thanksgiving Day a very impressive funeral was that of Mr. J. R. Burgis, who died so suddenly on Tuesday of last week. After a short service conducted at the house, the body was taken to the Baptist church, where service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. S. Erb. On the platform with him were Rev. Geo. Warren, of the English church; Rev. T. J. Edmison, of the Methodist church, who all took part in the service, testifying to the pure life of the deceased. The church was crowded with people, who were present to show their sympathy with the bereaved parents and their tribute of respect to the dead. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. A. McDonald, Jas. Isbister, Wm. Isbister, T. Ridpath, John Young and Everett Griffin. The Baptist Young People's Union gave a beautiful anchor of carnation roses, etc., a wreath from Mrs. Tate, also one from the relatives and a bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar. After the service the remains were taken to Hillside cemetery for interment.

The hockey club organized Friday evening and decided to join the junior league. The officers are:

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. C. S. W. Scott of Newmarket, has been spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. John Finley.

Miss M. Nelson of Warsaw, spent Sunday at Mr. Hugh Scott's.

Miss A. Wilson of Stony lake was home for Thanksgiving.

Miss Edna Waters left on Wednesday for Watertown, N. Y., where she intends to remain some time.

Mr. W. Ross Cameron spent Thanksgiving in Toronto.

Miss L. Bowlds and Mrs. (Dr.) Berry were in town on Saturday.

Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh paid a short visit to her son, Mr. G. B. Cameron, in Peterborough last week.

Mrs. Bogart and her son and daughter, of Napanee, were the guests of Mr. John Finlay on Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Keene, spent Thanksgiving with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno Davidson.

Mr. Richard Honey of Buckley, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. F. Code was called away on Wednesday to Ottawa where his father is very ill. Mr. Code returned on Monday and reports that his father is some better.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of Toronto spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan.

Mr. Jno. Fitzpatrick, of Asphodel, has purchased Mr. Jno. Baskin's farm on the Hastings road, consisting of 200 acres.

Over 80 tickets were sold at the C. P. R. station on Wednesday evening.

Mr. D. H. Booth has been appointed agent of the Sun Fire Insurance Company, of London, England.

The skating on the pond is splendid and the young people are enjoying it.

We are very sorry to learn that on account of illness Mr. F. R. Rutherford has been compelled to discontinue his studies at University, but we hope he may be speedily restored to perfect health.

Posters announcing the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Show, have reached here.

The principal features of the Model School concert will be a mock trial and tableau. As the mock trial will be something new to the Norwood people, an enjoyable evening may be expected.

Mr. Ivey has moved into his new blacksmith shop and the old one is being torn down.

Mr. Laing, our laundry man, who has been living a short distance out of town, has moved back to his old stand on Peterborough street.

The new post office has been completed and it is certainly a very creditable one both to Mr. J. B. Pearse and the village, and we are sure that there are but few, if any, villages in Ontario that can boast of a better one.

A meeting of all interested in hockey was held in the McGregor House on Friday evening for the purpose of re-organizing, when the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—H. G. Buck.
President—Rev. P. Conway.
Vice-President—M. McGregor.
Manager—F. C. Code.
Captain—F. W. Ashe.
Sec.-Treas.—W. Ross Cameron.
Executive Com.—M. McGregor, B. Hendron, W. Stewart.

It was decided to enter a team in the junior series only and Mr. W. A. Buchanan and Mr. J. P. Tache were appointed to represent the club at the meeting of the O. H. A.

The Thanksgiving dinner in the Presbyterian church was very successful notwithstanding the unfavourable weather and about $40 was realized. The programme, which was well rendered, was as follows:

Chorus—"Make a Joyful Noise,".....Choir
Solo—"The Broken Pitcher"...Miss M Pengelly
Address.....Pastor
Solo—"If the Waters could speak as they Flow"...Mr Jno. Davidson
Quintette—"There is rest in Jesus Arms"...
Misses M Pengelly, N Davidson and Messrs A Finlay, T Finlay, J E Roxburgh.
Reading—"The Grumbler".....Rev J F Somerville
Duett—Select.....Misses E Cumming and N Davidson
Recitation—"The New Church Organ".J W Anderson
Anthem—"Thanks be to Him".....Choir

The address given by the Rev. Herbert Symonds, of Ashburnham, in the English church here on Thursday evening last was very interesting. Mr. Symonds took as his subject "Commerce and Invention," which he dealt with very nicely and showed how much we had to give thanks for.

The open missionary meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society in connection with the Baptist church, on Friday evening, was very interesting but not as well attended as might have been. The address by Miss Minchier, of Big Springs, on "Foreign Missions," was exceedingly instructive and all were much interested.

The Rev. Mr. Watson, of Colborne, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church on Sunday and delivered a very forcible sermon on the text: "The harvest is past, the summer is ended and we are not saved."

Mr. C. S. W. Scott, of Newmarket, sang a solo in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, entitled "De Profundis." Mr. Scott has a good voice and the solo was well rendered.

The Edison Vitascope Co. will give an entertainment in the town hall on Dec. 3rd and 4th, under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist church. The programme will consist of views of the Royal Jubilee procession and naval review, which occurred in England on June 22nd and 23rd. The arrival and departure of an English train and many other scenes, including a number of comic views. This promises to be one of the most interesting and instructive concerts of the season.

The pulpit of the Methodist church was occupied on Sunday by Rev. D. M. McCamus, of Port Perry, who delivered two very interesting discourses. In the morning he took as his text Mark xvi., 15—"Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature," in which he strongly put forth the cause of missions. In the evening his remarks were based on II. Thes. iii., 1—"Finally, my brethren, pray for us that the word of the Lord may have free course, etc.," and were exceedingly well and forcibly worded.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it will stop the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Hemsell, who is yard engineer at Smith Falls, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday at home.

Mr. John Weir formerly of Havelock, passed through here to-day on his way to Smith Falls.

Mr. J. McCutcheon, fireman on the Perth local, is home for a few days.

Mr. George Liscumbe spent Sunday at home.

The council has built a new sidewalk in front of W. Dineen's hotel.

The License Commissioners of East Peterborough, met in Peterborough last Saturday. They have taken no action yet in regard to transferring Mr. W. Dineen's license to his new hotel.

Mr. Kalewasser has been re-engaged at Garrison's school for another year. We congratulate the people of Garrison's school for securing Mr. Kalewasser's services.

Locomotive Foreman Thos. Milne is leaving Havelock for a similar position in Windsor. Mr. Milne has many friends in Havelock who will miss him very much. Mr. Thomas Reynolds, of Toronto, takes Mr. Milne's place here.

Dr. Fowler has moved into his new residence on Ontario street.

Conductor Robt. Barlow has moved into the house formerly occupied by Dr. Fowler.

Mr. Martin, engineer, has moved into Mr. Barlow's late residence.

Mr. William Patterson has a number of men employed this week unloading the winter's supply of coal for Havelock yard.

Mr. William Coulter disposed of 1,000 cords of wood this week.

Mr. Eakins, of Peterborough, is in town buying horses. He has bought a goodly number already.

Mr. Arnold Richards sprained his ankle recently while stopping a runaway horse.

Mr. Herb. Williams has sold his house to Mr. Walter Wilde.

The shooting match of Thanksgiving Day was postponed until next Thursday.

On Friday evening last what might have proved a serious affair was prevented by Mr. Graham and Mr. Dodd. A young fellow of the west end got under the influence of liquor and then went to the Graham House, wher he demanded liquor. Mr. Graham, seeing he had sufficient, refused him. He then drew a knife to stab Mr. Graham when Mr. Graham knocked him down and secured the knife. He then went to the station and, using profane language, demanded a revolver to shoot Graham. Mr. Dodd sent for the constable and had him locked up. He was taken to Peterborough on Saturday and was let off on suspended sentence. We hope this will teach him a lesson for all time to come. We heartily commend Messrs. Dodd and Graham's action in the matter.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conqueror of kidney and liver disease.

Distress from Earache.

"I was troubled with earache for a long time," says Miss J. Johnson, Innisfail, N. W. T., "and after trying different remedies without success, used Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a last resort and I can really say that it cured me so completely that I have never had earache since."

RIOTING IN PRAGUE.

Germans Attacked in the Bohemian City.

CITY NOW UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

A Howling Czech Mob Exchange Shots With Troops and the Police—Several Rioters Killed—Chief of Police Inciting the Mob—Great Damage Caused—Cable News.

Prague, Bohemia, Dec. 2.—There were fresh disturbances here yesterday. The houses of Germans were bombarded with stones, and a howling mob, which gathered on Wensel-Plats, had to be dispersed by the police.

Under Martial Law.

Prague, Dec. 2.—As a result of the riots and disorders of the last twenty-four hours the authorities have proclaimed the city under martial law. The chief of police, who is a Czech, was discovered encouraging rioters and has been suspended from office. It is now known that the number of injured Germans reached 300. They are being cared for at the different hospitals.

The disturbances yesterday have amounted almost to a rebellion. Thousands of Czechish miners streamed into Prague this evening from the surrounding villages to assist the rioters. The scientific instruments in the German University and High School have been destroyed, and valuable archives preserved for a long time at Kinsky Palace, the largest in the Altstadt, have been burned.

The constant cry of the rioters was: "Down with the Germans!" "Down with the Jews!" Ladies venturing on the street were obliged to wear the Slav tricolor in order to avoid being attacked. Nobody dares to utter a word in German.

Collision With the Troops.

Since 6 o'clock last evening the streets have been held by twelve battalions of infantry and a squadron of Hussars. All traffic is suspended and the shops and business houses are closed. In spite of the military a large Czech mob made a descent during the evening upon the German quarter and plundered houses and shops in several streets. The furniture of a well-known German cafe was piled up in the street and set on fire.

Mobbed Troops Fire Into the Crowd.

When a detachment of troops approached to disperse the rioters the soldiers were greeted with showers of stones, broken glass and other missiles. The officer in command ordered his troops to prepare to fire, but at the urgent request of a police official the order was not carried into effect. Shortly after 9 o'clock a mob attacked a cartridge factory at Zizhkow, a suburb of Prague. The troops stationed at the factory poured a volley into the crowd. It is known that at least two persons were killed outright, and it is feared that others were killed or wounded.

The Wensel Plats, where the revolution of 1848 began, has been the chief centre of excitement. It is about sixty yards in width and 750 yards in length, and will hold 100,000 people.

BRITISH AT METEMMEH.

Anglo-Egyptian Expedition Occupies the Chief Dervish Position.

Cairo, Dec. 1.—It is rumored here that the Anglo-Egyptian forces have occupied Metemmeh, on the Nile, the main Dervish position between Berber, the headquarters of the expeditionary force, and Omdurman, near Khartoum, the stronghold of the Dervishes. The latter are said to have evacuated Metemmeh previous to its occupation by the Anglo-Egyptian troops. Metemmeh is less than 150 miles from Omdurman.

TURKEY'S TROUBLES.

Five or Ten Thousand Albanians Said to Be in Full Revolt.

Vienna, Dec. 2.—It is reported here that the Albanian revolt which recently broke out in the districts of Ipek and Diakoba, north-east of Scutari, is increasing in seriousness. The Bulgarian and Servian Governments have despatched considerable bodies of troops to the disaffected district, and sharp fighting has already occurred between the insurgents and the Ottoman troops despatched to Uakub from Salonica and Monastir. Between five and ten thousand Albanians are in full revolt against Turkey.

CHANCE FOR A DISPUTE.

United States Demands Indemnity Which the Turk Declines to Pay.

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—The United States Minister to Turkey, Mr. James B. Angell, has renewed the demand of the United States for an indemnity from the Turkish Government for the pillage of American missions at Kharput, Marash and Haskonj, Armenia, but the Porte denies any responsibility for the pillaging, on the ground that the Government acted under the stress of unavoidable circumstances. Minister Angell, however, insists upon the Government's responsibility as Turkish troops and gendarmes participated in the outrage.

CHINA WANTS WAR.

Japanese Papers Think She Yearns for a Thrashing From Germany.

London, Dec. 2.—A special despatch from Shanghai says that the Japanese newspapers are discussing the probability of war between Germany and China as the result of the occupation of Kiao-Chau and Kiao-Chau Bay by the Germans and assert that the German Minister to China, Baron von Heyking, is preparing to leave Pekin.

Russia and France to Oppose.

London, Dec. 2.—It is reported here in well informed circles that the views of the Russian Government have undergone a change as to the situation at Kiao Chau Bay. Seeing the large force that Germany is assembling there, Russia is inclined, with France, to oppose German action.

It is currently reported here that France, Germany and Russia have entered into a compact for acquisition of Chinese territory, Germany taking Shan Tung, Russia taking Corea, and France taking Fo-Kien and Formosa.

The movement of the British and Japanese fleets are supposed to indicate suspicion as to the conduct of the other powers. Japan objects to the German occupation of Kiao Chau until China has paid the war indemnity.

It is understood at Shanghai that China will propose to refer the whole matter to the powers for arbitration.

'TIS A LITTLE THING.

That Creates a Crisis in France—Radicals Claim a Government Defeat.

Paris, Dec. 2.—The Senate, after a heated discussion of the removal of a magistrate, which was denounced as illegal, by a vote of 182 against 113, rejected the motion of M. Darlan, Minister of Justice, to shelve the subject and adopted a resolution calling upon the Government to enforce the laws.

This resolution was a Government defeat, and was greeted with loud cheers by the Radicals. When the news reached the lobbies of the Chamber of Deputies, the Radical members there declared that they would demand the resignation of the Cabinet.

Owing to the defeat of the Government in the Senate M. Darlan has requested the Premier, M. Meline, to inform the President, M. Faure, that he has tendered his resignation.

Ship Going to Pieces.

London, Dec. 2.—The British ship Larnica, from St. John, N. B., for Fleetwood, ashore at the latter port, as before reported, fills at every tide. It is imperative to have her cargo salved immediately to prevent its total loss.

A BUSINESS GOVERNMENT.

Another Step to Make Business Men's Lives Easier—Visit of Mr. F. C. Selous—Capital Notes.

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—The Minister of Customs has taken a step in the interest of business men in simplifying the method by which postal packages on which there is duty to be paid reach their destination. Under the existing rules they must go to one of the eighteen central offices in Canada, from which the manifest is issued. By the new rule the packages in crossing the international boundary will come direct to the customs office nearest the point of destination.

Another circular will be issued from the Customs Department to insure the reporting of shipments made to foreign countries. The export figures have never been complete, and it is with a view of making them as accurate as possible that an order is to be issued which will require exporters to file with the railway companies by which they ship a list of goods shipped.

The Board of Visitors for the Royal Military College were appointed yesterday as follows: Lieut.-Col. Aylmer, Adjutant-General, chairman; Lieut.-Col. Gordon, D.O.C., of Montreal district; Lieut.-Col. Peletier, D.O.C., of the Quebec district, and Mr. MacPherson of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a graduate of the College.

Mr. A. T. Phillips, the acting superintending manager of the Rideau Canal, has been appointed permanent engineer.

Major Sherwood has consented to accept the command of the 43rd Battalion, vacant, owing to the retirement of the popular commander, Lieut.-Col. Wright. Lieut.-Col. Sherwood will make a most popular colonel. Major Bell will be senior major and Captain-Adjutant S. M. Rogers junior major.

Mr. F. C. Selous, probably the greatest elephant hunter alive, is in the city on his way home to England, and is visiting Mr. J. B. Tyrrell of Alexander street. Mr. Selous is said to be the "Alan Quatermain" of Rider Haggard's famous novel, and probably Mr. Selous' adventures in South Africa were as wonderful as those of Rider Haggard's hero.

The trouble over the 43th Battalion of Halifax is as good as settled. The statements made by Major-General Gascoigne were misunderstood by the regiment and exaggerated in the press. Some explanations have been made and the matter will likely drop.

Ferdinand Carrier, the man from Rimouski, who was up on Wellington street some weeks ago looking for Premier Laurier with a gun, has been taken to Brockville asylum.

The writ for Nicolet was issued yesterday. The nomination takes place on the 14th and polling on Dec. 21. The vacancy in this constituency was caused through the death of Mr. Bolsvart, Conservative. It is understood that the Liberal candidate will be Mr. Leduc, who represented the constituency in the last Parliament.

At the Assizes the grand jury returned a verdict of "no bill" in the case of James McCuaig, engineer of the freight train which collided with the Toronto express near Stittsville about two months ago.

THE DEMON OF DYSPEPSIA,

Banished For Ever by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Snow cannot withstand the heat of the midsummer sun. There's no ice on the creeks in August.

No more can Indigestion and Dyspepsia exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. The sun melts the snow; Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food. That's all that is needed to banish Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more. While they are digesting the food, they rest the stomach; tone it up, restore all its old strength, and give it a new supply.

You don't have to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for ever. A short course of treatment, two or three weeks, is enough for any case. Then you can quit using them and enjoy the benefits they have given you.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are specially suited to every form of Dyspepsia. They will positively cure any form of the disease.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent the formation of poisonous gases in the stomach by digesting the food at once. There is no time for it to ferment and create gas.

If the bowels need treatment Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets won't give it. But, in each box is a package of smaller tablets that will. Thus there is a double treatment in every box.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists, at 50 cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

571 ST. PATRICK STREET,
OTTAWA, July 31st, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

GENTLEMEN,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,

R. T. Phillips, Prop.

Chatham, October 18, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—Some time ago I was treated by one of our best city doctors for continued bleeding at the nose and the treatment I was subjected to weakened my stomach so that nothing I could eat would agree with me and I could retain nothing but bread and milk, which was my chief diet.

I tried a bottle of your Sloan's Indian Tonic and at once began to improve and it has made a permanent cure in my case. I can now partake of any food, no matter how strong, and experience no distress after eating.

I have recommended it to several people and in every case it has given grand results, and a bottle of it should be in every household.

Yours very truly,
R. T. PHILLIPS.

INDIGESTION PERMANENTLY CURED.

St. Williams, Co. Norfolk, October 19, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fact that Sloan's Indian Tonic has caused a most remarkable change in my condition. For two years I have suffered from indigestion and weakness and not finding relief from any other medicine until your agent came here one day and advised me to try Sloan's Indian Tonic. I did so and have used four bottles. It has made a great change in my life and I can now rest and sleep with ease and comfort. I believe Sloan's Indian Tonic is the best medicine in the world.

I remain,
Yours truly,

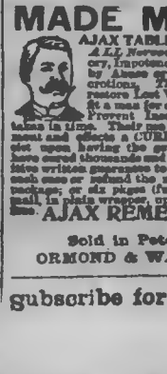
GET A WINDMILL

BEFORE WINTER SETS



Nothing to Beat the BRANTFORD "IDEAL"

With its Patent Bearings.

It is the only power mill having bearings on both sides of every gear wheel. This divides the strain on the bearings, and prevents the prying motion which soon wears out the ordinary single rabbit metal bearing. The wheels and vanes are also galvanized after being put together, which adds greatly to the permanence and to the value of the outfit. These powerful machines are fitted with interchangeable brass or patent roller and ball-bearings, enclosed and fully protected from the weather. The hand brake of this mill will positively hold the wheel still when turned out of the wind. Those who have had a wheel constantly in movement, when it should not run, will particularly appreciate this feature, because if it continues to run it will keep just little enough water in the pump to allow it to freeze in cold weather. The "Ideal" is safe in a storm and will stop itself. There is no fear of it running wild in a big blow.

It is being rapidly appreciated by wide-awake farmers, and many of them may now be seen on the farms of this and adjoining counties. Mr. Thos. R. Mann, Bridgenorth; Hutoo Bros., Springville; Geo. Cambell, ex-M. P., Cavan; Geo. Russel, Douro; W. M. Reid, Otonabee; Levi S. Sewell, Springville; W. Leahy, Otonabee; Geo. Webber, North Monaghan, are among the leading farmers who have one of these labour-saving wind-mills. New mills are being erected every week. It will run a cutting box, our grain grinder, root pulper, saw, lathe, etc., and pumps oceans of water.

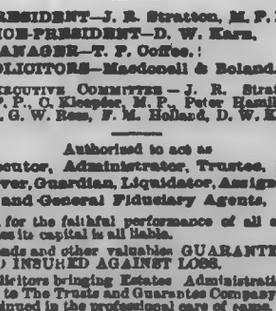
High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.



The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

The Coming Concert.

The Windsor Record says: Douglas Bird is a British tenor who has been less than three months in Detroit, but his presence cannot fail to have a markedly beneficial effect on the excrescent vocal art of that city. In Sims Reeves and his successors, Great Britain has furnished the only tenors worthy of the name in the last forty years, and Mr. Bird is a true disciple of that classic school which has sung itself into favour in all parts of the world. Nature has done much for Mr. Bird, but art has done still more. His voice has an uncommon compass, ranging to A without visible effort, while his upper tones are broad and warm. Mr. Bird has a large fund of dramatic force, which, of course, the canons of good usage require should be suppressed in ordinary concert solo work, while extremes of force have no less to be carefully avoided. Mr. Bird showed himself the true artist in all his singings. He has that distinct enunciation which in itself is an acknowledgment of the true function of song, and his tones are free from that "delirium tremens" which has run riot in American vocal art. The subscription list for the St. Paul's church choir concert will be found at Salisbury's Bookstore on Friday and Saturday. Those subscribing will receive first chance of seats on Monday when the plan will be opened.

A citizen was before the Cadi this morning on a charge of wanton cruelty to animals.

It appears that he traded horses "blind" and got "did," for when the exchange was made and he went to remove the new charger from its stable it fell out on the road before he could get it home. He unhitched it from the waggon and stripping off the harness, left the animal on the roadside near its former owner's stable, thinking that, for old times' sake, the man he received it from would see to its comfort and make pleasant its declining days. The other fellow, however, didn't see it that way and the animal had to be despatched and carted away at the expense of the town.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of five dollars to be paid in ten days. In default the defendant will go up on the hill for fifteen days.

THE STORY OF LAURA SECORD

To be Told by Miss Fitzgibbon on Thursday, Dec. 16th.

Miss Mary Agnes Fitzgibbon, of Toronto, will deliver a lecture under the auspices of the Peterborough Historical Society on Thursday, 16th Dec. 8 p.m. The subject will be "The story of Laura Secord, a heroine of 1812." The lecture will be illustrated by stereoptican views. Mr. Roy has kindly offered his services and lantern to Miss Fitzgibbon for the occasion. It is intended to have some vocal and instrumental music during intervals. Notice of this lecture will be given later.

A PLEASANT EVENING.

Mrs. Geo. Paton Entertains the Members of St. Andrew's Choir.

The members of St. Andrew's choir spent a couple of hours very pleasantly on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. George Paton, Brock street.

The time was very enjoyably passed in the singing of choruses, etc., and at the conclusion of the evening refreshments were served.

Mrs. Paton gives an evening to the members of St. Andrew's choir annually, and it is always anticipated with great pleasure.

REPRESENT THE CONGREGATION.

Result of a Test.

The following letter taken from the Daily Ontario, Belleville, speaks for itself:—

BELLEVILLE, 13th Nov., '97.

C. C. Loewen, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

Yours truly,
BENJ. SERVISS,
Janitor Butterfield Block.

Central School	311	169
Convent	239	134
Lake street school	133	161
	683	513

The reports were received.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received from the principals in charge of schools asking for supplies. On motion of Mr. Sheehy, seconded by Mr. Doris, they were referred to the Property Committee with power to act.

ARRANGING FOR THE ELECTION.

On motion of Messrs. Hickey and Gosselin the secretary was instructed to make the necessary arrangements for holding the nomination and election of trustees according to law.

On motion of Messrs. Gosselin and Doris the Property Committee was instructed to have the necessary repairs made to the chimney at Lake street school.

TEACHERS APPOINTED.

The applications for position of teacher as received in the reply to advertisement, were referred to Committee of the Whole Board.

The Board went into Committee of the Whole, with Mr. Sheehy in the chair, for the purpose of considering the applications received.

After consideration of the several applications, the committee rose and reported, recommending the re-engagement of Miss Lizzie Ryan as teacher of Murray street school.

On motion of Mr. Doris, seconded by Gosselin, the report was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Sheehy, seconded by Mr. Kiley, the Property Committee was instructed to have a room furnished for the junior department for the beginning of the New Year.

The board then adjourned.

THE BISHOP'S RETURN.

After Spending Nearly a Week in the Southern Portion of his Diocese.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor returned this morning from a trip through the southern portion of his diocese, after having held a communion service in Grafton on Sunday, and a Month's Mind Mass in Hastings.

The latter service was held in connection with the demise of the late Father Connelly, and about a dozen priests were present at the ceremony.

His Lordship preached the sermon: Rev. Father Murray of Cobourg, celebrated the mass; Rev. Father Collins of Brighton, was deacon for the occasion, and Rev. Father O'Sullivan of Douro, sub-deacon.

—The liquor men of Montreal are about to petition the Government to establish in Montreal a systematic inspection of liquors. They have discovered recently three flagrant cases of adulteration by men in the trade. In one instance the whisky seller puts caustic in the white whisky, as he says, to "make it bite," adding of course many more gallons of water to "make him rich." This is a case that can be proven with the greatest ease. In two other instances the saloon keepers never buy from the wholesale whisky men, but from the wholesale drug stores, making up their liquors from drugs with a fine strong flavour.

Miss Erskine's room—Jr Pt II—L Chrowe, T Hamilton, M Anderson.

Third Tablet—L Telford, Violet Whittaker, Chas Graham.

Second Tablet—Fred Hubble, Cecil Buck, Chas Stevens.

First Tablet—Roy Tripp, Albert Whittaker, Pearl Graham.

Promotion examinations for December will begin on Wednesday, December 15th, in the junior second class, and in all classes below that. Pupils not present at the examinations need not expect promotion. Parents are urged to see that all pupils attend as regularly as possible.

Only those who attend regularly and work faithfully need expect promotion at any of the promotion examinations.

School reports are issued to the pupils at the end of each month. Several November reports have already been signed and returned by the parents.

A Foretaste Of Christmas!

THE PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE has put the armour on for a great Holiday Time in Christmas Gift getting and Gift selling. Sorry we haven't more room. With such preparations as we have made it would require twice the space to display the quantity of beautiful goods we have to offer.

But if you want to select your Gifts in the quietest moments of the day, come early in the morning. We are ready for you at 8 a.m. If you don't want to buy come any way. We welcome everybody to the freedom of the store. The best time to shop is while the stocks are at their best, and the time to buy is before the choicest things are gone. This statement is good enough to remember. Commence to-day. We can lay aside your purchases for future delivery, if you desire.

THE CONSERVATIVES SELECT A CANDIDATE.

MR. J. W. GARVIN THE CHOICE OF THE CONVENTION.

Mr. Hampden Burnham Resigns the Vice-presidency—Mr. C. W. Sawers and Mr. J. W. Garvin the Only Candidates That Would Stand—Speeches by the Aspirants—The Man Without a Past Defeats the Man with a Record—Mr. Garvin Gets 89 Out of 104 Ballots Cast — He Accepts the Nomination.

At the adjourned Liberal Conservative convention held in the Forester's Hall last night, to select a candidate to contest West Peterborough in the coming provincial general elections, there were about one hundred present, chiefly from the town, comparatively few being from the country. Mr. T. E. Bradburn, President of the Association, occupied the chair.

After the reading of the minutes, the secretary said he had received a postal card from Mr. J. H. Burnham stating that he could not accept the position of vice-president of the Liberal Conservative Association.

THE REPORT OF THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE.

The Secretary read the report of the Nominating Committee, which detailed the mode of procedure to be by ballot, the lowest to drop out till the candidates were reduced to two, and the balloting to continue till one of the candidates received a two-third vote. The report concluded by stating that the two persons who had consented to become candidates, if they received the nomination, were Mr. J. W. Garvin and Mr. C. W. Sawers.

On Mr. Hayes' motion to adopt the report,

Mr. W. S. Robinson moved, seconded by Mr. J. W. Garvin, that the clause of the report, calling for a two-thirds' majority, be amended in favour of a majority vote.

Mr. W. H. Moore explained why the committee that adopted the condition thought it desirable to avoid the necessity of calling another convention in case of a very close vote. Mr. Moore added that Mr. Garvin at the meeting of the committee had approved of the two thirds clause.

Mr. Garvin said he was still in favour of it if the meeting was.

Mr. R. E. Layfield, suggested that this two-thirds clause tended to nullify the motion passed, at the first convention, as to all the Conservative members having a voice, and that the present meeting would be called for nothing.

Mr. Robinson regarded it as appearing like a move to block the wishes of a large number of Conservatives in the riding. (Cheers.)

Mr. Foote asked as to the mentioning of more names than the two named in the report.

The chairman explained that the course adopted was to have no name submitted unless he were willing to run; and the two names were the only ones willing to take the nomination.

The motion to adopt the majority vote was carried on a standing vote, Mr. Sawers remarking when the votes were being counted, that they wanted "no hole and corner work."

Mr. Adam Dawson—"Is it the understanding that we be confined to the two gentlemen named? (No, no.) If it is, I'm not going to vote for either of them." He favoured the convention selecting the candidate.

Mr. Sawers said he had not attended meetings of the committee, and he did not approve of the meeting being confined to the action of the Nominating Committee. If another candidate got a larger vote he would be glad to support him heartily.

Mr. John Sawers—It looks as if the committee was going to run the Conservative party.

Mr. Bradburn explained that this was not the case. The meeting was now open to receive further nominations, and he suggested that 10 minutes be allowed for nominating candidates—which was agreed to at eighteen minutes to 9 o'clock.

At this juncture Mr. R. M. Dennistoun entered the room, and Mr. W. H. Moore seeing him, at once moved, seconded by Mr. Frasmus Green, that Mr. Dennistoun be the candidate, a proposal that evoked perhaps the heartiest cheers of the evening.

Mr. Dennistoun and Mr. C. W. Sawers nominated Mr. T. E Bradburn.

Mr. John O'Donnel—I beg leave to nominate Mr. Hampden Burnham.

Mr. Garvin—"He's not here." This proposal having no seconder, Mr. Burnham's name did not go to the convention.

Mr. H. B. Moharry, seconded by Mr. L. M. Hayes, nominated Mr. F. H. Dobbin.

Mr. J. Wesley Miller nominated Mr. C. W. Sawers, and in support of his proposal said that Mr. Sawers was the best known Conservative in the riding. He was an old war horse who had worked hard for the party. He came to us now in our need when we required a candidate that would work hard.

Considerable discussion took place in regard to the nomination of candidates, and it was made plain to Mr. Miller that Mr. Sawers being one of the names mentioned in the report of the Nominating Committee, his further nomination was unnecessary.

Mr. W. S. Robinson, seconded by Mr. J. W. Garvin, nominated Mr. W. H. Moore.

The time for receiving nominations having expired, the report of the nominating committee was adopted.

THE CANDIDATES DECLINE.

Mr. Bradburn, the chairman, said in response to his name, that his acceptance of the nomination was out of the question. Some other time, if it were the wish of the party, he might consent to contest West Peterborough.

Mr. W. H. Moore also declined to accept nomination. He hoped, however, that they would select a good strong candidate. He would like to see Mr. Dennistoun consent. (Hear, hear.) He (Mr. Moore) had the greatest confidence that if Mr. Dennistoun accepted the nomination, West Peterborough would be redeemed by a flourishing majority. The boys would rally around him and elect him. He appealed to Mr. Dennistoun to consent.

Mr. Dennistoun returned his thanks for the honour of the nomination. The nominating committee had asked him to allow his name to go before the committee, but for various private reasons he was compelled to decline. He believed that the present was a time when the Conservatives of West Peterborough should have a good strong candidate. He believed the Hardy Government was on its last legs. There was a big majority in West Peterborough to pull down. What they wanted was a candidate who would largely box his own row and go out and work as Mr. Stratton had done. He suggested that the majority vote be enforced in case there were only two candidates before the meeting.

Mr. Dobbin briefly declined the nomination.

MR. GARVIN SPEAKS.

Mr. Garvin, in rising to address the meeting before the balloting began, was received with cheers by his friends. He had consented to have his name go before the convention with the greatest hesitancy and had only consented when he had tried and found that Mr. Dennistoun would have nothing to do with it. He had entered upon his political career in another county, because he recognized that there were so many brainy and clever Conservatives in West Peterborough; but when these were asked and declined to come forward at the present time he had decided to yield to the wishes of many members of the party to become a candidate. One of the reasons that influenced him to enter the field was the fact that he had no past; but since his name had been discussed, he was finding out that he had a past. He spoke of the rumours that had been circulated by the enemies of the Conservative party to the detriment of himself (Mr. Garvin). He had been accused of having voted for Mr. Stratton. He said in this connection he had a confession to make. He spoke of his position as inspector of schools which netted him some $1300 per year and it was felt that with the Reform influence on the School Board and Mr. Stratton's great influence that his position would be in peril if he voted against that gentleman; but he cast his ballot for Harry Wiech. He had been accused of writing the article in the Times in which he was put forward as a candidate, in which in the beginning he was described as a "dark horse," and at the close as a "horse to work" and the two being put together meant that he was a dark horse to work. He knew nothing about the article and he appealed to Mr. Walter English, of the Times (who was present) and to Mr. W. H. Robertson (who was absent) to contradict the statement. As a matter of fact he (Mr. Garvin) had not read the article till the Thursday afternoon following its appearance on Wednesday afternoon. It had been urged that he was put forward by a clique, but his resolution at the convention on the 20th was an answer to that.

Speaking in regard to expenses of the campaign, Mr. Garvin was understood to say that he did not look to the party for that, it was enough, he thought, for the rank and file of the party to do the hard work without putting up the expenses of a campaign. It was charged that Mr. Sawers (his opponent for the nomination) was a strong temperance man, and that he was afraid to state his policy on the subject. Mr. Garvin inquired if, with an Irish father (County of Armagh) and an English mother, was it likely that he should be afraid. He had signed the temperance pledge when he was eight years of age, and his troublesome conscience had not permitted him to break it yet.

Mr. Garvin contended that a candidate should not be asked to make specific pledges. "I"—Mr. Garvin began and corrected himself by substituting—"a legislator—should be allowed a free hand."

The Globe and THE EXAMINER and the other Grit sheets had reiterated the charge that the Conservative party had no platform. He hurled back the accusation with scorn. They had a platform with a hundred million planks in it—to be sawn by the brawny hands and sinewy arms of Canadians on Canadian soil. He referred to the question of school books and had a third reader in his hand which was sold to 100,000 third book children at a cost of 35 cents. He showed also another and, as he said, a larger book, which sold for 19 cents. (This book appeared to be one of the Lupton series of novels, printed by the tens of millions from old plates, on pulp paper with sleazy, cheap binding). Mr. Garvin contended that the third book could be sold at a saving of 15 cents on each volume. He also denounced the numbered ballot, which was held over the heads of licensed victuallers and school teachers. If he were elected he would abolish this slavery. Now was the chance for the Conservative party. The Liberal party had no captain. It was called the Hardy-Ross Government, with two lieutenants, but no captain, while the Conservatives had that great leader, Whitney. There was, he asserted, a strong feeling against the present representative (of West Peterborough). He (Mr. Garvin) had bed pledges of support that would make "their hair stand on end" if they heard them. He concluded by saying that he would support Mr. Sawers if the balloting gave the latter the nomination. He was working only in the interests of the Conservative party.

MR SAWERS' APPEAL.

Mr. Sawers said he was proud of this big gathering, which would put a quietus on Mr. Stratton's efforts to hold West Peterborough without a contest. The conditions were different now. The party was drawn into the unfortunate Equal Rights contest. It had been forced on them by their leaders. At the last election the result reminded him of the charge of the Light Brigade—

Voters to right of us,
Voters to left of us,
Voters in front of us,
Volleyed and thundered—

and as the Light Brigade had been badly commanded, so had the party in the last general elections. He (Mr. Sawers) believed that the riding could and would be redeemed, no matter who the candidate was. The feeling was good all over the country. Mr. John O'Meara of Ottawa, formerly of Peterborough, had told the speaker the Conservatives would sweep the eastern part of the province. The "good Sir Oliver" was gone, and there only remained "the wicked gardner." The surplus was gone, and the Legislature was called to struggle with the timber question. The speaker said the Michigan lumbermen were preparing to take out five hundred million feet of logs. He referred to their "secret conference" with the Government and said that a good pile of greenbacks would come good just now. Mr. Sawers said that unlike Mr. Garvin, he had a past.

He had been an active worker for the Conservative party for twenty years. He was willing to state his views. If elected he would. He did not pose as a teetotaller. He drank a little beer or whiskey on occasion and would not be afraid of entering a bar for it if he wished to do so. He had several proposals for the improvement of temperance legislation which he stated were:

1—Fewer licenses.
2—Higher licenses.
3—Bars closed at 10 o'clock p. m.
4—Hotelkeepers to be liable to a fine in case of a drunken man being found in his bar.
5—The same penalty for giving drink to a drunken man.
6—The fourth offence against the act to forfeit the license to the premises.

He would also favour legislation to abolish the treating system. He believed that a man had a right to take a drink for himself, but not to drag in another man. If he were elected he would do his best to represent the riding well. If he were not nominated he would support Mr. Garvin. There had been too many dissensions in the past, especially in the late Dominion elections. He believed that if Mr. Garvin were selected all his (Mr. Sawers') friends would work for him. They should work for the Conservative candidate and not for the individual.

THE BALLOTING.

Preparations for balloting were made by Mr. Garvin appointing Messrs. John Green and W. S. Robinson as his scrutineers, and Mr. Sawers choosing Messrs. J. D. Baptie and R. E. Layfield.

At this point Capt. Carson asked if these nominations were final. Were the local leaders of the Conservative party willing to take up and work for these two men, or was it a farce and a nomination for fun?

Mr. Dennistoun on being appealed to as to his willingness to support either of the candidates, said he thought he had made that fact plain when he declined the nomination. He would support the nominee of the meeting.

Mr. T. Cavanagh—"You'd better run yourself, and then we won't need any balloting. (Cheers.)

The first ballot resulted as follows:

Garvin	89
Sawers	43

with two spoiled ballots.

On motion of Mr. Sawers, Mr. Garvin's nomination was made unanimous.

The chairman tendered the nomination to Mr. Garvin, who in accepting it said it was an unexpected honour. He was not prepared with a speech. He little thought a week ago that he would that night occupy the proud position of Conservative candidate for West Peterborough. He would go to work with all his energies. He would leave no stone unturned to secure the election, and would bend every energy of mind and body to the redemption of West Peterborough.

The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, the candidates for the nomination and for the chairman.

Anæmia means "want of blood," a deficiency in the red corpuscles of the blood. Its cause is found in want of sufficient food, dyspepsia, lack of exercise or breathing impure air. With it is a natural repugnance to all fat foods. Scott's Emulsion is an easy food to get fat from and the easiest way of taking fat. It makes the blood rich in just those elements necessary to robust health, by supplying it with red corpuscles.

GUESTS FROM WAY BACK.

Some Amusing Stories of Their Blunders In Hotels of a Big City.

The clerks at several of the hotels tell amusing stories about some of the guests who come in from the rural districts. An aged couple came into the Moser and wanted a room. When informed that there was none, the woman turned to the man and snapped out:

"It serves us right. We will have to walk the streets tonight."

When asked for an explanation, the man said that they had arrived that morning and paid for a room at some house in advance for the week. He said they forgot to take the number and street and had looked for three hours for the house and then given it up. They had not the slightest idea where the place was.

A man from Arkansas told the housekeeper at the Moser that he was going out and might not be back for supper, but she need not wait for him.

Another man came into the St. James and, seeing an advertisement on the blotter in the register headed, "A friend in need is a friend indeed," asked for the address.

"That's the man I've been looking for," he said. "I was robbed last night, and I want to borrow money to get home on."

A man at the Rossin apologised to the night clerk for keeping him up until 11 o'clock. He said he hadn't noticed how late it was.

A well dressed man at the St. Nicholas told the clerk that there was no oil in his lamp. It wouldn't light. A bellboy went up and turned on the incandescent and told the guest that he had forgotten to turn up the wick. He acknowledged that he had.

A man and woman were registering at the Moser when a hackman came and asked them for his money for hauling them up from the Union station.

"Why, you ain't going to charge us, are you?" asked the man.

"Sure," cried the hackman.

"Didn't you ask us if we wanted to ride?" demanded the man.

The hackman said he had.

"Well, then," exclaimed the man, "what do you want us to pay for?"

The clerk explained matters and the visitor to the city paid the bill. He remarked that that was the first time he had ever known of any one being invited to ride and then asked to pay for it. —St. Louis Republic.

Mr. Whitelaw's Barns Burned.

Meaford, Ont., Dec. 1.—At about 9.30 last evening the valuable barns belonging to William Whitelaw, a farmer residing on the 4th line of St. Vincent, about two miles from this place, were totally destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $4500, insured in Sydenham Mutual for $2800.

Poor Little Ida is Dead.

Mason, Mich., Nov. 30.—Ida Bowdish, who was shot by her father, Scott Bowdish, before he committed suicide Saturday morning, died last night. The little girl died with the words: "Mamma and papa" on her lips. Unrequited love for a married woman caused Bowdish to commit the double crime.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

This is the Verdict of the Jury in the Thorn Case - After Prisoner Heard the Verdict He Owned Up.

New York, Dec. 1.—The trial of Martin Thorn, for the murder of Guldensuppe, was concluded and the case was handed to the jury in an extremely impartial charge by Judge Maddox at 2.25 o'clock yesterday. After being out three hours, the jury returned and announced their verdict. They found Thorn guilty of murder in the first degree.

District Attorney Youngs moved that a day be set for sentence.

Mr. Howe immediately moved for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was against the evidence and the weight of evidence adduced.

Judge Maddox denied the motion for a new trial, and set the day for passing sentence as Friday next at 10 a.m.

Thorn Owns Up.

New York, Dec. 1.—When Thorn had been led back to his cell after the conviction he admitted that the verdict was just, and that he, and not Mrs. Nack, had killed Guldensuppe. This acknowledgement of guilt took place while Thorn's cell in the jail was being prepared for him.

He said; "I am glad it is over and the verdict given. I am convicted and I am contented. It was I who killed Guldensuppe, and I cut up his body. Every word that Mrs. Nack said upon the stand was substantially correct. When I was on the stand I lied when telling the story as I did, but I lied to clear myself. It is no use carrying it any further. I am guilty and am convicted. It is what I expected and what I suppose people think I deserve, and perhaps I do."

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Boy of 16 Fell From a Load of Wood Which He Was Teaming and the Wheels Crushed Him.

Sunderland, Ont., Dec. 1.—Henry Maybee, a boy of 16, was teaming wood from the 4th concession of Brock to this village, and riding on top of the load. When coming round a turn about two miles from home the wood on which he was sitting gave way and he was thrown between the horses and the wagon, the wheels of the latter passing over his shoulder, chest and ribs, crushing him fearfully. He lay there for some time before being found by Mr. P. Keenan, agent of the Massey-Harris Company, who at once picked up the poor boy and hastened home with him, where everything possible was done for him, but he expired shortly after 6 o'clock last night.

AN AFRICAN POISON STORY

Strange Phenomenon Witnessed In the Northeast of the Dark Continent.

Charles M. Stern of Chicago, who returned to this city after a journey through northeast Africa, told of a curious meteorological phenomenon which he observed in a district called Gwallah. "The vegetation in that region is very luxuriant," said he, "and the plant life must give off an unusually large quantity of carbonic acid gas. At least that was the conclusion I reached after seeing three natives die and four or five dogs.

"The moment the animals put their noses close to the ground they would fall over and gasp and die in about five minutes. The natives who died slept on the ground instead of in hammocks, as others did. I saw hundreds of dead birds. My theory is that a stratum of the deadly gas covered the ground for a depth of three or four inches, and any living thing breathing in that area would be asphyxiated.

"I could not understand, however, how the gas was not distributed in a thinner layer and what kept it in one place for a whole day. Nothing like it had ever been known there before. The deaths of the men and the dogs all occurred within 24 hours. Then the gas, if it was really gas, seemed to dissipate. It was a very strange occurrence, and I might have been induced to make a more exhaustive investigation if my presence had not excited distrust. I got away as quickly as possible rather than be accused of being the cause of the sudden deaths. The natives are superstitious and attribute most of their misfortunes to witchcraft, so I thought it the part of wisdom to get away."—New York Mail and Express.

DOES SHE LOVE ME?

Does she love me? That is Greek—
Far too deep for me to know.
Do the sweet lips always speak
From the heart's deep overflow?
Can I tell each gentle sigh
Is the breath of answering love?
Are the glances of her eye
Forged by Cupid or by Jove?
Only this to me is known—
That I love her, her alone.
Only this I clearly see—
She is more than earth can be
And full half of heaven to me.

Does she love me? Do I know
Christ has risen from the tomb?
Or where roses, when they blow,
Get their color and perfume?
Faith would have no mission here,
Hope would still in heaven be,
If I did not trust the dear
Pledges of her love for me.
Though I cannot prove it mine
By an algebraic sign,
Yet, as love divinely grows,
It believes and feels and knows.
Thus through soul and every sense
Her true love gives evidence,
And I clear and clearer see
She is more than earth can be
And full half of heaven to me.
—Charles M. Dickinson.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

HER INTERESTING STORY.

A well-known Brighton lady tells what she thinks regarding Heart Trouble, and how to cure it.

Mrs. Stephen P. Clapp tells what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for her.

Mrs. Clapp says, "I have been a sufferer from extreme nervousness for years, and for the last two years my heart has troubled me greatly. I could not sleep soundly, and would often awaken with a start, together with a curious feeling as if my heart had stopped beating, and it would be some time before I could recover myself. At times I became very dizzy, and a mist gathered before my eyes. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, but could get nothing to relieve me. Finally I received a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and am glad to say that they gave me relief in a very short time. I now sleep well, my nerves are steady and strong, and I am better in every way than I have been for years.

I can recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills very highly to those suffering from any trouble affecting the heart and nerves, for I know that they have been a great boon to me."

(Signed) Mrs. Stephen P. Clapp,
Brighton, Ont.

NO POLICEMEN NEEDED.

Only Two Thefts In Iceland In a Thousand Years.

In Iceland there are no prisons, and the inhabitants are so honest in their habits that such defenses to property as locks, bolts and bars are not required, nor are there any police in the island. Yet its history for 1,000 years records no more than two thefts. Of these two cases one was that of a native, who was detected after stealing several sheep, but as he had done so to supply his family, who were suffering for want of food, when he had broken his arm, provisions were furnished to them and work was found for him when able to do it, and meanwhile he was placed under medical care, but the stigma attached to his crime was considered sufficient punishment.

The other theft was by a German, who stole 17 sheep.

But as he was in comfortable circumstances and the robbery was malicious the sentence passed upon him was that he should sell all his property, restore the value of what he had stolen and then leave the country or be executed, and he left at once. But though crime is rare in Iceland and its inhabitants are distinguished for honesty and purity of morals there is, of course, provision for the administration of justice, which consists, first of all, in the sheriff's courts; next, by appeals to the court of three judges at Reikiavik, the capital, and lastly in all criminal and most civil cases to the supreme court at Copenhagen, the capital of Denmark, of which kingdom the island forms a part. The island of Panaria, one of the Lipari group, is equally fortunate in having neither prisons nor lawyers and being absolutely destitute of both paupers and criminals.—Boston Transcript.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 20th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

Dress Reform For Babies.

The latest invention in the dress reform for babies, which is rapidly becoming more popular, is that all the garments can be put on at once. The first garment is a princess slip of fine flannel or crepeline, made with high neck and long sleeves. The next is a sleeveless garment of nearly the same shape and material, and last comes the nainsook dress. All three fasten together at the back with three buttons. The abdominal band is sheer and not tight, and the feet are left bare.

Effective.

"Well," said the prosperous looking man, "I will not affirm that the Gushing spring water is a balm for all bodily ills, but this I will say—that it has removed a trouble under which I had suffered nearly all my life."

He referred to a monetary difficulty, but he did not think it necessary to go into particulars.—Boston Transcript.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and wasting abuses and pelfs. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain health and happiness. If you need my services, address with stamp, W. E. MILFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 98, St. Henri, Que.

HE WAS AT LUCKNOW

A CHICAGO CABMAN WHO WENT TO THE RELIEF OF HAVELOCK.

He Tells In His Own Way the Story Which Has Often Been Told Before. One of the Famous "Light Brigade," Though Not at Balaklava.

T. J. McNally, a cab driver with a station at the northeast corner of Dearborn and Monroe streets, is one of the survivors of that regiment of British soldiers who went to the relief of Lucknow. He is a hardy, rugged, stout built man, with a medal of honor on his breast and a memory of ten years' service in the army of Great Britain. The command with which he served in India was composed in part of that little band of heroes left from the famous fight at Balaklava—that immemorial "Charge of the Light Brigade." And he shared with them the splendid honor of rescuing from beleaguered Lucknow the English women and children, and the English officers and men as well, who had fought for more than life against the savagery of a sepoy rebellion.

"I was born in Scotland, but of Irish parents," said Mr. McNally, chatting of the rough service and the men he had marched with and fought under in those days, which resembled so closely the perilous phases of England's situation in India today. "I was born at Barrhead, and Jan. 28, 1856, I enlisted at Lanark in the Ninety-second or Gordon highlanders, and after some months of drill and garrison duty volunteered Feb. 28, 1857, to the Ninety-third or Sutherland highlanders, who were stationed at Dover Heights. There was continual talk of their going out to the China war, and I wanted the adventure and the experience of real soldiering.

"It was Dover castle those days, for the castle still stood there. It was one of England's defenses and had been for centuries. I am told the castle is all ruined and gone now.

"We embarked at Spithead June 15, 1857, for the China war and sailed away down the west coast of Africa. After we were out at sea we spoke a vessel from the cape and heard of the Indian mutiny, but of course our duty was to go on to China, where we had been ordered. It was pretty hard lines for us. We wanted to get up into India, where they needed us, and at cape of Good Hope a lighter vessel from England overtook us and countermanded our orders. We were sent from there with all haste to Calcutta and landed Sept. 30, 1857. Think of that! More than three months getting to the mutiny!

"There were no railroads, and we started right out and marched up country as far as Cawnpur, 680 miles. It was a hard, hard march, but we made as good time as British soldiers ever did anywhere. At Cawnpur we were joined by General Hope Grant and Sir Colin Campbell, who had been waiting for reenforcements so they could hurry on Lucknow.

"Then we went on and reached the besieged city Nov. 18, 1857—over 700 miles in less than 50 days. We had but 4,000 men even then, and there were 60,000 native soldiers, armed as we were armed, for they had been part of the British army, but they were not commanded so well, and they did not have so much to fight for.

"It was quick work—all with the bayonet. They could not stand the rushes. We forced our way to the citadel, and the third day we took out the women and children and what was left of the garrison. Then we retired in the night. They could not realize we had done so much, and they could not believe we would withdraw, but we were not strong enough to hold the place and selected a position of our own at Alumbaugh, three miles away. If they had known we were going to slip away they could have massed their forces, leaving the city uncovered, and hemmed us in, but we were away and ready for them before they knew it.

"There Havelock died of dysentery three days after the relief. He would have been dead a week before we came, but he didn't dare to die. He had to defend those women and children.

"I was wounded at the Lucknow fight, but it did not amount to much. I staid on duty all the time. The bullet was extracted and I got along. No, there is no pension. You get a pension after 21 years' service in the British army, or after being positively disabled. I was only ten years in the service. After that I came to America—to Chicago. I have had money and am getting on all right yet. Medal? Yes, I wear the medal. That regiment is the only one that wears its medal on its colors. That is because it fought at Balaklava and at Lucknow too. Many a time the other fellows told me of the fight with the Russians, but I did not see it. I was not in the command at the time."

The Indian insurrection broke out on the night of May 30, 1857. Sir Henry Lawrence had fortified the residency and garrisoned it with 750 British troops. July 1 the place was besieged. July 4 Sir Henry died from a wound. Three times the gallant little army beat back the assaults of the multitudinous enemy. July 22 Havelock captured Alumbaugh, and four days later reached the residency. But he, with the others, was at once penned up there. Then came Colin Campbell's long waited, almost unhoped for relief, and the little garrison and colony were saved.—Chicago Post.

Versatile Dr. Bedloe.

Among the accomplishments of Dr. Edward Bedloe of Philadelphia, the American consul at Canton, China, is remarkable skill in mimicry. He can imitate with his voice the accent and mannerisms of speech of all the leading actors and orators as well as a number of musical instruments. His imitations of the twanging of a banjo are exceedingly accurate. Some years ago Dr. Bedloe was in a room at the Press club when several guests were being entertained in an adjoining apartment. He had been with the party, but had excused himself on the plea that he wanted to get his banjo. He proceeded to "play" a medley and did the imitation so well that the guests would not believe he had not actually performed on an instrument until he repeated the imitation in their presence. He is, moreover, a witty and brilliant conversationalist and a most entertaining raconteur. He has a wonderful memory and has never been known to tell the same story twice.—Philadelphia Press.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

THE MAPLE LAKE TRAGEDY.

TRIAL OF THE THOMPSON BOYS FOR THE MURDER OF WILLIAM HENRY SAWYER.

Verdict of Manslaughter Returned by the Jury—The Accused Sentenced to Twenty-Three Months Imprisonment in the Central Prison for the Killing of William Henry Sawyer in September Last.

As stated in yesterday's EXAMINER the Thompson brothers were each sentenced to twenty-three months in the Central Prison in connection with the killing of William Henry Sawyer. Appended will be found the balance of the evidence which was adduced at the trial yesterday morning.

As stated yesterday the jury returned at 5 o'clock with a verdict of manslaughter. In the morning at 9 o'clock His Lordship sentenced the accused to twenty-three months in the Central Prison :—

To Mr. Barron, Hiram Sawyer explained that it was after Thos. Thompson had called out that William Henry was biting him that the latter was kicked by Matthew.

To Crown Prosecutor Simpson—"My son was merely holding Thompson down and was not biting him."

James Barry, mail carrier, sworn, testified to Mr. Simpson: "I carry the mail from Minden to Maple Lake P.O., and was there on the evening of the fight referred to; I saw the prisoners and the two Sawyer there, but did not see the latter start for home—I left before them but they passed me when about 40 rods away. Later on I came up with Thompsons and Sawyers on the road; Thos. Thompson and Wm. Henry Sawyer were fighting, and the latter was holding Thompson down; I got out of my buggy, gave the lines to the boy with me, and said: 'Stand back, give fair play,' or words to that effect. I heard Thompson call out that Sawyer was biting him, after which Matt. Thompson ran over and kicked Sawyer, then Thos. Thompson got on his feet and also kicked young Sawyer in the head. Hiram Sawyer and Matthew also clinched, but a little later Matt. left Hiram and took after Thos. Archer, who had just come up. At this time Thos. Thompson and Wm. Henry Sawyer were standing and talking about hay, then Sawyer struck at Thos. and the latter kicked Sawyer on the left side, who then sat down on a stump. I said, 'Stop this or I'll have every man fined,' and the fight was then stopped. Young Sawyer seemed to be stupid after being kicked. I helped him and his father into their buggy, after which they started for home. I went over to their house later on, and found the young man pretty bad—complained of his head and side, and occasionally vomited blood."

Thos. Archer, sworn, said: "I was at the Maple Lake post office on the evening of Sept. 1st, and saw the Sawyers and the Thompsons there; on the way home I caught up to them—they were fighting; I saw Matt. Thompson leave Hiram and go over and kick Wm. Henry Sawyer, who was lying on top of Thos. Thompson; Young Sawyer seemed to become unconscious after the blow; Matt. returned to Hiram, and I then told him to have respect for an old man; he then turned and knocked me down and kicked me, remarking with an oath that he had a grudge against me, too. I heard Barry threaten to have all hands arrested, and the fight stopped soon after."

To Mr. Steers—"Hiram Sawyer is my uncle, and the deceased was my cousin."

Hamilton Boyce, sworn, said to Mr. Simpson: "I knew the Thompsons and Sawyers; the morning after the fight I was at Wm. Thompson's, brother of the prisoners, and Matt. asked me if I had heard of any writs flying for law, and I said it would probably cost him dear; he said, 'I did kick Wm. Henry d——d good."

To Mr. Steers witness said he had never heard of any threats being made by either party.

Wm. Loscombe, sworn, said he knew the prisoners; Thos. Thompson had been working at his place on the day of the fight, and said he intended to go away, but first there were two things he wanted to do—beat Wm. Henry Sawyer as long as he was able, and poison Clarke's old cow; he said Sawyer had met his (Thompson's) wife on the road and helped to carry her child; he did not say why he wanted to poison the cow.

To Mr. Steers, witness said his wife was Hiram Sawyer's neice; he had not warned Hiram that the Thompson's meant trouble, and had no talk with Wm. Henry on the subject; he was to be called as a witness for the defence, but preferred to be called by the prosecution because of the witness fees.

Mr. John Archer, sworn, said: I knew deceased and saw him the day after the fight and nursed him till he died; he was in a very low condition when I called first, but could speak; his trouble seemed to be in the left side and stomach; he never rallied and died on Saturday evening.

Dr. R. S. Frost, of Kinmount, sworn, said: I live in Kinmount, and called to see Wm. Henry Sawyer on Saturday, 4th Sept, about 4 o'clock; I found him insensible and in a dying condition; he was in a very high fever, and I believe his condition was due to the injuries he had received. On the 7th I called again with Dr. Curry to conduct a post mortem examination, and found a superficial wound on forehead between the eyes, and a good deal of post-mortem lividity. Upon opening the obest I found that the sixth rib had been separated from the breast bone, and the inside lining was badly torn; on the left side the seventh rib was found to be broken square across. Death in my opinion resulted from the injuries mentioned.

Cross-examined by Mr. Barron, witness said the injuries in the head were not alone sufficient to cause death, but contributed to the result.

To Mr. Steers, witness said deceased might have recovered had he received proper treatment in time.

Dr. Curry, of Minden, was the next witness. He described his examination of the body with Dr. Frost, and his conclusions were similar. In his opinion the injury to the lung was sufficient to cause death.

At this point Crown Prosecutor Simpson stated that he would rest his case on the evidence already given.

FOR THE DEFENCE.

Thos. Thompson, one of the prisoners, was placed in the box and told his story. He blamed Redner, the postmaster, for stirring up the trouble with the Sawyers, and said that at the post office on the evening of the fight Redner was throwing slurs at him (Thomson), and said he was going hunting next day—he wanted a deer skin to make a pair of trousers. Thompson said he should see that he didn't pay too dear for them. On a previous occasion Redner had used language to him that was likely to provoke a fight. When the Sawyers caught up to them they were driving fast, and Wm. Henry took off his coat in the buggy and appeared anxious to fight and later on threatened to use a knife on him.

To Mr. Steers—He was very angry when he spoke about my wife. I invited him to come out of the buggy, and we both struck at the same time. There was no kicking that I remember. He tried to bite me several times, and did so finally. When the fight was all ended Hiram said he wished he had had his revolver, and he would use it.

To Mr. Simpson witness said he did not think the trouble arose over his wife—he thought Redner was to blame for it. He could not account for all the bruises on body of deceased, but knew he had kicked him in the stomach or somewhere as Barry was pulling him away.

Messrs. Steers and Barron addressed the jury in behalf of the prisoners at some length, and were followed by Crown Prosecutor Simpson.

His Lordship, Mr. Justice Armour, then instructed the jury as to their duties. It was of the utmost importance that human life should be protected. The taking of human life may be manslaughter or murder, and the two prisoners might be found guilty on either count, or one be found guilty of manslaughter and the other of murder, if the evidence proved that one had been actuated by malice aforethought. Every unlawful killing was murder in the eyes of the law, but the presence or absence of malice increased or mitigated the punishment. According to his judgment the evidence given did not show any great malice on the part of the prisoners. Stress had been laid upon some supposed ill-feeling held against the prisoners by deceased owing to a man named Redner having been fined for killing deer out of season. It had not been shown that Redner was related to the deceased. What took place when the Sawyers overtook the Thompson boys had been made very clear by the evidence of Hiram Sawyer and Thos. Thompson; the trouble started with a reference to Thompson's wife which resulted in young Sawyer being invited out of the buggy. If two men go out and one is killed that constitutes manslaughter; if the presence of spite is established the crime is murder. In the encounter referred to deceased was beaten and subsequently died, and medical men declared that death resulted from the injuries received in the fight. If so, then the prisoners were responsible. and it made no difference which of them struck the fatal blow, as the wounds given by each contributed to the result. Matthew Thompson had told witness that he had given Sawyer "a d——d good kicking," and added that "kicking was the only way to settle such things in this country." Both parties had been willing to fight, hence there could be no question of self-defence set up. Liscombe, a witness, had told that Thos. Thompson said he wished, before going away, to beat Sawyer and poison a cow; Thompson denied having said so, and it was really unimportant. Personally he thought the prisoners were guilty of manslaughter, but he did not wish the jury to be guided by his opinion.

NOVEMBER WEATHER NOTES.

The following facts and figures regarding November weather may prove of interest :

The past month had a large number of overcast and rainy days, in fact there was rain or snow on 16 out of the 30 days that went to make up the month.

The first snowstorm of the season was on the 9th, when about 8 inches of wet snow fell. This remained on the ground, however, but for a few days. On the 17th and 19th there was a heavy fall of snow, particularly for so early in the season, which gave fair sleighing for a few days.

The rainfall amounted 2¼ inches and allowing 10 inches of snow to equal 1 inch rain, the total precipitation was 3.62 inches, about average.

The highest temperature was 59 degrees on the 5th; the lowest 12 degrees on the 24th. The average daily temperature was 33 degrees. This is in five or six degrees lower than November, 1896, which was a warmer month than usual. Only on 8 days did the thermometer not sink to the freezing point.

WHEELMEN'S MEETING.

A meeting of all wheelmen members of the C.W.A., and of the Victoria and Peterborough Bicycle Clubs will be held in the rooms of the Victoria Bicycle Club, Bank of Commerce Building, on Friday evening, Dec. 3rd, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested, as matters pertaining to the C.W.A. will come up for discussion.

HOCKEY.

The Lindsay Post publishes the following letter of interest to the hockey players of the district :

What's the matter with our hockey team? Skating will soon be here, and no word of their organising has yet been heard.

Could a league not be formed of clubs in the Midland District, composed of Uxbridge, Beaverton, Whitby seconds, Port Perry, Cannington, Millbrook, Lindsay and possibly a team from Peterborough.

Each club could subscribe for a trophy to be played for, and each team to play each other two games.

If six or eight teams entered, two districts might be formed, the winners to play off at the end of the season..

Would it not be well to have a meeting to organize our club at once. Then the forming of a league could be discussed. We think most of the clubs mentioned would be in favour of entering.

The writer offers the above suggestions for what they are worth, not being in a position to take an active part himself, but would like to see a move made to start the game. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am—Yours, PUCK.

Beware of Cocaine.

Crowning Sale of This Year.

Away above all our Business Strokes of this year we put this latest lucky movement of merchandise now in progress. It is the resultant of complete organization for getting goods at proper sources and at the most favourable movement.

What comes of looking ahead is demonstrated to the public by what is in sight just now all over our house. That lucky purchase of ours when we . . . . . .

Cleaned Out....

The Whole of the Winter Stock of the well-known Montreal Manufacturers—

McKENNA-THOMPSON CO

At the Unprecedented Low Figure of

33⅓ Cents

Placed in our hands the GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY OF THE YEAR, and gave us practical control of the Clothing trade of Peterborough. Opportunity and ability were thus united—and that is how we have collected together this great $86,000 stock of Merchandise. It is 1897's LATEST, NEWEST, RIGHT-PRICED addition to Peterborough's prosperity, spread out on our tables and shelves for the greatest December feast of our history.

Even the great GOUGH'S are not insensible to a Boom in business. It seems a contradiction to push sales by losing profits we might as well have, when our business is vigorous with healthy activity, and yet we are inspired to do so by sound reasoning. It sometimes pays to lose, especially when you really don't lose at all.

IT'S A REAL DUTY you owe to yourself to make an early visit to GOUGH'S while this Great Sale is in progress. The store is constantly crowded with delighted customers—and no wonder when you look at some of our prices :—

Men's Tweed Overcoats, worth $5.00, selling at	$2 40
Men's Melton Overcoats, worth $10.00, selling at	6 00

THE HAMMOND TRIAL

The Letters From the Dead Girl to Her Husband.

WORRIED ABOUT MISSING TRUNK

The Evidence For the Prosecution All in—The Defence Announces That it Will Produce No Evidence—A Double Adjournment—A Verdict Expected To-Day.

Bracebridge, Dec. 3.—The Hammond murder trial was in progress the whole of yesterday, and at 5.30 Mr. Osler said: "That closes the case." Mr. Johnston said he would call no witnesses on behalf of the defence, and at his request Court adjourned until 7 o'clock, when it was understood he would proceed with his address to the jury. However, it was arranged that the addresses should not begin until 8.30 this morning.

Dr. Campbell, Gravenhurst, was called. He testified that the prisoner came to his drug store during the forenoon of March 6 and purchased an ounce bottle of hydrocyanic for the purpose of destroying some cats. Forty-five drops, or three-quarters of a teaspoonful, would be a fatal dose. Prisoner was warned as to the nature of the poison. The bottle found was shown witness, and also another bottle from his store, and he said they were both alike. "I heard of the death of Katie Tough on the next day, and went to see prisoner at his father's house. I asked him what he did with the bottle I sold him. He indicated that he had thrown it away. I asked how it happened he threw it away. I told him that people were talking, that it would be best for him to find it. I saw him again the same day. I found I had omitted to have him sign the poison book. He came to the store and signed it. We had a conversation about the deceased. He said she was married to a man in Toronto named James. After prisoner had signed the poison book I sent word to Coroner Bridgeland to come down."

Constable William Sloan was called and gave evidence concerning the finding of the bottle stopper, and conveying the stomach of deceased to Dr. Ellis of Toronto, provincial analyst. This witness conveyed prisoner to the Bracebridge jail, and on the way prisoner said Rosina Russell's statement that she saw him and deceased together on the night of the 6th of March, was true. The prisoner says he saw Miss Russell on the steps of her sister's house.

Mrs. Lee, 459 Bathurst street, Toronto, was called. She said she knew Katie Tough, she having been employed by her as a servant. The trunk shown her had the appearance of the trunk belonging to deceased. Prisoner was a frequent visitor at the house while deceased was living with witness.

Mrs. Bryan, boarding house keeper, Toronto, sworn, said she knew the prisoner. He had boarded at her house for two months. He had no trunk, but a trunk came afterwards. The trunk shown her was like the trunk he had there. The week following the death prisoner's father and an expressman came and took the trunk away.

Detective Burrows said he had been detailed on the 12th of March, 1896, to assist Archy Sloan in getting the trunk. "I got some information. I saw an expressman and he saw me and tried to pass the check to another man. We had a tussle and I got the check and then the trunk."

Archy Sloan was called and stated that he searched prisoner and found certain letters. He got a key from prisoner, and the key fitted the trunk which he got from Detective Burrows. In the trunk he found a number of letters which were produced and identified. Some of these letters were found on the prisoner and others in the trunk, and had reference to insurance and other matters. The following are samples of some of the letters read:

The first letter was from Buffalo, just after Hammond had gone to New York, whither she was to follow him in a few days. She was remaining over to complete negotiations for the life insurance. Although married, she was living under the assumed name of Katie Harrington, and this name is endorsed on the back of the letter:

"Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 20, 1895.

"Dearest Will,—You have no idea how lonely it is here without you, and just think you have only been away a few hours. I don't know what I will do before the week is up. I have attended to all business this morning. Everything will be all right, except the Equitable. They are going to send the policy by express, as they think it will be safe, to 1900 Broadway, so you will have to see about it there. They gave me a receipt, which I will enclose in this letter. The New York Life is all right. You can get it by calling at the home office in New York. You will receive a line from there telling you when to call, and I hope everything will be all right. You will hardly get it before the end of next week. I guess the people here thought it strange I should send my trunk, and not intending to go myself, for Olive said at the table she supposed they would be losing me to-day, as I had sent my trunk. She looked surprised when I told her I was not. Now, Willie, be sure and write just as soon as you get this, for I will be very anxious about the receipt, also to hear how you are getting along, and how you like New York. I will pray every night for success in all your undertakings, and trust my prayers will be answered. I think this is all at present, so good-bye, my darling, my sweet love, and write soon. I remain your loving

"CATHERINE."

The next is a brief note after they had returned from New York to Toronto. Katie had taken a position as domestic at Mrs. Lee's, 459 Bathurst street, from which house the next is written:

"459 Bathurst street, Toronto, Jan. 16.

"Dearest Willie,—As I have to keep house this evening, I will not be able to go to Beverley street. Would be pleased if you would call about half-past seven.

"Yours in haste, KATE."

The other two letters are written after Katie had gone home to Gravenhurst and before Hammond had left Toronto.

"Gravenhurst, Feb. 18.

"Dear Will,—I have waited for my trunk till I am tired. I have to tell one lie after another, till I don't know what I'll say next, so you must send my trunk at once, for how in Heaven's name do you expect me to get along without my things; besides pa is going to see Mr. Torrey about it, so for Heaven's sake send it by express or freight! But I am afraid you will have to pay it. I think the least you might have done was to send me word you were not coming when you said, for I have walked the streets for two evenings in the storm. Now, remember, I wish you to send my trunk at once. I don't care what excuse you have, I must have it at once. I remain your loving "KATE."

"Gravenhurst, Feb. 27th.

"Dear Willie,—This is the fourth time I have written to you and I have only received one card from you since I came home. I have not got my trunk yet. I don't know what to think about it—whether you sent it or not. If you have it must be lost. I don't know what the people think. They never say anything about it now, but at first I had quite a time, for, as I thought surely I would get the check from you on Monday evening, as you said, I told them I had given it to the 'bus driver. Of course, when it didn't come they were anxious. I told them not to bother, for it was all right. Frank seen the fellow up town, and asked about it. The fellow knew nothing about it and I got into a terrible fuss. They think is is kept for my board. Think of it! You don't know how ashamed I feel. I got a setting out from pa last night. He told me it was a shame for me to stay away as I did, working for my board, for, as far as he could see, I had made nothing. I had a trunk full when I went away; I came home with nothing but a few rags on my back, not fit to be seen. What does your father say to you about being married, for I suppose he has heard all about it? For it is no secret here. Every one I see ask me about it, but I gave them no satisfaction, so they are in the dark as ever. Annie Scott heard it from Mrs. John Cockburn. She said she thought it was quite true and that we had been seen together in New York. Well, that is bad, as it would not look very well for us to be there unless we were married. I wish I knew who saw us. I told Annie she must have made a mistake, so she thought it must be a mistake altogether. Now, will you please write as soon as you get this. Don't send a card for I may not get it myself. I can't imagine why I don't hear from you. I watch the office like a cat watching a mouse. If I don't hear from you before next Tuesday I am going down to Toronto, so be sure and write. I remain ever your loving KATIE."

At 5 p.m. Mr. Osler announced that the evidence for the Crown was all in. The greater part of the afternoon was taken up in hearing expert evidence. Drs. Grant and Cornell of Gravenhurst, who conducted the post mortem examination, while admitting that sufficient prussic acid was not noticeable in the chest, the only part of the body which smelled of the acid, to cause death, they were nevertheless of the opinion that death was caused by prussic acid.

Dr. Johnson of Toronto felt satisfied from the indications that death was owing to the same cause.

The most expert testimony was given by Prof. Ellis, Government analyst. He said he found prussic acid in the stomach in the proportion of one-third of a grain, and that only one-tenth of the quantity taken found its way to the stomach. It was the acid which entered the system which caused death. Witness also found phosphoric acid in the stomach. Two-thirds of a teaspoonful of prussic acid would cause death, and he considered, from the quantity found in the stomach, that deceased had taken much more than necessary to cause death.

The evening was spent in the trial of a young man named Cake, charged with indecent assault.

Story of the Murder of Mrs. Orr Retold.

IMPORTANT QUESTION OF TIME.

The Prisoner's Errand to Barrie's—His Foolish Statements—Where Was He at the Moment of the Murder?—The Finding of the Body and Other Details of the Crime.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—James Allison, as he stood in the prisoner's dock yesterday, charged with the death of Mrs. Emma Orr, did not much resemble a murderer. The time spent in jail has much improved his personal appearance.

H. P. O'Connor, Q.C., of Walkerton, is conducting the Crown's case, with Detective Murray present to aid him. J. R. Blake of Galt and J. J. A. Weir of Berlin are defending the prisoner.

Allison's father and mother, the latter with an infant in her arms, are present.

Seventy-two jurors had been summoned and there were a good many challenged. Finally the jury was completed as follows: Arthur Ruler, Wellesley; James Nicholl, Elmira; John S. Smith, Berlin; William J. McKee, Wellesley; A. Rudell, Waterloo Township; John D. Neustadt, Waterloo Township; William Gleanie, Woolwich; Hobart Runstedler, Wellesley; Louis Rank, Wellesley; Adam S. Meyers, Wellesley; Anthony Starr, Bamberg; John Ottman, Hawkesville.

Chief Justice Sir William Meredith occupied the bench, and, after the jurors had been sworn, Mr. O'Connor outlined the case for the Crown. He said it would be proved that the prisoner killed Mrs. Orr, and pointed out that Allison had repeatedly contradicted himself in regard to his gun. Though able to prove that the gun was shot off that morning Mr. O'Connor said the Crown would not claim that the woman was shot, but would prove that death was caused by a blow on the back of the head. Counsel concluded with a reference to the new evidence the Crown had obtained lately. It would be proved, he said, that on the evening before the murder Allison had told a chum that other men had been intimate with Mrs. Orr, and that the first time he got her alone he would take advantage of her.

Surveyor A. H. McPherson having given evidence, with plans of the scene of the murder,

Anthony Orr, the husband of the dead woman, was called to the stand. He said that he left his farm with two children at 7.30 a.m., on the morning of Aug. 9. When he returned at 10.20 Allison met him at the gate. He was laughing and grinning, and when witness asked him what he was grinning about he didn't reply. Witness ran into the house and looked for his wife. She was nowhere to be found. Allison's gun and one cartridge were also missing. Orr said he then went to Galt to make enquiries about his wife. Returning, he made a search of the swamp and found a hole dug as if for a grave. A spade belonging to Allison was picked up beside the embryo grave. There was black soil on the spade, which made it evident that it had been used to dig the grave. Witness said he also saw hairs on the spade.

Cross-examined by Mr. Blake, Orr stated that his wife could milk five cows in 25 minutes. At the magistrate's hearing Orr said that he was positive the woman was alive at 10 minutes to eight. To-day he said she must have been alive till 8 o'clock.

Maggie Orr, the little girl left at the farm with her mother and Allison, was the next witness. She stated that when she got up she saw Allison raking up the chips at the back door with a dung fork. She asked where her mother was, and he said he did not know. Later on he told her that her mother had bet him a quarter he could not shoot a ground hog which was in the field near by. He shot at it, but it ran into its hole, he said. A few days later he told her another story about having shown Mrs. Orr how to use the gun.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Dryden swore positively, however, that they met Allison driving two cows towards Barrie's farm on the morning of Aug. 9 between 8.45 and 9 o'clock. The Crown examination did not shake their testimony.

John Ramsay strengthened the foregoing evidence by stating that he met Mr. and Mrs. Dryden on the road about 9 o'clock.

Norman Orr, the 7-year-old son of Anthony Orr, was sworn, and related as to being away with his father on that morning. When he and his father came home his sister Maggie came out and said: "Ma is gone." He heard his father ask Allison what was the matter. He said he saw Allison on the Friday following, crawling out from the corn in the cornfield.

Mrs. John Barrie, sworn, said she saw Roddy the milkman, at 8.30. Prisoner came over and informed her of Mrs. Orr's disappearance. She went and straightened up things at the house and returned in the evening. She was also present when Mrs. Orr was found, and assisted in washing and dressing her. She considered that it would be fast milking for one to have milked five cows in half an hour.

Anthony Marshall deposed that he found the spade on exhibit in the stable under the barn floor. Inspected the same, but found nothing thereon other than a light-ish clay.

William Bond, sr., swore that he had a conversation with Allison on the Thursday following, and Allison told him that Mrs. Orr requested him (Allison) to bring out the gun. She asked him to show her how the gun worked.

William Bond, jr., found a shovel under some brush. This instrument fitted the marks on the side of the grave in the swamp, and belonged to Anthony Orr.

William Dryden said Allison had told him that Mrs. Orr had taken one cartridge with his gun. Next day he brought Allison to task about telling him a falsehood about the gun, and he admitted having done so.

Alvin Dryden, sworn, said he overheard the prisoner's father tell him (the prisoner) to keep his mouth shut.

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a Newmarket Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—How Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh." W. H. FURSMAN.

Severe Pains in the Head

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

A GOVERNMENT THAT DOES THINGS.

The gold discoveries in the Klondyke attracted universal attention, and the Government was prompt to look after Canadian interests. Hon. Mr. Sifton, the Minister of the Interior is a "Government that does things," has just returned from a ten weeks' trip in the Northwest, where he has been personally looking over the situation. He did not commission some underling on the circumlocution office, who would have brought in a report with the speed of the Dominion Liquor License commissioners, but he went himself. The Liberal Government acts on the principle of the old proverb, "If you want your business done, do it; if you don't, send." He visited the White Pass and the Chilkoot Pass. He had been away about ten weeks, and in that time had travelled over ten thousand miles. Besides examining the routes to the Yukon, and looking into the Alaska boundary question, Mr. Sifton made an extensive tour of the mining districts of British Columbia. He visited the gold and silver mining camps of the Kootenay region, and was greatly impressed with the rapid development of the mines. The Minister also went over the Crow's Nest Pass Railway to see how the road was progressing. At Edmonton strong representations were made to Mr. Sifton in favour of the all-Canadian route from that place to the Yukon. Mr. Sifton was banquetted at Vancouver, Victoria, Rossland and other points on his trip. He appears to be in the best of health after his long and arduous trip. It is more than probable that as a result of his visit active and prompt measures will be taken to protect Canadian interests in the Klondyke and other Northwestern gold fields, and in the interest of a direct all-Canadian route to to the subpolar Eldorado.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Liberal re-action did not begin at the Centre.

THE newspapers report as a curiosity a man cutting teeth at 67. There are a good many political aspirants that have their eye teeth yet to cut.

MR. OLIVER HOWLAND has now leisure to reflect on the precipitancy that led him to desert a seat which would have permitted him to pour out little rivulets of vapid verbosity in the debate on the address.

THE Mail and Empire takes it very much to heart because Hon. Mr. Hardy did not tell Mr. Whitney when the general elections were to be brought on. Possibly Mr. Hardy has not decided the question, and could not, therefore, tell himself, let alone the anxious Mr. Whitney.

MR. HOWLAND'S majority in South Toronto, in the Local House seemed to be a pretty good thing from his point of view. He couldn't have thought much of Mr. Whitney's chances for giving him a cabinet seat, when he took the risk of being "turned down" in a fight against Mr. Bertram.

MR. WHITNEY in spite of his stumping experience the past summer, struck a snag the first day of the Legislature when some of his wild campaign statements were challenged and disproved. Mr. Whitney will soon begin to revise his theory that the Government is a blue funk summoned the Legislature to stop his missionary tour. It's Mr. Whitney's careless campaign facts are what will suffer by the meeting of the Legislature.

POOR Gascoigne, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, is getting into a blooming old pickle. The Royal Scots are after the General's scalp now. These old country generals never can realize the fact that our militia is not intended to be taken seriously. The most absurd Bombastes Furioso army that was ever put on the stage was solemnly martial compared with our Canadian militia outfit. The general should report that the million dollars now thrown away might better be devoted to maintaining public skittle alleys for the pleasurable and healthful recreation of the people.

THE October return of the chartered banks of Canada places the note issue at $61,580,000, the greatest amount of paper money in circulation at any period in the history of Canada. The Dominion notes not held by banks swell this amount to over $49,000,000. The increase for three months is $6,871,600, which is over $2,000,000 more than the increase of any previous three months. Dominion notes (issued by the Government) in circulation on October 31 were $34,751,959, also the greatest on record, and as compared with $31,607,453 on October 31, 1894. Canada has got a move on.

THE hysterical jingo rant that is being made by many Opposition journals respecting the condition of Ontario's timber interests is purely gratuitous in view of the legislation promised in the speech from the throne which will deal with the matter. The organs can afford to wait. In a few days the intention of the Government will be made known. But they won't wait; they will do all in their power to complicate the question and make the work of dealing with it satisfactorily more difficult. The Government has to consult general and not special interests in dealing with the question. They will find a remedy for the trouble; not introduce a mere expedient. We have every confidence that the situation will be promptly and efficiently dealt with.

CHEAP POSTAGE.

What was the most important announcement made for many years, in connection with postal matters was that made by Hon. Wm. Paterson at the Liberal meeting in Massey Hall, Toronto, the other night. To use Mr. Paterson's own words: "I had hoped," he said, "that Mr. Mulock, the Postmaster General, would have been here to-night, because it would have been more proper that he should make the announcement that I have to make. He has given me permission to make it; the permission came over the telephone, and what was it? He said, 'We have, and expect to have, closer and more intimate commercial relations with Britain under our tariff than ever before. You know, he says, that the Government has recognized the fact while now you can, at a cost of three cents, send a letter of communication weighing an ounce to any part of Canada or the United States, it costs ten cents to send that weight of letter to Great Britain. Economies have been effected while efficiency has been maintained and increased in our post office department. Revenues have come in under the Postmaster-General that have enabled him to give effect to the wishes of the Canadian Government, who want to do everything they fairly can to facilitate trade between Canada and Great Britain, and he tells me the word has gone forth and has been flashed across the Atlantic, that after January next an ounce of letter may be sent to every part of the British Empire, wherever the British flag floats, and three cents shall carry it."

This announcement was received with loud and prolonged cheering. A boon which we longed for, in vain, for a number of years, is ours at last. The matter was often talked of by Conservative governments, but nothing was done. It was left for the "Administration of business men" to accomplish the end sought. Such works as these—for to the present Dominion Government credit is due—assist in strengthening the already strong hold which the Laurier Government has obtained on the affections of the Canadian people."

THE DEMON OF DYSPEPSIA,

Banished For Ever by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Snow cannot withstand the heat of the midsummer sun. There's no ice on the creeks in August.

No more can Indigestion and Dyspepsia exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. The sun melts the snow; Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food. That's all that is needed to banish Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more. While they are digesting the food, they rest the stomach; tone it up, restore all its old strength, and give it a new supply.

You don't have to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for ever. A short course of treatment, two or three weeks, is enough for any case. Then you can quit using them and enjoy the benefits they have given you.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are specially suited to every form of Dyspepsia. They will positively cure any form of the disease.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent the formation of poisonous gases in the stomach by digesting the food at once. There is no time for it to ferment and create gas.

If the bowels need treatment Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets won't give it. But, in each box is a package of smaller tablets that will. Thus there is a double treatment in every box.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists, at 50 cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Distress from Earache.

"I was troubled with earache for a long time," says Miss J. Johnson, Innisfail, N. W. T., "and after trying different remedies without success, used Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a last resort and I can really say that it cured me so completely that I have never had earache since."

CAPITAL TOPICS.

Sir Mearry Joly Makes a Very Interesting Statement About Inland Revenue—Mr. Sifton Back.

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—Sir Henry Joly, Minister of the Inland Revenue, has prepared a very interesting statement concerning the revenue of his department. The statement shows that the revenue accruing between July 1 and Nov. 1 last, was $721,000 less than the revenue which accrued between the same dates last year. This, he claims, is due to the fact that the distillers and tobacco manufacturers imported immensely in anticipation of a change in the tariff. This is evidenced by the fact that the revenue for March, April, May and June was $3,807,247, as against $2,615,774 for the corresponding four months of 1896—or this year shows an increase in these four months of $1,191,473. Sir Henry maintains that it took months for these men to dispose of all this imported matter, but that the revenue has now come back to its normal condition, quoting in proof of this the fact that last month's (November) revenue was $16,000 in excess of that of November, 1896. This increase, he expects, will not only be maintained, but exceeded.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, returned to the capital after his trip to the Klondike, last evening. He is apparently in a perfect condition of health. He will cause the Mounted Police Force in the Yukon district to be increased, the present contingent stationed there not being sufficient to properly protect the immense area covered by miners and prospectors.

Hon. Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia and Defence, leaves for Europe on the 8th inst. Prof. Prince, expert of the Fishery Department, also leaves for England on the same date.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conqueror of kidney and liver disease.

THE LEGISLATURE

The Premier and the Opposition Leader Foregather.

A VERY SPIRITED ARGUMENT.

Issues in the Coming Election Contest—The Timber Question—American Companies Exporting Canadian Logs—Some Opposition Fables—Able Defence of the Government's Policy.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—During the summer months just passed Mr. Whitney and his henchmen have been prowling about the country from riding to riding thundering against the policy of the Provincial Government, charging all kinds of political crimes, reading from supposed authorities to prove such statements and predicting the downfall of the Hardy Ministry as soon as the people would have a chance to express their opinions through the ballot box. These gentlemen, including their leader, Mr. Whitney, presented a sorry spectacle in the House yesterday when called to account by the Premier, who literally wiped the floor with Mr. Whitney. The leader of the Opposition began his speech in reply to the address shortly after three o'clock, and opened fire by announcing the fact that he did not intend to allow the Government to "bully" him this session. He was going to say all he desired, and in his own way. He had his say, but after Mr. Hardy finished with him it was quite evident he regretted having opened his mouth. He began in bad nature, and contrary to custom, to find fault with the addresses of the mover and seconder of the address. He seemed to be frightened of something and appeared to be bolstering up his courage by waxing loud and wroth. He was not satisfied because the arbitration proceedings between the provinces had not yet reached a conclusion; the reference that had been made to the County Councils Act called for another kick; the fact that the Government had not definitely announced what they intended doing about timber licenses he thought an outrage; the calling of the present session before Christmas did not please him in any degree; it was a political crime the seconder had committed when he had referred to the fact that Sir Wilfrid Laurier now reigned at Ottawa; he was dumbfounded to hear it stated the loyalty of the Conservatives was but "lip-loyalty," and ventured the opinion no such charge had ever been made before; he charged Hon. Mr. Dryden with having made misstatements upon the stump during the summer, but wisely refrained from attempting to point out a single instance, he simply lashed himself into a fury, and raved over what he termed the "Engledue mining deal"; he mentioned the "Piggery," but stated, amid the laughter of both sides of the House, he would leave that question to be dealt with by Mr. St. John, who had discovered the pigs; he admitted he had not attended the meetings of the Public Accounts Committee, and was therefore not in a position to fairly discuss the expenses of the Government, and wound up an ill-natured and wondering speech of an hour and a half by refusing to state definitely his policy regarding the timber of the province. He was asked by Mr. German, "Does my honorable friend favor an imposition of duty on sawlogs leaving the province?" to which he replied, "We have no power here to impose a duty." Mr. German, evidently determined to place the public in possession of the platform of the Opposition upon this point, again asked, "Do you favor regulations which would virtually prohibit the export of logs?" His reply was, "I shall deal with that later." (Laughter).

It was within an hour and a half of recess when the Premier, in splendid form and voice, stood up to reply. He was loudly cheered by the House, the enthusiasm proving that though their old leader was gone the Reform members had every confidence and trust in his brilliant successor. Mr. Hardy began by stating that he saw every reason to congratulate the mover and seconder of the address, though Mr. Whitney had been ungracious enough to overlook the custom in this regard. He referred to Sir Oliver Mowat's elevation to the post of Lieutenant-Governor of his native province in eloquent terms. Sir Oliver was known as a man of peace and peaceful ways, and yet he had led in the fiercest struggles short of warfare that had been known in Canada. Sir Oliver's judgments upon great questions had been vindicated time and again by the highest authorities in the Empire; he had always been found upon the right side, whether it was fighting for the preservation of the boundaries of his province, its autonomy or its freedom. (Cheers.) His acceptance of his present position did honor if possible to the post. The Premier then expressed his pleasure that the Viceroy had so honored Toronto as to take up his residence here in company with the Countess of Aberdeen.

The Premier then turned his attention to Mr. Whitney, and it is safe to say that never in the Legislature did anyone receive such a castigation as did the leader of the Opposition. He had complained that no important legislation had been foreshadowed in the speech from the throne and yet he had not suggested a single bill. Why had he not pointed out some crying need or requirement? He had gone about the country crying that the Government was afraid of his charges. He had been on the contrary called face to face with and challenged to make his charges. (Cheers.) On the stump he had been prolific in charges and yet, when upon the floor of the House, with the country looking at him, he had miserably failed. Why did he not make the same charges in the House as he had not scrupled to use upon the stump? He dared not do so. (Cheers.) He sat with bated breath in his seat fearful that his misstatements would be nailed. One reason the session was called for the first of December was because it appeared the most convenient time for the agricultural members. (Hear, hear.) It afforded an opportunity of bringing down the public accounts, so that the electors might review them before the elections. A full and free discussion of them would be afforded the members of the House, while more space would be given the proceedings of the House in the newspapers since the session at Ottawa would come on later. An early session would "clear the decks" for action, and the battle could then be fought upon its merits. (Cheers.)

Complaint had been made that more legislation had not been foreshadowed, notwithstanding the fact that the bench, the profession and the magistrates were all opposed to any legislation not pressingly necessary.

Mr. Whitney had complained that no mortal man could find out what the Government intended doing about the liquor licenses, and yet in a speech at London all he had promised was to "arrange the liquor traffic for the public good and according to common sense." So much wisdom had probably never been contained in so few words and yet this was all the leader of the Opposition had to offer the public upon this important subject after all his talk and bluster. (Laughter). He did not intend to touch upon the question of "lip-loyalty." He would remark, however, that Mr. Whitney would do well to go back and look over his history and there find that well-founded charges had repeatedly been leveled against his party before upon this line. (Cheers).

Mr. Whitney had stumped the country from end to end and what was his policy? Direct taxation. The Opposition did not dare avow it openly because the public would not stand it, but they had declared "we are face to face with it." What did that mean? It simply meant if they by any hook or crook should gain power they would have direct taxation. Their cry was the Government was paying current expenses from capital account. Mr. Whitney had at a dozen places stated that money had been so spent which should have been placed out at interest with which current expenses could be met. Did the honorable gentleman expect the electors to swallow any such twaddle? (Laughter.) Where would the revenue come from to pay current expenses if not from timber dues, liquor licenses and succession duties? If these sources were not employed would it not be necessary to impose a direct tax? That was the policy of the Opposition. The Opposition were using such arguments throughout the country, making demagogues of themselves, knowing that all Governments had used this money in same manner. He challenged Mr. Whitney to deny in the House his policy was direct taxation.

Mr. Whitney had many times of late stated the resources of the province were exhausted. If this were true how else then could he hope to conduct the affairs of the province but by a direct tax? The statement, however, was not true. He would not deal in generalities, but would furnish him with facts. (Cheers.) The Provincial Government had an annual subsidy from the Dominion Government as agreed at Confederation of $1,096,000; it had $200,000 annually from interest on Dominion Government bonds; it had $280,000 from licenses, $196,000 from succession duties, $109,000 casual revenue, $146,000 revenue from public institutions, and $1,000,000 from Crown lands. Did this look like pauperism? (Cheers). Mr. Whitney's statements were hatched in the egg of wildest romance. (Laughter.)

Not a Boaster.

Mr. Whitney had said he was not a boaster. He said the Government had called him off the stump. Well, he had been called to the House, face to face with his opponents, where day in and day out, he could have his say, but where he would have to say truthfully or be nailed to the mast. (Loud cheers). He had said all or nearly all the timber lands had been sold.

He evidently did not know how much had been sold and how much left. He had stated that $98,000,000 worth had been sold. He was out in his calculation over $7,000,000 since but $91,905,000 worth had been sold by all governments since Confederation.

He had stated if this money had been kept and placed at interest such "income would meet the current expenses." This was simply bosh. Since Confederation $90,000,000 had been spent, while the interest would have amounted to but $10,560,000.

He had stated that at present the Government were employing five times as many civil servants as at Confederation. The statement was false and he could not substantiate it in any degree. (Cheers.)

A great deal had been said about the amount of timber lands held by Americans, and yet out of the 4297 square miles owned by purchasers, but 315 square miles were held by Americans. He wished the House to understand that when the Government offered these limits for sale they were put up at public auction before the whole world, where Englishmen, Canadians or Americans could bid for them. They went to the man, regardless of nationality, who offered the province the most money.

Mr. Whitney was the last man in Canada who should say anything about Americans holding timber lands since he was a member of the Saint Anthony Lumber Company, composed exclusively of Americans with the exception of himself. (Cheers.)

Mr. Whitney said his name appeared as a member of the company simply for technical purposes, and that he had not paid a single dollar for stock in it.

Mr. Hardy replied that his name appeared there simply for the purpose of fraud and to hoodwink the law.

The Premier sat down amid a storm of applause.

It is 1897's LATEST, NEWEST, RIGHT-PRICED addition to Peterborough's prosperity, spread out on our tables and shelves for the greatest December feast of our history.

Even the great GOUGH'S are not insensible to a Boom in business. It seems a contradiction to push sales by losing profits we might as well have, when our business is vigorous with healthy activity, and yet we are inspired to do so by sound reasoning. It sometimes pays to lose, especially when you really don't lose at all.

IT'S A REAL DUTY you owe to yourself to make an early visit to GOUGH'S while this Great Sale is in progress. The store is constantly crowded with delighted customers—and no wonder when you look at some of our prices :—

FROM A LEADING CHATHAM MANUFACTURER.

Maple City Cooperage.
R. T. Phillips, Prop.

Chatham, October 18, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—Some time ago I was treated by one of our best city doctors for continued bleeding at the nose and the treatment I was subjected to weakened my stomach so that nothing I could eat would agree with me and I could retain nothing but bread and milk, which was my chief diet.

I tried a bottle of your Sloan's Indian Tonic and at once began to improve and it has made a permanent cure in my case. I can now partake of any food, no matter how strong, and experience no distress after eating.

I have recommended it to several people and in every case it has given grand results, and a bottle of it should be in every household.

Yours very truly,
R. T. PHILLIPS.

INDIGESTION PERMANENTLY CURED.

St. Williams, Co. Norfolk, October 19, 1897.

DEAR SIRS.—It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fact that Sloan's Indian Tonic has caused a most remarkable change in my condition. For two years I have suffered from indigestion and weakness and not finding relief from any other medicine until your agent came here one day and advised me to try Sloan's Indian Tonic. I did so and have used four bottles. It has made a great change in my life and I can now rest and sleep with ease and comfort. I believe Sloan's Indian Tonic is the best medicine in the world.

I remain,
Yours truly,

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Notice of Removal.

Madam Jabar, the celebrated phrenologist and palmister, who is now making her Canadian tour, and who has been in town for some weeks past, has removed her office to rooms over the new Bank of Commerce, entrance Hunter street. The offices are centrally located, and as Madam Jabar is an adept in the art, she will no doubt continue to make her stay in Peterborough a success.

Oddfellow's at Home.

Otonabee Lodge of I.O.O.F. will hold an "At Home" on Monday evening next in commemoration of the resuscitation of the lodge fifteen years ago. An especially attractive programme has been prepared for the occasion, consisting of vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments will be served during the evening. Tickets may be procured from any member of the Lodge. 2d

The Choir Entertained.

Last evening the Charlotte street church choir were entertained at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Morrison, where a most enjoyable evening was spent. During the evening Mr. E. Hall entertained with some good whistling solos and the bones, which he handles most skillfully, and Messrs. W. Squires and F. Skitch sang some comic duets and character sketches that were thoroughly enjoyed, as was also the ample supper, so kindly provided by Mrs. Morrison.

Tea by the Car-load.

The recent rejection of immense quantities of rubbish from China and Japan, shipped to the United States as tea, has created demand for a pure article to replace these rejected spurious imitations. An entire car-load of "Salada" Ceylon Tea is on its way to Boston, and is expected to arrive there in a day or two. There is besides this, four tons on its way to Buffalo, Pittsburg and Cleveland. The demand for pure teas manufactured by machinery has been growing on the American people, and the tea regulations which are now being enforced are fostering this improved taste, as it is keeping the cheap adulterated article out of the country.

Mot the Third.

The newspapers are saying that if Mrs. Sternaman is hanged on Jan. 20th next she will be the third woman to suffer capital punishment in this province. They cite the cases of Mrs. Phoebe Campbell, hanged at London in 1870, and Mrs. Elizabeth Workman, hanged at Sarnia in 1873, as the only two cases. This is wrong for a woman was hanged at Belleville some twenty-eight years ago. The woman and her husband died on the scaffold together for the murder of a neighbour, with whom the man had a dispute and quarrelled, the woman coming to his assistance with a scythe and killing the man. Old Belleville residents will remember this hanging as a public one.

Result of a Test.

The following letter taken from the Daily Ontario, Belleville, speaks for itself:—

BELLEVILLE, 13th Nov., W. C. C. Lecesne, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

Yours truly,
EGLI. SERVICE,
Janitor Butterfield Block.

MONCRIEF CASE SETTLED.

The Town, Fairweather & Co. and the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. each to Pay One-third.

A meeting of the Legal Committee was held this morning in the Town Clerk's office when a telegram was considered from Mr. James Fairweather, stating that Hon. George A. Cox on behalf of the Toronto Savings and Loan was willing to pay one third of the judgment and costs in the Moncrief case if the town and Mr. Fairweather, as tenant, would pay the other two-thirds between them. Mr. Fairweather agreed to pay a third, and at the meeting of the committee it was thought advisable to pay the other third and settle the matter instead of allowing it to go further in the courts.

The judgment and Mr. E. B. Stone's costs amount to $231 26, and of this each party mentioned will pay $77.13 and meet their own costs.

Mr. A. E. Dixon's costs have already been paid by the town to the amount of $41 55, as he was wrongfully named as a party to the suit. The costs of the Toronto Savings and Loan, amounting to the same sum, have already been paid by the town, but will be returned.

The case was to come up again in Osgoode Hall on Monday, but the town solicitor has been instructed to let the matter drop in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

TOWN COMMITTEES.

Two Meetings Were Held Last Night in the Clerk's Office.

At the meeting of the Finance Committee last night a number of accounts were passed, and it was resolved to recommend the council to order the sale of lands for arrears of taxes to be carried out.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee also met but very little business was transacted. By request of Dr. Gray next years' council will be requested to place an electric light opposite his residence on Sherbrooke street.

FOR THE VICTORIA MUSEUM.

An Indian Relic Presented by Mr. G. H. Howson.

Mr. G. H. Howson, 188 Edinburgh street, has left with THE EXAMINER for the Victoria Museum, a small Indian knife of stone of unusual occurrence, and whose use is only to be conjectured by a layman. It was found in a field near Thompson's Point, Rice Lake, that fruitful field of aboriginal relics.

PERSONAL.

Miss Manson is visiting friends in Lakefield.

Mr. W. H. Bradburn, after several days' illness, was able to attend to business today.

Mr. J. H. Roper went to Toronto this morning to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Roper.

Mr. Thos. H. Wadland, Superintendent of construction of the Bell Telephone Co., was in town yesterday.

Miss Kate Boyes has returned to her home in Brooklin, after visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Taylor, of Peterborough.

Mr. Walter Phelan left this afternoon to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association in Toronto to-morrow.

Mrs. Robt. Lawrence, of Ashburnham, is very ill and is not expected to recover. She lapsed into unconsciousness this afternoon.

Dr. Thompson, of Fochabers, Scotland, who has been the guest of Mr. Robt. Fair and who was a member of Mr. R. B. Rogers hunting party, left to-day to join his father in Schnectady prior to sailing for Auld Scotia.

Mr. A. G. Parker, the new manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, has arrived in town and assumed his duties. He will be followed by his family from Montreal next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson, of Warsaw, are in town visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson for a few days. They are on their way to British Columbia and California, but intend stopping off at Medicine Hat and Regina on the way west.

Mr. Jas. Colquhoun, of this division of the C. P. R., who has lately been retired from the road, owing to defective eyesight, has received an appointment at a pump house at St. Clet, Que. Mr. Colquhoun left Havelock on Tuesday night to take charge.

Mr. R. Maitland Roy, Stewart street, who has been connected with the engineering staff of the Central Bridge Works for a considerable number of years, has accepted a responsible position with the Hamilton Bridge Works and will remove to the Ambitious City about the first of the year. During his residence in town Mr. Roy has been an enthusiastic member of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows, and he will be greatly missed by his brethren in the Order.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The epidemic of measles does not seem to be in any way abating, new cases being reported every day.

—Skates are being taken out of their summer quarters and being sharpened and cleaned up for the ice.

—A meeting of members of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association is called to meet in the Victoria Club rooms to-night.

Don't miss seeing Mora and her excellent company at the Opera House to-night. Good specialties and a good play at popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

—Rev. A. T. Dykeman, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, has removed from No. 39 Harvey street to 221 London street, which is known as the "Hartley House."

—Bicyclists should now give their machines a thorough overhauling, and apply oil wherever needed. Do not store the wheel in a damp place if you want to preserve the tires.

—Another swindler who poses as a Y.M.C.A. man has been at work in the west and a report from Tilsonburg asks for the arrest of Hans Nelson, a Danish cook, who, under the guise of a religious and Christian worker, has stolen money and jewelry.

—The residents of Gilmour and Park streets heard most harmonious sounds, as a large party passed along the street last night and these words came floating over the midnight air:

For she can make the pie,
And we can eat that pie;
For oh 's a jolly good fellow
Which nobody can deny.

The Sweetest bread,
The Whitest bread,
The Lightest bread,
The Brightest bread,

DIED AT NORWOOD.

Mrs. Thomas Buck Passes Away at the Age of 75 Years.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Norwood, Dec. 3—Mrs. Buck, relict of Thos. Buck, who was well known as a lumberman with extensive operations died here last night after a short illness, Mrs. Buck, had attained the age of 75 years.

ST. LUKE'S ANNUAL SUCCESS.

The Tea and Sale in the Ashburnham Town Hall Last Night.

The annual tea and sale of work of St. Luke's church, was held in the town hall, Ashburnham, last night, and proved a great success.

Tea was served from 5 till 8 o'clock and during these hours the tables were continually filled. Mrs. John Burnham presided over a table upon which were spread twenty-two turkeys, to say nothing of geese and fowls. When these had been appreciatively discussed, there burst upon the only half-cloyed appetites the vision of innumerable pies. (The reader will kindly excuse the mixed metaphors.) Pies with a fascinating little trellis-work, light as the fingers that made them, which as Tennyson says, "half concealed and half revealed" the luscious black currant, plum or gooseberry beneath. Pies there were covered with a snow-white robe, light as the foam on ocean's billow (or a barber's shaving mug.) These were the pies the knowing one's selected, for they concealed the toothsome lemon cunningly mingled

With sugar'd spice,
And all things nice.

And when even pie failed to stimulate the organs of appetite, the revelation of unexpected chocolate cake, cocoa-nut cake, jelly cake, sponge cake, fruit cake and every kind of cake (except wedding cake, although Mr. Long was there and doubtless found customers amongst the throng,) known or unknown, from the time of Aristotle down to Prof. Huxley, once again stimulated into activity nature's beautiful machinery for the conversion of edibles into flesh and blood and good temper.

Fortified against the pangs of hunger for the next twenty-four hours, the company promenaded around the hall and feasted their eyes (and emptied their pockets) upon the various stalls, the haunts of beauty animate and inanimate. Here right against the door was a cosy little nook, devoted to the god of—well, we do not just remember who was the god of candies in the Greek and Roman pantheon, in fact we do not recall any record in the classics of either Alexander the Great or Julius Caesar enjoying maple cream or butter Scotch. People had queer tastes in those olden times. They used to drink pearls dissolved in vinegar, and—but this has nothing to do with Miss Gwendoline Meade's candy store, where such a rushing business was done that the entire stock was disposed of,

Not at a sacrifice,
But profitably—in a trice—

that is early in the evening.

Next came the ever popular Jack-in-the-box. Santa Claus never pays but one visit prior to Christmas and that is to St. Luke's annual tea and sale of work. But here are so many children (pretty old ones, too, some of them) that he cannot resist the temptation to wreath in smiles, so many little (and big) faces. Miss Calcutt presides here as Pontifex Maximus, and

Every tinkle of the bell
Meaneth five cents in the well.

Passing on we come to the fancy table of President Miss Maggie Calcutt and Vice-President Miss Armstrong. It would require the pen of a Mrs. Hawels to describe all the dainty treasures of this table. Tea cosies, suggestive of comfortable sitting rooms, blazing fires, with the cup that cheers but inebriates (although if you drink too much of it you will hear from your nerves), tray-cloths, photos of St. Luke's church, foot-stools, sofa cushions, dolls cunningly dressed, pin-cushions of novel design, and,

Here as everywhere
Big sales were sought but rare.

Our muse puts on an air of befitting gravity as we approach the tables of the Ladies' Aid and of the Woman's Auxiliary. Here articles of solid worth are disposed of. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Nimmo have aprons and children's dresses of every description, whilst Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Scott and other ladies have a more varied assortment of articles of utility. Mrs. Peck, the beloved head of the W. A., hovers around this table with beaming look—

The dulce cum the utile
We're put on sale not futilely.

And now the tables are swept away, benches are brought down and the hall is now filled with an expectant but chattering throng. Wilson's orchestra now soothes the mind just beginning to be perturbed at the lavish outlay upon Christmas presents, with strains of sweet music. Then mounts the rostrum Mr. Hampden Burnham, who drives dull care away with wit and humour and graceful story. Meantime sounds, as of an invading host advise us of the advent of Company No. 37, Church Boys' Brigade. The door flies open, and with martial tramp, headed by Sergeant Edwards, and armed to the teeth, the platform is stormed and carried triumphantly. Not a single man is wounded. Rapturous applause greets the admirable drill. "Company," shouted the sergeant, "Dismiss!" and dismiss it is. Holden Blackwell brings down the house with a recitation, and the audience will not be satisfied without an encore. Now the chairman has a surprise in store, and when he announces that Mr. Joseph Ball will sing, the enthusiasm reaches a climax, which is capped when our grave and faithful sexton executes, in illustration of the fact that he can't keep still, an airy jig up the platform and down again. With appropriate elocutionary gesture, Miss Gertie McCabe recites "The Polish Boy," and our harrowed feelings are afterwards soothed by a mouth organ duet from Sidney Tivey and Bob Long.

By 9 30 (for we keep good hours in Ashburnham) all is over. A very select crowd remain for the after meeting, and report that the proceeds will total about—

With fun and feast, enjoyment plenty,—
The handsome total of $120.

Beware of Cocaine.

Thos. Heys, Analytical Chemist, Toronto, says:—"I have made an examination of Dr. Chase's Cure for Cocaine and any of its compounds from samples purchased in the open market, and find none present." Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is a cure—not a drug. Price 25 cents, blower included.

POULTRY AND DOG FANCIERS.

The Exhibition will be Attended with Great Success.

The Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting in the council chamber last evening, with President Cockburn in the chair.

Most encouraging reports were submitted, by the secretary of the Poultry and Bench Show departments, of enquiries which had been made by exhibitors who wished to show their stock and the prospects are bright for a very successful exhibition.

On Monday evening the association will send a big deputation to the town council to ask for a grant to assist them. The spokesmen will be Dr. Burnham, Mr. Harry Winch and Mr. John McKee.

A great deal of local interest is being aroused and there will be a large number of entries of both poultry and dogs from the town as well as outside. The merchants have very generously donated a number of special prizes.

Mr. Geo. Gooderham, of Toronto, who recently purchased the fox terrier Veracity in England for $1,500, intends to show a large number of his dogs at the Peterborough show.

Secretary Poole of the Bench Show department received a very encouraging letter from the firm of Hiram P. Walker & Sons, Walkerville, wishing the Association every success in the exhibition and enclosing a cheque for ten dollars. The firm's generosity is fully appreciated by the Association.

of Christmas Goods to be sold before Dec. 15.

THE PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE has put the armour on for a great Holiday Time in Christmas Gift getting and Gift selling. Sorry we haven't more room. With such preparations as we have made it would require twice the space to display the quantity of beautiful goods we have to offer.

But if you want to select your Gifts in the quietest moments of the day, come early in the morning. We are ready for you at 8 a.m. If you don't want to buy come any way. We welcome everybody to the freedom of the store. The best time to shop is while the stocks are at their best, and the time to buy is before the choicest things are gone. This statement is good enough to remember. Commence to-day. We can lay aside your purchases for future delivery, if you desire.

WINTER HAS COME

WITH CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S NOT FAR OFF.

The last calendar month of the year 1897 should bring us up the greatest business we have ever known. A good stroke of enterprise has put us in possession of a very large and superior stock of Winter Ready-Made Clothing. This stock is SOMETHING EXTRA—so now is the time to replenish your wardrobe. It consists of Reliably-Made Heavy Ulsters, Overcoats, Suits and Reefers or Pea Jackets, for Men, Youths and Boys of all ages and sizes. The manufacturer of these goods was reluctant to hold out any longer for regular prices, and we secured the picked stock at a great sacrifice for ready money. During the month of December we intend that Prices for Reliable Clothing will be THE LOWEST in this or any other Town or City.

SPECIAL SERVICES

In the Mark Street Church are Very Successful.

A good meeting was held on Thursday evening. The attendance was good in spite of the other attractions. The meeting was one of the most successful, if not the best, since the special series began.

Several came to the altar seeking salvation.

The meetings will probably close to-night, when there will be a reception of new members. Everyone is welcome and invited. Song service at 7.30; service proper at 8.

CONDENSED COMMENTS.

From the Press of two Continents.

Only one in ten thousand is a success. There is but one Jessie Alexander.—Kit, in the Mail.

She is a perfect mistress of the art of elocution.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

The Strongest drawing card in Canada to-day.—Globe.

We know of no one who can at all compare with her.—Montreal Star.

The spacious Auditorium was crowded to its utmost capacity.—New York Tribune.

Equally at home with the brogue of old Ireland, the twang of the Cockney, and the doric of the Scot.—Ladies' Pictorial, London, Eng.

Easily stands at the head of her chosen profession.—Stratford Beacon.

With Mr. Douglas Bird, tenor, and a grand chorus of fifty voices in some fine secular choruses, the concert in the Opera House on Thursday next promises to be a great treat. The subscription list is now at Sallsbury's bookstore and those who wish to get first choice of seats at the opening of the plan next Monday morning will do well to record their names without delay, as the audience bids fair to be a large one. 1d

THE RING.

Since "Buffalo" Costello's advent in Peterborough great interest has been aroused in the manly art of scientific self-defence and the Opera House will doubtless be crowded on Monday evening when Costello, himself, gives an exhibition with Mr. Jim Graham and a number of other contests will take place amongst those of younger blood. An exhibition will be given in Lindsay on Wednesday next.

HOCKEY.

Messrs. H. R. H. Kenner and W. A. Buchanan left this afternoon for Toronto to attend the annual meeting of the O. H. A. to-morrow.

The annual meeting of the Midland Hockey League was held in Bowmanville on Wednesday, Dec. 1st. President Henderson of Whitby occupied the chair. The following accredited delegates were present: Whitby, Messrs. Warren and Henderson; Port Hope, Messrs. Day and Renwick; Cobourg, Messrs. Hayden and Roberts; Bowmanville, Messrs. Kent and Furse; Oshawa, Messrs. Pedlar and Thompson.

Mr. Warren on behalf of the Whitby Club, asked for re-admission into the League, which was unanimously granted.

The following amendments were made in the constitution:

The clause re time of meeting was made to read, "meeting to be held on the Wednesday preceding the O.H.A. meeting."

The clause re refereeing was made to read, "Each club in the league shall nominate an official referee. The two teams must mutually agree on any one of the official referees. Should the two teams not be able to agree, the home team must notify the President 48 hours before the game, when he will appoint a referee, who however, must not be from either of the towns of the contending teams. The home team will pay all the expenses of the referee.

A clause was added to the constitution viz: "Any club playing a ringer shall forfeit any and all games won, in which said ringer is played. The club must prove the innocence of any of their players so accused.

A ringer is one who has not resided in the town thirty days immediately previous to the game. One who has played with another team in any league within thirty days.

Treasurer Kents's report showed a balance on hand of $8.52. The report was received and adopted.

Mr. Day brought up the matter of the Bowmanville rink, and moved, seconded by Mr. Roberts, that the executive notify the Bowmanville club that unless their rink be altered to suit the Executive, that their membership in the league be cancelled and that their fees be returned—Carried.

Mr. Thomson, of Oshawa, moved, seconded by Mr. Pedlar, that the executive notify the Port Hope club that their rink must be altered or else their membership ceases.—Carried.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President—Mr. Roberts, Cobourg.

First Vice-President—Mr. Thomson, Oshawa.

Second Vice-President—Mr. Renwick, Port Hope.

Secretary—Mr. Henderson, Whitby.

Treasurer—Mr. Furse, Bowmanville.

The Cobourg hockey club has organized for the season and elected the following officers:

President—Dr. Hayden.
Vice-Pres.—C. McCallum, jr.
Manager—A. B. Roberts.
Sec.-Treas.—A. Burkell.

Managing Committee consists of President, Vice-President, Manager, also Messrs. R. Pratt and R. Buck.

Dr. Hayden and Mr. Roberts were also appointed delegates to the meeting of the Midland Hockey League, which meets December 1st in Bowmanville.

Professionalism will be frowned down by the Ontario Hockey Association, says the Globe. Last season players shifted from one town or other practically as they liked, and except in one case, that of Berlin, no effort was made to put a stop to the practice. Of late items to the effect that players in the east have been in receipt of offers from O. H. A. clubs have been flying around, and although nothing has come to as yet, before the season opens there is likely to be some sensational developments. Football received some pretty hard raps this year, and the executive meetings of the O. R. F. U. were mainly devoted to discussing the various phases of the professional question. It was comparatively easy to separate the wheat from the chaff footballically speaking, owing to the limited number of clubs, but it is different when the puckchasers are under consideration. Nearly every village, town and city in the Province has one or more teams, not all of course in the O.H.A., but in that association there are over 65 clubs, and to weed out the professionals would be a task that would even puzzle Father "Bill" Curtis. But the O.H.A. is going to make a determined effort to eliminate the black sheep, and the clubs that are playing other men than home talent will find themselves in decidedly unenviable positions before the season is over. At the annual meeting the following amendment to regulation 4 will be submitted:—"When the status of any individual is questioned the burden of proving his innocence shall rest with the accused, inasmuch as the real and true facts of the case must lie within his own personal knowledge and consequently he should be in a position, if unjustly accused or suspected, to prove his innocence to the satisfaction of the executive."

"To prevent frivolous and groundless charges of this nature the executive must be convinced that there is good and sufficient cause to question the status of an individual and may insist that all such charges be made upon affidavit."

COLD WEATHER LORE.

Weather prophets of a bygone day turned old-standing prognostications—which had in many instances been verified—to good account. Thus:

Many haws,
Many snaws,
Many sloes,
Many cold toes.

"If the old oak bears much mast (acorns), it foreshowe a long and hard winter."

Ice and cold in November predict warm weather about Christmas. Hence the proverb, "If the ice bears a man before Christmas, it will not bear a mouse after." And again:

If there is ice in November that will bear a duck,
There'll be nothing after but slush and muck,

And still further:

If ducks do slide at Hollantide,
At Christmas they will swim;
If ducks at Hollantide do swim,
At Christmas they will slide—

Hollantide meaning Hallowe'en, or All Saints' Eve, Oct. 31st.

In the north of England there is a curious rhyme descriptive of the value of rain in the latter part of the year:

'Tween Martinmas and Yule,
Water's wine in every pool.

Thunder in December prognosticates fine weather. In some parts there is an old adage:

—Winter thunder
Rich man's food and poor man's hunger.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

The following are readings of the official thermometers for this afternoon, as well as the highest and lowest yesterday—shade temperature:—

	Highest.	Lowest.
To-day, 7 a. m.	15° above zero
Yesterday	26°	—1°

During the winter months, and until warm weather returns again, the temperature at 7 a.m. will be given instead of at 1 p.m., as has heretofore been furnished to EXAMINER readers.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it will stop the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

A Midnight Episode.

On Sunday morning last, about 2 a.m., a farmer living a little over a mile out of Lakefield, was awakened by a noise in the house. Thinking it was burglars he awakened the household and a trip was made downstairs to investigate matters. On arriving at the kitchen they were surprised to see a man and woman enter, who informed them that their horse had left the road and they had been thrown out of their rig. In confirmation of their story the woman had two severe cuts on her head. The farmer gave them accommodation for the remainder of the night and then went out to the road, where the horse and rig were found between two stumps. After some difficulty they were extricated from the uncomfortable position and the horse placed in the barn. The couple's story was that they were from Peterborough, and were driving to Lakefield when the accident occurred. The couple left for Peterborough early that day seemingly none the worse for their adventure. The funny thing about it was that though the couple said they were going to Lakefield the horse's head was turned towards Peterborough. On leaving the farmer advised the gentleman to hang on to the lines in future instead of letting them hang over the dashboard.—Lakefield News.

Long-Timed Public Servants.

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 2.—John Kelly has been superannuated at $1050 per year, after 45 years' service in the postoffice. The superannuation was made at his own request.

The time of service of Sergt. Hamilton of A Battery expired last week, but his re-engagement has been granted by the Minister of Militia as a special case. The sergeant, though only 44 years of age, has spent 27 years in Her Majesty's service.

They Got Off Lightly.

Lindsay, Ont., Dec. 2.—Matthew and Thomas Thompson, whose trial for the killing of W. S. Sawyer, at Maple Lake, Stanhope Township, early in September, took place here yesterday, were sentenced to 18 months each in the Central Prison. Manslaughter was the verdict.

Always Felt Tired.

"I suffered with severe headache and loss of appetite and I always felt tired. I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking one bottle my headache disappeared. I continued taking it until now I am never troubled with headache and my appetite is good." LAURA GARLAND, 247 Claremont St., Toronto, Ont.

A DAY IN THE QUEEN CITY.

Many Interesting Topics Made the Subjects of Brief Paragraphs—Convention Grand Division S. of T.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—The Grand Division Sons of Temperance of Ontario commenced their forty-ninth annual session yesterday afternoon, in Temperance Hall, the number of the delegates present being somewhat over 200, representing 3630—an increase of 558 members since last meeting.

The funeral of the late Patrick J. Courtney, who was engineer on the train whose crew were suffocated on Sunday evening by gas in the St. Clair tunnel, took place yesterday from 84 Bathurst street to St. Michael's Cemetery. Vicar-General McCann sang the requiem high mass at St. Mary's church previous to the departure for the cemetery. There was a large crowd present besides representatives from all branches of the railway service.

John F. Clifford, the Markham man charged with forging the name of John Hilts to a cheque for the sum of $58, was sentenced yesterday by Judge McDougall to six months in the Central Prison.

A cable to The Telegram from London says: Oarsman Towns has announced that he will not accept the challenge of Eddie Durnan, the Toronto oarsman.

The imports for November show a decidedly large increase, but exports show a decrease for the same month.

Ald. Beale, while mixing with the common people paying water rates yesterday, was relieved of his valuable gold watch by a pickpocket.

Ald. Preston, Librarian of the Province of Ontario, will be, it is now definitely announced, a candidate for the mayoralty.

William German, M.P.P., who defended Mrs. Sternaman at Cayuga, yesterday applied to Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright for a hearing of his application for a new trial for his client, based on the reserve case granted by Chief Justice Armour on the question of admitting the evidence as to the death of her first husband.

In the case of Frederick J. Doherty, a medical student, charged in the Police Court with impersonating Fred. J. Raynor, a dental student at Trinity University in June, 1896, the later broke down yesterday in giving his evidence and admitted that Doherty had written for him at the examination and had received the $95 fee. Doherty will probably be committed for trial on Friday, the delay being at the request of his counsel. He was admitted to bail.

Clergyman Charged With Shoplifting.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—A Church of England clergyman from Thornhill was arraigned in yesterday's Police Court on a charge of shop lifting at the T. Eaton Co.'s store on Tuesday afternoon. The gentleman of the cloth is Rev. W. W. Bates. He is alleged to have stolen two dozen lead pencils, four books, a package of crayons, a hair brush, a bottle of liquid glue and other small articles. The prisoner is an elderly man, and is said to be one of the most scholarly men in the church. He is a graduate of Cambridge. He was admitted to bail, His Lordship Bishop Sweatman, becoming bondsman in the sum of $1000.

CENTRE TORONTO.

The Montreal Witness, Quoted Eagerly By the Conservative Press, on the Big Bertram Victory.

Montreal, Dec. 2.—Contracts have been given for the cutting of 500,000,000 feet of lumber in the northern part of this province during the coming winter.

Result in Centre Toronto.

The Witness, whose attack upon Mr. Bertram was given such prominence in Toronto Conservative papers, says that the result cannot but be regarded as on the whole very favorable to the Laurier Government, and adds:—"Yesterday's victory for the Liberals is a bigger and a more decisive one than is indicated merely by the majority. In the first place, there can be no doubt that even in Conservative strongholds Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name disarms opposition to a degree hitherto unknown in Canada. It was apparently hardly less popular, and therefore little less effective in creating enthusiasm, in Toronto than in Yamaska. The Government has on the whole deserved well of the people of Canada."

Education of English Catholics.

Rev. Father Quinlivan and other representative Irish Catholic citizens of Montreal, not being satisfied with the education received by English-speaking Catholic children here, are moving in the matter of an English Catholic High School. The apathy of the Catholic School Board, the majority of which is French, will now be overcome, as substantial help is promised, and the English-speaking Catholics hope to have in the near future a well-equipped High School of their own.

Archbishop Bruchesi's Programme.

The following are the details of Mgr. Bruchesi's movements: From the South of Spain, His Grace will return to Paris on Dec. 15, and will accompany the Pilgrimage of the Fathers of L'Assomption to Jerusalem and the Holy Land. He will sail from France on the steamer La Neid du Salit, which has been specially chartered for the trip. On Christmas Day His Grace will officiate pontifically in the Temple of the Child Jesus at Bethelehem. He will return to Rome about Jan. 5, and will come home about March.

Mr. Egan is on Business.

It is now stated that Mr. Patrick Egan, ex-Minister to Chili, who is engaged in a very lucrative grain shipping business in Chicago, and who is now in Montreal, has come here to see what facilities the Canadian railways offer for quick shipment to Portland, St. John and other ocean ports served by the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways. It appears that the Vanderbilts and Armours of Chicago have engaged in advance all the space in most of the steamers going out of New York during the coming winter, consequently a great many other leading shippers of the west, finding themselves entirely shut out of the possibility of exporting by New York, have turned their eyes towards Canada.

A NEW B. C. RAILWAY.

C. P. R. and Heinze People Could Not Agree and the Big Road is Pledged to Put a Road Into Rossland.

Quebec, Dec. 2.—Mr. Heinze and the Canadian Pacific have failed to come to terms, and yesterday Sir William Van Horne made the following statement: "It is absolutely necessary that we should reach Rossland with a line of our own, and we are under pledge to Rossland to do so. We would have preferred the purchase of the Trail Creek Road, which could have been adapted to our purposes by a considerable expenditure, but we could not come to terms, and we are now obliged to go on with our own work."

An Infant in a Valise.

A purser of one of the boats heard the cry of an infant where no infant was in sight, and on investigation discovered the child in a valise on one of the benches. It was very weak and was almost suffocated. Inquiry revealed a man of about 40 who stepped forward and stated that its mother, who resides at St. Thomas, had given him the child to place in the Sacred Heart Hospital. After telling his story, and when the child was placed safely in the hands of the nuns, he was released from custody.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

A WONDERFUL CHANGE.

Mr. R. Wheatley, of the Department of Militia, Ottawa, says in reference to Doan's Kidney Pills that they are the best remedy he ever tried.

Mr. Wheatley makes the following statement:

"I suffered a great deal for a long time with severe pains in my back over the kidneys, restless, headaches, sleepless and general debility also made life a burden.

"Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try them, seeing that no other remedy had succeeded in my case. Well, from the first a wonderful change took place, and I continued to improve rapidly until, at the end of six weeks, I was cured.

"I now eat well, sleep well, have no pain, dizziness or headache, and am in fact all O. K., thanks to Doan's Pill, which it is needless to say I recommend highly."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

CRYING AS A SAFETY VALVE.

Scientific Declaration That "a Good Cry" Is Beneficial.

The Hospital declares that the popular belief that "a good cry" gives at times a salutary relief has a good scientific foundation. A writer on that subject says:

"Crying is so commonly associated with distress that man's natural instinct is to put a stop to it as soon as possible. We should not forget, however, that it has its uses. Dr. Harry Campbell has recently shown how complex are the phenomena involved in 'a good cry.' This does not consist merely in the shedding of tears, but includes so general and widespread an action of the muscles that the whole body may be convulsed. In children also a great change takes place during crying in the manner in which the respiration is carried on. Expirations are prolonged sometimes for as much as half a minute and are interrupted by short inspirations. During expiration the glottis is contracted so that the intrapulmonary pressure rises considerably, and there can be but little doubt that it is the equal distribution of this increased air pressure throughout the whole of the chest, leading to the dilatation of portions of the lungs that have become more or less collapsed, that is the explanation of the great benefit which often results from crying in cases of infantile bronchitis and of the large discharge of bronchial mucus which so often follows. Children may become very blue during the paroxysm, but the deep respirations which succeed quickly restore the circulation to a better condition than before in consequence of the larger lung space rendered available. In women the beneficial effect of a good cry is proverbial. In them also this is partly due to the increased depth of respiration and the improvement in the often languid circulation thereby induced, but to a large extent it is the result of the muscular exercise involved, by which the general vascular tension, and especially the blood pressure in the brain, are much reduced. The profuse flow of tears no doubt also acts strongly on the cerebral circulation in still further reducing tension. The sobbing movements, again, have a good influence upon the venous circulation in the abdominal and pelvic viscera, while the exhaustion produced tends to produce sleep and thus to give the nervous system its best chance of recuperation. We should not, then, too hastily intervene to stop a woman from having out her cry. If we can remove her trouble, by all means let us do so, but if the trouble is to remain, let her cry herself to sleep. This is far better than soothing drafts."

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

THE DEADLY CREESE.

IT WAS IN THE HAND OF THE MALAY SAILOR WHO RAN AMUCK.

Six Dead and Two Wounded the Record Made by the Wild Man In Ten Minutes. A Terrible Scene Described by a Sailor Who Was an Eyewitness.

"In four voyages to the East Indies, two of them to Malay ports, I have seen but one instance of that native performance called running amuck. Fortunately I saw it from a position of perfect safety, but the sight was enough to make me steer clear of all Malays afterward and any vessel that has them on board," said Erdix Deering, who as boy and man sailed many seas in deep water ships. "It was in 1865, when I was a boy, on my first voyage, on the ship Harry Warren, which sailed from Boston to India with a cargo of ice. We were lying at anchor in the roads off Madras, unloading our middle deck cargo into lighters, and 100 vessels of all nations were anchored about us, discharging or taking on board their cargoes. The ship nearest us, about two cable lengths away, was the British ship Mahratta, which had come from Singapore in ballast with a crew of Malay lascars. It was one day at noon that, as our crew lay round under the awning in the forecastle waiting for the order to turn to, one of the sailors sitting on the capstan sung out:

"'Hi, mates, just look over to the lime jnicer! They're having some kind of a rumpus there. See 'em going. I believe it's one of those Malays running amuck.'

"We all jumped to our feet and looked at the Mahratta, and some of us ran up into the rigging to get a better view. From the topsail yard I could see all that was going on on the deck of the British ship. Amidships a lascar, naked to the waist, was slashing and stabbing at a European officer who had tried to grapple with him, while everybody else in sight on the ship was running fore or aft or taking to the rigging. On the quarter deck the captain was hurrying two ladies down the companionway into the cabin, supporting in his arms one of them who had fainted. As the officer fell lifeless to the deck the Malay bounded past him, following three sailors who had run aft, along the port gangway, upon the poop. As he ran he swung before him a long, slender knife, its crooked blade curving in and out like the writhings of a snake. He overtook the rearmost man on the poop and cut and stabbed him, as he had done with the officer, until the man fell. Meantime the second man leaped overboard, preferring to take his chances with the sharks and water serpents to remaining on board, and the third man ran across the quarter deck and up into the mizzen rigging like a cat. The man in the water swam for our ship, and some natives in a lighter picked him up ahead of the sharks.

"The Malay left the man he had killed and looked around as if for fresh victims, but he himself was the only living person in view on the decks. He ran fore and aft, searching, but found no one, and he tried the cabin door, but it was closed fast. Then he went to the mizzen rigging and started up the rat-lines after the man who had taken refuge there. When the Malay had got as far as the mizzen top, the man he was after took to the topgallant fore and aft stay and began to go down it hand over hand toward the mainmast. The Malay kept on up to the topgallant crosstrees and began to follow the man down the stay.

"There was something frightful in the relentlessness of his pursuit. He had got about ten feet down the stay when the captain appeared on the poop with a revolver and began firing at him. One, two, three shots he fired, and the Malay kept on down the stay. He was two-thirds of the way to the foot when at the fourth shot the arm that held the creese fell helpless by his side, though his hand still clutched the weapon. He clung to the stay by one hand and his feet and kept on down it almost as fast as before. A fifth and sixth shot, and at the last the Malay stopped still, then fell like a lump of putty to the deck, full 40 feet below. Whether he was dead when he struck the deck I do not know, but the mate, who must have been watching from his room, ran out from the cabin to where the Malay was with a handspike and made sure work of the fellow before he could rise. Then the lascars came running from the forecastle and down the rigging, and with capstan bars, belaying pins and knives struck and thrust at the dead Malay until if he had had a dozen lives in him they would have been hammered out of his body before the officers could restrain the excited sailors.

"Our captain got the full story of the affair from the captain of the Mahratta the next day. The Malay had been brooding and sullen for days before, though no one knew what his grievance was. On this day as the men were piped to dinner he had gone into the forecastle, got the creese from some place where he had it concealed and had furiously attacked his mates without a word. They raised the cry 'Amuck, amuck!' and scattered, but not until three of them had been killed or mortally wounded and two more of them seriously cut by the creese. Running forward, he had encountered the second mate, and the rest of the affair I saw. Five men dead and two badly hurt by the Malay and himself killed at the end was the record of ten minutes' business in running amuck. Malays in mine after this? No, thank you."—New York Sun.

To Keep Paris Clean.

To do this work and to remove the 2,500 cubic meters of rubbish there are 149 brigades of sweepers, numbering 3,845, in conjunction with 550 rubbish carts and 1,075 horses.

From before dawn till long after sunset one sees in Paris the street cleaners in their peaked caps and watermen's boots or sabots hard at their work of sweeping, swabbing or watering. Each hour of the day brings its particular work for them. From 4 to 6:30 a. m. they have to wash and sweep the pavements and streets, and in winter cast gravel on the asphalt (315,470 meters) and wood paving (368,300 meters) of the city. From 6:30 till 8:30 four of them and a woman sweeper accompany the scavenger's dust cart to clear away from the dust bins the refuse which the chiffoniers have discarded. From 8:30 to 11 they are again at work sweeping, cleaning, watering and flushing the gutters, till these almost assume the form of little mountain torrents. From 11 till 1 they leave off for dejeuner, and then they are hard at work again cleansing streets and benches, and in winter, from 7 till 9 p. m., it is their duty once more to throw gravel over the wood and asphalt pavements.—Good Words.

An Instance.

"Mere knowledge," said the proxy man, "is of little value."

"Now you hit it that time," said the listening young man with much earnestness. "I know what are exactly the correct things in clothes, but I ain't able to buy 'em."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

ORMONDE CHEESE MEETING.

A very successful meeting of the patrons of the Ormonde Cheese Factory was held in the Foresters Hall, Hastings, on Saturday last.

The report of the secretary showed a most successful year's business. One hundred patrons sent nearly 626 standards of milk, making 206.641 pounds of cheese, which brought $18,505.26 in the market, an average of 9 cents per pound. It took 10.53 pounds of milk to 1 pound of cheese for the season and the standard cow made $21.40 clear of all expenses.

The patrons were all pleased with the season's business and re-elected the officers viz: President and salesman, John Coughlan; secretary, James O'Reilly; treasurer, J. J. English; Directors, Messrs. John Pickens, Robert Scott, M. Elmhirst, Joseph Carter, Duncan Fife and Dennis McFadden.

The auditors are Messrs. Douglas, Kingsbury and Wm. Fleming.

STONY LAKE CHEESE FACTORY.

At the general meeting of the Stony Lake Dairy Company, held at the factory on the 27th ult., after the patrons had been settled with for the season's make, all were well satisfied with the profits of the season and the return of cheese for the quantity of milk each had put in, taking only 10 and 72-100 lbs. of milk for 1 lb. of cheese for the season, each shareholder receiving $1.72 as dividend on each share. That put a smile on the faces of all.

The meeting was called to order by the President and the financial report of the directors was read by the secretary.

It was moved by James Miles, seconded by J. A. Robb, that the financial statement of the directors be received and adopted, which was carried unanimously.

William Miles was then elected as salesman for the ensuing year. John A. Robb was elected shipper.

Mr. George Grant resigned his office as director on account of ill-health. A ballot was taken for a director to fill Mr. Grant's place, which resulted in the election of Mr. William Puffer.

Mr. James Robb, who has been secretary for the company ever since it was organized, then resigned the secretaryship. The directors appointed Mr. James Miles secretary.

Before adjourning it was moved and seconded that James Robb receive a standing vote of thanks for the very satisfactory way he has acted as secretary for the company for the past four years.

Mr. Robb thanked the company for their appreciation of his services.

NO ROOM FOR DYSPEPSIA.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Prevent its Existence.

Humanity has been afflicted with Dyspepsia, Indigestion and other stomach diseases since the world began. But, until lately, there were no Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to cure these complaints.

In years gone by, people had to suffer from Dyspepsia, etc. To day there is no more need to do so than there is for a millionaire to starve with hunger. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure dyspepsia as easily and almost as quickly as the millionaire's dollars buy his food.

There is nothing boastful in this assertion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cannot help curing these diseases. They cannot possibly have any other effect, once they are taken into the stomach.

The ingredients of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets form the same digestive agent that a healthy vigourous stomach supplies. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food, in short.

If all the food you eat is thoroughly digested you cannot possibly be afflicted by Dyspepsia, Indigestion, nor any other stomach disorder. That is plain. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent any chance of these diseases returning after the tablets have once cured them.

The smaller tablets that go with each box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most perfect agent known for regulating the bowels.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—each box containing a full double treatment, can be procured at all drug stores, or will be sent to any address, on receipt of the price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodd's Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MISSES CASSIDY.

Just Now a Holiday Store!

As though our chief aim and mission was to make it easier for people to have and to give FURS. No matter whether the Fur need is a simple scarf or an elegant Fur Wrap, it is safely met here, because we know the Fur business thoroughly and turn our knowledge to mutually helpful account.

Curious that the first snappy weather should come just as we drop the price on some of the most needed Fur Goods for our cold winter days. Women who have need of a new Fur Cape are to be congratulated on such good fortune as this:—

—27 inch Long Black Coney Cape, full ripple style, lined with good quilted Black Satin, extra high storm collar..... $12.00
—A few shorter lengths, same make and style as above..... 10.00
—30 inch long, 120 inch sweep, same as above..... 15.00
—We have also a number of 18 inch, 20 inch and 22 inch Capes, made of Opossum, Electric Seal, Greenland Seal, Sable Opossum and several other Furs which we will sell off ⅓ off former price.....$5.00 to 12.00

The men have not been forgotten in this special season. See these:—

—A few Men's Coon and Black Dog Coats, left over from last season, were sold then for $15.00 and $18.00, will clear at..... $10.00
—Good Coon Coats, of fine quality, this year's home make, $25.00, $30.00 and..... 35.00
—Wombats $13.50, $15.00 and..... 12.00
—Robes of Grey Goat, Black Goat, Saskatchewan Buffalo and Yak, from $5.00 to $8.00, large sizes.

It does not often happen that one can save a fourth from usual prices in buying fine Matassani Buffalo Robes and Coats—but its doubly interesting when the opportunity arrives—and the Robes and Coats made of the far famed Matassani skins—the cross between the cattle and the buffalo. A Fur dealer got in a hurry for money and gave us a coaxing price on some $15.00 and $12.00 oil dressed Matassani skins together with a lot of Calf skins of the same kind. They're here, 125 of them, and we have lined the larger of them for Robes and the calfs made into Coats. It's worth while coming early to get one at ⅓ off price:—

Extra large Robes, lined and trimmed, worth $15.00, now..... 12.00

HAMMOND'S SENTENCE

To Be Hanged at Bracebridge February 18

FOR THE DEATH OF KATIE TOUGH

The Prisoner Found Guilty of Poisoning His Wife—The Condemned Man a Wreck—His Damaging Admissions at the Inquest—Able Arguments by Counsel —Appeal.

Bracebridge, Dec. 4.—William J. Hammond was brought into court yesterday at 8.30, and had the appearance of having spent a long, weary night. His condition was pitiful to behold, and as the jury filed into the box the prisoner cast wistful glances.

Mr. Johnston began his address with a touching appeal to the sympathy of the jury. He said: I stand here alone fighting for a life. I have had to contend against all the machinery for the administration of justice which the wealth of the province could command. Every corner in Canada and the United States has been raked to give evidence to convict this young man. When witnesses have met together time and again to talk their evidence over, you may expect that it will tell in favor of the Crown.

Mr. Johnston reminded the jury that the defence had put in no evidence. He had no occasion to do so. They had taken the enemy's camp for their shelter. The Crown had not proven that the prisoner was guilty.

Commenting upon prisoner's admissions at the coroner's inquest, Mr. Johnston said the Crown asked that some of the statements be believed and others disbelieved. The jury could not do this. They must believe all the prisoner had said or nothing.

Mr. Johnston closed a bright and effective address at 11.40 a.m., having spoken for three hours and ten minutes. His closing words were uttered in a faltering voice: "Gentlemen, I am hoping, waiting, praying for a life. Give me that life, and when you have passed the border land the first to give you a greeting will be the sainted mother of this innocent young man."

Mr. Osler immediately began his address to the jury. It was a plain statement of the facts, and an appeal for a verdict in accordance with the evidence and with justice. He reviewed the evidence in detail, setting forth the telling points clearly and effectively.

The judge began his charge at 2 o'clock, and at 3 o'clock the case was given to the jury, who retired to consider their verdict.

As soon as the jurors gave their verdict of guilty Mr. Johnston renewed his application for a reserve case on the ground of the admission of the prisoner's evidence, contained in the coroner's deposition. If the Divisonal Court adheres to the decision given in the Queen v. Williams, the application, it would appear, must fail to bring any relief to the prisoner.

At 3 o'clock Crown Attorney Osler moved that the sentence of the court be pronounced on the prisoner Hammond.

His Lordship asked the prisoner if he had anything to say why the sentence of the court should not be pronounced against him.

Prisoner, in a clear voice, said: "Yes, my Lord; I have. In the first place I am innocent. In the next place I blame my own indiscretion and state of health which led me to give information my enemies have used against me. That is all."

The Judge then said: "William James Hammond, you have been found guilty of the indictable offence charged against you, and the sentence of this court is that you be taken to the place from whence you came, and there be kept until the 18th day of February, now next ensuing, then to be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul."

The prisoner took the sentence without showing any signs of emotion, and walked out of the court room with as firm a step as he had entered it at any time since the trial has started. His face had a defiant expression, as he glanced back at the audience while passing down the aisle in charge of an officer. Prisoner's father did not return to the court room after the verdict was announced.

Mr. Johnston, Q.C., will appeal the case, if necessary, going to the Supreme Court on a question of law.

The jury in the Mackenzie manslaughter case, after being out over three hours, returned to the court room, when the foreman announced a verdict of not guilty.

The business of the court is practically over. The judge left last night, but the court was not formally closed until this morning.

ALLISON TO BE HANGED.

Found Guilty of Murdering Mrs. Orr—He is to Suffer For the Crime on Feb. 4.

Berlin, Dec. 4.—The second day of the Allison murder trial was ushered in with fine, wintry weather. Court opened promptly at 9.30.

The prisoner Allison was bright and smiling when he was brought into court. He evidently slept well last night by his appearance.

The first to give evidence was William Dixon, operator at the G. T. R. station, Great Western division, in Galt. He said the excursion train, upon which several witnesses based their time, arrived at Galt at 7.30 on the morning of Aug. 9, the day Mrs. Orr was murdered. The regular train reached Galt about 11.25.

Frank B. Stuart, operator at the Berlin branch, G. T. R. station, at Galt, said that the first train left Galt for Berlin at 7.50 on the fatal morning. It would reach Blair, the nearest station to Anthony Orr's farm about 8. The witness said he would judge that.

The C. P. R. station operator, John Brandon, said the regular C. P. R. train scheduled to leave Galt for the west at 8.35 was on time on the morning of Aug. 9. The train from London arrived at 10 o'clock sharply on time.

There was a sensation in court when Mr. O'Connor here said: "I'll call Trevellyan." He told of the arrest of himself and Allison by Constable Kay, and of their being warned as to any statement they might make. "I asked Allison if he remembered," said the prisoner, "a few days previously when Mrs. Orr loaded his gun and then hung it up telling him to be very careful of it, and when he acknowledged it I asked him why he had said that Mrs. Orr since then had asked him how to load it when she had loaded it herself a few days before in the presence of both himself and myself. He replied that he had to say something so he said that. Then I asked him how it came that on the morning of the murder he was raking up the chips. At first he would not admit it, but finally he said that it probably looked as if something had been pulled around there. Then again Allison said there was some wet on the chips which looked like water at first but then again it might have looked like blood. Finally I remember Allison identifying Robert Stalker in front of the lock-up as the man with the dark moustache he had met in the lane when he drove the cows to Barrie's on the morning of the murder."

Stalker here stood up in court and Trevellyan identified him as the man. This was all Mr. O'Connor asked, and Mr. Blake took hold of the witness, but he could not shake his story.

Harry Blair, the man who wrote the famous letter to Mrs. Orr, was the next witness to take the stand. Mr. O'Connor said it was not necessary to question him, because he was really not a witness. Mr. Blake elicited this statement from Blair, however: "On the day Mrs. Orr disappeared I went to Anthony Orr's place, and he told me that his people had used his wife so badly at the funeral of his father the day before that he was afraid the poor soul had made away with herself."

Robert Stalker, on the stand, said that he never saw Mrs. Orr in his life. He made a complete statement as to his doings the day of the murder.
